The Indian EXPRESS

The lockdown to contain the coronavirus outbreak has disrupted supply chains. One crucial chain is delivery of information and insight – news and analysis that is fair and accurate and reliably reported from across a nation in quarantine.

A voice you can trust amid the clanging of alarm bells.

Vajiram & Ravi and The Indian Express are proud to deliver the electronic version of this morning's edition of The Indian Express to your Inbox. You may follow The Indian Express's news and analysis through the day on indianexpress.com

The Indian EXPRESS

MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020, NEW DELHI, LATE CITY, 12 PAGES

JOURNALISM OF COURAGE SINCE 1932

₹6.00 (₹8 PATNA & RAIPUR, ₹12 SRINAGAR) WWW.INDIANEXPRESS.COM

BIGGEST SPIKE OF 1,945 CASES ON SUNDAY On table in PM meeting with CMs today: Migrants, easing curbs, financial support

BUSINESS AS USUAL

By UNNY

is there a shop, store, stay, or mail that

INSIDE

PAGE 6

At current doubling rate, India could see 65,000 cases by middle of next month, Centre tells state chief secretaries

ABANTIKA GHOSH NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

AS STATES prepare for a staggered exit from the second phase of the lockdown that ends May 3, Prime Minister Narendra Modi is likely to ask them not to let their guard down in the fight against COVID-19 in a video conference Monday morning with all chief ministers. This will be his fourth such meeting with state CMs since March 22 when he first spoke with them before announcing a nationwide lockdown on March 24.

Four key demands are likely to be made by states in the Grain stocks hit record high of 73.85 million tonnes in April

HARISH DAMODARAN NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

FOODGRAIN STOCKS in the Central pool stood at 73.85 million tonnes (mt) as on April 1, the highest ever for this date and three-and-a-half times the minimum operational-cum-strategic reserve requirement of 21.04 mt.

The 73.85 mt figure includes 24.70 mt of wheat and 32.24 mt of rice. In addition, the Food Corporation of India (FCI) and state government agencies were holding 25.24 mt of un-milled paddy, whose rice equivalent, at an out-turn ratio of 67 per cent, worked out to 16.91 mt. Outturn is the share of rice extracted from harvested paddy grains after removal of outer husk and inner bran lavers. The wheat str were 3.3 times the necessary level of 7.46 mt for April 1, when the procurement season for the new crop also starts. The previous record for this date was 24.21 mt in 2013 (see table). Rice stocks (inclusive of the milled paddy equivalent) were also at an all-time-high of 49.15 mt and 3.6 times the normative CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Monday meeting: special trains to transport migrant workers to their home states, permission to allow more economic activities in non-hotspots, financial resources to support small businesses and the vulnerable, and

additional testing kits, ventilators CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

DIPANKAR GHOSE NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

THE CENTRE on Sunday presented to states a detailed account of the infirmities in India's COVID-fighting infrastructure, including specifically, the short-age of isolation beds, ventilators, and ICU beds.

According to a presentation made at the meeting, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, and Assam had the largest numbers of districts TOP OFFICIALS MOVED with grave shortages of all these AROUND, EXTENSION three kinds of equipment. The FOR HEALTH SECY presentation was based on data up to April 23.

The meeting, which was chaired by the Cabinet Secretary, was attended by the health secretaries of the states.

According to data presented at the meeting, 183 districts across the country have fewer than 100 isolation beds – and 67 of these districts have seen cases of coronavirus infection. As many as 53 (out of 75) districts in UP have fewer than 100 isolation beds, the data show - and 31 of these districts have reported cases.

Districts with

COVID-19 cases

67

47

39

TAKING STOCK

Numberot

districts

183

143

123

Bihar is number 2 on the infirmity list with 20 (out of a total 38) districts having fewer than 100 isolation beds; 9 of these districts have reported infections CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Mann ki Baat: Modi warns, don't assume the virus will not reach you

LIZ MATHEW NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

WHILE SOME lockdown restrictions have been eased in some areas over the last few days, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Sunday cautioned against 'negligence" and "overconfidence" in the "people-driven" fight against the novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19).

Quoting the Hindi idiom 'Sawdhani hati, durghatna ghati' (an accident happens as soon as the guard is lowered) to underline his point, Modi, in his monthly Mann Ki Baat programme, said: "Let us not get caught in the trap of overconfidence, let us not harbour a feeling that if the coronavirus has not reached our city, village, street or office vet reach now. Never make such a mistake.' Citing a Sanskrit shloka, he said: "Fire, debt and illness, if taken lightly, grow again at the first opportunity, assuming dangerous proportions. So it is important to treat them completely. Therefore, in overenthusiasm, there should be no negligence. We will always have to remain cautious.'

Pressure on MFs: Finmin takes note of Franklin, in talks with SEBI and RBI

RBI yet to respond to SEBI's March note seeking liquidity support for debt funds pressing upon it the need to provide a liquidity window for mutual funds. "It has, however, not yet happened," said a source in the government, who also did turned volatile since March and witnessed outflows of Rs 1.94

lakh crore and is staring at further outflows, especially in the

Rs 55,000 crore credit risk fund segment because the Templeton move has shaken the confidence of investors. The total corpus of debt schemes shrunk to Rs 10.29

lakh crore as on March 31. 2020.

tervention, former Sebi

Chairman UK Sinha had in an article in The Sunday Express warned that the mutual fund problem can swiftly migrate to the entire financial services industry, and then soon to the real

of the global financial crisis, the RBI had opened a special liquidity repo window for mutual funds. Again, in July 2013, when returns on debt mutual funds

dropped sharply with rupee falling significantly against US dollar, the RBI opened a special

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

In October 2008, at the peak economy.

Recommending an early in-

The debt fund segment had not wish to be named.

GEORGE MATHEW, SUNNY VERMA & SANDEEP SINGH MUMBAI, NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

THE FINANCE ministry is in discussion with regulators, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) to address mutual funds' need for liquidity and prevent panic selling in debt funds triggered by the abrupt closure of six credit schemes by Franklin Templeton Mutual Fund on Thursday.

A senior government official, who did not wish to be named, said "(it) looks more of a liquidity issue rather than a credit risk problem". "The finance ministry has taken note of the developments and is engaging with the regulators how best it can be resolved," he said.

Capital market regulator Sebi, which was aware of the developments that led to the shutdown of the schemes, is in constant touch with the Association of Mutual Funds of India, the nodal agency for mutual funds, and the RBI, to assess the dynamic situation. In fact, Sebi had written to RBI in March itself im-

Fewer than 100 isolation beds Zero ICU beds Zero ventilator beds

CENTRAL POOL STOCKS AS ON APRIL 1 (LAKH TONNES) eat Rice* Total 267.13 428.38 161.25 153.64 288.20 441.84 2011 2012 199.52 333.50 533.02 2013 242.07 354.68 596.75 2014 178.34 305.52 483.86 2015 238.20 410.41 172.21 145.38 288.11 433.49 2016 2017 80.59 297.84 378.43 300.43 432.74 2018 132.31 2019 169.92 398.16 568.08 247.00 491.49 738.49 2020 *Includes rice equivalent of un-milled paddy Source: Department of Food & Public Distribution

33 healthcare workers test positive at Max hospital in Patparganj

ASTHA SAXENA

NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

THIRTY-THREE healthcare workers have tested positive for coronavirus at Max Super Speciality Hospital in East Delhi's Patparganj. With over 400 beds, the hospital is one the largest private facilities in the district.

The hospital, when contacted, told The Indian Express: "As part of our ongoing routine COVID testing for all healthcare workers, admitted patients and new admissions, a total of 33 healthcare workers have tested positive since the exercise began earlier this month at Max Hospital, Patparganj. These include two doctors and 23 nursing staff, while the remaining are technicians and support staff." "All of them have been

Alarm bells ringing in

Express

staff," it said.

PAGE 4

On the 145 nurses being quarantined, a health department official said: "Contact tracing of the hospital staff began

293 NEW CASES IN

DELHI ON SUNDAY

Bengal to die of the virus.

on ventilator support. The cause

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Laxmi Nagar in East Delhi after some shops opened on Sunday morning. Abhinav Saha REPORT, PAGE 3

shifted to our COVID-only Max Hospital, Saket, east wing," hos-EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE pital authorities told The Indian AHMEDABAD, APRIL 26

The hospital also said that WITH 19 PATIENTS succumbing 145 nurses from the Patparganj to COVID-19 in Ahmedabad facility "were guarantined for 14 Sunday, including a Congress days in a private hostel, where corporator, Gujarat's largest city they live. The hostel was sealed has registered 105 deaths linked and declared a containment to the virus overall - more fatalities than any other city in the zone by the local authorities". "Since the occupancy (at the country, apart from Mumbai hospital) is minimal, the hospiwith 204 deaths. Pune with 77 tal is functioning with available deaths, Indore (57) and Delhi (51) are next in line.

As many as 67 of the viruslinked deaths in Ahmedabad have been reported since April 20. During the same period, Mumbai reported 65 deaths. Outside Ahmedadad, only one death was reported in Gujarat Sunday – from Vadodara.

Ahmedabad district has CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

WITH 153 DEATHS from 3,319 positive cases, Gujarat has one of the highest Known Infection Fatality Ratio in the country. The high death rate could also point to a much larger prevalence of the disease in the population than has so far been detected. Gujarat has so far carried out 51,091 tests, which is less than half of what Maharashtra has done so far, and significantly lesser than even Tamil Nadu with more than 80,000 tests.

Ahmedabad: 19 deaths in

Emphasising the importance of social distancing, he said: CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

'ECONOMIC ACTIVITY SHOULD START IN NON-HOTSPOTS.. OR PEOPLE WILL DIE OF HUNGER' ASHOK GEHLOT CHIEF MINISTER OF RAJASTHAN

Image grab of food being distributed at a college in Agra

AMIL BHATNAGAR & AVANEESH MISHRA NOIDA, LUCKNOW, APRIL 26

IN A video clip of a quarantine centre in Agra, a person wearing personal protective equipment (PPE) can be seen throwing water bottles and food packets from outside a locked gate, as dozens of people inside stretch out their hands through the iron grille and try to grab them.

This comes days after the "Agra model of containment" was showcased as a success by both the Centre and the state government.

The video clip, which is being circulated on social media, was reportedly shot at the Hindustan College, registered under the Sharda Group of Institutions, which was taken over by the Agra administration and converted into a quarantine facility.

membered for his stint as lep-rosy officer. "He travelled to the interiors of the districts and played a major role in bringing down the number of leprosy

Dasgupta also headed the planning and development of the state health services before leading charge of the Central the Behala branch of the Indian

Medical Association with whom

Dasgupta has worked for long, said, "We got to know about his fever only on the seventh day,

when Dr Sovan Kumar Kundu

Sanjay Banerjee, secretary of Medical Stores

cases in these areas," he said.

The woman shooting the video clip can be heard saying that she was brought to the centre for a check-up, which wasn't done.

Some residents claimed that food was distributed at the quarantine centre in a similar fashion earlier too.

Confirming the incident, Agra District Magistrate Prabhu Narain Singh said it happened a few days ago, and "everything is fine now".

"The situation has been taken care of The DM has ordered an inquiry. There was a slight delay in distributing the food, that is why those staying at the quarantine centre became somewhat restless." Additional Chief Secretary (Home) Awanish Kumar Awasthi said.

Singh said there was a delay of about four hours in distributing the food. "There was a gap of CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

THE EDITORIAL PAGE

SAFETY OF HEALERS MOST IMPORTANT BY DRSK SARIN

PAGE 8

WORLD

GLOBAL DEATHS GO PAST 2 LAKH, SPAIN DAILY TOLL LOWEST IN FIVE WEEKS PAGE 10

ATRIMITRA& AMITAVA CHAKRABORTY

KOLKATA, NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

health centres across the state - from Services became the first front-

PAGE 1 ANCHOR

AS THE man in charge of West Bengal's Central Medical Stores, Dr Biplab Kanti Dasgupta led the distribution of COVID-19 medical supplies to hospitals and Personal Protective Equipment to masks and gloves. On Sunday, nine days after he tested positive and months shy of retirement, the 64-year-old Assistant Director of Health have tested positive for the virus line health provider in West and are in the same hospital. Dasgupta, who was admitted While one of his sons is stuck in to a private hospital in Kolkata's another city and has been unable Salt Lake area, tested positive on to return due to the lockdown. April 17. Diabetic and hypertenthe other is in guarantine in a hosive, his condition had deteriotel in east Kolkata. rated soon after, and he was put

On Sunday, in a series of tweets, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee said she was "deeply pained at the untimely demise' of Dasgupta. She said Dasgupta's "sacrifice for the cause of ailing humanity will ever be in our hearts and will make our COVID warriors fight the deadly virus with even greater determination."

Hailing from Chattogram in Bengal doctor in charge of Covid supplies falls to virus

Dr Biplab Kanti Dasgupta tested positive on April 17. Bangladesh, Dasgupta, who health, said Dasgupta will be regraduated from Chittagong Medical College in 1980, did his Diploma in Public Health from the All India Institute of Hygiene and Public Health.

An officer of the West Bengal Health Services, Dasgupta has held several senior administrative positions, including that of Superintendent of Kanthi Subdivisional Hospital in East Midnapore, Chief Medical Officer in Uttar Dinajpur and later, District Leprosy Officer in Murshidabad.

Dr Amit Pan, a Kolkata-based paediatrician who has worked extensively in the area of child examined him (Kundu has since tested positive) and recommended a COVID-19 test. Even after he tested positive, Biplab told me he had no problems. But a couple of days later, I could sense his breathlessness. That night, he was transferred to a private hospital in Salt Lake and put on ventilator. In the meantime, he also suffered a cardiac arrest. Although he survived that, his urinary output had reduced a lot. He was to be put on dialysis but that never happened. He had comorbidities diabetes and hypertension. About 7-8 years ago, he had also

New Delhi

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

his wife and family physician of his death has been recorded as 'COVID pneumonia'. After he tested positive, his family and primary contacts, including 17 more staff of the Health Department and another senior medical officer, were put in guarantine and their swab samples sent for testing. So far,

2 THE SECOND PAGE

The Indian EXPRESS

WWW.INDIANEXPRESS.COM DOWNLOAD APP 😃 VISUAL STORIES DAILY BRIEFING #77er Performance -15 HOW INDIA'S FILM INDUSTRY GOT HIT AND IS PREPARING FOR A NEW NORMAL PODCASTS WEB xclusive While the impact of the lockdown on the Indian film industry at large is still being evaluated, we take a look at CUSTOMIZABLE NEWS EXPERIENCE how film production and related fields have suffered in India over the past month. Indian Express ★★★★ 4.6 Today's too news VIDEO OF THE DAY AT HOME WITH STARS and the second Rocky & Mayur play the Virat Kohli reclaims top position SCAN THIS QR CODE TO 'who is more likely to' in ICC Test Batting Rankings DOWNLOAD THE APP challenge ears append durantly's Direct limits arear state open to the tex. 1 popular is the K.K.

Probe: Top cop exceeded authority in issuing travel letter for Wadhawans

MOHAMED THAVER MUMBAI, APRIL 26

THE PROBE ordered by the Maharashtra government against its Principal Secretary (Home) Amitabh Gupta for issuing a letter allowing DHFL promoters Dheeraj Wadhawan and Kapil Wadhawan to travel during the lockdown has concluded that while the IPS officer exceeded his jurisdiction, he has sought to justify the move on humanitarian grounds. The Indian Express has learnt.

The report, which was submitted by Additional Chief Secretary (Finance) Manoj Saunik Saturday, also says that if the government accepts Gupta's explanation, it should ask him "to be careful" in future and check the background of those seeking his help.

On Sunday, the CBI took the Wadhawan brothers in custody for alleged fraud linked to loans obtained from Yes Bank - after the end of their 14-day guarantine period following the journey. Facing non-bailable warrants, the Wadhawans are being probed by the CBI and the ED on charges linked to the alleged multicrore

Yes Bank scam. Gupta was sent on leave on April 9 for allowing the Wadhawan brothers, and 21 others. to travel from Khandala to Mahabaleshwar. The Satara police had also registered an FIR against the 23 for violating the lockdown.

The probe, which was also asked to look into whether there were any previous dealings between Gupta and the Wadhawans, and whether the travel letter was issued with any "mala fide intention", says that a "forensic investigation" by an investigative agency is needed look into these charges.

But the report indicates that it did not appear that Gupta gave the letter to help the Wadhawans evade the law, sources said, adding that this observation is likely to count in the officer's favour.

In a Facebook Live video Sunday, Home Minister Anil Deshmukh said: "The CM and I will look through the file and take a decision on the report. Eventually, we will also make the report public.' FULL REPORT ON

www.indianexpress.com

The Indian EXPRESS

–JOURNALISM OF COURAGE —

FROM PAGE ONE PM's meeting

ing kits.

mand the release of past dues to the state and seek additional test-

In another meeting with chief secretaries of all states on Sunday,

Cabinet Secretary Rajiv Gauba reviewed the preparedness of states. "A presentation was made outlining the projected scale of the challenge at hand, especially since the current stringent lockdown cannot possibly go on for an indefinite period given its huge economic cost," said an official

On Sunday, the country registered the highest daily increase of 1,945 cases, taking the total number of positive cases to 26,917, as per data released by the health ministry. The number of deaths touched 826, with 47 in the last

have recovered from the disease.

65,000 COVID-19 cases by May

15. At the present doubling rate

Making a summary projec-

who was part of the meeting.

and personal protective equipment.

A day before the meeting, Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot told The Indian Express that the nation-wide lockdown should be modified and economic activities allowed in nonhotspots. "There was some relaxation for industries and shops... That is fine, but more activities should begin because the revenue of states has become zero. When there is no revenue, how will states work?" he said.

Less than a week back, Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel too had written to the Prime Minister seeking permission to let sweet shops, vehicle and electronic showrooms, repair shops, and retail activities commence operations. He had also demanded funds to the tune of Rs 30,000 crore to support poor and needy families with no means of income.

State government sources in 24 hours. A total of 5,913 people Maharashtra said Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray is likely to demand arrangement of special tion during the meeting with state trains to transport migrant workchief secretaries, the Central govers to their home states. They said ernment projected India to record the state has initiated preliminary preparations for transportation of of 10-12 days, it said the number migrants by buses if trains were not permitted. While Gujarat CM of cases could reach 2.74 crore

Vijay Rupani is likely to present cases by August 15. "By June end the way forward for his state after we could be headed for one lakh May 3, Punjab CM Amarinder cases a day, according to the pro-Singh is expected to reiterate his iection." said another source who demand for a special financial was part of the meeting. "The idea was to sensitise package, and West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee is likely to de-states to the need to be well prepared. Health is a state subject and all the real work is being done by them. That is why there was also talk about devolution of responsibilities to the district administration or even the city level for better decentralised care of patients so that tertiary care facilities are not overwhelmed," said a third person who was part of the meeting. Going forward, the doubling time would depend on when and to what extent lockdown is relaxed in various parts of the country. India's worst doubling time was 3.5 days in March. A top official in the government said even in the worst case scenario, the doubling rate may not dip below five as social distancing, hand washing and other behavioural changes are being internalised by people. "But if the doubling time does reach there, the case load would be even more than the projection shared with states," the source said.

During a visit to the AIIMS Trauma Centre in New Delhi, Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan said: "When we compare the number of active patients who are currently hospitalised, we find that only 2.17 per cent patients have been admitted in ICU, 1.29 per cent patients have required oxygen support and mere 0.36 per cent are on ventilator. We are winning the battles and eventually we will win this war..." The mortality/ death rate of COVID patients in India is 3.1 per cent compared with 7 per cent at the global level, he said. "The doubling rate of the country has been showing regular im-

May 3. For instance, it suggested that Mumbai could see a shortage of isolation beds with oxygen by May 2, with 9,632 cases projected

EXPLAINED

TENSIONS IN THE

SOUTH CHINA SEA

expanding its presence

China has been in the region

by that date. It recorded 10 districts across the country with the highest bed capacity utilisation, according to available data. Firozabad in UP has 30 beds but 62 active cases: Surat has 253 beds and 440 active cases. Mumbai is recorded as having a total 2,260 beds, and 3,615 cases. Of these 10 districts, four are in UP, and two in Gujarat.

The Cabinet Secretary's presentation seemed critical of the data provided by states - it asked whether there was overutilisation of beds, where patients were housed, and whether administrations were "actually aware of what is happening in the field", and remarked that "with managing COVID-19 as the only task, it is strange if we cannot do even basic data entry".

Mann ki baat

"Do gaj doori, bahut hai zaroori (a distance of two yards is essential)." He also exhorted people to stop spitting in public places, saving it was time to get rid of this "bad habit" once and for all

"Due to COVID-19, masks are becoming a part of our lives. It doesn't mean that all those who are wearing it are sick. Masks will become a new symbol of a civilised society. If you want to protect yourself and others from the disease, use of a mask is important," he said.

The Prime Minister said India's fight against COVID-19 was "people-driven" in the truest I inspected the place. An inspecsense of the term. In recent weeks, he said, people of different faiths have celebrated their religious festivals at home, following the instructions of the authorities.

He also urged more prayers He has been asked to submit a rering the ongoing month of port. The teams tasked with iPhone SE and OnePlus 8 series: surprise phone launches

NEW EPISODE EVERYDAY

On the tech podcast, reporters detail the latest surprise smartphone launches, what sets these models apart and how they plan to enter a market hit by the pandemic ease specialist at Sterling Hospital, which is one of the three private hospitals in Gujarat authorised to treat COVID-19 patients, attributed the fatality rate to the "likely presence of a deadlier strain" of the virus in the state.

Of the 233 new cases reported from across Gujarat, 178 were from Ahmedabad, taking the total number in the district to 2.181, and the total count in the state to 3.319 per cent of deaths were of those above 60 years of age, 33.04 per cent between 45 and 60 years old,

10.71 per cent between 15 and 45 years old, and 1.78 per cent below

15 years old. And, at least 15 per cent of the total deaths reported in the state till Friday were with-

Among the new cases reported from the state, 28 were from Surat, eight from Anand, seven from Vadodara, four each from Rajkot, two from Panchmahal, and one each from

Banaskantha, Kheda, Navsari and about four hours, and (in this time) they did all this. However, it was an isolated incident, and we have made sure that no such incident is repeated. Everything has been taken care of. Everything is the Sharda Group of Institutions,

tion was done this morning too.

All the faults in the system have been repaired. The Chief Development Officer (CDO) has been asked to fix responsibility.

"Following complaints from out any co-morbidities.

Agra model

fine now." he said.

According to state data, 54.46

hospital.

Sunday.

Patan.

month period from April to June 2020. An additional 12.14 mt of wheat and rice has been allocated Thirteen of the deaths were of for this purpose. patients being treating at the SVP The government was, until rehospital and the rest at the civil cently, not aggressively disposing of stocks from public warehouses, largely for financial and accounting reasons. The FCI's "economic cost" of procuring and distributing grain was estimated at Rs 26.80 per kg for wheat and Rs 37.48 per kg for rice in 2019-20. But concerns over issuing grains at low cost, or even free, have had to take a backseat for two reasons. The first has, of course, been spectively. Under the new package, an extra 5 kg of wheat/rice is being given per person per month, free of cost, for a three-

the prospect of large-scale hunger from a sudden collapse of workdays and incomes following the lockdown. The second is a bumper wheat crop that farmers are now harvesting and bringing to the mandis.

The total storage capacity available with FCI and state agencies has been assessed at 75.85 mt as on December 31, 2019. That includes 62.64 mt of covered godown space, with the remaining 13.20 mt being open storage in cover-and-plinth structures. With procurement of the new crop taking off, the challenge of stocking is expected to go up in the coming weeks. The only "relief" may come from PMGKY. Apart from economic cost, FCI also incurs interest and storage expenses in holding excess stocks in its godowns. That "carrying cost", estimated at Rs 5.61 per kg in 2019-20, will be saved even when grain is given out free.

Delhi hospital

soon after a patient undergoing dialysis there tested positive. During investigation, we found 145 nurses from the hospital living in the same hostel, with each room being shared by three-four nurses. The entire hostel complex was guarantined and samples of provement and stands at 10.5 days when seen over a period of three days, 9.3 days over a period of 7 days and 8.1 days over a period of a 14 days. These indicators may be taken as positive effects of the lockdown along with the cluster management and containment strategies," he said.

WHERE NEWS THAT MATTERS IS EXPLAINED BY EXPERTS WHO KNOW THE SUBJECT

A FULL EXPLAINED PAGE MONDAY TO SATURDAY EXPLAINED, A PART OF KEY STORIES DAILY 24 X 7 EXPLAINED ONLINE, AS NEWS BREAKS

"As on date, 283 districts have not reported any COVID cases, 64 districts have not reported a fresh case since the last 7 days, 48 districts have not reported a fresh case since the last 14 days, 33 districts have not reported a fresh case since the last 21 days and 18 districts have not reported a fresh case since the last 28 days," the Health Minister said. (With inputs from Manoi CG

> in New Delhi and Vishwas Waghmode in Mumbai)

Centre flags gaps so far. In Assam, which is third on the list, these numbers are 19(out of 33) and 6 respectively.

The presentation also recorded the worst performing districts in these states. In UP, the three worst performing districts are Saharanpur, Firozabad and Rae Bareli.

Underscoring the "urgent need to build ICU capacity", the presentation said 143 districts in India have no ICU beds; 47 of these have seen coronavirus cases. Here too, the state with the highest number is UP, with 34 districts with zero ICU beds, of which 19 have seen infections.

Madhya Pradesh is second in this list, with 31 districts that have zero ICU beds: 11 of these districts have seen COVID-19 cases. Bihar is third, with numbers of 29 and 10 respectively.

A total 123 districts nationwide have zero ventilator beds: 39 of these districts have seen cases. UP has 35 of these districts - and 20 of them have reported cases. Bihar and Assam have 28 and 17 such districts respectively; and 10 and 3 of them respectively have seen cases.

The presentation also flagged the possibility of infrastructure shortage based on projections for Ramzan. "Now that this trouble has come to plague the entire world, it gives us an opportunity to mark this Ramzan as an icon of restraint, goodwill, sensitivity and service. This time, we should pray more than ever before, so that prior to the celebration of Eid, the world is rid of the coronavirus and we celebrate Eid with enthusiasm and gaiety like earlier times," he said. Modi also talked about India's attempts to supply hydroxvchloroquine (HCO) to 13 countries. "We took a decision in keeping with our culture. We undertook the task of providing medical supplies to the needy across the world, and have successfully completed this humanitarian task," he said.

Ahmedabad

accounted for over 68 per cent of the total deaths in the state, which reached 153 Sunday. Ahmedabad and Surat are among the five new hotspots, including Chennai, Hyderabad and Thane, that will be monitored by Central teams. Of the 19 deaths in Ahmedabad – the highest reported from the city in one day eight were of patients who did not have any other serious ailments and were in the age range of 34-59 years. Nine others suffered from high blood pressure, diabetes and heart ailments, and two were listed as "high risk" and aged 60 and 65 years old.

Among the nine was Congress corporator Badruddin Shaikh, 67, who represented Behrampura ward, a hotspot in the city. Shaikh tested positive on April 15, was admitted to Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (SVP) hospital, and had been on ventilator support for over a week. Officials said Shaikh had undergone a heart surgery recently, was a diabetic and had hypertension.

The city has, meanwhile, ramped up its testing. On Saturday, Chief Minister Vijay Rupani said that Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation was testing 2,701 samples per million population.

Dr Atul Patel, infectious dis-

COVID-19 management have been asked to work properly and not let such complaints come up again." Singh said. While Singh said there are over 500 people at the quarantine centre, a local health official put the figure at 130. "Most of the people at the guarantine centre are those who have small houses, where social distancing is not possible. We believe that if we let them stay in their houses, the virus will spread further. Yesterday, we brought all the close contacts of previous confirmed cases here for sampling and the process is going on," the DM said.

Until Sunday evening, Agra had reported 372 cases (including 49 discharged) and 10 deaths.

Agra Mayor Naveen Jain said he had written to Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath earlier, stating that the authorities were only indulging in "photo ops", and lack of proper effort was worsening the situation in the district.

Grain stocks

minimum of 13.58 mt for April 1. The build-up of stocks to such high levels is mainly a result of governmental procurement of grain exceeding offtake from the Central pool. In 2019-20 (April-March) alone, total procurement amounted to 80.64 mt, comprising 46.51 mt rice and 34.13 mt wheat. As against this, the aggregate offtake was just over 62 mt.

That included 52.85 mt under the National Food Security Act (NFSA), 3.77 mt under midday meals and other welfare schemes, and 5.25 mt of open market sales through e-auctions.

The Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Yojana (PMGKY) relief package, announced on March 27 to alleviate the distress of people most affected by the nationwide lockdown, might help whittle down some of the excess foodgrain stocks.

The NFSA, currently, entitles three-fourths of all rural and half of all urban households to 5 kg of wheat or rice per person per month at Rs 2/kg and Rs 3/kg, reall nurses were sent for testing." On April 15, the hospital chain had announced it would test its 24,000 healthcare workers and 1,000 patients across the country over the next few weeks.

So far, 50 healthcare workers have tested positive at the Delhi government-run Babu Jagjivan Ram Hospital, 29 at Baba Saheb Ambedkar Hospital, 25 at the Delhi State Cancer Institute and 15 at Lady Hardinge Medical College. Apollo, Sir Ganga Ram, Moolchand, RML, Safdarjung, Al-IMS and Lok Navak have also reported cases of healthcare workers testing positive.

Bengal doctor suffered a minor cerebral stroke."

"The last time I spoke to him, he rued about where he could have contracted the virus from. I told him he could have got it from anywhere – after all, he was in contact with workers who were carrying supplies from the Central Medical Stores to various COVID hospitals: or even the government car in which he travelled," Banerjee added.

Dasgupta's friends say that through all his postings, he never gave up medical practice. Dr Samudra Sengupta, his friend and junior in the health services, said, "Since we are in administrative service, we have no permission for clinical practice. But Biplab da would always say, 'Daktari ta chharis na (Don't stop being a doctor). We are born to treat people. That is how we will always be known as.' So Biplab da also never give up practice. He used to treat people free of cost."

While condoling the death, the West Bengal Doctors' Forum called for more testing of healthcare providers. "We once again reiterate that we need more intensive testing, especially of each and every healthcare provider, even asymptomatic ones...'

FULL REPORTS ON www.indianexpress.com

duce our worries massively," he said he had hitchhiked his way to Gurgaon a few days ago, hoping to eventually return to his home

Jaipur to Gurgaon partly on foot and partly by seeking lifts from commuters. However, in Gurgaon, I couldn't find any mode of transport to take me further. So

I sat here biding my time until arrangements were made.

Returning home will be a big re-

Madhya Pradesh who are still stuck in Jaipur. We are equally

"I have colleagues from

"I managed to travel from

in UP's Saharanpur.

lief," he said.

Amjad (26) who works at a furniture showroom in Jaipur, said.

THE INDIAN EXPRESS, MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020 THE OUTBREAK THE CITY

In Mandawali, Sunday. Shop owners welcomed the relaxation but feared it will take six months to a year to attain some form of normalcy. Prem Nath Pandey

AFTER DELHI GOVT RELAXES CURBS Some shops open but footfall a trickle, barely any business

ANAND MOHAN J & SUKRITA BARUAH NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

A PACKET of carrom board coins, dice, and five pens - the bill of sale at Vinod Kumar Goyal's stationery shop in East Delhi's Mayur Vihar Phase-1 shows that this is what the 60-year-old was able to sell, a month after he opened his shop, on Sunday.

Goyal spent Rs 1.5 lakh procuring books for the current academic year and was distraught at not being able to sell a single one. "Shops are finally open and people are buying board games from my store. My entire year is ruined because of the lockdown," he said.

The Delhi government Saturday allowed the opening of standalone shops as well as those in neighbourhoods and residential areas, selling both essential and non-essential items, after the Union Home Ministry's advisory relaxing curbs to allow functioning of select shops.

On Sunday, many shops in the city opened early morning and in for the last month because they have appliances which stopped working and couldn't get it fixed. Even while my shop was closed, I would get calls from people calling me to their homes to fix something or the other," he said. Elsewhere in Jangpura, the government's order has translated to little on the ground, with the only shops open being grocery, fruit, vegetable and milk stores, and pharmacies which had already been open. At Chilla Village in Mayur Vihar, a tea shop was the first to open at 6 am. Lata Devi (63) has been running the stall for the past 25 years. After six hours. not a single customer visited. She spent Rs. 600 to buy three litres of milk and some rusks. "I have to sell at least 10 cups of tea to survive. From tomorrow, we will not be able to open shop as we have run out of money to buy milk," she said.

A few metres away is Tilak Dev Thakur's home as well as his shop. He lives with five members of his family and sells undergarments. He saw only two customers till noon: "I need Rs 15,000 to buy stock from Gandhi Nagar once the

No Old Delhi treats, Ramzan a muted affair this year

A shop being disinfected at Jama Masjid area. This Ramzan, many shopowners are at home for the first time. Tashi Tobgyal

khalipan hai," he says, SURBHIGUPTA NEW DEI HI APRIL 26

"Everyone is praying for the pandemic to end." This year, the market will not be decorated.

Over 500 migrant workers from UP transported home by Gurgaon admin

SAKSHIDAYAL GURGAON, APRIL 26

THE GURGAON district administration Sunday transported over 500 migrant workers from Uttar Pradesh, who had been stranded in Gurgaon amid the lockdown, back to their home state.

Officials said all the workers had been housed at relief centres across the district over the past month. The buses they were transported in were sanitised in advance, and they were seated while ensuring social distancing through the trip.

"A total of 14 workers had been transported to Uttarakhand and five to Punjab Saturday, using Haryana Roadways buses. A total of 553 workers were sent to UP in 19 buses today," said a spokesperson of the district administration. As per the administration's figures, Gurgaon has 35 relief cen-

A total of 553 workers from UP were transported home in 19 buses of the Haryana Roadways. Express tres, which had housed around 900 workers. With 572 of them now gone, less than 350 remain in these shelters.

Among those leaving the citv on Sunday afternoon was Ramesh Chand, a worker at a garment company who hails from UP's Etawah. He had moved to a relief centre around a month ago, with his wife and three children. "Soon after the lockdown, I realised we would be unable to pay the rent for our accommodation in Bhangrola village. We were also facing issues procuring food and essential items. So, we had to move to the centre with our belongings. We were provided for here, but returning home will re-worried and helpless, financial constraints are one thing, but the mental stress of this lockdown and infection is also there. Being with my family will reduce the load," he added.

Duty first for doctors at Faridabad hospital

SAKSHIDAYAL GURGAON, APRIL 26

A FEW days ago, Deepak Kumar (29), a nursing staff at the isolation ward at ESIC Medical College in Faridabad, received a phone call from his family in Rajasthan that his wife had had a miscarriage

Deployed at an isolation ward meant for COVID-19 patients, he chose not to rush back to his family and protected them by remaining where he was. "I was completely shattered by the news, but I did not want to put my family in danger and risk carrying an infection back to them. My wife kept asking me to return home for some time, but I could only console and reassure her over the phone," he said.

Kumar is among 250 doctors and staff deployed at the hospital, which is among the 11 facilities designated by the Haryana government for treatment of COVID-19 cases. For almost two months now, they have been working round the clock and living away from their families in seven tourism complexes set up by the district administration.

'There are around 250 doctors and nurses in Faridabad who have not seen their homes and families for months but are still working to defeat the infection," said civil surgeon Krishan Kumar.

For Damodar, who is from Aligarh and a nursing staff at the hospital, staying away from his three-year-old son and five-yearold daughter was the toughest part of the last one month. Since his wife is also a nurse at the hospital, the couple's children have been left in the care of their maternal uncle."We speak to our children only over the phone or video call. It has been a month since they last met us. They do not completely understand what is happening and keep asking us to let them return home. It is difficult to keep turning them down and stay away, but this is our duty," he said. Several doctors and staff members said the support of their families has played a critical role in helping them fulfil the demands of their jobs. "I have two children, aged 10 and 6. Whenever I call them up, they keep asking me to come back. That is difficult for me. But my mother, who is looking after them, encourages me to focus on my work without worrying. She says that what I am doing is a

The Indian EXPRESS

JOURNALISM OF COURAGE -

WHERE

NEWSMAKERS

A CANDID CHAT.

DROP IN FOR

matter of pride for her," said Ballabgarh resident and nurse Jyoti, who has not returned home for a month.

Deputy Commissioner Yashpal Yadav said, "Doctors, nurses and paramedical staff are playing a critical role in the battle against coronavirus. It is because of their efforts, and the preventive work being done by the health department, that 35 people have recovered and been discharged in the district."

Faridabad has so far recorded 45 cases, with two more people testing positive on Sunday. "One is a 24-year-old resident of Faridabad, who was undergoing treatment for a kidney ailment at a Delhi hospital. The other is a 32-year-old vegetable vendor,' said a spokesperson of the district administration.

the evening and saw but a trickle of customers. They welcomed the relaxation, but feared it will take at least six months to a year attain some form of normalcy.

Sources in the Delhi government said it was not in favour of lifting restrictions but their hand was forced when, on Saturday, several traders opened their shops citing the MHA order.

Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal Sunday said, "The Centre has decided to open a few neighbourhood shops, we will follow the MHA order in Delhi as well. Essential services will remain open, but markets, complexes, and shopping malls will be shut... We have worked hard to ensure stability and strength in our battle against Corona, we should not let anything push us back."

In Jangpura's H block, the only shop open on Sunday evening, apart from grocery stores, was a hole-in-the wall electric repair shop. Kumar, who runs the shop, has had a busy day.

"People have been frustrated

JIGNASA SINHA

NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

DELHI POLICE found 25 migrant labourers, including eight women and seven children, in a truck near South Delhi's Kotla

Mubarakpur Saturday night.

They were trying to return to Madhya Pradesh. A case has been registered against the driver and his helper and the truck has been seized. Police said the migrants, who worked as construction workers in Outer

Delhi, have been shifted to a Thakur said, "The driver said he had come to Delhi to deliver essential goods and was returning to MP. The labourers came to know about this and paid the

DCP (South) Atul Kumar

shelter home in Fatehpur Beri.

25 workers found in truck,

sent to shelter home: Cops cloth market opens. It will take me at least six months to earn that kind of money again." In upscale Nizamuddin East on Sunday evening, the only shop open was a stationery store – Prem Prakash store. "I only opened at 5 pm, I don't know what kind of footfall I'll see here," said Sunny, at the store. The other stores which surround his are a beauty salon, a dry-cleaning store and an eatery, all of which are closed. A few stores down is a grocery store which has been operating throughout. Police are also keeping an eye to make sure no one violates the guidelines. "We have briefed personnel to keep a check near residential areas, wholesale markets. In South and East Delhi, shops with essential goods were the only ones open. In other areas, only a few people opened their shops. We have not received any case of violation. Maybe this is because today is Sunday and many shops are shut anyway," said a Delhi Police spokesperson.

driver Rs 1,000 per person to drop them to their hometown."

Police said nine people boarded from Narela, six from Karnal by-

in Narela but we lost our jobs

since the lockdown. It wasn't easy to leave Delhi on foot. My friend told me about this truck, which was unloading material near

North Delhi." Shyama, another worker, said, "Our contractor left us and I had to beg for food and money for a week. I thought the truck would take us back home...

We don't want to live like this."

to Bihar and UP, were also found in two delivery vans near Seemapuri.

A case was registered against the two drivers and the migrants were sent to Yamuna Sports Complex.

Around 65 migrants, heading

Kishan (32), one of the mi-pass and 10 from near AIIMS.

MOHAMMAD SHAN recalls ask-"When so many are dying, we ing his father if they should make can't be celebrating," he says. their special paneer jalebi all year Oureshi has staved put at his round. "But he used to say it restaurant. a stone's throw from should be a gift to those who keep Jama Masjid, to help police rozas," says Shan, who runs the popular Kallan Sweets in Old

Delhi's Matia Mahal. This year, though, there is no Ramzan special menu, which also includes the keema samosa, as their shop is shut. "We've been getting calls from customers inquiring if we're making our special dishes or if we can deliver the kha*jla* and pheni, but for that I need five to seven karigars. They all live in Jafrabad and Seelampur and can't travel, plus it's not safe," he says. The Ramzan treats at Old Delhi's Jama Masjid area are popular across India. savs Akram Qureshi, owner of Al Jawahar and president of Matia Mahal Shopkeepers' Association. "Par woh raunak toh ab nahi hai... ek maintain social distancing and guide people to stay indoors. Most shop owners in the area are home, some for the first time during Ramzan. Haji Imran, who runs a sheermal shop, has also been getting calls for orders. "Usually during Ramzan, we would be at the shop from 10 am till midnight, but this year, we're spending it at home.' Meanwhile, Asgher Bakery, a 70-year-old shop known for its biscuits and rusks, is opening for three hours every day. Ameer Sweet House, tucked in the bylanes of Chitli Qabar, has also been opening from 2 to 5 pm. "But we're only making aloo samosa and pakode this time," says Haji Ruzaib Hassan, the owner.

WAPCOS Limited

WAPCOS Limited intends to empanel well qualified & experienced individuals experts including freelancers, former Technocrats of Central/ State/Boards/ PSUs etc. below 65 years in Civil Electrical, Environment, Road, Geologist, Social Sciences Architects, Project Management, Construction, Bridges, Buildings, Hydro-Power, Thermal Power, Transmission & Distribution, Ports & Harbours, Water Supply and Sanitation, Irrigation and Ground Water Management etc. for Projects in Water Resources/Power/Infrastructure Sectors on Short/ Long term basis. Officers due for Superannuation in near future may also apply. For details and proforma visit our web site http://www.wapcos.co.in. Further amendments if any, will be displayed on our Website only.

CENTRAL UNIVERSITY OF KASHMIR Green Campus, Ganderbal-191201 (J&K)

EMPLOYMENT NOTIFICATION

Applications are invited from the eligible candidates for appointment to the various non-teaching/library posts on substantive basis. The details with regard to the number of vacancies, eligibility conditions and prescribed online application form are available on the University website www.cukashmir.ac.in. The last date for submitting the online application form is 17th May, 2020.

No. 03 of 2020 (NT) Dated: 27-04-2020

E-AQDA

The Indian EXPRESS

Express E-Adda hosts

Dr. Arvind Subramanian

Visiting Lecturer, Harvard University & Former Chief Economic Adviser, Govt. of India

in conversation with

Harish Damodaran National Editor The Indian Express

P Vaidyanathan lyer

Executive Editor, National Affairs The Indian Express

By invitation only.

Use #ExpressAdda & join the conversation, exclusively on:

🔇 Indianexpress.com

- twitter.com/IndianExpress
- facebook.com/IndianExpress

Join us on

New Delhi

Registrar (I/c)

THEOUTBREAK THE CITY

Cases continue to rise, 293 CM's plasma pitch: 'Want to save lives... virus sees no religion' test positive on Sunday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

CASES IN Delhi went up by over two-and-a-half times in a day, as the city saw 293 fresh cases or Sunday. No one succumbed to the disease. Delhi's total COVID-19 count now stands at 2,918.

The percentage of people testing positive against the number of tests conducted – 3,518 – was 8.3% on Sunday. The highest in the past week was 9.2% or Wednesday, when 92 out of 995 people tested positive.

Over the past four days, the number of fresh cases has been rising in the city, after they dropped below 100 for two consecutive days. The cumulative number of deaths this week though, has been lower than the previous week. "While 566 peo ple were admitted to hospitals last week, only 34 people were admitted this week. The recovery rate has also doubled during this week, with 580 people recovering as against 260 people last week. This is a good sign as the number of people who have recovered has doubled" said Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal.

The Delhi government, on a

ASTHA SAXENA AND

THIRTY SEVEN healthcare workers from various city hospitals tested positive for COVID-19 on Sunday. Among the new cases are a nurse working at AIIMS Institute

Rotary Cancer Hospital, a security guard posted at the Union Health

Minister's OSD office at AIIMS, six more healthcare workers at Babu

Jagjivan Ram Hospital and 29 staff

members from Dr Baba Saheb

Ambedkar Hospital. Over 150

healthcare workers have contracted the virus in the city so far.

sealed Babu Jagjivan Ram

The district administration

ANANYA TIWARI

NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

AIIMS nurse among

37 more healthcare

T	RACKING T	HE VIRUS
	_	877
		TOTAL RECOVERED)
		293 CASES TODAY*
		Q Recovered
		today*
2,918	1,987	Total samples tested in 24 hou	rs
TOTAL	ACTIVE	are 3,518, of whi
CASES	CASES	293 tested posit – a rate of 8.32%	ive
DEAT	IS: 54
Patients admi	tted in hospitals		576
Patients in COVID care centres			985
Patients in ICU			42
Patients on ventilator		1	11
No. of Contair	iment zones		97
*as of April 26, 20	20

trial basis, has been treating serious patients using plasma therapy

The therapy is still at the stage of trial but doctors said they had seen encouraging results. "The body starts producing antibodnate plasma once in 10 days. One person's plasma can be used for one-two people," said an official. At Lok Nayak Hospital, where 165 patients are admitted – 14 in ICU – the therapy is being tried on four people. Sources said six more patients who are in serious condition will be put on the therapy. At AIIMS Jhajjar, too, where 105 patients are admitted, doctors are planning to do trials. "Plasma therapy is showing positive results as of now. I am monitoring each patient. One of the patients at Lok Nayak Hospital yesterday was sinking. After plasma therapy, his health has improved: it has also boosted our confidence and enthusiasm regarding plasma therapy. I hope he will recover soon," said Kejriwal. While 54 people have died in the city so far, nine died this week(tillApril26) as opposed to 21 in the previous week.

"If we follow lockdown rules, I sincerely hope we will be able to defeat this pandemic... The pattern of cases doubling or tripling in a short while has been observed across the world, but something like this was not observed here. Our aim is that there should be no more deaths due to Corona " said the CM

ASTHA SAXENA & SOURAV ROY BARMAN NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

> "IF I am able to save the life of even one person. I will count mvself lucky." That's how 36-yearold Tabrez Khan, among the first plasma donors in the national capital, summed up his decision to volunteer for the procedure. "We heard about plasma therapy and how it is saving lives of other coronavirus patients. That's when I contacted the hospital. Doctors were quite happy and they explained the procedure to me," said Tabrez, who had tested positive for COVID-19 on March 20 and, having recovered, reached out to the Institute of Liver and Biliary Sciences a month later.

Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, who has in the past appealed to those who recover to come forward and become plasma donors, Sunday said the pandemic is a reminder of the futility of religious barriers among people, and that plasma therapy works irrespective of the religion of the donor and the patient.

Kejriwal said a patient who was in a serious condition till Saturday night at Lok Nayak

CM Kejriwal has appealed to those who have recovered to come forward and donate plasma. ANI navi hai (This religion, that reli-Hospital is showing signs of region. God did not create these dicovery after undergoing the therapy. Six more patients had visions, we made them)," undergone plasma therapy in Kejriwal said Sunday. Delhi government hospitals as part of clinical trials that, authorand Muslims. And the plasma of ities said, were considerably sucour body saves lives irrespective cessful. "It occurred to me that tomorrow, the life of a Hindu patient, who is in serious condition, might be saved due to a Muslim's plasma. Or a Muslim patient's life will perhaps be saved due to the plasma of a Hindu. The almighty did not put up walls between us. Ye dharam, wo dharam, kisi prakar ki khai nahi paida ki, ye toh humne bato "spread love and brotherhood among people". "The process is easy. Doctors conduct a series of tests before taking out plasma. The entire process took around two hours. Doctors told me that two patients have been administered my plasma and they are recovering. One of them has been shifted out of the ICU," he said.

Speaking to The Indian Express earlier, Dr SK Sarin, head of ILBS who is also leading the Delhi government's COVID-19 task force, had said: "The only qualification we need from the donor is that he/she should be between 18-60 years of age, having no diabetes or blood pressure. He/she should have crossed three weeks (after recovering) and tested negative for COVID-19 twice.'

Tabrez had contracted the infection from his 38-year-old sister, who returned from Saudi Arabia. Several cases in Dilshad Garden and Jahangirpuri had been traced back to her, including two mohalla clinic doctors who tested positive. "Two of my nieces, my sister, a friend and his wife, who tested positive, also want to donate plasma. However, my sister and nieces are in guarantine now and are waiting for it to end," he said.

52 staff in contact with Hindu Rao nurse being tested Rain brings detailed report: "We are looking

ABHINAV RAJPUT NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

A DAY after Hindu Rao Hospital was shut as a nurse tested positive for COVID-19, a senior official said 52 medical staff. including four doctors and 10 nurses, who were in contact with her are being tested.

ies to fight the virus in a few days of being infected. People can donate blood after three weeks of recovering. Plasma containing antibodies is isolated from the blood, which is returned to the donor's body. One person can do-

The 950-bed hospital, the biggest under North MCD, employs over 1,200 medical staff, including 400 nurses and 400 doctors. An isolation ward with 14 beds has been set up for COVID-19 cases but patients are vet to be sent here.

North body commissioner Varsha Joshi said she has sought a in Chanakyapuri. Hospital, where many people had tested positive for the COVID-19.' Dr Anand, the district surveillance officer, told The Indian Express.

Hospital for three days after 50 healthcare workers tested positive. This is the third hospital in Delhi – after Delhi State Cancer Institute and MCD-run Hindu Rao Hospital – to shut services due to RML and her family got tested.

staff to test positive protocol," said Dr D K Sharma, medical superintendent, AIIMS. A 58-year-old orthopaedic doctor, who has a private practice in New Friends Colony, also tested positive Sunday. His wife is a doctor in the neonatology department of RML Hospital. While the doctor, who is asymptomatic, has been moved to a quarantine facility at YMCA hostel, Connaught Place, 14 others, including four members of his family and the family members of his domestic helps, are isolated at their home

"His wife is a doctor at the neonatology department at RML

A woman who delivered a baby had tested positive for COVID-19 at RML hospital's neonatology department a week ago, after which the doctor at after admitted patients. We have no evidence on where the nurse got the infection from; in a lot of cases nowadays across the city, there is no established contact history.'

"The contacts have been identified, are being tested and will be kept in quarantine. Other contacts who were not in the hospital will also be tested and guarantined," said Joshi.

Doctors, meanwhile, alleged the nurse had to make repeated requests over the past week to the hospital to be tested. A senior doctor claimed it took four-five days for the administration to conduct it: "She had come to my ward, seeking details on the test-

A North civic body worker sanitises Hindu Rao with two staffers at that time."

didn't test her. The hospital

tested her on April 23 and the reports came on April 25.

A senior North MCD official said she had complained of fever and was asked to contact the district surveillance officer (DSO): "She was on duty on April 17, 18 and 19. As per the roster, she was off on April 20 and 21. She came to work on April 22 night and demanded that she be tested. Her sample was taken on April 23."

The official further said. "She had contacted the DSO but since not every flu can be regarded as COVID-19, she would not have met the criteria for testing."

On the allegations, Joshi said: "It is confirmed that advice of the DSO was taken and followed at every step. Contact tracing has been informally done by the hospital but a final list will come from the DSO of her residential district. If any ac-

"Corona affects both Hindus of religion. Then why have we created these walls? We should at least learn from the pandemic.

If we work together, irrespective of religious differences, no force can defeat this country. But if we keep fighting among ourselves,

Jahangirpuri who was among the first 20 people to test positive in Delhi, too said he wanted

Tabrez, a resident of

there is no hope," he said.

tion is warranted, I will take it." When contacted, the DSO refused to comment and said the Hindu Rao administration would address the issue. The hospital's medical superintendent said she is not authorised to speak to the media.

The hospital was sanitised on Sunday and is set to resume services in the casualty and emergency wards, including the flu clinic and the three OPDs (gynaecology, paediatrics and medicine), with restricted entry of patients and attendants from Monday.

some relief in capital

New Delhi: The city woke up to a pleasant Sunday morning and saw light rain, thunder and strong winds that brought the temperature down seven degrees below normal. Light showers were recorded in many areas of the capital, and parts of southern NCR witnessed higher share of rain, including Gurgaon, Faridabad and Noida, as per IMD. The total rainfall recorded in the capital as of 5.30pm on Sunday was 2mm. Southwest Delhi's Aya Nagar was the wettest area of the city, recording 23.2mm rain.

"The weather activity witnessed on Sunday was result of a cyclonic circulation over Haryana, associated a Western Disturbance and Easterly winds on lower levels," said Kuldeep Srivastava, the head of IMD's regional forecasting centre in Delhi.

Wet weather is expected to continue on Monday as the IMD has forecast light rain or thundershowers along with gusty winds

6 JNU schools to hold end-sem exams online grades if students are evaluated

ARANYA SHANKAR NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

SIX SCHOOLS and Special Centres of Jawaharlal Nehru University said they will hold the end-semester exam online by June, due to the lockdown. All are Science schools. This comes even as several Schools, in recommendations to authorities, mentioned the problem of internet connection for some students. The six schools and centres said such students would be given some relaxation. Seven Schools and Special Centres decided to hold exams in the offline mode in July when pens, Almost the university re

Opening Date Closing

ate (Tin

OPENING OF BID

01.05.2020

at 05.00 PN

CLOSING 01.05.2020 UPTO 04.00 PM

or by way of online assignments.

JNU Registrar Pramod Kumar Wednesday had said the responsibility of deciding the mode of exams has been given to Deans and Chairpersons of the Schools and Special Centres, raising doubts of uniformity in grades.

Computational & Integrative Sciences (SC&IS): School of

Biotechnology (SBT); School of

) www.uhsr. ac.i ی, www.e hry.nic.in Hospital, Sunday. Abhinav Saha

procedure... She had interacted

Another doctor said the nurse finally told the hospital she would not go home if they differently." The three Schools include the School of Languages, Literature & Cultural Studies (SLL&CS), School of International Studies (SIS) and the School of Arts & Aesthetics (SAA).

In his submission, SES said "faculty opined that we ends before the end of semester. The seven Schools which said they would hold offline exams include SAA, SLL&CS, School of Social Sciences, School of Sanskrit &Indic Studies, School of Computer & Systemic Sciences,

Special Centre for Nano Sciences

that "for reasons of security, parity and on account of uneven connectivity, it is not possible to hold online 'exams'". "Four-six weeks of teaching... is essential to conclude the semester, whenever the lockdown ends. Exams will be held at the end of that...,'

SSS asked that the lockdown period be declared as vacation, a two-month extension of the semester to complete the course, and 10-12 more to complete exams in and submit results.

the submission read.

Eight healthcare workers from AIIMS have tested positive so far. As per sources, the nurse worked in the day-care chemotherapy unit and tested positive on Saturday. While her husband has tested negative, her two children are COVID-19 positive. "A committee in the hospital traces contacts of those who tested positive... They are tracing everyone as per coronavirus cases

_							reopens. Al l the mid-se
y	Petrone	t LNG Li	mited				have to be o
	Tenone						Pl
		ING TENDER (NI		No	.PS/2020	/948	8 P
	PROVIDING SECURI	OF CONTRACTOR TY SERVICES A1 IMITED, DAHEJ		Sr.	Name of Deptt./ Board/ Corpn.		ame of work/ lotice/Tender
www. other Note or ac		requested to detailed eligibility suance of Tender not to issue the ten the bids at any s	criteria along with document. nder document and / tage of the process	1.	PT. B.D. SHARMA PGIMS ROHTAK	COV 24.04 ING M&S US	ENDER NOTICE NO.UHSR/ PURCHASE/ ID-19/ 2020/03 dt. 3.2020 REGARD- / PURCHASE OF S/ M&E ETC.FOR E IN COVID-19 PGIMS/ UHS ROHTAK.
discr	etion. No separate notific requested to visit the w ited.	cation shall be issu vebsite regularly	ed in press. Bidders to keep themselves	NO 1. 2.	The e-ten Tender Fe 1,000/- + estimated	ees R 18% I value	orm can be dowr s. 2,000/- in the GST (Non- Refu e of the tender s
	PETRON GIDC Industrial Estate, P	neral Manager (C&I ET LNG LIMITED Plot No. 7/A, Dahej, 392130, Dahej, Gu	, Taluka: Vagra,	3. 4.	Possession http:/www It is clarifie	on of eten ed tha	32 is also manda f Digital signat ders.hry.nic.in is at no hard copy o en uploaded on
	Tel No: 0264	1-670231,96625262 erials@petronetIng	99	5. 6.	Terms & c PREBID I Rohtak.	condit MEE1 After	ment from the w ions on each as FING will be hel the pre-bid m shall be upload
Î	MADHYA PRA		215 0 5 5 C 1 5 C	7.	uhsr.ac.in	but c	only after final co f any, will not be
dia k	DEVELOPIN gency of Panchayat & Rura	IENT AUTHO	7.7.5.01.04
	Floor, Block-II, Paryava					C	PEN TEND
	NOTICE INVITI	NG TENDER	No. 891	Se	nior Divi	sion dia ir	al Electrical E ivites E-tende
	(PMGS	Y-III, Batch-	1)	N	Tond	ler
Onlin	821/22/D-12/MPRRDA/20 the Tenders for Constr a maintenance are inv	uction of Rural			EL/50 2020-:		AMC and coolers and Madhopur to
	https://www.mpten			2	EL/50		AMC and coolers ar Tughlakaba
ə. No.	Name or District	Packages	(In Rs.)		EL /60	1401	AMC and coolers and
1	Betul Fender document can	2 he curchesed o	278592000.00	3	EL/50 2020-:		Madhopur Ruthiyai & years.
e c	above website from 25 dates and details can t ender document on	0.04.2020 17:30 be viewed in the	hrs. Other Critical detailed N.I.T. and	1 thi	:o 3 - Su rough E-	bmis Tend	eriod: for ten ssion upto 26 lering on web nust register

While she tested negative for the virus, her husband tested positive. His wife has been tested again and results are expected Monday.

An RML Hospital spokesperson said, "After a patient tested positive, 24 doctors, 13 nurses, four technicians and another staff member were quarantined. The department was open through the week."

Physical Sciences (SPS); School of Engineering; and Atal Bihari Vajpayee School of Management & Entrepreneurship (ABVSME), decided to go for online exams, The Indian Express has learnt. The Special Centre for North-

East studies, while saying that the mid-semesto be online "method of evaluation shall be

PT.B.D.SHARMA PGIMS ROHTAK

PUBLIC NOTICE / TENDER NOTICE

EMD approx

in Rs.

School of Environmental Sciences (SES); School of Seven JNU schools will hold offline exams in July left to the course in-charge" also said exams must be conducted by the last week of May, hinting that it would be held online. A faculty member said:

"Three Schools got the recommendations passed by the Board of Studies, the statutory body; the rest have been

Dt.24.04.2020

Tender Re No./ Tende No.

S/2020/94

taken in faculty meetings. We should adhere to the academic calendar... Faculty decided to conduct exams online (email)". SC&IS Dean too said "being a computational school, we are well placed to carry out most activities online". "Teaching activities (online) must be done by May 30. Alternative evaluations e.g. sending question paper by mail, giving MCQ exam online... will be decided by faculty in charge of a course. Faculty may conduct viva to ensure material provided by students has been prepared by them," the recommendation said. While SBT has opted for online have to wonder about the conexams, it said offline exams might of be considered if the lockdown sistency

	NOR		H CENTR/		ΔY	PRAY	AGRA.I
E-T			RYJ-Sig-003-2
E-Tender Notice
Senior Divisional Signal & Telecommunication Engineer/Coordination/North Central way/Praya
pres	scribed for	n for	the following work	ks up to 12.00 hrs	on th	ne opening da	ate of E-tender
mer	ntioned the	rein.	The details of the	e Tender are as u	nder	:-
s	Tender		Name of	Work	Ар	prox. Cost	Earnest
N	No.				of	work (₹)	Money (₹)
1	003		ifting of location be nnectivity at MJA st		3	041673/-	60800/-
Cos	t of Tende	er Fo	orm (₹): 3000/- C	ompletion Perio	d: 06	6 Months Da	te of closing of t	ender: 1	5.05	.2020 2. Availat	oility of tender	forn	1: Tender fo	orms sha ll be ireps.gov.in. 3. 1
			through E-tender				ay, Manager,
			fter pre determine	d date at 12.30 h	ours.		482/20(K)
f	North ce	entr	al railway			9	CPRONCR
			WESTER		ΔΥ	- AHME		ח	VISION
)				CONTRACT V
- of Pr	esident a	f		TEI	NDEF	R NOTICE (N	IIT)
	E-TENDER NOTICE No: DRM /CommI./02/2020-21 dated 24.04.2020
	Earnest E-Tender is invited from eligible contractors for the following work.
	Money	-1	мате от могк	bugs treatment
₹	35,700/-			as per requirem and Transportat
	00,100/			4(Four)years.			est nouse at c	muj	ior a period or
			Tender No.	C549/2/Housek	eepir	g/RR/BHUJ/	2020 dtd 24.04	4.20)20
₹	15,800/-		Estimated Cost of Work	Rs.63,02,064/- Sixty Four only)		ees Sixty Thi	ree Lakhs Two	Tho	ousand
-	~~~~~		Earnest Money	Deposit			10/- (Rupees O nd One Hundr
X	99,800/-		Date and time of and opening	of closing			15:00 Hrs. of 2 15:30 Hrs. of 2
acce igital tende	Website particulars Notice Board location where complete details of the office of tender inviting nder terms & https://www.ireps.gov.in Divisional Raiway Manager (Commercial), (W. Rly.) Commercial Branch, Near Chamunda Bridge, Naroda Road, P.O. Saijpur Bogha, Authority. Authority. Bridge, Naroda Road, P.O. Saijpur Bogha, Ahmedabad -382 345
I), W	CR, Kota	a I							09
			Like us: 🖪 www.f	acebook.com/We	stern	Rly Follow	us: 🗹 www.twitt	er.c	om/WesternRly and Special Centre for Molecular up to 30-40kmph. Meanwhile, the air quality in-Medicine. SIS and Special Centre for Disaster Research have deferred the decision until May. The SAA Board of Studies said dex (AQI) of Delhi was 120 on Sunday, in the 'moderate' category, as per the Central Pollution Control Board. ENS

CORONA WATCH

Legal aid for victims of domestic violence

New Delhi: Victims of domestic violence can now contact the Delhi State Legal Services Authority for help on their toll free number or can even make a WhatsApp call and send an SMS. The DSLSA said that on getting a missed call or a message, the victim will be contacted and given competent legal aid and advice.

Migrants not getting aid, finds survey

New Delhi: A survey of migrant workers in Delhi undertaken by the Centre of Indian Trade Unions has shown that 65% workers surveyed had not received any food support from the government. More than 50% also said they did not have basic groceries like flour, pulses and cooking oil. A total of 506 "group leaders" representing 8,870 workers were interviewed for the survey. ENS concerned PIU.

P. Madhyam/07285/2020	Chief General Manager (T & e-G)

M.P. Madhyam/9728

wnloaded from link available on the website: www.etenders.hry.nic.in ne bank account no. 39004947732 Registrar, UHS Rohtak and e-Service Fees Rs.			cribed for tioned the efundable) are required. Earnest money (Refundable) for each group @ 2% of the subject to a ceiling of maximum 2 lac of tender cost submitted in the bank account		S	Tender
ndatory.		Ν	No.
tature certificate (DSC) and Registration of the contractors on portal i.e. is a pre-requisite for e-tendering. of the bid document/supporting documents shall be accepted. Only the documents		1	003
on e-tender portal shall be considered, if any document is found missing from the website, it will be the responsibility of bidder.			t of Tend aspect as specified in the Tender Document should only be followed. leld on 28.04.2020 at 11.00AM in the Committee Room, Director Office PGIMS meeting, suggestions/representations, if any, received from the participating aded on Haryana Govt.Website Portal: etenders.hry.nic.in and university website: comments of the Indenting Department of the Institute.		of tender: available on will be ope Prayagraj o be advertised/published in the newspapers.

Professor I/c

No.9255169924

purchase.sec

Contact

Sd/- Professor I/c Purchase

WEST CENTRAL RAILWAY

TENDER NOTICE, No. EL/50/NIT/01 (2020-21), DATE: 22.04.2020 ctrical Engineer (General), West Central Railway, Kota for and on behalf of Presi E-tenders for following works

inc
lo.	Tender No.	Description of Work	Approx. Cost of the work (In ₹)	Cost of Tender form (In ₹)	Earnest Money
1	EL/50/47/ 2020-21	AMC and Annual OverHauling of water coolers and Air Conditioner Units from Sawai Madhopur to Bharatpur section for 03 years.	₹ 17,82,623.28	₹ 2,000/-	₹ 35,700/-
2	EL/50/48/ 2020-21	AMC and Annual OverHauling of water coolers and Air Conditioner Units of Tughlakabad & Delhi for 03 years		₹ 2,000/-	₹ 15,800/-
3	EL/50/49/ 2020-21	AMC and Annual OverHauling of water coolers and Air Conditioner Units from Sawai Madhopur (Excl.) to Nagda (Excl.), Kota- Ruthiyai & Kota-Chittorgarh section for 03 years.		₹ 3,000/-	₹ 99,800/-
to nroi	ompletion Period: for tender No. 1.2.3-03 Year, Last Date & Time for Submission & Opening: for tender to 3 - Submission upto 26.05.2020 upto 15.00 hrs. and opening at 15.15 hrs. The offer is accepted only rough E-Tendering on website http://www.ireps.gov.in . The bidders should have class III digital signature rtificate and must registered on IREPS portal. No tender is accepted manually. Please read tender terms & conditions before tendering Sr. Divisional Electrical Engineer (General), WCR During Rail Jo ey, Dial 138 for ge eral complaints & Dial 182 for security complaints

New Delhi

THE INDIAN EXPRESS, MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020 5 THE OUTBREAK NATION

'Economic activity must begin in non-hotspot zones... otherwise people will die of hunger'

WATCH

A woman prays at the locked doors of a temple in Kalighat, Kolkata. PTI

MAHARASHTRA 52-yr-old head constable dies in Mumbai

Mumbai: A 52-year-old Mumbai Police head constable has died due to the coronavirus, the city police said Sunday. This is the second death of a policeman due to the virus in Maharashtra in two days. On Saturday, a 57-year-old constable died at a Mumbai hospital. The head constable who died Sunday was attached to a police station in the western suburbs and lived in Worli Naka area. A total of 96 police personnel tested positive for coronavirus in Maharashtra till Saturday. PTI

UTTARAKHAND AIIMS nurse among two new cases

Dehradun: Two people in Uttarakhand-a nurse at AIIMS. Rishikesh and a woman from Dehraduntested positive for the coronavirus on Sunday. An official said the AIIMS nurse is a 28-year-old man working in the Urology Department. He was not in contact with COVID-19 patients. The Dehradun woman, 32, gave birth in the Doon Medical College Hospital on Saturday Both mother and child are healthy. Contact tracing has begun in both cases. Uttarakhand has seen 50 cases so far. ENS

RAJASTHAN CHIEF Minister ASHOK GEHLOT speaks to MANOJ C G on what he is going to suggest to the Prime Minister in the video conference scheduled for Monday.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi will have a video conference with Chief Ministers on Monday to deliberate on the way ahead. What is going to be your suggestion?

There has been some modification in the lockdown, some relaxation for industries and shops etc. That is fine but more activities should begin. Because the revenue of state governments has become zero... When there is no revenue, how will states work?... There will be no money to pay salaries and pensions. You talk about workers. Workers should get wages.What about employees?... They too should get salaries. So, the requirement today is that economic activity should begin in non-hotspot zones while maintaining social distancing norms, wearing masks and other precautions. Otherwise, people will die of people will die of corona but if this situation continues, people will die of hunger.

INTERVIEW WITH ASHOK GEHLOT CHIEF MINISTER RAJASTHAN hunger. I can't say how many

THE EXPRESS

What are the other issues you are going to flag?

The main issue is testing. That will be my number one suggestion. Widespread testing is important. Testing should be scaled up in an extraordinary way. There is a new machine, it costs around Rs 6.5 crore. It will be able to run up to 4,000 tests per day. We are going to purchase two machines from the US, one for Jodhpur and one for Jaipur. Testing capacity should be increased across the country. And for that, the Central government should come forward and not leave it to the states. The Union Health Ministry today (Sunday) held a video conference with state health secretaries and I am told it was said that the number of COVID cases could shoot up in the coming days, could touch even lakhs. So, the only solution - as Rahul Gandhi has been saying repeatedly - is testing, testing and more testing. The rapid test formula has failed. We had told ICMR it was of no use. So the only solution is RT-PCR tests. So the central government should procure such advanced machines, RNA extraction test kits, masks and PPE in a big way.

Can you elaborate on how the lockdown should be modified?

Economic activities should restart. I told the Prime Minister in previous meetings that states are facing a financial crunch. I had demanded that the borrowing limit should be relaxed and that there should be a moratorium on payment of dues to financial institutions under RBI and other central agencies. I had told the Prime Minister that the Central government should grant an additional Rs 1 lakh crore to states to tackle the pandemic. Look at the world. All the big countries – be it the US, France, Germany or England – have announced economic packages to the tune of 12 to 15 per cent of their GDP. You must think big to restart the economy. The Rs 1.7 lakh crore package the government had announced is not even 0.6 per cent of the GDP. It is grossly inadequate. When there was an economic slowdown during the UPA time in 2009, the government had earmarked 3 per cent of the GDP. I am not an economist, but my common sense says the government should earmark at least 10 per cent of the GDP for relief and stimulus. Because the economy has collapsed because of the lockdown...

Are you hopeful that the Prime Minister will consider your suggestions. suggestions from Opposition-ruled states?

See, I accept there is a big challenge before the Central government. But the entire Opposition and state governments are cooperating... Congress president Sonia Gandhi has written to the Prime Minister declaring the party's support. Rahul Gandhi has said he is not going to criticise but give constructive suggestions... So, the Central government should not take our suggestions as criticism. They should consider them as feedback... and it is up to them to accept the suggestions or not. But they should welcome suggestions from Opposition parties.

The Congress has been talking about stranded migrant labourers? What is your view on that?

In the absence of clear instructions from the central government, the movement of migrant labourers was unnecessarily delayed. The central government created some confusion, because of which we faced some problems, but the movement has begun.

MILIND GHATWAI

A MONTH after the first COVID-

19 death was reported from Ujjain

on March 25, the toll has now climbed to 103 in Madhya

Pradesh with 2,090 positive cases

so far. There were 145 new cases over a 24-hour period, including

91 from Indore, as the virus spread to more areas of MP's largest city.

Ujjain, which has registered the highest death rate among cities with a minimum of 100 cases in the country, reported two more deaths taking its toll to 17 among 106 positive cases.

The neighbouring city of

BHOPAL, APRIL 26

MP toll crosses 100,

govt to check for a

'more virulent' strain

OVER 50 INFECTED

3 Kanpur madrasas emerge as new hotspots

AVANEESH MISHRA LUCKNOW, APRIL 26

The other thing is about the poor and the destitute-be it APL or BPL—MGNREGA workers. We have given them a package. We have transferred Rs 2,500 to each one of them. We have given pensions to 80 lakh people. We have provided them food. The central government is also doing. There is a Pradhan Mantri Gareeb

Kalyan Yojana, but they should increase it manifold. What I mean to say is no one should sleep hungry. You have to create confidence in workers. That can only happen if you give a separate financial package for them.

What I mean to say is that. There should be separate financial packages for the industry, MSME sector and for the poor. The central government, for instance, is allocating foodgrains under the National Food Security Act based on the 2011 Census. That data does not reflect the ground reality. In Rajasthan, some 60 lakh people are left out and my government is going to purchase

foodgrains from FCI at market price. The Centre should have been giving the food grains free.

Why should states purchase at market price at such a time?

IN KANPUR, a coronavirus hotspot, close to one-third of the total 170 cases are concentrated in three madrasas in the city. According to district health and administrative officials, 53 students, mostly between 10 and 20 years have tested positive. They were suspected to have been infected by Tablighi Jamaat members, who had returned to the city after attending the Delhi Markaz, the officials said.

"Even though we have multiple hotspots in the district, a large number of cases have come from three madrasas in the last 12 days... Among those infected are very young children who are studying in these madrasas. The good thing is that most are asymptomatic and are showing clear signs of recovery. said District Magistrate (Kanpur City) Brahm Dev Tiwari.

Among the three madrasas, the highest number is concentrated at Coolie Bazaar madrasa. the biggest virus cluster in the district. "The biggest challenge came from the Coolie Bazar madrasa that has resulted in around 38 positive cases," said the DM.

The other madrasa in Kanpur with at least seven cases is the one at Machhariya, which has now been sealed and disinfected. "We had information that some persons with Tablighi connection had been staying in that area. At least seven madrasa students, all from Bihar, had tested positive on April 13," said the DM.

PATIENT DIES, HIS WIFE DIES OF SHOCK

SUSPECTED COVID

Bhopal: A non-medical assistant, who was hospitalised for possible COVID-19 infection in Ujjain, died during treatment on Sunday. When his wife heard the news, she died of cardiac arrest. The NMA, posted at leprosy department of the RD Gardi Medical College in Ujjain, had been serving food in the quarantine zone in the hospital. On Saturday, he complained of fever and difficulty in breathing. A day later, he

Six deaths were earlier reported each from Dewas and died during treatment. Nodal argone districts which reofficer Dr H P Sonaniva told

The third madrasa with seven cases is Mahmudia Ashrafia. "Samples from the students of this madrasa were taken during random sampling ... this one had at least seven positive cases," said the DM.

Price of a rapid test kit should not be more than Rs 400: Delhi HC

PRITAM PAL SINGH NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

SHUTTERS UP

ASSAM Travel window extended till April 30

Guwahati: The Assam government has extended the inter-district travel window for stranded people till April 30. Earlier, movement was allowed till April 27. DCs of various districts had rejected 34,000 applications as those were for round trips with people wanting to bring back stranded family members, Health Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said. "It has now been decided to allow one-time round trip to such persons from April 28 to April 30," he said. PTI THE GOVERNMENT has started making plans to evacuate Indians stranded overseas, sources said Sunday. The plan will be implemented after the lockdown is over and restrictions on movement have been eased.

SHUBHAJIT ROY

NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

Sources said the plan is to start the evacuation from the Gulf countries, where nearly 8 million Indians live and work. Some of these Indians have been petitioning the government for a while. These people include those travelling for tourism, business as well as those whose projects have been completed.

Govt plans to evacuate Indians stuck abroad ing up the plans and Indian embassies have been asked to collect

A pizza outlet in Navi Mumbai began accepting takeaway orders on Sunday. Amit Chakravarty details of those stranded. The government has also started discussions with state governments on preparation quarantine facilities for the returnees.

The issue is being handled at the highest level with Cabinet Secretary Rajiv Gauba helming the discussions and officials from the Ministries of External Affairs, Home and Civil Aviation, the state government's resident commissioners, and Chief Secretaries in states taking part in them.

Sources said that once the plan is implemented, it may turn out to be the largest evacuation operation ever.

tively, while the NCDC data puts the case count at 7,628, 3,071 and

611, respectively. The highest difference among these 21 states is in Maharashtra — 1,220 cases.

Nagaland has the lowest difference of 1 case. While ICMR data records Nagaland's confirmed case count as 1. NCDC has zero

eight states where the NCDC number is higher than the ICMR,

the biggest differences recorded in Delhi, Madhya Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh. For instance, while

Delhi's NCDC count is 2,625, the

ICMR number is 2,155. The corresponding numbers for MP are 2096 (NCDC) and 1778 (ICMR).

(ICMR) for Uttar Pradesh.

There are correspondingly

next to the state's name.

While the numbers are dy-The Centre has started drawnamic, they could go up to 2 lakh and the only playbook New Delhi has-in terms of scale-is the 1990 airlift of 1.7 lakh people from Kuwait.

However, sources said the evacuation will be staggered and prioritised according to several factors-their need, medical condition urgency and the concerned state government's capacity.

Only Indians who are COVIDnegative will be brought back and a system will be evolved to make sure this criterion is fulfilled. For this, either assistance of local authorities will be taken or special medical teams will be sent.

The urgency of evacuating Indians has arisen as some Gulf countries like the UAE have publicly asked Indians who have finished their work or are stranded to go back.

The UAE has offered to fly stranded Indians and citizens of other countries who wish to be repatriated, if they test negative for COVID-19, the UAE's Ambassador to India Dr Ahmed Abdul Rahman Al Banna had said mid-April. The UAE's envoy had said the UAE's Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation had sent out a "note verbale" in this regard to embassies of all countries.

Some other Gulf countries, including Saudi Arabia and Kuwait have also approached the Indian government As of mid-April, 25 Indians overseas have died due to COVID-19 and 3,336 Indians abroad have been infected.

ported one positive case each in the last 24 hours, taking their respective tally to 23 and 61. The combined and individual death rate in each of these districts is higher than the national average.

With 86 of the total 103 deaths being reported from Indore, Ujjain, Dewas and Khargone districts, the authorities are considering sending samples to the Pune-based National Institute of Virology to check if a more virulent strain has hit the region.

Dean of Mahatma Gandhi Medical College, Indore, Dr Jyoti Bindal said that samples from Indore, Bhopal and Sagar will be sent to Pune for comparison. "Fatality and positivity is more in the region. Countries across the globe are responding with different death and positive rates." she said. The Pune lab had also asked for samples from Gwalior and Jabalpur but the MGM College is sending samples only from Indore, Bhopal and Sagar due to travel constraints.

MP is expecting a surge in pos-

The Indian Express that the NMA's sample had been sent for testing for the virus. ENS

> itive cases as results of thousands of samples, including those sent to Ahmedabad and Puducherry, are awaited. Former CM Kamal Nath said the death toll and the pendency of nearly 9.000 samples was a matter of concern. He said the state did not have adequate resources like medical equipment and testing kits. In a video conference, Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan asked officials to adopt best practices in COVID-19 treatment. Giving instructions to start ICU facilities in each district, the CM said home guarantine should be prioritised for suspects. Uijain has already started the practice of preferring home quarantine to institutional quarantine.

The state has decided to revive the Happiness Department that became defunct during the previous regime.

Data in doubt as ICMR records 1,087 more patients than NCDC

DIPANKAR GHOSE NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

IN THE meeting chaired by Union Cabinet Secretary Rajiv Gauba with state health secretaries on Sunday. the issue of data anomalies across states was raised. A presentation during the meeting recorded the difference in the confirmed case counts across all states and Union Territories between data collated by the NCDC and the ICMR. raising the question of whether cases were being missed out because of these infirmities.

Overall, while NCDC recorded India's confirmed cases at 26,496 as of 8 am on April 26, ICMR said the number is 27,583

- a difference of 1,087 patients. The presentation to the states during the meeting showed that data from NCDC and ICMR matched in only eight regions five states from the Northeast and the Union Territories of Dadar and Nagar Haveli, Daman and Diu and Lakshadweep. Of these eight places, four have no cases and only one state has more than 2 confirmed cases -Meghalaya with 12 cases.

In 21 states and UTs, the numbers of confirmed cases are higher in the ICMR records as compared to NCDC as of data collected by 8 am on April 26. The highest difference is registered in Maharashtra, Gujarat and West Bengal where the ICMR data shows 8,848, 3,809 and 770 confirmed cases, respecKARISHMA MEHROTRA NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

WIDESPREAD PCR testing for COVID-19 may not stem an outbreak any more than conducting robust contact tracing and quarantining of symptomatic individuals, according to research from Imperial College focused on the UK.

Instead of mass testing, the paper argues for regular testing in healthcare worker (HCW) communities and contacts of symptomatic individuals.

In the UK and India. the current testing strategy among healthcare workers focuses only on those who are symptomatic. India's testing strategy focuses on symptomatic contacts of positive cases.

Weekly screening of healthand 1793 (NCDC) and 1572 care workers could cut trans-

on the accuracy and timeliness of the results, the paper has found

It argues for isolating all those with symptoms, rather than waiting for a test result. In Wuhan, quarantining and door-to-door surveying of all suspected cases helped reduce epidemic speed, the paper says. Instead of testing symptomatic cases only, it argues for testing contacts of symptomatic cases and allowing them to go back into the public if negative.

The UK had a high proportion of healthcare workers who were not working either because of COVID-19 symptoms or because they had household members who had symptoms.

World The Health Organisation has called on countries to "test, test, test" and Korea and Germany have been used as global examples to promote mass testing. In contrast, countries like the UK and US have been criticised for their lack of mass testing.

The Indian government has maintained since the beginning of the pandemic that the country's strategy would be concentrated testing rather than mass testing, partly because of population size.

The paper uses the example of Hong Kong's 2003 SARS outbreak, when 20 per cent of those infected were healthcare workers and the government response emphasised contact tracing of positive healthcare workers.

The researchers also reason that contact tracing and faster testing is easier in this community.

In addition to testing all healthcare workers, the paper weighs additional strategies, such as testing healthcare workers who are already selfisolating because of symptomatic household members, testing other healthcare workers who have contacted symptomatic workers, or testing household members of symptomatic healthcare workers. Several Indian states recently complained of faulty antibody testing results, prompting the Indian Council of Medical Research to halt their use temporarily. The WHO cautioned against immunity passports as well. The paper makes assumptions about how infectious the virus is through different phases of infection and how infectious asymptomatic cases are.

THE DELHI High Court has ruled that COVID-19 Rapid Test Kits should be sold at a price not beyond Rs 400 each, inclusive of GST, and observed that "public interest must outweigh private gain" and litigation "between the parties should give way to the larger public good". The court issued the direction to Rare Metabolics Life Sciences Pvt Ltd, Aark Pharmaceuticals and Matrix Labs, which had entered into an agreement to import 10 lakh test kits from China and distribute them in India at a cost of Rs 600 each, the rate approved by the ICMR.

"...for people to be assured that the pandemic is under control and for governments to ensure and for agencies engaged in the frontline battle to safeguard people's health, more kits/tests should be made available urgently at the lowest cost, for carrying out extensive tests throughout the country.," Justice Najmi Waziri said.

Advocate Jayant Mehta, the counsel for the petitioner companies Rare Metabolics and Aark, said that in the interest of the country he would not pursue the matter any further and would give up all further claims if the importer (Matrix Labs) undertakes to sell the product at not more than Rs 400 each.

"Both parties (Rare Metabolics Life Sciences Pvt Ltd and Matrix Labs) agree the principle public interest should be paramount and the tests should be made available to the general public at the lowest cost possible," the court observed. The order was passed on April 24 and made available on Sunday.

Advocate Jeevesh Nagrath for Matrix Labs submitted that it "undertakes to supply the kits/tests at Rs 400 each, plus GST i.e. at 40% lesser than the ICMR approved rate, directly to any Government or its agency or private entity duly approved to carry out these tests.'

The court was hearing a plea by Rare Metabolics and Aark, which sought release of 7.24 lakh test kits from Matrix Labs.

Test more health workers, contacts: study mission by a third, depending "test, trace, isolate". South

Department of Higher Education, has been given additional charge

as Secretary, Ministry of Nagendra Nath Sinha will be

Development Department in place of Rajesh Bhushan. He is at present Secretary, the Management in the Home Ministry. In major change in the Road Transport and Highways

ministry, Áramane Giridhar,

Additional Secretary in the Cabinet Secretariat, has been made its new Secretary in place of Sanjeev Ranjan, who has been placed in line to take over as Secretary, Shipping Ministry, after the retirement of incumbent

Transport and Highways Ministry

Leena Nandan was appointed

Secretary, Department of Consumer Affairs, as the current

Secretary Pawan Kumar Agarwal

has been appointed Special

Secretary (Logistics) in the Food and Public Distribution

Secretary Ravi Kant has been moved out as the Secretary,

Department of Ex-Servicemen

Welfare. Senior bureaucrat

Sudhanshu Panday will be the

Food and Public Distribution

Secretary in place of Kant. Panday is currently Additional Secretary,

Prima facie it appears that a panchavat was also held to resolve the issue. Two persons have been arrested and action against those will also be taken those who participated in the village

panchayat if they are found

An FIR has been filed under linked to abetment of suicide.'

www.indianexpress.com

FULL REPORT ON

Department of Commerce.

Department of Commerce.

Special Secretary of Road

Gopal Krishna on April 30.

Border

Department of

THE INDIAN EXPRESS, MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020 EXPRESS NETWORK

DELHI CONFIDENTIAL

BOOST TO BOOKS

HRD MINISTER Ramesh Pokhriyal has been quite active on Twitter lately. He usually tweets on the ministry's initiatives to promote online learning, and has launched campaigns. On World Book Day, Pokhriyal launched '#MyBookMyFriend' campaign on Twitter to encourage students to read books during the lockdown. Actor Amitabh Bachchan endorsed it. On Sunday, he tweeted the cover of the book 'Talking to My Daughter', saying that he is using his lockdown time to "devour" the book. He thanked Pokhriyal for "the much-needed idea to bring back reading in the digital age".

VIVEK DESHPANDE NAGPUR, APRIL 26

IN VEILED remarks on the communalisation of COVID-19 after its spread across the country was blamed on a gathering of the Tablighi Jamaat in Delhi during the lockdown, RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat Sunday said it is "not right" to fault and "keep distance" from an entire community because of the actions of some "out of fear and anger". In a special boudhik (intelligentsia) discourse, streamed live on Facebook, Bhagwat said the needy must be helped with a feeling of "brotherhood" during the coronavirus crisis irrespective of "provocative acts" by a section of people who have attacked and misbehaved with government officials

"There will always be some people like that... Some may have acted out of fear of being quaran-

Not right to fault a community

over actions of some: Bhagwat

Mohan Bhagwat

tined, some may have acted out of anger thinking the (lockdown) rules were meant to target them. But to apply this to an entire community and keep distance from it is not right. You must help all with goodwill because all 130 crore people are your own," he said. "Those who resort to provocative acts generate anger and this anger generates irrational reactions. We should not hold their acts against the entire community. There are people waiting to divide the country. While we must be aware of such people, we must not hold anger or enmity against all," Bhagwat said, adding that "leaders should convey the right message to communities". The RSS chief also called for re-calibrating developmental priorities and policies, saying the clear message of the pandemic is adoption of swadeshi and environment-friendly traditional wisdom

He also spoke on the lynching sadhus in Palghar, of Maharashtra: "Let's keep the war of words aside. Is it good to take the law into our hands? What should the police do? Fear and anger are not expected but are natural. But we have to work constructively and with courage to take the nation forward." He called for resumption of activities like education, industries and markets with due precautions. "We have to maintain the discipline of social distancing and observe all precautions prescribed for containment of the disease," he said.

"We have to think about the working class. Jobs must remain. We will have to function with limited resources. Self-reliance is the message (of the pandemic). We will have to re-construct sciences and technologies as per the needs of the times (yuganukul). We will have to take that path of development which matches the traditional," he said.

Calling for adopting "swadeshi with quality", Bhagwat said, "We must buy things produced in the country. We shouldn't remain dependent on foreign countries.

Referring to rivers and the air becoming clean during the lockdown, Bhagwat said, "Some activities have come to a standstill. We must check if we can make do without them. We will have to try and lead a life based on environment-friendly activities.

Amid corona fight, govt effects major bureaucratic rejig

Health Secy gets three more months; two PMO officials get DEA, MSME charge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

Information & Broadcasting. IN A major reshuffle of its senior Information and Broadcasting Secretary Ravi Mittal has been bureaucracy, the government Sunday made significant appointmoved out as Secretary, Department of Sports. ments of new secretaries to key ministries in the middle of the outbreak containment exercise. the new Secretary of Rural Health Secretary Preeti Sudan, due to retire on April 30, was given a three-month extension, and Rural Development Secretary Rajesh Bhushan was appointed as Officer on Special Duty (OSD) in the Health Ministry in the rank of secretary. He is likely to take over from Sudan after her extended tenure is over.

Two Additional Secretaries currently in the PMO were appointed Secretaries in key ministries. Tarun Baiai will be the new Department of Economic Affairs Secretary after the incumbent Atanu Chakraborty retires at the end of this month, and Arvind Kumar Sharma will be Secretary in the Ministry of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises upon retirement of incumbent Arun Kumar Panda on April 30.

Both the DEA and the MSME are expected to play critical roles in the revival of the economy in Appointments The Committee of the Cabinet, headed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, issued these orders Sunday.

As many as 23 senior IAS officers have been appointed as secretaries in different central government departments as part of

Amit Khare, Secretary,

UP: 17-yr-old hangs self 2 days after 'gangrape'

AMIL BHATNAGAR NOIDA, APRIL 26

A 17-YEAR-OLD girl in Aligarh committed suicide late on Saturday, two days after she was allegedly gangraped by two men of the same village.

Police said the girl was found IPC Sections 376 (D) (gangrape) anging in her house on and 306 (abetment to sui Saturday. Her family has alleged that after the gangrape, a panchayat was held in the village in which she was pushed towards

MIXED MESSAGE

AT THE Congress press conference, spokesperson Manish Tewari on Sunday asked whether the government has a plan to deal with stranded migrant workers. He wondered whether the government would facilitate travel to their home states, like Assam had done within the state, and asked why special trains cannot be run to transport them while maintaining social distancing protocol. Interestingly, the Congress also put out a video clip of a meeting of a consultative group headed by former prime minister Manmohan Singh. Former finance minister P Chidambaram says in the video that while states can find ways to bring back people who are stranded in other states, the bulk will have to remain where they are and immediately be given cash and credit.

SECURITY HITCH

UNTIL SUNDAY morning, users of the Aarogya Setu mobile application might have had some of their location information exposed to Google. However, after being alerted of the vulnerability by employees at Google and The New York Times, the application's developers say they have patched up the security issue. The vulnerability only impacted those who took the application's self-assessment quiz and then visited YouTube links on the application's homepage. The application that calculates COVID-19 risk has changed its privacy policv over time in response to critics.

Nearly 38,000 relief camps set up for migrant labourers: Govt to SC

ing the lockdown.

Management Act.

Pricing Authority has been asked to ensure adequate availability of essential medicines in all drugs, the affidavit said.

Working 24X7, full strength, but sugar mill faces 'drastic fall in sales'

AMITAVA CHAKRABORTY SHAMLI (UP), APRIL 26

Bajaj Hindusthan Sugar Ltd No. of workers: 650 Usual strength: 650

OUTSIDE the rear gate of Bajaj Hindusthan Sugar Limited's mill, 17 km from Shamli, along the Delhi-Saharanpur road, stand a row of sugarcane farmers queued up as per the size of their vehicle – from the smaller tractors to the larger ones, from tempos to trucks - as a mill official goes down their ranks distributing masks. In the silence on the highway, the vehicles and the mill operations, on 24X7, are the only signs of activity on a hot Wednesday.

General Manager Lekhpal Singh (59), who has been working in the sugar industry since 1982 and running this mill for two years now, says they couldn't have stopped production during the lockdown. "Restarting the mill, because of logistics and operational rea

Sugar mills such as Bajaj Hindusthan are among the few units which haven't seen production drop, or labour numbers fall, during the lockdown. Gajendra Yadav

Saurav Kumar, 24, deployed at the machine that sews mouths of sugar bags, is a college dropout who also lives nearby, at Masai village His face drape essential service to ensure there was no break in production. "Materials like packaging bags, sulphur etc. are imported from ensure their smooth supply. Proactive action across states ensured that the mills never ran out the wake of the outbreak.

the reshuffle.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

THE CENTRE has filed a fresh status report in the Supreme Court on steps taken to deal with the COVID-19 situation, including efforts to solve the problems faced by migrant labour in the wake of the nationwide lockdown.

In an affidavit dated April 12, Union Home Secretary Ajay Kumar Bhalla said that a total of 37,978 relief camps had been set up for migrant labourers by the states. Union territories and NGOs and nearly 14.3 lakh people had been housed in them. Additionally, 26,225 food camps had been opened, giving food to nearly 1.34 crore people, and nearly 16.5 lakh workers had been given shelter and food by their respective employers, the government said.

To ensure that no further problem is faced by migrant workers and other poor sections. directions have been issued under the Disaster Management sons, would have been a night-Act 2005 that all employers, be mare," Singh says. it in the industry or shops, and /

The mill usually takes a or other commercial establishbreak only for maintenance, ments shall pay wages to their once in 20 days.

As a result, sugar mills like workers at their workplaces on the due date without any deduc-Bajaj Hindusthan are the few tion for the period of closure durunits which haven't seen production drop, or labour numbers District authorities have also fall, during the lockdown, which been told to ensure that migrant has been in place for over a workers and other poor people month. Shamli had reported 26

coronavirus cases till April 23. who are living in rented accommodation shall not be compelled Singh says their production is on a par with before – about to pay rent by landlords. Any landlord who flouts this direc-9,000 quintals per day – and tion, said the affidavit, shall be lithey have retained their entire able for action under the Disaster 650 employees (400 on payroll, 200 contractual), who work in The National Pharmaceutical 12-hour shifts.

It helps that most of their staff are locals, who have been given passes to come to the mill.

pharmacies, it said, adding that The problem is the lack of demand. "We are witnessing a special efforts have been made drastic fall in sales," says Subhash by the government to provide drugs to HIV patients. A guid-Bahuguna, who heads the mill's ance note has been sent to all finance department. "Of the states on dispensation of these 9,000 quintals we produce daily, we sold around 7,000 quintals

VANDANA KALRA

NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

THE HUMBLE and enigmatic lines took innumerable forms in Zarina Hashmi's works - at times they appeared as political borders, on other occasions they were an exemplification of her interest in architecture, they were also jagged veins that denoted the vague and distinct memories that the artist gathered from her life experiences and interactions with people and places across the world.

Hashmi lived in numerous cities, from Aligarh to Bangkok,

Paris. New York and London. and in every place she sought to create a home. The journey came to

FIELD REPORTS FROM FACTORIES

prior to the lockdown. But between March 21 and April 21, we sold about 2,200 quintals on an average. As a result, our godown is filling up. The shutting of restaurants and sweet shops, the fall in consumption of soft beverages, have led to the fall in demand."

Maintenance too has been an issue as this is usually done by a third party, inaccessible due to the travel restrictions.

Sajan, 22, earns Rs 8,000 a month, taking hardly a day off, he says. Now on duty 9 am-9 pm, he gets his food from home and maintains social distancing and regularly uses hand sanitisers at the mill. "It is wearing the mask for long hours that I find difficult," he says.

with a gamchha (towel), he complains about the heat. With officials watching closely, General Manager Singh says they are not taking any chances. The mill has stocked up on sanitisers, placed them across the factory, while carrying out sanitisation of the premises as well as the 51 neighbouring villages from which their workers come. "We are also purchasing masks and distributing them among farmers for free. The temperature of every worker is checked at the gates. Even the temple located on the premises has been closed, except for the priest to do aarti.'

Singh adds that they are paying full salaries to the few workers who were on leave and couldn't join once the lockdown began.

Sitting at the Shamli Ganna Committee Office in the heart of Shamli city, District Cane Officer (DCO) Vijay Bahadur Singh says they classified sugar mills as an of supply. According to Singh, production is normal across all the 119 sugar mills in Uttar Pradesh, including the three in Shamli.

About the lack of demand, the DCO says, "Corona kuch leke jayega, aur bahut kuch deke bhi iavega (Corona will take away some things, but also give a lot). The lockdown has helped us digitise everything. Now, leaflets are not sent across villages notifying farmers the date when they can sell their produce to mills. Everything happens on the e-ganna app and over SMS. We have suddenly become paperless."

That is hardly enough for Veer Pal Singh, senior vice president and head of Bajaj's Shamli unit, who has an office next to the mill. Once the lockdown lifts, he says, "We expect an improvement (in sales), though it will not be anything like before."

"resolving" the issue. Aligarh SSP Muniraj G said, 'On Saturday, the police was informed that a minor has committed suicide in an Aligarh village. When we investigated, we were told by the deceased's family members that she had been gangraped in the village itself. as well as relevant sections of the SC/ST Act. According to the victim's family, she was gangraped on Thursday. "They... sexually assaulted her... And after that they held a panchayat to give out meagre punishment. I was told the boys threatened her... She took it to heart and felt that she had been insulted on all ends and hanged herself," the girl's father said.

4 militants killed in Valley

Srinagar: Four militants were killed in an encounter with security forces in Kashmir's Kulgam district on Sunday night, officials said.

According to Kulgam police, "In view of inputs regarding militants planning to kill cops, an exhaustive domination plan was carried out by joint forces of Kulgam". They said a patrolling party of the joint forces was attacked by militants between the villages of Chehlan and Asthal in Kulgam at around 8 pm. In the exchange of fire, one Army official was also injured, they said. At 9.48pm, the Twitter account of the Kashmir Zone Police posted that the encounter was still ongoing. Sunday's encounter was the third such incident in the Valley over 48 hours, in which eight militants and one militant "associate" were killed. ADIL AKHZER

With 21 cases, Kerala green zones back in virus shadow

SHAJU PHILIP THIRUVANANTHAPURAM,

APRIL 26

KERALA'S IDUKKI and Kottayam districts, which had been categorized as green zones with relaxed curbs, have suddenly seen a spurt of 21 coronavirus cases in the last four days.

On Sunday, 11 people from these two districts tested positive, of whom, seven were infected through contacts. They include a doctor at a primary health centre in Idukki and two nurses in Kottayam.

A few village panchayats in both districts have now been closed completely, and have been included under the orange zone. Until last week, Kottavam had only reported three cases, all of whom had recovered. Idukki had recorded 10 cases in the second wave of the virus, but had come out of the shadow of virus.

Subsequently, the government had allowed life to return to almost pre-COVID levels of normalcy in these districts, with a ban on inter-district movement. Adding to this, phenomenon of persons testing positive after completing 28-days of quarantine continues in Kerala. "We can expect a few more similar cases as more people who returned from infected areas abroad would be tested before the end of the current phase of lockdown," a Health Department official said. Meanwhile, Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan Sunday directed districts to ramp up the number of tests.

Artist Zarina Hashmi Dies At 83 'Her work was minimalist, rooted in Indian aesthetics' an end on April 25, when she died in London after a prolonged illness. She was at 83.

> "Her work was an extension of herself. It had simplicity of lines and minimalism but was rooted in Indian aesthetics and also political," says Renu Modi, director of Gallery Espace in Delhi, that has represented her for over two decades.

Daughter of a professor at Aligarh Muslim University, Hashmi was 10 when the Partition took place and was witness to the subsequent communal violence. Though her family relocated to Karachi in the late 1950s, the artist by then had married and later travelled with her diplomat husband during his various postings. A graduate in mathematics with a keen interest in architecture and part of the feminist movement in New York in the 1970s, Hashmi's art training was rather unconventional and included learnings from interactions with papermakers during her visit to Rajasthan in the 1960s, studying printmaking with Stanley William Hayter at Atelier 17 in Paris and woodblock printing at Toshi Yoshida Studio in Tokyo.

Like the places she lived in, her work too gave her refuge. If the 1997 series 'Homes I Made/A Life in Nine Lines' featured rough floor plans of the homes she lived in, 'Home Is a Foreign Place' in 1999 was an abstract representation of her home in Aligarh. The 2004 work 'Letters from Home' was based on unposted letters written by her sister Rani to her, and shared years later - the woodblock and metal cut prints featured maps, floorplans and Urdu text that also formed an integral part of

New Delhi

Hashmi's practice.

"She was a modern, secular and fiercely independent woman. In Delhi, she learnt to fly and was a member of the gliding club, a lot of her map work is related to that experience... There was a minimalist streak in her. She had a refined sensibility of aesthetic and philosophy. A great fan of world cinema, she also read a lot, including philosophy in French, Urdu literature and poetry," says photographer and activist Ram Rahman, a close friend of Hashmi.

The title of her 2013 solo at Guggenheim Museum, 'Zarina: Paper Like Skin' exemplified her relationship with the medium. Hashmi explored its numerous textures, including pin drawings, etchings and caste paper sculptures. Though she lived in New York for over four decades, from the 1970s, her works travlled the world.

Winner of numerous awards, including the 1969 Award for President's Printmaking in India, her works are in prestigious collections including the Museum of Modern Art in New York and Victoria and Albert Museum in London. In 2011, she was one of the artists who represented India at the Venice Biennale. "She said she didn't feel at home anywhere. She was always searching for what is home, identity. That search never finished, adds Modi.

THE INDIAN EXPRESS, MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020 EFXPLAINED THE OUTBREAK

 $\bigcirc \bigcirc$ @ieExplained #ExpressExplained

If there are questions of current or contemporary relevance that you would like explained, please write to explained@indianexpress.com

AN EXPERT EXPLAINS

What is the future of migration from Kerala?

Post COVID-19, Kerala stares at the prospect of large-scale return migration from the Gulf. Scholar who led Kerala Migration Survey looks at trends, possibilities

S IRUDAYA RAJAN

ONCE THE lockdown is lifted, Kerala will face a new challenge with the expected return of a large section of Keralites from the Middle East. This throws the spotlight on the importance of out-migration in Kerala's economy, and raises questions about its future.

Trends, then and now

Migration (both internal and international) has been the single most dynamic factor in the development of Kerala since its formation in 1956. Data available for the old Travancore-Cochin region suggests that it was characterised by a net inflow of persons until 1941. This reversed dramatically in succeeding decades with more people leaving than entering, Until 1971, most Keralites were migrating within India, mostly to emerging cities such as Delhi, Mumbai, Chennai and Bangalore. This is partly due to the demand for skilled/educated persons, which Kerala could contribute due to its high literacy rate.

However, with the opening up of the Gulf economies to foreign workforces in the 1970s

in the wake of a spike in oil prices, the tide of migration from Kerala moved decisively from internal to international. The rate of out-migration (estimated through an indirect method using Indian censuses) peaked in 1971-81, at approximately 250,000. The available data indicates that the outflow continued well into the 1980s and 1990s.

Consequently, many of the Malayalis who had left Kerala for other parts of the country in the earlier days, moved now to the Gulf. Till 1999, Kerala had only one international airport. Today, it has four, due to the importance of international migration and remittances to the economy and society at large.

Kerala Migration Survey

It was in this context that the Centre for Development Studies conducted its first Kerala Migration Survey (KMS) in 1998, coordinated by KCZachariah and myself. Since then, we continue to monitor both internal and international migration, migration corridors, remittances, economic benefits and social costs. Thus far, we have completed eight rounds, the latest in 2018. Let us examine what the various surveys tell us.

The first study, in 1998, indicated that nearly 1.5 million Keralites were then living outside India, with another 750,000 former emigrants having returned. Over the years, the survey found that they live mostly on the savings, work experience, and skills brought with them from abroad. More than a million families depend on internal migrants' earn-

MIGRATION FROM KERALA: DIPPING GROWTH

Year	No. of Emigrants	Inter-Survey Difference	Decrease/Increase
1998	1,361,919
2003	1,838,478	476,559	25.9%
2008	2,193,412	354,934	16.2%
2011	2,280,543	87,131	3.8%
2013	2,400,375	206,963	8.6%
2016	2,271,725	-128,560	-5.6%
2018	2,121,887	-278,488	-13.1%
		All data	from Kerala Migration Survey

ings for subsistence, children's education and other economic requirements. While the educationally backward Muslims from the Thrissur-Malappuram region provide the backbone of emigration, the educationally forward Ezhawas, Nairs and Syrian Christians from the former Travancore-Cochin State form the core of internal migration.

Emigration begets return emigration. Kerala has seen widespread return migration due to external shocks on at least three occasions – Gulf War, global economic crisis and Nitagat policy of Saudi Arabia. We can say confidently that Kerala emigrants were resilient on all three occasions. For instance, when the global crisis hit the Gulf, the state government expected large return migration but our estimates put the number around just 50,000 in 2009.

Let us examine the 2018 KMS data. There are an estimated 2.12 million emigrants from Kerala across the world, which is 149,000 less than the 2016 KMS estimate and 278,000 less than the 2013 KMS estimate (see table) Overall, the data shows a continuously decreasing rate of growth of emigration since 2008. However, it should also be noted that there was a positive growth in some years, particularly 2011 and 2013 - 87,000 more people seem to have emigrated in the 2008-11 period, and 1.2 lakh more in 2011-13.

The inter-survey growth rate since 2013 has dropped. The inter-survey differences vary from one interval to another, from an increase of 4.7 lakh during 1998-2003 to a decline of 1.4 lakh during 2016-18. It has shown positive growth for the first four periods and negative growth for the last two periods. We can see the highest growth rate at the initial phase (1998-2003), which has been continuously decreasing (except during 2011-13), leading to a negative growth rate at the recent phase (2013-18).

The top destination is the Gulf region with 89.2 per cent of the total emigrants. The UAE has remained the favourite destination for Keralites from the beginning. About 1.89 million emigrants live in the Gulf countries.

After KMS 2018, Kerala has experienced floods and we have predicted an increase in emigration because most the remittances were invested in works related to construction of houses. By 2020, we assume the Kerala migrants in six countries (UAE, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Bahrain, Oman, Kuwait) probably reached around 20 lakh (at the most 25 lakh). Our understanding indicates that about one of four in the Gulf is a Keralite.

Emigration after COVID-19

What is the future of emigration to and return emigration from the Gulf? My predictions are as follows: As of now, Kerala has 1 lakh return emigrants who could not go back due to the closure of airports in the Gulf earlier and in India later. Second, about 30,000 new emigrants could not go to the Gulf in spite of having employment visas. Third, once travel is allowed, we expect the first set of priority return emigrants --mostly dependants - to arrive in May 2020. The Gulf countries are already beginning to see the effects of the COVID crisis, with oil prices sinking to an all-time low. Most sectors will likely incur heavy job losses amid changing domestic policies. Thus, before September, we expect another 1 lakh to return.

One more factor will play a major role. At any point of time, at least 10 per cent of Keralite migrants or 2 lakh are undocumentedi workers. Very recently, Kuwait announced amnesty allowing undocumented workers to leave the country without any fine. If other Gulf countries also grant amnesty to get rid of undocumented workers, most of them will have to return. In any case, we can expect an additional 3 lakh return migrants from the Gulf. It is a major challenge that the government has to take into consideration when deliberating over the future of migration from Kerala. However, the vital importance of migrants to Kerala's economy and society means that the government will have to take careful steps to foster international migration in a post-COVID world. As stated in the Report of Expert Committee on Strategy for Easing Lockdown Restrictions of Government of Kerala, "A comprehensive Kerala Migration Survey should be undertaken immediately after normalcy is restored for more effective policy formulation for this category in the State.'

S Irudaya Rajan is Professor at the Centre for Development Studies, Kerala. He led the Kerala Migration Survey 2018 and is a Member of the Kerala Government Expert Committee on COVID-19

INDIA COUNT: 26,917 (826 DEATHS) REST OF INDIA Andaman and Nicobar Islands Arunachal Pradesh Assam Bihar Chandiga .625 Delhi Chhattisgarh Goa 1.843 UP 289 40 494 67 501 Haryana Himachal Pradesh Jammu and Kashmi Jharkhand 2,096 MP 611 Karnataka Kerala Ladakh 458 20 West Benga 991 Telangana Manipur 2 12 Meghalaya Mizoram .097 Andhra Pradesh 103 Odisha Puducherr 1,821 Tamil Nadu Punjab 298 Tripura

Union Health Ministry update as of 11 pm. April 26. Some states may have reported higher numbers. Only states and UTs with the most cases are listed above. 5.914 PATIENTS DISCHARGED IN 30 STATES AND UNION TERRITORIES

Have a question on the COVID-19 outbreak and what you should/should not do? Write to explained@indianexpress.com

SIMPLY PUT QUESTION & ANSWER

two cell types in nose

LAST WEEK, scientists reported that they have identified two specific types of cells in the nose as the likely initial infection points for SARS-CoV2, the novel coronavirus that causes COVID-19 (briefly reported in The Indian Express, April 25). A look at how this adds to the emerging knowledge about the new virus:

KABIR FIRAQUE

NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

Was the mechanism of infection not already known?

Yes, previous studies have shown what happens at the cellular level. The entry of the virus takes place by means of a "lock

POINT OF ENTRY

Schematic illustration of major anatomical regions in the human respiratory tree. In the nose, the new study identified the goblet and ciliated cells as likely initial infection points.

Nasal Lower airway

Where does virus first 1 36 251 30 37 7 strike? Study pinpoints

How MPLAD scheme works, and how far its suspension will help COVID-19 fight

CHAKSHUROY NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

EARLIER THIS month, the government suspended the Member of Parliament Local Area Development (MPLAD) Scheme so that these funds would be available for its COVID-19 management efforts.

Following the Centre's announcement, UP Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath suspended the state's MLALAD scheme for a year, a move that will allow the state to spend Rs 1,500 crore on COVID-related efforts.

A look at the scheme, and the implications of the move:

What is the MPLAD Scheme?

MPLAD is a central government scheme, under which MPs can recommend development programmes involving spending of Rs 5 crore every year in their respective constituencies. MPs from both Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha, including nominated ones, can do so.

States have their version of this scheme with varying amounts per MLA. Delhi has the highest allocation under MLALAD; each MLA can recommend works for up to Rs 10 crore each year. In Punjab and Kerala, the amount is Rs 5 crore per MLA per year; in Assam, Chhattisgarh, Maharashtra and Karnataka, it is Rs 2 crore; in Uttar Pradesh, it was recently increased from Rs 2 crore to Rs 3 crore.

How much will the suspension contribute to the Centre's efforts to manage the pandemic?

Suspension of the MPLAD Scheme will make Rs 7,800 crore available to the government. For comparison, this is only 4.5% of the Rs 1.70 lakh crore relief package for the poor announced under the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Yojana.

Opposition MPs have reacted sharply. Adhir Ranjan Choudhary, leader of the Congress Legislature Party in Lok Sabha, termed the move a gross injustice towards people's representatives. RJD MP Manoj Jha said the diversion of MPLAD funds would centralise their administration and decrease the efficiency of their disbursal.

How does the scheme work?

MPs and MLAs do not receive any money under these schemes. The government transfers it directly to the respective local authorities. The legislators can only recommend works in their constituencies based on a set of guidelines. For the MPLAD Scheme, the guidelines focus on the creation of durable community assets like roads, school buildings etc. Recommendations for nondurable assets can be made only under limited circumstances. For example, last month, the government allowed use of MPLAD funds for the purchase of personal protection equipment, coronavirus testing kits etc.

The guidelines for use of MLALAD funds differ across states. For example, Delhi MLAs can recommend the operation of fogging machines (to contain dengue mosquitoes), installation of CCTV cameras etc. After the legislators give the list of developmental works, they are executed by the district authorities as per the governments financial, technical and administrative rules.

When did the scheme start?

Prime Minister P V Narasimha Rao announced the scheme on December 23, 1993 in Lok Sabha. He mentioned that it was being started at the request of MPs across parties.

Opposition to the proposal came from CPI(M) MPs Nirmal Kanti Chatterjee and Somnath Chatterjee.

This happened during a tumultuous year for Rao's minority government. Earlier that month, Parliament was agitated that the government was trying to clip Election Commissioner T N Seshan's wings by converting the EC into a multi-member body. Months earlier, the government had survived a controversial trust vote in Lok Sabha. And in May that year, Lok Sabha witnessed the first impeachment proceedings in India's history, against High Court Judge Justice V Ramaswami. These events led some commentators to suggest that the scheme was an attempt by the minority government to appease MPs. Over the years, the scheme was adopted and adapted by state governments.

How long are the schemes supposed to continue?

The central scheme has continued uninterrupted for 27 years. It is budgeted through the government's finances and continues as long as the government is agreeable. In 2018, the Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs approved the scheme until the term of the 14th Finance Commission, that is March 31, 2020.

In the recent past, there has been one example of discontinuation of a Local Area Development scheme. Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar discontinued the state's scheme in 2010, only to revive it before the 2014 general elections.

What has been the impact of the MPLAD scheme?

In 2018, when continuation of the scheme was approved, the government noted that "the entire population across the country stands to benefit through the creation of durable assets of locally felt needs, namely drinking water, education, public health, sanitation and roads etc, under MPLAD Scheme".

Until 2017, nearly 19 lakh projects worth Rs 45,000 crore had been sanctioned under the MPLAD Scheme. Third-party evaluators appointed by the government reported that the creation of good quality assets had a "positive impact on the local economy, social fabric and feasible environment". Further, 82% of the projects have been in rural areas and the remaining in urban/semi-urban areas.

Why has the scheme been sometimes criticised?

The criticism has been on two broad grounds. First, that it is inconsistent with the spirit of the Constitution as it co-opts legislators into executive functioning. The most vocal critic was a DMK ex-MP and a former Chairman of the Public Accounts Committee, Era Sezhiyan. He said the workload on MPs created by the scheme diverted their attention from holding the government accountable and other legislative work. The National Commission to Review the Working of the Constitution (2000) and the Second Administrative Reforms Commission, headed by Veerappa Moily (2007), recommended discontinuation of the scheme. In 2010, the Supreme Court held that the scheme was constitutional.

The second criticism stems from allegations of corruption associated with allocation of works. The Comptroller and Auditor General has on many occasions highlighted gaps in implementation.

> Chakshu Roy is Head of Outreach, PRS Legislative Research and key" effect. Like all coronaviruses, SARS-CoV2 consists of a fatty envelope with a "spike protein" on the surface. The spike acts as the "key" to "unlock" a protein on the human cell, called ACE2, which acts as the receptor for the virus. Once inside the cell, the virus uses a second protein, called TMPRSS2, to complete its entry. TMPRSS2 has protein-splitting abilities, which allow the virus to reproduce and transmit itself inside the cell.

So, what has the new study found?

The new study has identified the specific cells where the mechanism of entry most likely comes into play when the virus begins it attack. These are the goblet and ciliated cells in the nose, researchers from the Wellcome Sanger Institute (UK), University Medical Centre Groningen, University Côte d'Azur and CNRS, Nice and their collaborators have reported in the journal Nature Medicine.

Goblet cells are mucus-producing cells on the surface of organs, and are found along the respiratory tract, along the intestinal tract, in the upper eyelid etc. Ciliated cells are hair-like cells, again occurring on the surface of various organs, and help sweep mucus, dust etc to the throat, where it can be swallowed.

How did the study identify these cells as the likely points of initial infection?

The researchers looked for areas where the two key proteins, ACE2 and TMPRSS2, express themselves most prominently. For this, they turned to the Human Cell Atlas, an international consortium that aims to create comprehensive reference maps of all human cells. They looked at multiple datasets from more than 20 different tissues of non-infected people. These included cells from the lung, nasal cavity, eye, gut, heart, kidney and liver.

And what did the data show?

Both proteins were found in multiple organs. However, ACE2 expression was generally low while TMPRSS2 was highly expressed with a broader distribution. This suggests that ACE2, rather than TMPRSS2, may be a limiting factor for viral entry at the initial infection stage, the researchers wrote in the paper.

"We found that ... ACE2 and TM-PRSS2... are expressed in cells in different organs, including the cells on the inner lining of the nose. We then revealed that mucus-producing goblet cells and ciliated cells in the nose had the highest levels of both these COVID-19 virus proteins, of all cells in the airways. This makes these cells the most likely initial infection route for the virus," first author Dr Waradon Sungnak, from Wellcome Sanger Institute, said in a statement issued by the institute.

New Delhi

Does this rule out other entry points?

The two entry proteins were also found in cells in the cornea of the eye and in the lining of the intestine. The researchers said this suggests another possible route of infection via the eye and tear ducts, and possible oral-faecal transmission. However, they note that:

The two cell types in the nose, where the proteins were expressed at the highest levels, are located at a place that is highly accessible for the virus.

The study also found that ACE2 production in the nose cells is probably switched on at the same time as various immune genes that would be activated when the cells are fighting the infection.

The virus is thought to be spread through respiratory droplets produced when an infected person coughs or sneezes.

How does the knowledge help?

This is the first time that these two cell types have been pinpointed as the likely points of initial entry. The researchers believe their identification could help explain the high transmission rate of COVID-19.

"This information can be used to better understand how coronavirus spreads. Knowing which exact cell types are important for virus transmission also provides a basis for developing potential treatments to reduce the spread of the virus," said Dr Sarah Teichmann, senior author from Wellcome Sanger Institute and cochair of the Organising Committee of the Human Cell Atlas.

WWW.INDIANEXPRESS.COM

THE INDIAN EXPRESS, MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020 THE EDITORIAL PAGE

WORDLY WISE SUGAR IS NOW MORE DANGEROUS THAN GUNPOWDER — YUVAL NOAH HARARI

The Indian EXPRESS

∽ Founded By ∽ RAMNATH GOENKA

BECAUSE THE TRUTH INVOLVES US ALL

OIL FALL DOWN

Oil producers, refiners and drilling services firms aren't only ones feeling the heat. But there is a ray of hope

AST WEEK SAW a virtual bloodbath in oil, with US crude prices crashing to an unprecedented minus $40.32 per barrel before ending at $16.94. But it wasn't just oil. Raw sugar futures prices for May delivery in New York closed at 9.73 cents per pound, the lowest since June 9, 2008. The front-month corn contract at Chicago, too, fell to $3.01 a bushel, a level it breached last on September 11, 2009. Crude palm oil prices in Malaysia, likewise, plunged by 7.5 per cent on April 21, while now trading nearly 31 per cent lower since the start of the year. The link with oil is obvious here: Sugarcane and corn are as much sources of food as substrates for ethanol that can be blended with petrol. Only 34 per cent of cane crushed by Brazilian mills in 2019-20 went for sugar production, the rest to make ethanol. Palm oil is used to manufacture bio-diesel. Indonesia, last year, mandated a 30 per cent mix of bio-diesel in the regular transport fuel, while India requires 10 per cent ethanol-blending in petrol.

The above diversion of "food crops" for fuel made economic sense so long as oil prices were reasonably high; both US and Brent crude ruled well above $50 per barrel till two months ago. Oil's collapse - refineries have significantly curtailed operations, with the coronavirus-induced worldwide lockdowns leading to a plunge in road, sea and air traffic volumes - has meant that ethanol processors are shutting plants and Brazil's mills will allocate more cane for sugar. It is a matter of time before the transmission from crude to sugar, corn and palm oil also spreads to other grains and oilseeds. Low oil prices have brought down the prices of cotton and natural rubber as well, because of synthetic substitutes becoming much cheaper. Simply put, oil producers, refiners and drilling services firms aren't the only ones feeling the heat. Farmers will also suffer. Payment arrears to cane growers in Uttar Pradesh are already mounting as there's little domestic or export demand for sugar. Moreover, given weak petrol sales, oil companies are reluctant to lift ethanol from mills. And with liquor vends shut, no offtake of potable alcohol is happening either.

The ray of hope, if any, is the fact that the demand for food should recover once hotels, restaurants, sweetmeat shops and ice-cream, beverage and snack makers start running after lockdown restrictions are lifted. Food consumption cannot be put off for too long - unlike travel, tourism, entertainment or real estate investments, which will be the last to emerge from the damage wrought by COVID-19. Indian farmers have done well to feed the nation in this hour of crisis. The prospect of global production shortfalls reasserting themselves in rice, for instance - should open up opportunities for them to feed the world too.

FINDING THE CURE

Search for Covid vaccine must be informed by conversations between scientists, physicians, bioethicists and regulators

AST WEEK, AT a video conference convened by the WHO, leaders from the Americas, West Asia, Europe, and Africa agreed to "speed up the development of safe and effective drugs to prevent, diagnose and treat COVID-19". India, the US, Russia, and China stayed away from the meet. Even so, the conference on April 24 showcased rare global solidarity in the four-month-long fight against the coronavirus. Hearteningly, there was also consensus that a vaccine against the virus should be seen as "a global public good" and should be "distributed in all parts of the world".

In the second week of January, Chinese scientists developed and shared a full genetic sequence of the coronavirus. This has spurred more than 100 vaccine development projects in different parts of the world, including India. Last week, clinical trials were approved in the UK. China, and Germany. These are remarkable developments, given that the virus was unknown in most parts of the world four months ago. However, vaccines require several rounds of clinical trials and regulatory scrutiny before they are made available to the public. They have to be first tested in laboratories, then on animals, before being tested on a small group of people. Safety protocols in most parts of the world demand the number of people exposed to the vaccine in clinical trials is gradually increased before a vaccine is approved. But the virulence of the COVID-19 pandemic has led to calls for expediting timelines, even deviations from protocols. For example, a paper published in the Journal of Infectious Diseases on March 31 suggested "a human challenge study with fewer participants than a conventional trial". It recommended injecting volunteers with a potential vaccine and then exposing them to the virus. The paper's authors, prominent bioethicists, acknowledged the ethical questions such trials would raise. However, they argued that "with proper trial design and processes, the net risk for participants can remain low". The US Food and Drugs Administration has said that "it will be flexible about regulatory procedures". There need to be more conversations amongst scientists, physicians, bioethicists and regulators before an accelerated paradigm to approve an anti-COVID-19 vaccine is put in place.

S K Sarin

DOCTORS, NURSES AND healthcare professionals will remember the day the Union government passed an ordinance ensuring that acts of violence against doctors and other medical staff will be a cognisable and non-bailable offence. Imprisonment from six months to seven years and a penalty from Rs 50,000 to Rs 7 lakh can be sanctioned by the courts. Such punishments will serve as a deterrent to unruly patients and their relatives, if found guilty.

This ordinance has been precipitated by the precarious situation and the dire need for flawless health services during the COVID-19 pandemic. It is the result of the combined and timely efforts of several organisations and the leadership of the Indian Medical Association (IMA). Needless to say, any disruption of the health services would not only endanger the lives of hundreds of patients but could also raise questions on the ability of the government to rise to the occasion. Indeed, the prime minister, home minister and health minister have earned rich praise from the medical fraternity as they moved fast enough to assuage the medics who were hurt by the recent insults heaped on them by the society, including stopping of burying the bodies of their deceased colleagues.

There are, however, some major caveats to be kept in mind. The ordinance has been brought as an amendment to the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, and hence, may become infructuous after the pandemic is declared over. We do hope that the pandemic dies down at the earliest, but want an assurance that the ordinance will remain in force.

In the times of COVID, healthcare professionals (HCPs) are reaching out to do tests, diagnose and treat the infected and sick, despite the risks. The society, due to obvious fears, often insults these dedicated warriors. Even in the past, nearly every doctor has faced verbal abuse and nasty cryptic reThere is also the possibility of poor communication by the doctors. However, physical abuse and violence against doctors at their place of work is unacceptable. Vandalising of personal and hospital assets has increased exponentially recently. Fears of personal safety, assault on their family and false litigations, intimidate doctors, making them too scared to take proper decisions. They often end-up in doing either more tests or referring such patients to another centre.

marks, more so in India than other parts of the world. The common causes in government hospitals are the delay in appointments, queues for tests and several painful days before the treatment begins. In the private set-up, there are also the costs and limitless demands of paying patients. Doctors often face pressure tactics, accusations of incorrect diagnosis and wrong prescriptions (these could be due to differences in assessment and judgement).

Protections for healthcare professionals

must stay beyond pandemic

All this could be related to deteriorating civic sense and poor implementation of laws. There is also the possibility of poor communication by the doctors. However, physical abuse and violence against doctors at their place of work is unacceptable. Vandalising of personal and hospital assets has increased exponentially recently. Fears of personal safety, assault on their family and false litigations, intimidates doctors, making them too scared to take proper decisions. They often end up in doing either more tests or referring such patients to another centre.

While hundreds of acts of violence against doctors have been reported every year for the past two decades, many more are never brought to light. The youngest professionals - resident doctors on emergency duty – end up seeing dozens of patients in one night. Few appreciate this. It is possible that in some instances, there may be a delay in arriving at a proper diagnosis and initiating treatment due to the complexities of the disease per se. But this is never intentional.

While we salute the acknowledgment by the government of the unprecedented challenges faced by doctors, it needs to be seen how the doctors or their lawyer will be able to prove that the accused had a guilty intent (mens rea) and was performing an illegal act (actus reus). The enactment of a law is unlikely to curb the near-criminal acts by patients or their attendants. The public at large needs to appreciate that what they are doing is illegal and inhuman. There is a need to educate society that healthcare professionals genuinely do their best. They have no malice, nor do they intend to do any harm. The public has also to be educated on the complexities of decision-making in complex cases.

Whenever the doctors ask for protection or raise their voice against the violence, their demands are hardly given attention - the fraternity is reminded of the nobleness of the medical profession and the Hippocratic Oath. The remedial altars, the courts, direct them not to protest and return to work. To be beaten again! Court after court, judgment after judgment, has given large compensations to the plaintiffs for alleged medical negligence.

Will the courts change their outlook in the wake of the new ordinance? If these very warriors are ostracised while returning from work or are thrown out of their houses, bruised by a crowd pelting stones, will the courts and judges rise to the occasion and take suo-moto action? Will they be able to deliver timely and exemplary punishments and safeguard the dignity and lives of HCPs? Healthcare professionals need a sensitive and accountable judicial system and this ordinance should be given more punch and wider applicability in the times to come.

The new ordinance has to be weighed in light of these facts and will only achieve the desired results if the society at large appreciates the challenges and pains faced by HCPs. Alas, what was the genuine due of the doctors and HCPs - the tribute and the respect - has come through the law. So be it. Let the hands not waver while delivering judgments.

The writer is director, Institute of Liver and Biliary Sciences, Delhi. He heads the expert panel constituted by Delhi government to tackle coronavirus, Views are personal

I TWEET THEREFORE I'M HEARD

India's digital divide makes the state distant from those who need it most

VRINDA SHUKLA

There are also concerns about how much the vaccine will cost, and whether pharma companies will put humanitarian concerns before profits. During the HINI pandemic in 2009, there was criticism that the wealthier countries had cornered the lion's share of the vaccines. It is reassuring, therefore, that the leaders attending last week's video conference made a commitment to "ensure equal access to vaccines".

EPUNNY

FREEZE FRAME

IT WAS about 9:30 pm. The phone rang. A well-meaning lady was calling to inform that Sujoy Raj and eight others, all migrant workers from West Bengal, didn't have any rations left. She had seen the social media coverage of the police's food-aid initiative and found my number on the district website. She expected the police to help. An hour later, the phone rang again. This time a small uncertain voice spoke at the other end. It was Sujoy, warily telling me that he had been called by the police to his local chowki. I explained to him that all chowkis had been supplied with rations to help those in need. A brief silence followed. He hesitatingly asked, "Mujhe maarenge toh nahin?" A lump rose in my throat at the tragedy of distorted perceptions.

An aware citizen, armed with correct and complete information, had felt it well within her right to assert for the need of others. But a starving man thought of raising the issue of his desperate hunger as a crime. Sujoy did receive rations that night. I hope that we managed to redeem ourselves a little in the eyes of Sujoy and his companions and that the police chowki became a less forbidding place in their mental map.

The difference between the confidence of Sujoy and his self-assured advocate could clearly be attributed to an information divide, fuelled most acutely by the digital divide, particularly in the present scenario.

The digital medium has emerged as a powerful passport for millions of citizens to register their expectations from the state and make their voices heard. The lockdown is

India's deep digital divide is in ever-sharper focus with most physical means of carrying out business and governance rendered dysfunctional. For instance, most emergency permits being issued by various government authorities are e-passes, which must be applied for and received digitally. As such, the exigencies of the unlettered and the digitally deprived must, by default, languish behind the great divide.

witnessing the informed and digitally connected take to Twitter and other platforms to express their concerns about everything – from the urgent requirement of a permit for the last rites of a loved one to the pressing need for a specific baby food customised to their child's allergies. The authorities respond with alacrity, for social and digital media have evolved as potent barometers to determine the popularity and effectiveness of the state, pinning down the responsibility and accountability of government agencies and gauging their levels of sensitivity and promptness. This is a remarkable empowerment of India's citizens and the rise of a new proximate relationship between the state and its digitally connected people.

But what about those with no Twitter handles or a platform to highlight a particularly aggravating personal situation? India's deep digital divide is in ever-sharper focus with most physical means of carrying out business and governance rendered dysfunctional. For instance, most emergency permits being issued by various government authorities are e-passes, which must be applied for and received digitally. As such, the exigencies of the unlettered and the digitally deprived must, by default, languish behind the great divide. We cannot underestimate the disproportionate burden of the lockdown, both psychological and material, being borne by them.

The way to lighten this burden is through an aggressive bridging of the digital divide. A national network of decentralised virtual call centres could be operated in local languages and dialects for the purpose of accessing e-governance. Digitally empowered citizens, remotely serving as "digital volunteers" could be equipped with the relevant helpline numbers, website addresses and URLs for accessing public services. The digitally disconnected could seek help through a simple phone call, which would be queued in the system. A digital volunteer could then connect with the caller in her language, understand her requirement, and initiate the necessary procedures.

Similarly, leveraging India's vast mobile phone penetration, an artificial intelligencepowered Interactive Voice Response (IVR) nechanism of placing automated calls could be harnessed for proactive dissemination of area-based vital information. Such digital inclusion is essential for the reassurance of India's teeming millions that the state is in their service and won't let them languish without an anchor. In this digital age, there is no other way to make every citizen feel like a valued stakeholder than to find a way of connecting them to the power of the digital ethos.

As educated empowered citizens, we must take it upon ourselves to serve as ambassadors of the digitally disconnected. So let us share our awareness. Share our access. Share our Twitter handle for those on the wrong side of the digital divide.

The writer, 31, is an IPS officer serving as DCP in Noida, Uttar Pradesh. Views are personal

APRIL 27, 1980, FORTY YEARS AGO

GANGA DIALOGUE

THE JOINT RIVERS Commission of India and Bangladesh, currently in session in Delhi, is about to throw up its hands in despair over failure to resolve the differences between the two countries on the sharing of the Ganga waters. Rather than going into the pros and cons of the positions of the two countries, the Commission was busy discussing whether the issue of augmentation of the Ganga waters should be remitted back to the two governments for resolution. The Indian delegation virtually made it clear to the Bangladesh delegation that the commission was not in a position to bridge the gulf separating the positions of the two governments and as such it was better the two governments themselves took up the task.

Assam bandh

EVEN AS THE five-day picketing of government offices by the agitating organisations ended in Assam, associations of state and central government employees announced that they would abstain from work on Monday. The All Assam Employees Parishad decided to "boycott offices" in protest against the suspension of employees for taking part in the "current peaceful movement" on the foreign national issue. The central and semicentral employees parishad has also decided to call upon its members to stay away from work for a day in response to the state government employees' appeal.

US ON IRAN MISSION WITH UNANSWERED QUESTIONS and future intentions left dangling, the Jimmy Carter administration is reacting with unusual calm to the failure of its dramatic effort to free the US hostages in Teheran. Despite the loss of eight American military men, whose bodies were left behind in blazing aircraft wreckage on an Iranian salt desert, the response of President Jimmy Carter and key associates is in no way reminiscent of past moments of national dejection at daring plans gone awry. Instead of exhibiting the never-again attitude shown by the then President John Kennedy after the abortive 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba by US-backed Cuban exiles, few officials in Washington seem willing to say that another Iran rescue mission might not go forward in the near future.

New Delhi

THE INDIAN EXPRESS, MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020 THE IDEAS PAGE

Humanitarian emergency

The ongoing crisis calls for universal delivery of food and cash transfers by the state. It can be done

JAYATI GHOSH, PRABHAT PATNAIK AND HARSH MANDER

THE IMMEDIATE NEED for universal food and cash delivery is by now obvious and urgent. Across the country, there are reports of people - migrant workers, local workers, peasants, pastoralists, fisherpeople, vendors, ragpickers, and the destitute - facing extreme hardship, even starvation, because their livelihoods have been extinguished by the lockdown. These have created further an unprecedented humanitarian crisis, as millions of households with depleted savings have no way to access food and other basic necessities over the coming weeks. The threat of infection from COVID-19 makes even harder their coping mechanisms.

In these dire circumstances, it is essential for the state to directly provide the basic means of survival to anyone who needs it. This must be in both cash and kind. Food access is the most important, but because of the closure of economic activity and the absence of any livelihood opportunity, this must be combined with cash transfers to tide over this period and the immediate aftermath. Food transfers must be provided for at least six months, and cash transfers for at least three months, though these can be extended depending on the period of lockdown.

Because of the severity of the crisis and the high probability of widespread hunger and descent into poverty, these transfers must be universal, made available to every person who needs them, without relying on exclusionary criteria, existing lists or biometric identification.

What will this cost? Consider first free universal provisioning of 10 kg of grain (wheat or rice) per person per month. This is likely to be availed of by at most around 80 per cent of the population. With an estimated population of 1.3 billion, providing this for six months would require 62.4 million tonnes of grain. This is a maximal estimate - the actual requirement would be lower. The FCI is currently holding 77 million tonnes of foodgrain stocks, compared to buffer stock norms of 24 million tonnes. It is expected to procure another 40 million tonnes from the current rabi harvest. It could easily release and allow the free distribution of foodgrain of 62.5 million tonnes and still have foodgrain stocks of 54.5 million tonnes, if the expected rabi procurement targets are met.

Furthermore, it is costly for the FCI to store this grain. The current costs of storage are estimated to be Rs 5.60 per kilogramme per year or Rs 2.80 for six months. This means that by releasing 62.4 million tonnes to feed the hungrv of India over the next six months, the FCI would actually be saving Rs 17,472 crore, assuming that these idle stocks would have persisted. But even if these were sold, the costs are the revenue that would have been earned.

cluded by using Sitharaman's estimate. This amount of physical grain could also be utilised in community kitchens and other efforts to provide cooked food to those (such as migrant workers and the homeless) who are not in a position to cook for themselves.

In addition, we propose a cash transfer of Rs 7,000 per month for three months to every household, assuming again that 80 per cent of households would receive this. With five persons per household, this expenditure would be Rs 4.36.800 crore. The two transfers together amount to Rs 5,53,800 crore, or around 2.9 per cent of currently estimated GDP.

This is not a forbidding sum, especially considering that India has no wealth tax, a potentially rich source of revenue. Needless to say, a great part of the responsibility to make these resources available vests with the Union government. But whatever taxes are introduced in a supplementary budget that has become unavoidable, the expenditure incurred has to be financed immediately through a fiscal deficit.

Given the massive deflationary pressures and a complete collapse of economic activity, there is a strong case for financing the additional public expenditure through deficit financing or borrowing directly from the RBI. This is required both for coping with the pandemic and for softening the blow of the lockdown

The question then arises of how universal delivery of these food and cash transfers is to be ensured. Existing lists are inadequate for the purpose because they significantly underestimate and exclude those who should be beneficiaries. For example, as pointed out by Dreze, Khera and Mungikar, at least 100 million people are excluded from access to food under the National Food Security Act based on the 2011 Census. The most effective way of dealing with the food emergency is to provide food delivery at doorsteps or neighbourhood collection points to anyone who asks for it, with a simple marker such as the indelible ink used during elections to serve as the indicator of receipt. For cash transfers, the matter is more complicated. In rural India, MGNREGA job cards and pensions cover most households and allow bank payments. The urban poor include migrants, contract and casual workers mostly in small and medium enterprises, daily wagers, domestic workers, self-emIn these dire circumstances, it is essential for the state to directly provide the basic means of survival to anyone who needs it. This must be in both cash and kind. Food access is the most important, but because of the closure of economic activity and the absence of any livelihood opportunity, this must be combined with cash transfers to tide over this period and

WHAT THE OTHERS SAY

In a time of crisis art becomes more central to our lives

— THE GUARDIAN

In our homes and hearts

Social distancing is antithetical to celebration of life, and festivals. But in these times, it is the only way

M Venkaiah Naidu

WE ARE TODAY in the midst of a grave health crisis. The coronavirus continues to spread across the world. Hardly anyone is untouched by its extraordinary transmissibility. We, in India, like in other parts of the world, are trying to break this alarmingly speedy transmission through a national lockdown, social distancing and personal hygiene measures. Adherence to these new norms of social behaviour has yielded results. The number of cases and fatalities has shown a decline wherever there has been greater compliance. Conversely, there has been a surge wherever there was laxity and violation of prescribed preventive measures. The large congregation in Nizamuddin in Delhi brought this stark unpleasant reality to our attention. However, we should understand that this merely illustrates what can happen if we ignore the warning and slip into an apathetic or denial mode. We should read no more into this event and not let latent prejudices surface, resulting in totally unwarranted finger-pointing at any community. The entire community should not be blamed or viewed as the culprit because of the negligence of a few groups and individuals.

This is a massive disruption in our lives. Our socio-cultural life is enriched by festivals and cultural events in which we mingle with each other and celebrate together. Social distancing is antithetical to the spirit of bonhomie and the collective celebration of life. But, we have opted for this path because it is the only known path of containing the spread of this deadly virus. We have to put up with the milder disruptions in social, religious and cultural life to avoid a major catastrophe. We simply have to live with the situation where we cannot visit places of worship on festival days. We have to avoid congregations and social gatherings for some time to come. It is painful, but there is hardly any alternative.

The nature of this disease and the precautions required to be taken must be widely understood. Citizens must not be afraid or complacent. The severely affected should be given medical help. They should not be stigmatised and ostracised. Randeep Guleria, director of AIIMS, has said in a recent interview, that COVID-19 can be dealt with better if we encourage persons with symptoms to get tested rather than view them with suspicion and stigma. People, irrespective of social standing and religious beliefs, should seek medical attention. Another facet of stigmatisation is the disturbing trend of sporadic attacks on medical personnel, especially those who are fighting on the frontlines and braving the tremendous risk of getting infected. There are guite a few instances of doctors, nurses, paramedical staff and other social workers being stigmatised and denied housing facilities and viewed with deep suspicion as carriers of the virus. This is truly unfortunate and deplorable, especially in a country that has tra-ditionally had a highly reverential attitude towards doctors. Quite rightly, the government has made attacks against health professionals a cognisable, non-bailable offence, carrying imprisonment terms upto seven years. Hopefully, this will curb further violence against health professionals. Ignorance and prejudice, fear and suspicion, should be overcome through authentic and timely flow of information and new societal norms based on our ancient values must be restored.

I am happy that people at large are adhering to the guidelines. All religious leaders are moving away from dogmatic positions and are providing the guidance required to regulate the modes of worship in light of the present circumstances. Stigma and dogma are impediments that need to be removed. A more flexible, adaptable attitude to modify our social behaviour will enable us to effectively continue our war. Almost all religious institutions have now been closed and no religious congregations are being allowed, not only in India but in most of the affected countries around the world. We can win only if we act with wisdom, alacrity and a dispassionate understanding of the preventive actions. These actions cut across religious and regional boundaries. No community has any immunity against this pandemic.

I am happy that we are getting used to a subdued celebration of festivals like Rama Navami, Baisakhi, Easter and Ramzan. Let the spirit of religious sanctity and piety be preserved in our hearts and homes this year. After all, what we pray for is a world that is healthy for us and for entire humanity. As we begin the sacred month of Ramadan, I do hope that we all stay at home and pray for our families and fellow beings and hope that we overcome this challenge soon.

There are a number of challenges that the pandemic has forced us to confront. We are collectively finding answers to these ever evolving challenges. The Central and state governments as well as local bodies are reviewing the situation and taking well-considered decisions to mitigate the hardship. However, much more needs to be done.

We have apparently some more distance to cover. While the average daily growth in cases has been falling since the lockdown was imposed, we still have a rather high growth rate of around 8 per cent. We need to be vigilant. We must analyse the data in an objective manner and strategise further actions. We need to reinforce measures that cut off the transmission. We also need to step up humanitarian and welfare measures.

This is a moment for us to get our act together. We must distance ourselves physically to arrest the viral transmission. But, we need to come closer as human beings to render help where and when required. We must rediscover the true meaning of central religious tenets. I am hopeful that we shall stand united with an understanding of the real challenge ahead of us and have the collective commitment to act with wisdom to overcome the challenge. Let not differences among political parties come in the way of fighting this pandemic at any level. Solidarity and alacrity at all levels can help us better navigate the current multi-dimensional crisis.

This is difficult to estimate; but if we just blow up Nirmala Sitharaman's estimate, mentioned in her package, for six months and for 80 per cent of the population then we get a (maximal) figure of Rs 1,17,000 crore.

In addition to cereals, it is important to provide some pulses, cooking oil, salt, etc., but these would add relatively small amounts to the total expenditure, and some expenditure on pulses has already been in-the immediate aftermath. Food transfers must be provided for at least six months, and cash transfers for at least three months, though these can be extended depending on the period of lockdown.

and the sudden loss of food and livelihood, unsupported by an uncaring state. These require a bold resolve, by central and state governments, to literally reach the last person, rural or urban, with the food and cash they require to survive with dignity.

ployed persons like street vendors, sex workers and ragpickers, and the destitute including homeless people. But there is no comprehensive record of the urban poor because the state has instituted no effective mechanisms to secure labour rights or social security rights to most urban workers.

The urban poor build and service the city,

surviving without rights and a hostile or indifferent state. The legally-mandated registration of inter-state migrants and construction workers in practice excludes most because their employers with the connivance of the state don't wish to be bound

the pandemic and lockdown entails universal cash transfers again to every adult who presents herself to designated officials in decentralised offices. For those who have accessible bank accounts, the funds can be credited to these accounts. For others, the Odisha system, whereby pensions are disbursed as cash in hand at pre-specified times, maybe a useful model to follow. This also can be adopted with indelible ink as way to an expanded rural employment guarantee scheme, and a new urban employment programme, which includes caregiving and building water supply, sanitation and shelter for the urban poor. Private hospitals also need to be nationalised at least for the cal administration being honest and accountable, as well as on community participation; but then this pandemic and its fallout cannot be controlled without these.

The health emergency was not created by India's working people. They should not be forced to carry the burdens of the pandemic

All these measures no doubt rely on lo-

The income transfers must quickly give

The humanitarian emergency created by to secure their rights.

proof of receipt.

duration of the pandemic.

Ghosh is professor of economics, JNU, Patnaik is former professor of economics, JNU, and Mander is a human rights worker and writer

The writer is Vice President of India

A Marshall Plan for East India

The region will require heavy investment to tide over the post-COVID loss of livelihoods

A FAMOUS LINE of Tiger in Walt Disney Productions' Winnie the Pooh is, "Life is not about how fast you run or how high you climb, but how well you bounce". In the context of today's economy, under siege because of the coronavirus pandemic, what matters is not how big a country's GDP is or how fast it has been growing; the real challenge is how best and how quickly a country can bounce back to a growth rate of 7-8 per cent per annum.

The IMF's projections for GDP growth for this year seem to be either in the negative or below 2 per cent for almost all major countries of the G-20 group. India could do a little better compared to the other BRICS nations, but its growth will most likely be below 2 per cent. This, of course, is under an optimistic scenario. Many experts reckon that India could also go into negative GDP growth this year, if it does not reboot the economy properly and in time.

The Centre and the Reserve Bank of India are trying to remove all roadblocks so that factories and farms can resume operations, albeit in a regulated manner that ensures that the virus is contained. The focus is largely on the supply side – how to ease restrictions and how to increase liquidity in the system for resuming production. My assessment is that it may not take too long as the real problem is the collapse in demand. And that demand may not pick up easily as the virus is likely to stay with us for quite some time. We could have lockdowns again if there is a surge in infection. This will surely limit our travel and restrict our shopping for non-essentials. However, there is one demand that can easily revive that of food.

The NSSO survey of consumption expenditures for 2011-12 revealed that about 45 per cent of the total expenditure of an Indian household is on food. For the poor, the NSSO reckoned, this figure was about 60 per cent. We do not have information about the consumption patterns in 2020, but my guess is that about 35-40 per cent of the expenditure of an Indian household is on food and for a poor household, this figure is around 50 per cent. Herein, lies the scope to reboot the economy.

We have seen the problems of migrant labourers during the lockdown. The sudden announcement of the nationwide lockdown gave them no time to go back to their families. They lost their jobs and incomes, and having spent whatever little savings they had, these workers have been reduced to penury. The Centre and states, despite their best efforts, have not managed to address the problem of hunger of these workers. Even civil society has not managed to bridge the gap. The migrant labourers may well have lost their trust in the state, and once the lockdown is lifted, most of them are likely to rush back to their families in villages - as if freed from jail. And, it could be some time before they are back in the cities - that is, if they return at all. So, farms and factories, especially the MSMEs in the relatively developed states of western, southern and north-western India are likely to face labour shortages for many months, perhaps years. This could lead to more mechanisation of farms and factories in these states. In Punjab, for example, most of the wheat harvesting is already done by combined harvesters. Now even paddy harvesting could be done by mechanised harvesters.

However, eastern Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Jharkhand, West Bengal, and Odisha, from where much of the migrant labour comes, will face a double challenge. Their agriculture, with tiny farm holdings is already saddled with a large labour force - this comprises 45 to 55 per cent of the total labour force of these states. Non-farm income from wages and salaries, through migrant labour, was an important source of income for households in these states. This is now severely hit. In all probability, the per capita rural incomes of these states could shrink, at least in the short run. This could lead to poverty and increase hunger and malnutrition. How does one then reboot the economy and also address hunger and malnutrition?

A special investment package - like the Marshall Plan of USA in 1948 - for the eastern belt of India to build better infrastructure, agri-markets and godowns, rural housing, primary health centres, schools and enhances people's skills will go a long way to revive the economy and augment the incomes of the migrant workers. Rising incomes will generate more demand for food as well as manufactured products, giving a fillip to the growth engines of agriculture as well as the MSME sector. Building better supply chains for food directly from farm-to-fork, led by the private sector, will enhance the export competitiveness of agriculture. It will also ensure a higher share of farmers in the consumers' rupee. Such broad-based development in a relatively underdeveloped region of the country will lay the foundations of a long-term, demand-driven, growth of industry in India.

The all India relief package of Rs 1.7 lakh crore announced by the central government earlier, which is about 0.8 per cent of the country's GDP, is too small to reboot the economy. If India has to bounce back quickly, it needs a much bigger relief cum stimulus package - certainly not below 5 per cent of GDP. And, it should focus more on the eastern belt, where the issue is that of survival. Else, the country could do even more badly on the indicators of poverty, hunger, malnutrition, infant mortality and well-being. India could get derailed from its course of attaining the Sustainable Development Goals by 2030.

> The writer is Infosys Chair professor for Agriculture at ICRIER

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

VIOLENCE AND VIRUS

THIS REFERS TO the editorial, 'Securing the fighters' (IE, April 24). This prime minister was applauded by the people for expressing his gratitude to the medical fraternity and other essential service providers. But when we see violence against doctors and police personnel, it seems Narendra Modi's noble gesture was wasted on some people. The latest outrage is the violence that occurred after a Chennai doctor died of COVID-19 when a mob attacked the ambulance in which his body was kept and prevented its burial. This incident has underscored the misconception that the contagion may spread if the victim is buried or cremated in the neighbourhood. Mona Singh, via email

THIS REFERS TO the editorial, 'Securing the fighters' (IE, April 24). There have been cases of skirmishes between the public on the one hand and police personnel, health workers and doctors on the other. The guilty persons, undoubtedly, must be punished. But, at the same time, we must guard against medical malpractice.

LR Gupta, Lucknow

INJECT MONEY

New Delhi

THIS REFERS TO the article, 'How to find money in crisis' (IE April 24). The government may consider rationalising its expenditure and optimally allocating resources in the capital head

WEEK AWARD To encourage quality reader intervention, The Indian Express offers the Letter of the Week award. The letter adjudged the best for the week is published every Saturday. Letters may be e-mailed to editpage@expressindia.com or sent to The Indian Express, B-1/B, Sector 10, Noida-UP 201301.

LETTER OF THE

to make more fiscal room to manage the fallout of the pandemic. But this move can have major implications. The best bet in such a scenario will be an expansionary monetary policy, thereby infusing more liquidity in the system that could fuel the domestic economic activity.

Sudip Kumar Dey, Kolkata

DIGITAL MONOPOLY

THIS REFERS TO the editorial, 'A big deal' (IE, April 24). The arrangement between Jio and Facebook could move the telecom sector towards a duopoly or even a monopoly.

Viraj Gavhane, Beed

St. Thomas' Hospital, including three nights in intensive care.

After he was released on April 12,

he recorded a video message thanking staff at the hospital for public since, as he recovered at Chequers, the prime minister's country retreat outside London.

Britain's toll could have been lower if Johnson's Conservative government had imposed a na-

"Decisions need to be taken quicker and communication with the public needs to be clearer," opposition Labour Party leader Keir Starmer said in a let-made great sacrifices to make the lockdown work," he wrote.

"They deserve to be part of an adult conversation about what

The British public have tionwide lockdown sooner.

Johnson has not been seen in Opposition politicians say saving his life.

ter to Johnson.

comes next.'

THE INDIAN EXPRESS, MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020 10 THE OUTBREAK THE WORLD

The Dutch teens in the port of Harlingen on Sunday. AP/PTI

THE NETHERLANDS

Unable to fly, teens sail home across Atlantic

Harlingen: A group of 25 Dutch high school students arrived back in the Netherlands in a twomast schooner on Sunday, after airline restrictions left them with little choice but to help sail it home from the Caribbean. The group, aged 14-17, had been halfway through a six week sail-study programme in the region on board the Wylde Swan. But by mid-March, it appeared they could no longer fly home from Cuba as planned. Organisers decided the ship, including 12 experienced sailors and three teachers, would have to sail back across the Atlantic, a 7,000 km trip that took them five REUTERS weeks

BANGLADESH 31 ISKCON members test positive

Dhaka: The ISKCON temple here in the Bangladeshi capital has reported 31 coronavirus cases, following which the authorities locked down the building to prevent the spread of the virus. "As many as 31 of the members International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON) ashram located in Swamibag area have tested positive for the coronavirus,' novel Gendaria police station)fficer-inharge (OC Saju Miah was quoted as saying by the Dhaka Tribune. PTI

ASSOCIATED PRESS ATLANTA, APRIL 26

ASTHE global death toll from the coronavirus surpassed 200,000, countries took cautious steps toward easing lockdowns imposed amid the pandemic, but fears of a surge in infections made even some outbreak-wounded businesses reluctant to reopen. The worldwide death toll was over 202,000, according to a count by John Hopkins University from government figures on Saturday. The actual death toll is believed to be far higher.

Underscoring the unknowns about the virus, the World Health Organization said "there is currently no evidence" that people who have recovered from COVID-19 cannot fall sick again.

Some countries extended or tightened restrictions, confirming a pattern of caution.

Sri Lanka had partially lifted a month-long daytime curfew in more than two thirds of the country. But it reimposed a 24hour lockdown countrywide until Monday after a surge of 46 new infections, its highest daily increase

Norway extended until at least September 1 its ban on events with more than 500 participants.

Belgium sketched out plans for a progressive lockdown relaxation starting May 4 with the resumption of nonessential treatment in hospitals and the reopening of textile and sewing shops to make face masks.

US calls on feuding Afghan leaders to set aside disputes, focus on virus

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE ISLAMABAD, APRIL 26

THE US peace envoy to Afghanistan on Sunday called on the country's feuding leaders to set their differences aside to combat the coronavirus nau demic and advance a stalled peace agreement signed with the Taliban earlier this year. "The well-being of the Afghan people and the country itself depend on all parties devoting their full energies to fighting the COVID-19 pandemic, the shared enemy of all," Zalmay Khalilzad tweeted early Sunday. He said Afghan President Ashraf Ghani and his rival Abdullah Abdullah, who each declared himself the victor in September's election, should put the interest of the country ahead of their own" during the holy month of Ramzan. He urged the government and the Taliban to carry out a prisoner exchange that was part of the US-Taliban peace agreement signed in February. The agreement had called for the release of 5,000 Taliban prisoners and 1,000 government personnel held by the insurgents. To date, Ghani has released 550 detainees based on age, vulnerability to the virus and time served. The Taliban have not said if those are among the prisoners referred to in the agreement.

In Italy, where restrictions also will be eased May 4, authorities warned against abandoning social distancing practices as millions return to work. Free masks will be distributed to nursing homes, police, public officials and transportation workers. Workers painted blue circles on Rome's subway platforms to remind people to keep their distance when commuters return. The country continues to have Europe's highest death toll, with 26,384. The 415 deaths registered in the 24-hour period that ended Saturday evening was the lowest toll since Italy registered 345 on March 17, but only five fewer than Friday.

In France, the government prepared to ease one of Europe's strictest lockdowns from May 11. The health minister detailed plans to scale up testing to help contain any new flare-ups. Testing shortages also are a problem in Brazil, Latin America's largest nation, which is veering closer to becoming a pandemic hot spot.

Officials in Rio de Janeiro and four other major cities warned that their hospital systems are on the verge of collapse or already overwhelmed. In Manaus, the biggest city in the Amazon, officials said they have been forced to dig mass graves in a cemetery. A survey from The Associated Press-NORC Center for Public Research Affairs found Americans overwhelmingly support stay-at-home measures and other efforts to prevent the spread of the virus.

Families walk along a boulevard in Barcelona, Spain on Sunday. The Spanish government on Sunday allowed children under the age of 14 years to take walks with a parent for up to one hour and within 1 km from home, even as the country reported its lowest daily death toll in five weeks with 288 patients succumbing to the virus. AP

Italy reports 260 deaths — its lowest daily toll since March 14

REUTERS MILAN, APRIL 26

DEATHS FROM the COVID-19 epidemic in Italy rose by 260 on Sunday, the smallest daily tally since March 14, the Civil Protection Agency said. The number of new infections was the lowest since April 20 at 2,324 from 2,357 on Saturday.

Sunday's death toll was sharply down from 415 on Saturday, to mark the third daily fall in succession.

The total of fatalities since the outbreak came to light on February 21 now stands at 26,644, the agency said, the second highest in the world after that of the United States. The number of confirmed cases was 197,675, the third highest global tally behind those of the United States and Spain. People registered as currently carrying the illness rose to 106,103 from 105,847 on Saturday.

There were 2,009 people in intensive care on Sunday against 2,102 on Saturday, maintaining a long-running decline. Of those originally infected, 64,928 were declared recovered against 63,120 a day earlier.

The agency said 1.187 million people had been tested for the virus against 1.148 million the day before, out of a population of around 60 million

PAKISTAN

Medical body: Mosques becoming major source of virus transmission

SAJJAD HUSSAIN ISI AMABAD APRIL 26

Pakistan's top Islamic medical body has warned that mosques are becoming a major source of transmission for the novel coronavirus and urged people to pray

s decision to allow congrega-THE NEW YORK TIMES tional prayers during the month of Ramzan amid the deadly NEW YORK, APRIL 26 coronavirus outbreak.

The Pakistan government early this month succumbed to pressure from the hardline clerics and allowed conditional congregational pravers in mosques

WUHAN, THE original epicenter of the pandemic in China, now has no coronavirus patients in its hospitals, a government official said on Sunday

tropolis of 11 million, was the first to experience total lockdown and road bans. Officials reported 46,452 total infections

and 3.869 deaths from Wuhan

in a tally published Sunday,

Once debilitated by the virus,

On Friday, health officials said

Officials said that as of Saturday

the city still had 12 coronavirus carry out the demands of the central government in continuing to guard against transmissions from the outside and rebounds from within," Mi Feng, the spokesman for China's National Health

new coronavirus cases in the mainland for the previous day.

The latest official tally recorded a

China on Sunday reported 11

Commission, said on Sunday.

"As our next step, we will cases, but no new infections.

Boris Johnson

set to return to work today

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnson's office said he would be back at his desk in 10 from a London hospital. Foreign Britain has recorded more than 20,000 deaths among people hospitalized with COVID-19,

the fifth country in the world to

Johnson, 55, spent a week at reach that total

Larry the cat at 10 Downing Street, the British Prime Minister's official residence and office, on Sunday. Reuters

No more hospitalised

coronavirus

Wuhan: China

patients in

SOUTH KOREA Only 10 new coronavirus cases reported

Seoul: South Korea has confirmed 10 more cases of the coronavirus over the past 24 hours, a continuation of the country's slowing caseload. The additional cases reported Sunday marks the ninth day in a row that South Korea's daily increase came below 20. The state-run Korea Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said the additionally reported cases brought the country's total to 10,728 with 242 deaths. It said 8.717 patients have recovered and been released from quarantine. AP

A group of protesters called 'Open Texas' rally outside the City Hall in Frisco, demanding that businesses, places of work and religious services be reopened in the US state. Reuters

Trump says briefings not worth his time after disinfectant gaffe

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE WASHINGTON, APRIL 26

US PRESIDENT Donald Trump tweeted that his daily coronavirus briefings were not worth his time, two days after sparking a furore by suggesting patients might be injected with disinfectant to kill an infection.

He appeared to confirm media reports that he was considering halting the briefings out of frustration with questions about his handling of the COVID-19 pandemic

"What is the purpose of having White House News Conferences when the Yadav from the hotel Saturday.

opposed to Oli.

Lamestream Media asks nothing but hostile questions, & then refuses to report the truth or facts accurately," Trump wrote.

"They get record ratings, & the American people get nothing but Fake News. Not worth the time & effort!" On Thursday the US leader stunned viewers by saving doctors might treat people infected with the coronavirus by shining ultraviolet light inside their bodies, or with injections of household disinfectant. "Then I see the disinfectant, where it knocks (the virus) out in a minute. One minute. And is there a way we can do something like that, by injection inside or almost a cleaning? Because you see it gets in the lungs and it does a tremendous number on the lungs," he said.

After a strong rebuff of his suggestion by experts and disinfectant manufacturers, Trump Friday claimed he was speaking "sarcastically". But he limited that day's briefing to just 19 minutes, and did not take any questions from reporters. On Saturday, after 50 briefings over two months, the White House did not hold one at all. Trump has used the briefings to occupy television screens and promote his administration's policies, fend off critics and attack political rivals – from opposition Democrats to China to the US media.

at home during Ramzan, as the COVID-19 cases in the country rose to 13,105 on Sunday.

"Mosques are becoming a maior source of virus transmission," Pakistan Islamic Medical Association (PIMA) president Dr Iftikhar Burney said on Saturday. Talking to reporters, Burney said that the infected cases have surged rapidly during the past week.

"Around 6,000 cases for coronavirus surfaced in a month..but the same has doubled in the last six days," he said, warning that the infection would further go up in the coming months of May and June.

He said the number of patients in the intensive care units (ICUs) of the public hospitals is increasing at a shocking rate. "Most of the hospitals in the country are housing more coronavirus patients that those suffering from other diseases," he told reporters. His remarks comes days after Pakistan's top doctors warned of "significant mayhem" and "fatal outcomes" if mosques continue to remain open and urged the government to review

The city, an industrial meduring Ramzan.

However, the 20-point agreement signed by the leading clerics with President Arif Alvi on restricting access to mosques during Ramzan was not being followed completely.

Alvi has written a letter to the though critics believe the actual Imams of mosques urging them figures to be higher. to ask worshippers above the age of 50 to pray at home. He Wuhan has been showing signs pointed out that the point numof recovery and each milestone ber six of the standard operating has been celebrated. procedures (SOPs) set in the agreement said that persons that only one patient had a severe case of the virus in Wuhan.

over the age of 50 should avoid offering prayers at the mosque. Alvi also visited mosques in Rawalpindi to review arrangements made by the administration of mosques to contain the spread of the virus, he tweeted. Advisor on Health Dr Zafar Mirza also took to Twitter and again urged the "citizens to demonstrate responsibility & avoid congregations during Ramzan to protect themselves from COVID-19".

However, the government was still reluctant to close down the mosques due to fear of backlash by the hardline clerics. PTI total of 82,827 confirmed cases, including 4,632 deaths. S Arabia ends death penalty for minors

Nepal ex-PM, 4 MPs accuse Oli's associates of abducting party leader

YUBARAJ GHIMIRE KATHMANDU. APRIL 26

A FORMER Nepal Prime Minister and a group of parliamentarians on Sunday demanded that three associates of current PM K P Sharma Oli be tried for the abduction of their party leader.

Baburam Bhattarai and four parliamentarians of the Samajbadi Party, Nepal (SPN) have lodged a case, alleging that Mahesh Basnet and Kishan Shrestha – MPs of the ruling Communist Party of Nepal (CPN) as well as former police chief

Nepal PM KP Sharma

Sarvendra Khanal had abducted SPN leader Surendra Yadav, claiming that the move was at the instructions of Oli in order to secure two-thirds majority in Parliament. The three had admitted that they brought Yadav from Janakpur to Kathmandu in their vehicle and lodged him in a hotel "with his consent" – Bhattarai followers claimed to have "rescued"

SANGMI CHA I ONDON APRIL 26

The case has been filed at a NORTH KOREA has never announced who would follow leader Kim long Un in the event he is incapacitated, and with no details known about his young children, analysts say his sister and loyalists could form a re-Oli has failed to lead the party gency until a successor is old and the government effectively South Korean and Chinese and we must collectively find a officials have publicly cast doubt on reports that Kim was gravely ill following a cardiovascular procedure, after his absence from a key state anniversary event on April 15 triggered spec-

The following are key figures in the North Korean leadership.

KIM YO IONG

Kim's younger sister has been the most visible presence around the leader in the past two years, serving formally as a vice director of the ruling Workers' Party's powerful Central Committee but unofficially as her brother's chief of staff.

The leader's sister, believed to be 31, has a firm control of key party functions, setting herself to be the main source of power behind a collective leadership.

PARTY ELDERS

Choe Ryong Hae rose to be North Korea's nominal head of state last year as president of the Presidium of the Supreme People's Assembly. This capped decades of service with the party for the ruling Kim family. Choe and Pak Pong Ju, a fellow politburo member who oversaw the figureheads leading a collective leadership, analysts say.

ESTRANGED BROTHERS,

AUNT

the North's push to introduce more free-market functions to revive its economy, are likely to be deputy ambassador in London, who defected to the South. Kim Kyong Hui was once a powerful figure in the leadership circle when her brother Kim Jong Il ruled the country. But she has not been seen since her husband, Jang Song Thaek, was executed in 2013 by Kim Jong Un.

FOURTH GENERATION

Kim Jong Un is believed to have three children with Ri Sol Ju, according to the South's National Intelligence Service.

Kim Jong Chol is the leader's The oldest is a 10-year-old son, older brother but has not been meaning any of the three would part of the country's leadership, need the assistance of relatives or political guardians if they were to instead leading a quiet life playing music, according to Thae become a fourth-generation REUTERS hereditary leader.

minors, according to a statement Sunday by a top official. The decision comes on the heels of another ordering judges to end the practice of flogging, and bringing one of the kingdom's most controversial forms

Dubai: Saudi Arabia's King Salman

has ordered an end to the death penalty for crimes committed by of public punishment to a close. King Salman's son and heir. Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman, is seen as the force behind the kingdom's loosening of restrictions and its pivot away from ultraconservative interpretations of Wahhabism. AP

Yong Ho, North Korea's former

New Delhi

time when dissidents within the ruling CPN have been lobbying for a meeting of the standing committee of the party to find a replacement for Oli at the earliest. "We are of the opinion that enough to take over.

way out" Raghuji Pant, a member of the standing committee, told The Indian Express. Around two-thirds of the 45-member committee, which has five nonvoting members, are said to be ulation about his health.

OTHER TOP GLOBAL STORIES Succession question: who could replace Kim?

The report also proposed measures for providing relief to taxpayers to boost consumption, including deferring tax payment

For MSMEs, the report sug-

THE INDIAN EXPRESS, MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020 11 ECONOMY

MARKET WATCH FPIS PULL OUT ₹10.3K CR IN APRIL

New Delhi: Between April 1 and 24, foreign portfolio investors (FPI) pulled out a net sum of Rs 6,822 crore from equities and Rs 3,525 crore from the debt segment, depositories data showed. The total net outflow stood at Rs 10,347 crore. PTI

HOWEVER, FOR FY20, TOTAL PREMIUM INCOME RISES TO ₹2,58,896 CRORE Amid lockdown, life insurers see 32% decline in new premium income in March

a long term investment and we continue to encourage customers to stay invested in their policies and prepare slowly for their life goals, as the environment changes

around us," said Tarun Chugh, MD

& CEO, Bajaj Allianz Life Insurance.

lated disruptions to continue for the next quarter, with an increase in demand for protection prod-

data have not been officially re-

market research agency Refinitiv,

India imported 20.3 MT of crude in the month - the highest monthly import volume since

October 2019. Purchases continued at a brisk pace in April too.

The monthly average imports in April-February FY20 was 18.8 MT.

Refinitiv said Indian "refiners

Insurers expect COVID-19-re-

GEORGE MATHEW MUMBALAPRIL 26

LIFE INSURANCE companies have reported a 32 per cent decline in new premium income in the month of March, as the business was practically shut for crucial parts of the month in the wake of the lockdown imposed by the government to tackle coronavirus. With the lockdown continuing in April, insurers have now started focussing on online business.

The overall premium income (new business) of 24 players in the segment fell to Rs 25.409 crore this March from Rs 37,459 crore a year ago, as per data released by the Life Insurance Council.

Life Insurance Corporation (LIC), the largest player in the business, witnessed a 31.11 per cent fall in the premium income to Rs 17.066 crore in March from Rs 24,776 crore in the same month last year. HDFC Life Insurance's

BRIEFLY —

Union Bank to lower stake in

IndiaFirst Life

EXPLAINED

Focus now to be online biz

AS COVID-19-RELATED disruptions, especially the lockdown, are expected to continue in the months ahead, insurers are looking for ways to overcome the hurdles to their business. One of the approaches is encouraging customers to various product categories online.

premium income declined from Rs 2,551 crore to Rs 2,060 crore during the month, while that of crore from Rs 1,451 crore. However, for the full fiscal 2019-20, total premium income (new business) of the industry

ICICI Prudential Life fell to Rs 983 ucts over the next few months providing some support. Two significant changes are currently underway. "Face-to-face advisory, until recently, was the rose to Rs 2.58.896 crore from Rs preferred mode of communica-2.14.672 crore last financial year. tion and customers were reluc-LIC's premium income increased tant to buy products other than to Rs 1,77,977 crore in 2019-20 protection plans online. Now, with from Rs 1,42,191 crore in FY19. physical proximity posing a chal-"March, which typically is the lenge, digital has become way of key month for insurers, turned out life. Customers have been comto be tougher as the world went pelled to experiment with online into lockdown mode. This implatforms," said Anup Seth, chief pacted the industry growth, as it retail officer, Edelweiss Tokio Life also got busy with realigning to Insurance He further said, "Keeping pace the new normal. Life insurance is with this, insurers are now looking to ramp up efforts in digitising advisory to encourage customers to buy other product categories such as health, investment and savings, online.'

"We are already seeing signs of increased customer interest in insurance as a category, with a 30 per cent jump in March in online new business logins from February. The online channel accounts for nearly 12 per cent of total business. During the year, we were also making efforts to scale up digital onboarding. Post-lockdown, we are at 100 per cent digital onboarding now and are focused on retaining this level," Seth added. "The interest level in searching online has certainly gone up as people have more time and they are constantly on their phone. However, this is yet to convert into a substantial channel for garnering new business," said Roopam Asthana, chief executive officer & whole time director, Liberty General Insurance.

Online transactions for renewal with online payments have certainly gone up substantially as the option of paying by cash or cheque is not available today.

"The real test will be to see how much of this behaviour sticks once the lockdown is lifted and people are able to travel and meet." Asthana said

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

A HIKE in income tax rate to 40 per cent for those earning an annual income of over Rs 1 crore for a limited time period, the levy of a COVID-19 cess of 4 per cent on taxable income over Rs 10 lakh, a re-introduction of wealth tax for individuals with net wealth of Rs 5 crore are some of the suggestions included in a report titled 'Fiscal Options & Response to COVID-19 Epidemic' prepared by Indian Revenue Services (IRS) officials

Later in day, Finance Ministry officials claimed the report by "some IRS officials" was "ill-conceived", and its circulation to the media through the IRS Association Twitter handle and website was "an irresponsible act of few officers" who will be asked to explain their "miscon-

This was followed up with an official statement by the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) stating that it never asked the Association to prepare such a report and "necessary inquiry'

Among other measures, the report suggested bringing back inheritance tax to reduce concentration of wealth, widen tax base and enhance revenue. The report has been prepared by a group of 50 young IRS officials, with the senior-most official in the group being from the 2014

'ILL-CONCEIVED'

for those who have lost jobs, allowing additional deduction from taxable income under Section 80C for interest payment on house or automobile purchase. gested that cash transaction limit be restored to Rs 20,000 from Rs 10,000 currently. Tax au-

Finance Ministry officials claimed the report by "some IRS officials" was "ill-conceived", and its circulation to the media through the IRS Association Twitter handle and website was "an irresponsible act of few officers adding that the 40 per cent rate could be for a limited period and its proceeds can be utilised for specific projects.

Calling the "corona economy" as "largely a digital/online/e-commerce economy", it also proposed that equalisation levy, or 'Google tax', should be raised by 1 per cent to 7 per cent for ad services and 3 per cent from 2 per cent for e-commerce to raise revenue from online services which have seen increased consumption during the

It also said a 4 per cent cess on income above Rs 10 lakh per annum would help mobilise Rs 15,000-18,000 crore. Gross tax revenue is targeted to increase by 12 per cent to Rs 24.2 lakh crore for the current 2020-21 fiscal, but direct tax revenues will be impacted due to slowdown in economy coupled with impact record high

The Finance Ministry had on April 8 said that to provide relief during COVID-19, it has been de-

Oil reserves get a leg-up since March on falling crude prices, yet FY20 import bill could shrink

ANUPAM CHATTERJEE NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

New Delhi: Union Bank of India, which received 30 per cent stake in insurance joint venture IndiaFirst Life Insurance by virtue of the mega bank consolidation exercise of the government, plans to pare its holding to less than 10 per cent, MD and CEO ported in FY19.

China eases export curbs on some products

Rajkiran Rai G said. PTI

Beijing: China is dropping a requirement that a number of key virus care products get domestic regulatory approval before export, as long as they are approved in the importing countries, the commerce ministry said on Saturday. China had been stipulating such extra approval at home since the end of March after several European countries com-

INDIA HAS ramped up its strategic oil reserves since mid-March in view of the slump in crude prices and hopes to fill it to the brim by May-end. Yet, the country's oil import bill in FY20 could be just a little over $100 billion, much lower than $111.9 billion re-

Against the projected $111.3 billion (233 million tonne) for FY20, India imported just $95.5 billion (207 million tonne) of crude oil in April-February of the fiscal, which was even 7.2 per cent lower than in the year-ago period

'Movement of raw material, workers hurdles in resuming ops'

Supply chain movement, permits for enterprises and passes for workers are key hurdles for industry to restart operations, a Confederation of Indian Industry survey said

The country's oil import bill in FY20 could be just a little over $100 billion, much lower than $111.9 billion reported in FY19

the extra Middle Eastern (West Asian) barrels"

India's crude import bill may decline by 57 per cent to $43 billion in FY21 if the Indian basket price remains subdued at around $25 a barrel through the current fiscal year, in what could give a big relief to the country's current account. The price of the Indian an average of $64 a barrel in January, is now around $20.

currently there is very low demand for petroleum products the coronavirus outbreak, Indian

Meanwhile, domestic consumption of petroleum products in FY20 remained flat at 213.7 MT as sales of transportation fuels plummeted in March amid the country-wide lockdown. FE

FACILITATERESTARTOF

permits smoothly delayed or not available

Enterprises that said

transportation of employees

Enterprises where employee

Enterprises where employee

strength is below 25 per cent

strength is more than half

66%

an issue

58%

<10%

Surveyed enterprises, in sectors that are currently functioning, that received

Indian basket has fallen 39 per cent month-on-month in March to $33.36 a barrel. Even though refiners have picked up more than usual quantities of crude from global markets, apparently to fill up the storage caverns.

crude oil basket, which stood at

CBIC clears ₹10.7K-cr of GST, customs duty refunds in 16 days

PRESSTRUSTOFINDIA NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

pandemic.

were among the first to cash in on (6.6 per cent lower in rupee term). Though the March import the low-price environment", and were "among the first to pick up leased yet, according to global oil

PREPARED BY A GROUP OF 50 YOUNG IRS OFFICIALS

Report by IRS officers seeks tax hikes for tackling pandemic, Finmin says 'irresponsible act'

REPORT WAS

Among other measures, the 'Fiscal Options & Response to COVID-19 Epidemic' report suggested bringing back inheritance tax to reduce concentration of wealth, widen tax base and enhance revenue

dits for businesses below Rs 10 crore turnover be exempted for the ongoing financial year from the current threshold of Rs 1 crore, it said. The report also called for rationalisation of advance tax schedule to mandate a payment of only 25 per cent of total taxes till September 2020 without payment of interest. At present. 45 per cent advance tax is required to be deposited by

September 15. The IRS Association said the CBDT had sought inputs from field formations across the country on economic revival. It sent the report to CBDT "for consideration", the IRS officers' body said, adding that it proposes to submit its report to the Finance Minister also. Later, in a tweet, it said the report "does not purport to represent the official views of the entire IRS, or the IT Dept."

Finance Ministry sources said it is prima facie an act of indiscipline and violation of conduct rules which specifically prohibit officers to go to the media with their personal views on official matters without taking prior permission. "No permission was sought by the officers before going public with their personal views and suggestions on official matters, which is a violation of extant Conduct Rules. Necessary inquiry is being initiated in this matter," the official statement by

CBDT said. India's holding of US govt securities hits owing to the lockdown to contain batch.

>40%

either not provided or delayed

Source: CII/PTI

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA NEW DELHI, APRIL 26

duct".

would be conducted.

"Most high-income earners still have the luxury of working from home, and the wealthy can fall back upon their wealth to cope with the temporary shock. In view of several European economists, taxing the wealthy would be the most "progressive fiscal tool", as wealth is far more concentrated than income and consumption." the report said. of COVID-19. it added.

plained that Chinese-made test kits were inaccurate, in effect hampering many firms' efforts to supply global efforts against the coronavirus pandemic. The new ruling applies to products such as coronavirus tests, medical masks, protective suits, infrared thermometers and ventilators. Products with overseas approval or registration, after relevant verification by a trade group authorized by the commerce ministry, will be allowed for export, Li Xinqian, an official at China's commerce ministry, said on Sunday. REUTERS

15%: Respondents who said movement of inputs and finished goods is timely

ECONOMIC ACTIVITIES:

SUGGESTIONS TO

Surveyed enterprises, in sectors allowed to function that said that permits are

Businesses be allowed to function without requirement of permits and only through intimation to local authorities in non-containment

Workers be permitted to commute on basis of a letter issued by employer organisation, with the facility to travel on their own vehicles

42%

46%

Respondents who said passes for employees for movement are

39%: Respondents who are experiencing delays movement of inputs and finished goods

23%; Enterprises which said inputs are not available to them at all

THE CENTRAL Board of Indirect Taxes (CBIC) has cleared over Rs between workplace and home is 10,700 crore worth refunds in Goods and Services Tax and customs duty between April 8 and 23.

In the 'Special Refund and Drawback Disposal Drive', the CBIC officers have cleared over 1.07 lakh GST and IGST refund claims worth Rs 9.818.12 crore.

Over 1.86 lakh customs and duty drawback refund was processed totalling Rs 915.56 crore, the CBIC said in a tweet. "CBIC is committed to help GST Taxpayers/Exim Trade during #COVID19. Expeditious sanction of refunds during Special Refund Drive provide relief to trade, especially MSMEs," it said.

cided to issue all pending GST and custom refunds which would benefit around 1 lakh business entities, including MSMEs.

The CBIC had earlier asked its field officers to avoid asking for physical submission of documents from entities who are claiming GST and customs refunds and instead use official email for all communication. It had said the decision to process pending refund claims has been taken with a view to provide immediate relief to taxpayers in these difficult times even though the GST Law provides 15 days for issuing acknowledgement or deficiency memo and total 60 days for disposing off refund claims without Continuing to increase its exposure, India's holding of US government securities jumped by over $13 billion in a month to record high of $177.5 billion at the end of February.

In the last one year since February 2019, the overall holding of India has jumped by a staggering $33.2 billion.

Latest data from the United States Treasury Department showed that the amount of securities owned by India has also gone up by the maximum quantum in a span of one month, at a time when the country slowly increasing the level since November last year when it stood at $159.2 billion.

FROM PAGE ONE Pressure on MFs: Finmin takes note of Franklin, in talks with SEBI and RBI

window to ease the redemption pressure.

The finance ministry and SEBI did not respond to queries sent by The Indian Express. Sources in the MF industry indicated that the Reserve Bank may have to consider direct purchases of nongovernment securities.

It could be either through a dedicated liquidity window or through the creation of a special purpose vehicle to house some of these non-debt securities which have become illiquid in the near term, but could command full value at redemption.

When the IL&FS fiasco hit the financial sector two years ago, the central bank had opposed a Finance Ministry proposal to open a special liquidity window for NBFCs.

During the 2008 global financial crisis though, the RBI had announced a 14-day special repofacility to provide liquidity for the non-banking financial sector. This time around, the challenges are more systemic and can have wider ramifications, a mutual fund industry veteran who is interacting with regulators said.

many NBFCs.

to support the financial sector,"

the industry veteran said. geted long term repo operations

(T-LTRO) conducted by the central bank, indicating their reluctance to bail out troubled NBFCs

and micro-finance institutions

The liquidity issue is affecting not just the mutual funds, but also

The RBI's approach of persuading banks to subscribe to these non-government debt papers does not seem to be working. "Central banks across the world are doing asset purchases

Last week, banks largely ignored the Rs 25,000-crore tar-

(MFIs). Of the Rs 25,000 crore RBI put on the T-LTRO window

Thursday, banks took only Rs 12,850 crore (three-year tenor). The RBI offers T-LTRO funds at the repo rate of 4.4 per cent.

Mutual fund sources said there are indications of redemption pressure in the debt segment. Last week, the net asset values (NAVs) of three BOI AXA debt schemes fell up to 50 per cent after the fund house said it would markdown its exposure in select debt securities in its portfolio.

Franklin Templeton's fund of funds (FoFs) schemes, which invest in other mutual fund schemes lost up to 25 per cent in NAV. These FoFs have exposure to Franklin Templeton's six credit schemes which were wound up due to heavy redemption pressure.

US economy expected to bounce back later this summer: Mnuchin

LALIT K JHA WASHINGTON, APRIL 26

US TREASURY Secretary Steven Mnuchin said on Sunday that the American economy hit hard by the COVID-19 pandemic is expected to bounce back later this summer as States begin to open up their businesses in May and June. "As we begin to reopen the economy in May and June, you're going to see the economy really bounce back in July, August, September," Mnuchin told Fox News in an interview.

He said the Trump Administration has put together an unprecedented amount of fiscal relief into the economy.

"You're seeing trillions of dollars that's making its way into the economy and I think this is going to have a significant impact," he said.

As a result of the coronavirus pandemic, which has claimed more than 54,000 American lives in the last two months and

16% joblessness possible, says

Trump adviser

Washington: The shuttering of the US economy due to the pandemic is a shock of historic proportions that likely will push the national unemployment rate to 16 per cent or higher this month and require more stimulus to ensure a strong rebound, a White House economic adviser said on Sunday. "It's a really grave situation," President Donald Trump's adviser Kevin Hassett told the ABC program 'This Week'. REUTERS infected over nine lakh others, the US economy has come to a standstill.

Over 95 per cent of the country's 330 million population are under stay at home order. PTI

'Prolonged lockdown may push millions into margins of subsistence'

any liability to pay interest.

PRESSTRUST OF INDIA HYDERABAD, APRIL 26

A PROLONGED lockdown may possibly push million of Indians into the "margins of subsistence", former RBI Governor Duvvuri Subbarao said on Sunday while expecting a 'V' curved recovery once the COVID-19 crisis ends and the turnaround in India to be faster than some economies.

He was participating in a we binar on "History repeats -but differently-Lessons for the post Corona World," organised by the Manthan Foundation here, in which former Deputy Governor of RBI Usha Thorat took part.

"Because most analysts believe that this year India will actually have negative growth or growth will contract. We must remember that even ahead of the crisis two months ago our growth slowed. Now it has completely stopped.

"Last year growth was five per cent. Just imagine, five per cent growth last year and we are going to negative or zero growth this year, a decline of five per cent

During a webinar, former RBI Governor Duvvuri Subbarao said he expects India's turnaround to be faster than some economies. File growth," he said.

"It is true that India is going to perform in this crisis better than most other countries. But that is no consolation ... Because we are a very poor country and if the crisis persists and if the lockdown is not lifted soon enough, it is quite possible that millions of people will be pushed into the margins of subsistence," he said when asked about his views on the present situation.

Subbarao said that as predicted by analysts, India will have a V shaped recovery which is far better than most of the other countries.

"And why do we expect a 'V' shaped recovery? Because unlike in a cyclone or in an earthquake, this is not a natural disaster constraint. No capital has been destroyed. Factories are standing. Our shops are still standing. Our people are ready to work as soon as the lockdown is lifted. So it is quite possible the recovery will be V shaped and while we have a V shaped recovery, I think India has a better chance then most of the countries," he opined

According to him, India's recovery was faster than many other countries after the 2008 global financial crisis.

Usha Thorat said pumping more liquidity into the system alone cannot work and banks and non-banking finance companies (NBFC) will need credit guarantee or enhancement to start lending. She also said that states need more support during the crisis and streamlining of non-merit subsidies was required.

New Delhi

WWW.INDIANEXPRESS.COM

THE INDIAN EXPRESS, MONDAY, APRIL 27, 2020 12 SPORT

Games before the restart

Premier League wants to get the show back on road but there's a lot to ponder before a ball is kicked

SHAMIK CHAKRABARTY KOLKATA, APRIL 26

ON FRIDAY, when the Dutch Football Association voided its season, there was speculation that it might set the template for other European leagues to follow. Close on its heels, however, news came from England that the Premier League is considering a mid-June return. Maybe, the Premier League has a little too much money riding on it to make its 2019-20 season null and void, notwithstanding a coronavirus death toll in excess of 20,000 in the UK.

According to reports, Premier League clubs discussed season resumption on the June 13-14 weekend after Uefa wrote to all football associations in Europe to finish their respective domestic seasons by July 31. The governing body of European football reportedly wants to keep August free for its own competitions - Champions League and Europa League. Of course, the matches will have to be played behind closed doors and likely at a few select venues. But is a mid-June restart realistically possible?

NHS nod needed

A report in The Guardian says, "While any resumption is being modelled on matches occurring behind closed doors, guiding the decision-making is the overriding principle that the National Health Service's ability to treat those with Covid-19 should not be compromised and that it has to be at ease with the top flight restarting."

A safe return of English top-flight football largely depends on NHS's testing capacity. Mass testing of players, coaching staff, officials, security personnel and reporters has to be made mandatory for every match. And in that case, the NHS, already overloaded with Covid-19 patients, probably will have to set up a separate unit only for football. UK's 4 million NHS staff has been working overtime. So the bottom line is that the Premier League's return, to a great extent, hinges on the NHS's go-ahead.

Boris is game

According to reports, UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson has been briefed about the plans on restarting the Premier League, with matches taking place behind closed doors. The Sun claims that Johnson sees resumption of

If the government clears the resumption of the Premier League, clubs will need at least two weeks of training to make their players match-ready. Reuters live sport as a morale-booster for the nation. The UK is in the middle of an extended lockdown and the government will review it on May 7. But before that, proposals have been laid out for resumption of other sports as well. The Times has reported that a cross-sport group is working with the government with an eye on a return to action.

The Covid-19 situation is evolving and much will depend on how things pan out in the next couple of weeks. If the government clears the resumption of the Premier League, clubs will need at least two weeks of training to make their players match-ready. Arsenal are expected to return to training next week, but group training will not be permitted.

A club spokesperson said: "Players will be permitted access to our London Colney training grounds next week. Access will be limited, carefully managed and social distancing will be maintained at all times. All

Colney buildings remain closed. Players will travel alone, do their individual workout and return home."

Different dynamics

Going back to the Dutch Football Association's decision to void the season, it came in the wake of the Dutch Prime Minister's decision to ban all sporting events until September due to the pandemic. Ajax missed out on the league title, while RKC Waalwijk avoided the drop because there was no promotion or relegation. European qualification was decided on the existing table. Earlier this month, the Belgian Pro League cancelled the rest of its season, declaring Club Brugge champions.

The Premier League, however, has a different dynamic. If the season is voided, clubs collectively will suffer a revenue loss of £1.2 billion. Also, the broadcasters pay the Premier League a shade over £3 billion per season for the ongoing 2019-2022 cycle. If the season is made null and void, the Premier League might have to pay back broadcasters £762 million.

The 'red axis'

Some Premier League club, West Ham United for example, are in favour of voiding the season. The 'Big Six', though - Manchester United, Liverpool, Arsenal, Chelsea, Manchester City and Tottenham Hotspur want to finish the season. To be precise, however, it's the 'red axis' - United, Liverpool and Arsenal - that exercises enormous clout in the running of English football.

United and Liverpool are bitter rivals on the pitch. Their fans fight on the streets and terraces. The equation, however, is a bit different in the boardroom. With nine games remaining, Liverpool are just two wins away from securing the title and the general perception, that the United hierarchy will try to put up roadblocks, is misplaced.

United, Liverpool and Arsenal - the English football royalty - look after each others' interests (administratively) and keep the nouveau riche like City out of the cosy club. Not many moons ago, City chief executive Ferran Soriano learnt it the hard way, when the 'red axis' allegedly exercised its influence to deny him a place on the European high table. More recently, City reportedly discovered that Liverpool had been part of a group of clubs working behind the scenes to try and prevent a stay on the Manchester side's two-year European competition ban. Arsenal, too, were allegedly part of the group. That the Premier League's 'red axis' wants to finish the season is a reason why the authorities are walking the extra mile to restart football.

EFL appears iffy

Contrary to the Premier League, the English Football League (EFL) doesn't seem to be in a hurry to resume the Championship, League One and League Two, as it sticks to its safety-first approach. An EFL statement read: 'Clearly, before any return to football can take place, suitable testing arrangements for participants must be in place and this is core to our current planning, as is ensuring there is absolutely no negative impact on the country's frontline workers, the emergency services, league and club staff members.'

Getting up from the canvas

TAJIKISTAN SUSPENDS FOOTBALL One of the few football leagues in the world still playing will be suspended next week after authorities in Tajikistan ruled to temporarily ban sports events over coronavirus concerns. The Tajik football federation said that matches would go ahead on Sunday before a suspension until at least May 10.

Live sport has virtually disappeared due to the pandemic, but a few leagues and events are taking their first tentative steps back

NBA LOOKS TO REBOUND

The arrival of the coronavirus pandemic in the United States was well and truly sounded off when Utah Jazz centre Rudy Gobert contracted the Covid-19 strain. The French 7'1 NBA back-to-back defensive player of the year was seen jokingly touching phones and recorders in a press conference days before his diagnosis the casual gesture bringing home the perils of taking the virus lightly.

The cancellation of NBA games was the start of American sports pulling their shutters down but now the basketball league is planning a slow return to the courts. According to ESPN NBA reporter Adrian Wojnarowski, beginning this Friday, NBA teams will start to reopen practice facilities for players residing in states that have loos ened lockdown restrictions.

In states like Georgia, players can resume individual workouts but teams remain prohibited from holding group workouts or organised team activities of any sort.

Wojnarowski also reported that in American states where restrictions were tighter, the NBA was looking for means to get players back on the court, even if in an individual training capacity. But training aside, the report made it clear that the opening of practice courts in certain states wasn't reflective of the NBA's timetable for resumption of play.

UFC TO HOST FIGHTS

After including the World Wrestling Entertainment (WWE) as an essential service and thus open for business in Florida, the state has now allowed the Ultimate Fighting Championship (UFC) to hold UFC 249 at the Vystar Veterans Memorial Arena in Jacksonville on May 9. The event was set to take place on April 18 in Brooklyn and was one of the last professionally-run sports across the world that was going to continue despite the advent of the pandemic.

However, ESPN, their streaming partners, shut any chance of the event taking place in April and pulled the plug on the card. The UFC, on its website, has stated that the May 9 event will be streamed live on ESPN and ESPN+.

Not only this, the UFC has also decided to stage two more events on May 13 and

Close to two months after Utah Jazz centre Rudy Gobert's diagnosis shut down NBA, the basketball league is looking to get players back on court.

May 16 in Florida. All three events will be closed to the public and will be broadcast with only essential personnel in the arena.

"Sports play an important role in people's lives and can bring moments of escape in challenging times," ESPN said in a statement. "We look forward to bringing UFC to fans again."

BOXING ON IN NICARAGUA

A boxing event was held in Managua, Nicaragua on Saturday night by promoter Rosendo Alvarez – a former two-time world champion. However, even with the offer of free tickets for the eight-fight event, the 8000-seater arena was only about a tenth full. "Here we don't fear the coronavirus, and there is no quarantine. The three deaths (reported so far by the Ministry of Health) came from outside and nobody within the country has been contaminated," Álvarez, known as 'El Búfalo,' said before the event. The fights were broadcast by Nicaragua's state-owned Canal 6 and ESPN Latin America through its ESPN KnockOut programme, according to the Associated Press. The Nicaraguan baseball and football leagues are still playing, and Saturday's local sports pages included stories on a triathlon and school wrestling tournaments. President Daniel Ortega recently ordered 1.8 million students back to school and 170.000 state employees back to work following a 15-day SHASHANK NAIR vacation

Helpful aspects from the Moon indicate that in the ideal world you'd be able to take the day off. Realistically the best you can do is try to infuse all routine affairs with a little of your unique creative flare. It's OK to repay favours, but don't let anyone exploit you.

BY PETER VIDAL

SCORPIO (Oct 24 - Nov 23)

- 14 Demon drink?(6)
- 16 A mouth organ (6)
- 18 Score but two(8)
- 19 The lowest sort of people, but always found at the top
- (4)22 Coach some coaches
- (5) 23 A race between two Poles
- and an Arab(7)
- 24 Note painter making an entrance(11)

Solutions Crossword 4101: Across: 1 Penned, 4 Clearing, 9 Llamas, 10 Cross-cut, 12 Sash, 13 Inter, 14 Emma, 17 Firm proposal, 20 Holds the line, 23 Airy, 24 Decoy, 25 Felt, 28 Inwardly, 29 Morose, 30 Sunbathe, 31 Sleepy. Down: 1 Pulls off, 2 Noah's ark, 3 Edam, 5 Large portion, 6 Also, 7 Income, 8 Get fat, 11 Untold wealth, 15 Spool, 16 Wages, 18 Tiresome, 19 Leathery, 21 Varies, 22 Draw in, 26 Area, 27 Foil.

The opposite of having night

The extent to which diets can vision?(11)

Answer: When a dog runs at you, whistle for him - Thoreah

SOLUTION: EERIE, STASH, NUZZLE, WHOOSH

vary(8)

13

2

5

MARVIN by Tom Armstrong

THE PEDIATRICIAN SAID MARVIN

YOUTH SPORT LEAGUES

HI, I'D

196582347 4 3 7 6 9 1 691 5 2 8 164275 973814 258936 1 8 745 2 4 5 8 1 9 7 6 3 871326459

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) You should soon come to realise just how fortunate you are but not this week! Your principle planetary pattern keeps your feelings on a knife edge, but then you're used to performing emotional high-wire acts. You might even teach the rest of us a thing or two about handling relationships

LEO (July 24 - Aug 23)

0

Some kind of a financial commitment will have to be made soon, but it looks as if you have about three days' grace. Today you'd probably do better to focus on personal relationships, making sure that partners are on your side. Are you forgetting something - or someone? It might do you good to get in touch.

VIRGO (Aug 24 - Sep 23)

If you need proof of other people's unreliability, you can try a number of steps. First, try to make them reach firm agreements and, second, persuade them to fulfil their promises. The message of the moment is therefore not to push partners too far, at least not if you want to hang on to their goodwill.

Family affairs dominate your daily cycles, so will doubtless require extra attention, but what is very much more important is that you now burn up the brain cells, concentrating intensely on unresolved questions, gathering all the material you need to make the right decisions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 24 - Dec 22)

Sometimes everything seems so straightforward; you may even have come to imagine that you know what's going on. Well, think again! Yet what seems like a cast-iron truth this week might look like complete nonsense next week, so tread cautiously.

CAPRICORN (Dec 23 - Jan 20) Some kind of alteration in the working pattern of vour life is inevitable within the next few months. The pressure in this particular cvcle is building up now, and one of your major motives should be monetary reward. Perhaps it's time that you're paid what you're owed.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21- Feb 19)

You can afford to feel hopeful about the outcome of all events, both great and small. You must expect a few mood swings, though, and you'll have to try to match your feelings with your jobs and tasks throughout the day. If you succeed then you should allow yourself to feel a little smug.

PISCES (Feb 20 - Mar 20) Today's benevolent

Moon makes for a pleasant start to your week, encouraging the more outgoing and original elements in your character. It is therefore time to break free and take your chances. If you're planning ahead then put your financial commitments under the microscope.

Vol LXXXVIII No. 144 Regd.No. DL-21046/03-05

8

HE NEEDS A SPORT

R.N.I. No.506/57. Printed and Published by R.C. Malhotra on behalf of The Indian Express (P) Limited at The The Indian Express (P) Limited, Mezzanine Floor, Express Building, 9 & 10, Bahadur Shah Zafar Marg, New Delhi-110002. Phone: 0120-6651500. Advertising office: The Indian Express (P) Limited, B1/B, Sector - 10, Noida - 201301. Phone: 0120-6651291. Chairman of the Board: Viveck Goenka, Chief Editor: Raj Kamal Jha, Editor: Unni Rajen Shanker, Editor (Delhi): Rakesh Sinha   Responsible for selection of News under the PRB Act. Copyright: The Indian Express (P) Limited. All rights reserved. Reproduction in any manner, electronic or otherwise, in whole or in part, without prior written permission is prohibited. The Indian Express (P) Limited. All rights reserved. Reproduction in any manner, electronic or otherwise, in whole or in part, without prior written permission is prohibited. The Indian Express (P) Limited.

EEEIR

AHSST

5s = Very Hard; 6s =

Genius

New Delhi

