50,000 & still counting: liquidity pushes markets, all eyes on Budget now

SANDEEP SINGH & GEORGE MATHEW
NEW DELHI, MUMBAI, JANUARY 21

THE BENCHMARK Sensex Thursday breached the 50,000-mark for the first time before retreating to close at 49,624, a fall of 167 points or 0.34 per cent over Wednesday's closing.

The rise and rise of markets over the last few months has been driven by a combination of external factors: global liquidity, vaccine hopes, US election outcome, alongside the growing strength in the domestic recovery. But market experts said that the factors shaping its future momentum will be the nature of the government's spending programme to be unveiled in the

DEVENDRA PANDEY
MUMBAI, JANUARY 21

CITING THE "growing physical demands of international cricket", the Indian cricket board has introduced mandatory 2-km time trials to measure speed and endurance levels in its training programme for top players, The Indian Express has learnt.

It will now be mandatory for the BCCI's contracted players and those vying for a place in the Indian team to clear this trial, apart from the yo-yo test, to be picked in the squad.

Pause or repeal: Govt may have to go back to SC or Parliament

APURVA VISHWANATH & LIZ MATHEW
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

AS FARMERS reject the government's proposal to keep the three contentious farm laws in abeyance for 18 months, experts have raised questions over the legislative options the Government has going forward.

The laws, passed by Parliament in September last year, were notified in the official gazette on September 27 after President Ram Nath Kovind gave his assent. While Parliament can repeal the law, there is no vocabulary in the Constitution or Parliamentary procedure for keeping a law in abeyance.

Farm deadlock; NIA probes Sikhs for Justice; death after vaccine

NEW EPISODE EVERYDAY

Making sense of the latest developments in the farmers' protests; NIA probes Sikhs for Justice; and a Telangana health worker dies a day after vaccine shot.

were virtually split down the middle at a meeting to discuss the Centre's offer.

Sources told The Indian Express that of the 32 unions from Punjab, more than a dozen were in favour of accepting the offer, but the majority vote carried the resolution to reject the offer.

A statement on behalf of the Samyukt Kisan Morcha, the umbrella body of organisations spearheading the protest, released by Darshan Pal of Krantikari Kisan Union, stated: "In a full general body meeting of the Samyukt Kisan Morcha today, the proposal put forth by the Government yesterday was rejected. A full repeal of three central farm acts and enacting a legislation for remunerative MSP for all farmers were reiterated as the pending demands of the movement."

The Morcha, the statement said, "pays homage to the 143 farmers who have been martyred in this movement so far... Their sacrifice will not go in vain and we will not go back without the repealing of these farm laws".

It referred to a meeting with Delhi Police officers earlier in the day and said while police had requested the farmers not to conduct a tractor parade in Delhi on Republic Day, they had reiterated that they intend to go ahead with their plan of a parade on the Outer Ring Road of Delhi.

Maintaining that their protest was becoming a "people's movement... nationwide", the Morcha said farmers were uniting in Karnataka, many parts of Kerala, Chhattisgarh, Bilaspur and Rampur in Uttarakhand. "Farmers, labourers and common people under the leadership of Mazdoor Kisan Shakti Sangathan are reaching Shahjahanpur border. Protests against neo-liberal policies are being conducted through puppets shows and songs," it said.

Ahead of the meeting of the Morcha, the Kisan Ekta Morcha, in a Twitter post, had said "jis kaam ke liye aaye the, usko poora kiye bina wapas nahi jayenge (we will not go back till we complete the work for which we had come)".

Earlier in the day, Delhi Police asked farmer leaders to reconsider the proposed route of the January 26 tractor parade.

Police suggested that the tractor parade be held at the protest sites at Singhu or Tikri or on the Eastern and Western Peripheral Expressways.

Farmer unions said they will not go towards Rajpath, the venue of the Republic Day parade, and will restrict themselves to the Outer Ring Road.

Pause or repeal

a Union Minister said that one option was to issue a notification cancelling the earlier gazette notification.

"We are waiting for the response from the farm unions to decide on our next step," he said. "Once the notification of a law is already done, another notification cancelling that can be issued. It just needs an executive order, it does not have to go to Parliament."

That's easier said than done, said former Secretary General of Lok Sabha, P.D.T. Achary.

"In my view, the law cannot be put in abeyance by the government. Once a law is passed by Parliament...the government is only the implementing authority and it cannot stifle the law," he told The Indian Express.

This is echoed by Subhash Kashyap, another former Secretary General of the Lok Sabha.

"I have not seen such a situation where the government itself wants to keep a law in abeyance after it is given effect," Kashyap said. "Bills have been withdrawn, enforcement of laws has been delayed by not notifying them and laws have been repealed but keeping it in abeyance after the legislative process is over has never happened before."

The government's proposal to keep the laws in abeyance is distinct from the January 12 Supreme Court's stay on the laws when the court, in parallel, constituted a committee to hold talks with all stakeholders. That stay order can be vacated by the court once the committee submits its recommendations, expected in eight weeks.

"Only the Supreme Court has the power to stay a law, not the government. If the government can undo the act of the Parliament by simply backdating a notification, then what is the point of having a Parliament," Achary said.

While the government cannot stay a law, it can delay its implementation before rules are notified.

For example, the Citizenship Amendment Act, passed by both Houses in December 2019 was notified in the official gazette in January 2020. Parliamentary procedure dictates that the rules for the legislation are to be notified within six months from the date of publication in the gazette. However, the government is yet to notify the rules for the law to be implemented.

Similarly, the Benami Transaction (Prohibition) Act, 1988 was not implemented for almost 28 years till the rules were notified in 2016.

However, once the rules are notified, Achary says — as has happened with the farm laws — the only options before the government are to ask the Supreme Court to continue its stay order or take the laws back to Parliament. The Parliament can either amend or repeal the laws.

The Parliament's powers to repeal laws come from Article 245 of the Constitution, the provision which empowers it to make laws.

Laws are repealed when they have served their purpose and have no further reasons for their existence or, in some cases, to remove inconsistencies. Generally, when new laws are enacted, the old law on the subject is repealed through by inserting a specific repealing clause in the new law.

Serum fire

that Serum is manufacturing under licence.

"I would like to reassure all governments and the public that there would be no loss of Covishield production due to multiple production buildings that I had kept in reserve to deal with such contingencies..." Poonawalla said in a tweet before the five bodies were discovered. He subsequently told The Indian Express that he was in a "state of shock" because of the deaths.

All the five dead were doing welding and air-conditioning jobs at the building, which had been completed recently. Two of them were from Uttar Pradesh, and one was from Bihar. The other two workers were local people. None of them was an employee of Serum India.

The lower floors of the building have laboratory facilities for SII's rotavirus and BCG vaccines. The upper floors where the fire broke out were unoccupied. The production units and laboratories for the Covid-19 vaccine are located on another SII campus nearby.

Incidentally, the affected building was part of the facilities that Prime Minister Narendra Modi visited last month, when he came to see Serum's vaccine-making processes.

Fire Brigade and police officers said the fire became big by feeding on inflammable material on the upper floors. "There was a lot of air conditioning material, including insulation material and objects used for fabrication. There were objects made from PVC, acrylic, plastic, plywood, and wood," a Fire Brigade official said.

Maharashtra Chief Minister

Uddhav Thackeray is scheduled to visit the Serum campus on Friday.

The fire began at some time between 1.45 pm and 2.15 pm. At least ten fire tenders, four additional water tankers, and other equipment had to be deployed. More than 70 fire personnel were involved in the operation. Intense smoke could be seen coming out of the building from several kilometres away.

Deputy Commissioner of Police Namrata Patil said an investigation would be ordered to ascertain the cause of the fire.

Migrant worker

Police are still collecting key details of those killed as their families are yet to reach the hospital. All of them were working for Suvidha Engineers, the firm carrying out air-conditioning work at the newly constructed building.

Saroj and his younger brother Avinash were among the nine people on the fourth floor, engaged in welding work and fitting air-conditioners.

"We were doing the work of AC insulation on the fourth floor when we noticed the smoke. Within a few seconds, the smoke became so dense that we were unable to see anything. We ran towards the window, and jumped down to a lower floor. There was debris lying there and we got hurt, but we ran down the steps and out of the building," Avinash said. "I kept shouting for my brother, and we all waited, but Bipin never came."

Exactly one month ago, on December 22, Bipin had come to Pune to work with his brother, who had arrived in the city two months earlier and was able to earn Rs 10,500 a month. The brothers, and Rama Shankar, belong to UP's Pratapgarh district.

Police and fire brigade officials said the fire had become intense because of the presence of inflammable material like PVC, plastic, plywood and acrylic at the site.

The bodies of those killed were taken initially to Noble Hospital and then sent for post mortem to the Sassoon general hospital.

Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar and Police commissioner Amitabh Gupta were among those who visited the hospital. Avinash said some of his family members would reach Pune Friday.

Sisodia seeks aid extension for contract teachers

New Delhi: Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia Thursday wrote to the Union education ministry, requesting continuation of the financial support till March to 2,766 contract teachers whose six-month service period ended on Tuesday. Sisodia referred to contract teachers under Samagra Shiksha — of whom 1,673 served in Delhi government schools and 1,093 served in schools run by the municipal corporations. According to his letter, the salary of these teachers was approved for six months by the Union ministry and their service period ended on January 19. Contract teachers under Samagra Shiksha are paid on a cost-sharing basis between the Centre and state. Urging continuation of financial support at least till March 31, Sisodia wrote, "They not only stayed engaged with their students to keep teaching-learning activities going on with whatever limited resources they had but also assisted the administration in specific Covid-related duties. Having served the needs of society in its most difficult time, it would be unfair and tragic if any of them are now asked to leave their service at this point of time."

6 wanted criminals held

Gurgaon: Gurgaon Police claimed to have cracked around 60 cases registered in Delhi, Gurgaon and Jhajjar with the arrest of six criminals, whose arrest carries a reward of Rs 5,000 each. Officials said the accused have been allegedly involved in several cases, including that of murder, attempt to murder, kidnapping, and dacoity. According to police, the accused were arrested from Dwarka Expressway Wednesday evening. "They were in search of their next victim when they were arrested in Gurgaon," said ACP (Crime) Preet Pal Sangwan. "We have seized two revolvers, a country-made pistol, 28 live cartridges, two magazines, a stick, an iron pipe, and an iron rod, in addition to the Scorpio car in which they were travelling at the time of their arrest," he said.

Four held for theft of cigarettes worth lakhs

Gurgaon: A Faridabad resident who was employed at a cigarette godown in the district until a year ago has been arrested by police for allegedly stealing cigarette packs worth over Rs 7 lakh from the premises over the last month. Police said they arrested three accomplices of the accused as well. According to police, the accused were arrested on January 17 while they were on their way to sell the stolen cigarettes, on the basis of a tip-off. ENS

HC raps Delhi govt, MCDs on salary delay: 'Disgusted, ashamed of you'

'All of you behaving with... no sense of responsibility towards staff, pensioners'

SOFIA IHSAN
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

PULLING UP the Delhi government and MCDs for non-payment of salaries to civic staff, the Delhi High Court Thursday said grievances of employees have been reduced to a "political slugfest". It said there was no real sense of concern or sympathy for the employees in the political establishment of Delhi government or corporations.

"We can't tell you how disgusted we are with all of you. You have absolutely no concern for employees... (As) far as Delhi government is concerned... this problem has arisen because Delhi government is sandwiched between central government and MCD, which belong to the opposite political party. This problem would not have arisen otherwise, pandemic or no pandemic," observed the division bench of Justice Vipin Sanghi and Rekha Palli.

It added that the court does not want to point fingers but, "all of you are behaving completely irresponsibly, with no sense of responsibility towards these employees and pensioners".

The bench ordered the Delhi government to pay back the amount deducted or adjusted by of three months. The North MCD has a much higher amount of unpaid salaries and pensions.

The Delhi government said a sanction order was passed on Wednesday for release of Rs 337 crore to MCDs and other local bodies for the period of January-March 2021 without making any deductions towards the outstanding loan.

During the hearing, the court said it has no doubt the Delhi government was facing a revenue shortfall but questioned the number of advertisements it issued during the pandemic.

"Please take out the publications of advertisements by the Delhi government in newspapers. How much money you have spent on advertisements, we want to know that. Half-page, full-page advertisements, newspaper after newspaper. You have money for all that. We will order an inquiry and ask the CAG to look into this," it observed.

It further said all this was happening because of politics: "When is the election due for the municipality? We can see that it must be round the corner... why all this is happening."

The government counsel submitted that it would have to revisit the initial budget estimates and funds to be released to the corporations, in case it is asked to return the loan amount. To which the court said: "You are not doing any charity. You think you can behave so irresponsibly. We are there to check that."

Observing that it will tell MCD employees to not come for work if they are not paid, the court said: "Let us see how your streets are cleaned and how your hospitals are run. We will put a lock on municipal offices also... We are ashamed of you and your leaders if this is the way you have to behave."

Meanwhile, when the government counsel requested the court to "tone down" an order — in which it said there was a political slugfest between Delhi government and MCDs — Justice Vipin Sanghi observed: "... People are making all kinds of irresponsible statements... all kinds of actions are being taken just for their personal interests and (to) further their political agenda, unmindful of what harm they are causing to society and the people of this country. We have to mature."

He added, "... We have to rise above all this. If this is the way things go, I won't be surprised if politicians and people who indulge in this are lynched by the public at large."

Farmers plan tableaux as thousands expected to join tractor parade

SUKHIBR SIWACH
CHANDIGARH, JANUARY 21

PREPARATIONS FOR the tractor rally on January 26 are in full swing, with more and more farmers from Haryana villages joining the agitation and offering financial aid.

Gurnam Singh Chaduni, who was elected president of the Haryana Sanyukt Kisan Morcha, on Thursday said lakhs of tractors are expected to join the tractor parade from different parts of the country.

Talking about the meeting between farmer leaders and Delhi Police on Wednesday, Chaduni said, "We have made it clear that farmers will undertake a tractor parade on the Outer Ring Road on January 26. We have asked the administration to give permission and also make arrangements by managing traffic and vacating the road... We assured officers that we don't have any plan to interrupt the official Republic Day parade."

Farmers have also planned to set up tableaux on tractor-trolleys during their parade. Chaudhary Joginder Ghansi Ram Nain, a Bhartiya Kisan Union (BKU) leader from Haryana told The Indian Express: "If all goes well, we will display tableaux of all states during the parade."

Daya Ram Ulania, a farmer from Chautala village in Sirsa district, who has been camping at the border for the past two months, said there is great enthusiasm among farmers to join the rally: "The borders of Delhi are already jam packed with several farmers and their tractors."

At Nirban village in Sirsa district, farmers have started a registration system for those willing to join the parade. A villager said, "Out of a total of 239 tractors, owners of 100 tractors have already given their consent to join the tractor parade in Delhi — which is 239 km away."

Kandela khap leader Tek Ram Kandela said a cavalcade of 1,000 tractors will move to Delhi from Jind district on January 24.

Meanwhile, at Tikri border, protesters held nagar kirtans and tractor rally rehearsals. A group of 50-60 ex-servicemen also joined the protesters and marched from the stage in support of the farmers. Gurdeep Singh (60), who served in the Indian Army and lives in Punjab, told The Indian Express: "I received a call from my friend who was at Tikri border inviting me here. I am happy that I will march with farmers on Republic Day. I have attended a lot of parades in Delhi but this will be different. The idea is to replicate what's happening in Delhi..."

Farmers also held a nagar kirtan on Wednesday and paid tributes to Guru Gobind Singh and those who lost their lives during the agitation.

Walk-in boost for vaccinations in Delhi

ANANYA TIWARI
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

WITH THE Centre tweaking the Co-Win app to allow walk-in vaccinations in a bid to boost figures, some hospitals across the city saw a better response on Thursday. On day 4 of the Covid vaccination drive at 181 sites, 5,942 people received the shot — up from 4,319 on Saturday, 3,598 on Monday and 4,936 on Tuesday — while 24 AEFI (adverse event following immunisation) were reported.

AIIMS saw 62 workers getting the shot, a slight increase from Tuesday's 55. RML and Safdarjung saw 35 and 34 vaccinations respectively, as compared to 27 and 30 on Tuesday.

One of the hospitals that hit the target of 100 vaccinations a day was Delhi government's Lok Nayak Hospital — it saw 32 vaccinations on Saturday, 12 on Monday and 35 on Tuesday.

Dr Amit Gupta, nodal officer at Lok Nayak, said: "By around 2.45 pm, we had already hit our target of vaccinating 100 people. Those who are coming are not necessarily on the list; with this new feature, any MCD hospital or dispensary staff — as long as they are registered — can come and get vaccinated, provided there are available slots. The app allows only 100 people to be vaccinated a day." There are more than 3,000 staff and healthcare workers at the hospital, he said.

What has changed

A drop box has been introduced in the Co-Win app to add a beneficiary, so anyone who is a registered healthcare worker or staffer can come for vaccination on any day, provided slots are available. Vaccination centres are open from 9 am to 5 pm on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. According to district officials, the change in the app has helped numbers pick up.

Dr Namrata Sarin (58), a senior doctor from Hindu Rao hospital, was among those to get the shot at Lok Nayak. "I am feeling relieved, it is a good thing we were able to produce a vaccine — staff are monitoring people and trying to make everyone comfortable," she said.

Asha (28), a civil defence worker at Lok Nayak who also got vaccinated at the hospital Thursday, said: "I didn't experience any side effects. I am extremely relieved now that I have taken the vaccine."

At Rajiv Gandhi Super Speciality Hospital (RGSSH) in Dilshad Garden, however, the turnout has declined. While 45 healthcare workers received the shot on January 16, the figure dipped to 20 on Monday and 9 on Tuesday, before increasing slightly to 20 on Thursday.

Of the 20 people vaccinated, only five were on the list.

A nodal officer at the hospital said: "RGSSH seems to be doing worse than other centres in Shahdara, either due to the apprehension among people or because mobilisation has not happened properly."

Abhishek (22), a technician at the hospital who is on the list but did not turn up, said, "I shall wait for a few days to see what the side effects are before I decide to take it. I am apprehensive as a colleague took the vaccine and had fever for two days."

Pvt hospitals report better vaccine turnout in capital

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

THE FIRST four days of the Covid-19 vaccination programme in Delhi saw more healthcare workers turning up at private hospitals to get inoculated as compared to government facilities. Till Thursday, 18,795 healthcare workers have got the shot across hospitals.

Data from 10 top hospitals in the city — both private and government — showed that a total of 1,151 (41%) healthcare workers were administered the vaccine against a target of 2,800 in seven government hospitals on Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. On the other hand, 1,035 (86%) healthcare workers at three private hospitals were vaccinated on the same days against a target of 1,200.

At Max hospital in Saket, 100 healthcare workers each were inoculated on Saturday, Tuesday and Thursday. Similarly, at Sir Ganga Ram Hospital and Indraprastha Apollo, the target of vaccinating 100 healthcare workers was met on Tuesday and Thursday.

"Since the Co-WIN app was not working, we asked all healthcare workers who were willing to get the shot to turn up, and the number automatically improved. Maybe, this is one of the reasons why we are seeing a high turnout," said Dr D S Rana, chairman of board at Sir Ganga Ram Hospital.

Among Delhi government hospitals, the lowest turnout was observed at Rajiv Gandhi Super Speciality Hospital (RGSSH) where 74 healthcare workers have been vaccinated in four days. However, Lok Nayak Hospital vaccinated 100 benefi-

The response was comparatively better at Centre-run hospitals such as AIIMS, RML, Safdarjung and Lady Hardinge Medical College, where healthcare workers are being administered Bharat Biotech's Covaxin.

Experts attributed the trend towards the user-friendly environment in the private sector and easy walk-in process. Dr Suneela Garg, a public health expert, told The Indian Express: "It's a well-knit community as compared to the government sector. There is a difference in the provision of care at government and private hospitals... the provider-beneficiary relationship is more towards having one-to-one communication in the private sector. Somehow, we may have to inculcate this in the government sector to see a better turnout in the coming weeks."

Said Dr Arun Gupta, president, Delhi Medical Council: "While doctors at both set ups are equally competent and knowledgeable, the number of healthcare workers getting vaccinated is relatively higher in the private sector. They might be carrying out the exercise more aggressively, while focusing on counselling health workers."

Electrician arrested for Rs 20-cr theft at Kalkaji jewellery store

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

A DAY after jewellery worth Rs 20 crore was robbed from a store in Kalkaji, police arrested a 25-year-old electrician who worked there in connection with the crime. According to police, the accused, Sheikh Nur Rahaman, had worn a PPE kit to hide his identity. Police said they have recovered the stolen jewellery.

CCTV footage, purportedly from the store and shared on social media, shows a man in a PPE kit walking down the stairs of the building with two backpacks at 3.50 am Wednesday. According to police, the accused entered the building at 9.40 pm on Tuesday and fled with 25 kg of jewellery. DCP (Southeast) R P Meena said, "We found that a burglary had taken place on the ground floor of Anjali Jewellers. Most of the jewellery in cases and drawers was missing. It was suspected that the accused entered the third floor of the building through the roof and then entered the shop. The lock on the iron grill gate on the third floor was also broken."

Police said teams were formed to check CCTV cameras at the store and nearby buildings. "We verified details of present staffers, ex-employees and guards, and found that an electrician was on leave since January 10. Though we were told he was in West Bengal, we traced him to Karol Bagh. We went to his residence and arrested him," said police.

Police said the accused wanted to take revenge on his colleagues for harassing him. On January 10, he went on leave and planned the heist. He bought tools like cutter, rope, and PPE kit.

High rise near DU North campus will need new environmental clearance, NGT told

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

A PROJECT to build a 37-floor high rise near Delhi University's North Campus will need new environmental clearance (EC), the National Green Tribunal (NGT) was told Wednesday. The submission was made by the realtor before the tribunal, which was hearing an application filed by Delhi University challenging the environmental clearance granted for the project.

After concerns about the project's impact on the area's air quality, traffic, groundwater and other issues were raised in the application and in February last year, the Tribunal had suspended the EC by stating that the plan does not appear to be viable.

However, the project was later considered viable by an independent committee set up by the NGT, comprising representatives of the environment ministry, Central Pollution Control Board, IIT-Kanpur, and School of Planning and Architecture, among others.

The applicant had submitted objections to the committee's report, stating that it included a member who was part of the State body that had granted the EC to the project.

The applicant had also said that some issues were not considered by the committee, including a restriction imposed on all tall buildings in the North Campus area under the Delhi Master Plan 2021.

In its order, the NGT principal bench headed by chairperson Justice Adarsh Kumar Goel said, "When we took up the matter for final consideration, senior counsel for the project proponent made a statement that... the project proponent has to apply for fresh EC to the environment ministry and the impugned EC will not be acted upon."

It added, "Counsel for the appellant states that if the impugned EC is not to be acted upon and the matter is to be considered afresh by the MoEF&CC on merits, the appeal may be disposed of as infructuous, without prejudice to the rights to challenge the fresh EC which may be granted."

Senior Advocate Dhruv Mehta for project proponent Young Builders said a new EC is required because the layout of the project has been revised as per the new building bylaws. No work can be done on the project site until the new EC is granted, he said.

The NGT bench said in the order, "In view of above stand of the parties, it is no longer necessary for this Tribunal to go into the merits and express any final view about viability of the project or otherwise."

AAP SAYS SHOULD FOCUS ON PAYING SALARIES Halal or jhatka: SDMC claims move will help other communities

ABHINAV RAJPUT
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

A DAY after passing a proposal to make it mandatory for restaurants and shops to display if the meat and poultry they serve is 'halal' or 'jhatka', Leader of House in South MCD, BJP's Narendra Chawla, claimed along with raising awareness about what one consumes, the move will also increase employment opportunities among the Khatik community — some members of which slaughter animals using the jhatka method.

"Khatik community will get income benefits as they slaughter using the jhatka method, and if it is promoted, their sales will increase," he said. Khatiks are Scheduled Castes who live in Delhi and several parts of North India.

AAP's MCD in-charge Durgesh Pathak, meanwhile, said civic bodies should focus on paying salaries to employees than on such issues: "Whether meat is jhatka or halal is already mentioned in most places. BJP should instead have focused on cleaning the areas, which is a responsibility given to them, or controlling corruption in MCDs."

A resolution passed by the South MCD house Wednesday stated, "According to Hinduism and Sikhism, eating 'halal' meat is forbidden and against religion. Therefore, the committee resolves that this direction be given to restaurants and meat shops that it should be written mandatorily about the meat being sold and served by them that 'halal' or 'jhatka' meat is available here."

Chawla said the rule will increase transparency as people will now know what they are eating.

South MCD Mayor Anamika said this has been done "to give respect to every religion". "In Hindu religion, it is said that animals should not be cut brutally...

Restaurants, shops in South Delhi have to display if the meat and poultry they serve is 'halal' or 'jhatka'. Gajendra Yadav other religions have their own rules. People are free to eat whatever they want — this rule is just to ensure transparency," she said.

In 'jhatka', an animal is slaughtered in one go, while in 'halal', it bleeds out after cutting a vein.

Restaurants owners and associations have flagged that the new rule could create unnecessary issues for an industry which is still trying to recover from the financial hit it received since March because of the pandemic.

Since October last year, the Delhi government has taken steps to help the industry recover, like allowing restaurants to open all day, doing away with health trade licences and permissions from the tourism department to set up a new restaurant.

"Delhi's restaurants are the pride of Delhi and provide employment to lakhs of people. I have directed all respective departments to remove unnecessary hassles in the smooth running of restaurants," Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal had said after a meeting with restaurant representatives and government officials.

The Indian Express reached out to AAP spokesperson Saurabh Bharadwaj, leaders Atishi, Raghav Chadha, ministers Manish Sisodia, Satyendar Jain, Kailash Gahlot and Rajendra Pal Gautam over the issue, but did not receive a response.

Officials in the South MCD conceded that it would be difficult to implement the policy as there's no method by which it could be identified if cooked meat is halal or jhatka.

While the corporation has jurisdiction over inspection of raw meat, it is the Delhi government health department that monitors quality control in restaurants.

A similar proposal was passed by the East MCD in 2018 for shop owners. However, there has been no enforcement, action or challans till now. Medical health officer of East MCD Dr Som Shekhar said, "We are presently sensitising traders that they should display what meat they serve, but there has been no action."

Restaurants to move SDMC: 'In city, 80% of meat supplied is halal'

DIVYAA
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

RESTAURANTS IN the city are planning to give a representation to the South MCD to reverse its order on 'halal or jhatka' meat, which they have to now mandatorily mention, as patrons hardly care about this aspect.

Priyank Sukhija, founder of First Fiddle F&B Pvt Ltd, which owns restaurants brands like Lord Of The Drinks, Warehouse Cafe, Dragonfly and Lazeez Affaire, said, "Not more than 10% of our patrons care if the meat being served to them is halal or jhatka, what they care about is whether it has been procured through hygienic places. Those who care ask us, and we always tell them so they can make an informed choice."

With seven of his restaurants falling under the SDMC's jurisdiction, Sukhija said the timing of the circular is wrong: "We are just trying to look up after the pandemic and lockdown-related setbacks. Only last week, we were arguing with the SDMC over the poultry ban issue, which they eventually took back. And now, this crops up."

He added: "At a time when the Delhi government is supporting us by formulating a more liberal excise policy, SDMC is trying to enforce more stringent rules. This kind of order is going to hamper our business. Through NRAI (National Restaurant Association of India), we are going to send a representation to the SDMC to take back this order before it comes into effect."

According to the SDMC order, appropriate action will be taken against those found violating the rules. "There are thousands of restaurants in 104 wards of four zones falling under South Delhi Municipal Corporation. Out of these, meat is served in about 90% of restaurants but it is not mentioned whether the meat being served by the restaurants is 'halal' or 'jhatka', said the resolution passed by the SDMC house.

Amit Bagga, who owns Daryaganj at Aerocity, said the order is very confusing for chain restaurants like his. "These things could lead to unnecessary logistical issues for business owners. It will be very difficult for us to keep two kinds of stock or get easy supply of both types of meat. People are free to ask this question from servers, and restaurants are obliged to answer," he said, adding that if it is indeed mandatory, they have no qualms mentioning that they are serving halal meat.

But he argued that there should be a uniform order for all of Delhi-NCR rather than different civic bodies coming up with zone-specific orders: "While this applies to our Aerocity outlet, it doesn't apply to other outlets in Delhi."

Most restaurants and deliveries across Delhi-NCR are serving halal meat for various operational reasons. Sukhija said, "Our vendor serves the best quality meat and that is what we are concerned about. Most butchers are Muslims, hence, we are getting halal meat."

Bagga added, "Halal is universally accepted, we have never had a consumer refuse an order because it's halal meat. Also, it is most widely available, it won't be possible to source good quality jhatka meat, if need be."

Chefs also said halal meat goes better with the Indian style of cooking. Chef Harangad Singh, who has helmed the kitchen at several fine-diners across Delhi-NCR and now runs his own cloud kitchen called Parat, said, "Indian dishes require meat to be cooked at high temperatures, above 100 degrees, which halal can endure. Jhatka meat, on the other hand, should be cooked within two hours, and its taste changes at high temperatures."

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

MEAT TRADERS in Delhi Thursday said the SDMC's diktat on restaurants displaying the halal or jhatka meat distinction was divorced from the realities of the trade, as bigger clients focus more on price than on the method of slaughtering the animal. Licenced shops in the city, meanwhile, are mandated to display the kind of meat they sell as per existing norms.

Traders said over 80% of meat supplied in Delhi from the Ghazipur slaughterhouse is of the halal variety. In case of chicken, traders buy live poultry from the Ghazipur market. The Ghazipur slaughterhouse also has separate sections on halal and jhatka meat, they said.

"For goat and buffalo meat, there is a slaughterhouse with separate sections for halal and jhatka. Hoteliers and other traders usually do not differentiate between the two; for them, price matters. Also, Muslims differentiate more between halal and jhatka than Hindus. Muslim butchers naturally have expertise in the halal variety while Hindu khatiks are employed by many non-Muslim meat shops. But you will also find a large number of Muslim shops employing Hindu butchers. The nature of the trade is such," said Irshad Qureshi, general secretary of the Delhi Meat Merchant Association.

Owner of a halal meat shop at INA market, who did not want to be named, said the order "makes no sense" as it will have "no impact" on consumer behaviour. "MCD should crack down on illegal roadside meat sellers. These are unregulated, leading to revenue losses, and also carry the risk of spreading disease," he said.

"In restaurants, most people don't place special requests for halal or jhatka. A very small percentage does, it makes no economic sense for traders to source jhatka meat for them," the owner said, adding that Hindu meat sellers in the market, selling mostly chicken, call him if a customer places a request for halal variety.

Chetan, owner of a standalone poultry meat stall in a DDA market, said they are not required to display halal or jhatka variants under the norms: "We sell jhatka meat. Customers who want halal meat have their own source."

DELHI CONFIDENTIAL

IN POLL MODE

AT A time when there is a strain in ties between the Congress and DMK in Puducherry, Rahul Gandhi on Thursday had a meeting with Chief Minister V Narayanasamy and Pradesh Congress Committee president A V Subramanian to review preparations for the forthcoming assembly polls. AICC in charge Dinesh Gundu Rao also attended the meeting. While the DMK issue did come up for discussion, the party decided to go ahead with poll preparations. Party leaders say it is getting feelers from many leaders of the opposition All India N R Congress, a regional party formed by N Rangaswamy after breaking away from the Congress. At least one leader claimed even Rangaswamy is willing to return provided he is offered the chief ministership but argued the party cannot make such a promise.

NEW ASSIGNMENT

THE GOVERNMENT on Thursday named Jayant N Khobragade, an IFS officer of 1995 batch, as India's next Ambassador to ASEAN Secretariat, Jakarta. Khobragade, who is a joint secretary rank officer, was expected to go to Islamabad to be India's envoy, but the Pakistan government refused to accept his nomination since he was considered too senior for the position of acting High Commissioner. Islamabad had come up with this reason, after both sides agreed to downgrade their ties and stopped having full-time High Commissioners.

TALKING OF PARDONS

DURING THE hearing on Rajiv Gandhi assassination case convict AG Perarivalan's plea for pardon and release from jail in the Supreme Court on Wednesday, Tamil Nadu Additional Advocate General Balaji Srinivasan said that a gentlemen is furiously signing pardons elsewhere and it would have been good if the same could have been done in India too. The apparent reference was to former US President Donald Trump granting several pardons on his last day in office. The message was not lost on the Bench, which responded that it would have saved the court a lot of trouble too. Perarivalan has contended that the Tamil Nadu Governor was yet to take a decision on the state cabinet's September 2018 recommendation to grant remission and release him forthwith.

Procedures holding defence modernisation hostage: Army chief

KRISHN KAUSHIK
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

STRESSING ON the need for self reliance in defence production, Chief of Army Staff General M M Naravane on Thursday said India had made some advances in this area over the past few years but procedural bottlenecks were holding defence modernisation "hostage".

Speaking at an event organised by CII and the Society of Indian Defence Manufacturers, General Naravane said, "There are certain procedural lacunae in the procurement process, which primarily arise due to the over-bearing nature of our rules and guidelines in trying to ensure zero error." He added that the problem "is also aggravated by our own interpretation of rules," he said.

But he added that in the past few years, "we have tried to reverse this trend, by boosting indigenous and focusing on dual-purpose high-end technology".

This approach, he said, "will not only ensure self-reliance, it will also hold good during times of contingency". Adding that trying to plug every loophole was causing delays in the process, Naravane said it, "results in the acquisition process being tied up in knots" and "what has happened is that the processes and procedures have become paramount rather than the product and these are holding hostage defence modernisation."

BSY rejigs portfolios, some ministers skip meet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
BENGALURU, JANUARY 21

CHIEF MINISTER BS Yediyurappa on Thursday handed out portfolios to seven new ministers who were inducted into his cabinet on January 13, and effected changes to portfolios of 10 ministers, triggering immediate disgruntlement among some in his Cabinet.

In the biggest changes, Forest and Environment Minister Anand Singh — an accused in a CBI case of illegal mining and violations of forest laws — was divested of the forest portfolio and given tourism while senior minister J C Madhuswamy, who was in charge of law and parliamentary affairs, was divested of his entire portfolio and given the minor portfolios of medical education and Kannada and culture.

Madhuswamy's change of portfolio is being seen as a likely fallout of the unprecedented ruckus in the state legislative

SC panel: Got ideas to improve law rollout

Panel holds its first meet with farmer bodies from 8 states

HARIKISHAN SHARMA
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

A DAY after the Centre offered to keep the newly enacted farm laws in abeyance for 18 months to end the farmer protests at the gates of Delhi, the Supreme Court-appointed expert committee, already rejected by the protesters, held its first interaction with farmer organisations from eight states and said it had received "suggestions to improve implementation of the Acts".

Committee members Anil Ghanwat of Shetkari Sanghatana and agricultural economists Parmod Kumar Joshi and Ashok Gulati held discussions Thursday with 10 farmer organisations via video link to seek their views on the new laws that Punjab farmers want repealed.

In a statement after the meeting, the committee said 10 farmers organisations from 8 states — Karnataka, Kerala, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Odisha, Telangana, Tamil Nadu and Uttar Pradesh — participated in the discussions.

The farmer unions, it said, "gave their frank opinion including suggestions to improve the implementation of Acts".

Opening the discussion, committee members requested farmer leaders to give their views "frankly" on the three agriculture laws — The Farmers' Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Act, 2020; The Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement on Price Assurance and Farm Services Act, 2020; and, Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act, 2020.

Tasked by the Supreme Court

Farm leader Ajay Anmol after the meeting of the Supreme Court committee in New Delhi on Thursday. Abhinav Saha

to get the views of all stakeholders on the farm laws, the committee has to submit a report within two months.

It was constituted as a four-member committee on January 12 by the bench of Chief Justice of India S A Bobde and Justices AS Bopanna and V Ramasubramanian.

But on January 14, hours before the panel was to hold its first virtual meeting, one of the members, Bhopinder Singh Mann, president of BKU (Mann) and chairman of All India Kisan Coordination Committee, re-cused himself.

Farmer unions protesting at the borders of Delhi, the majority from Punjab, refused to appear before the committee, saying its members were in favour of the farm laws.

On January 19, the committee said it would "try to convince" the protesting farmers while seeking views of other farmer organisations and the government.

On Wednesday, the bench of CJ Bobde took serious objection to "name calling" and "branding" of members of the committee.

"How can you play with people's reputation like this? We have serious objections to them being called biased and in saying that the court has an interest. You malign people according to majority opinion?..."

The Supreme Court appoints a committee and their reputation is torn to shreds," CJ Bobde said, while hearing a petition by the Kisan Mahapanchayat which sought reconstitution of the committee.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court committee has created a website to seek feedback from stakeholders about the farm laws and legal guarantee for minimum support price.

The text of the laws as well as the Supreme Court judgment has been uploaded to it. It seeks feedback and suggestions in the form of questions like: "Are you aware about the implications of legalizing MSP?" and "Will you be affected with the provisions of the Act?"

Told by NIA not to appear for now: Khalsa Aid

KAMALDEEP SINGH BRAR
AMRITSAR, JANUARY 21

THE NATIONAL Investigation Agency (NIA) has put appearance of international NGO Khalsa Aid's representatives on hold for now in two of the three notices. Significantly, the agency is also not strict about others who are intentionally not appearing on the given dates.

The NIA had issued notices to Khalsa Aid, farmer union leader Baldev Singh Sirsa, Punjabi actor Deep Sidhu along with journalists, radio host and mostly Sikh activists in relation with an FIR registered against banned outfit Sikhs For Justice under the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act on December 15, 2020. The Indian Express has at least 28 such names who were issued notices in the same case.

All those who have received notices are active in the farmer agitation over three farm laws.

Khalsa Aid is present at Delhi borders helping the protesters.

"We have received a total of three notices. One of our trustees had appeared before NIA last Friday. They have not asked for reappearance. They also told us not to appear in the other two notices for now. NIA told us that they would call us if needed. This communication was before the latest farmer union meeting with the government. NIA asked about our projects and source of funding," said Amarpreet Singh of Khalsa Aid.

He said, "We had called farmer unions after seeing their press release following Wednesday meeting. We told them that we have also received notices. Farmer union representative told me to send a copy of notices..."

PM to distribute over 1 lakh land papers to indigenous people in poll-bound Assam

ABHISHEK SAHA
GUWAHATI, JANUARY 21

PRIME MINISTER Narendra Modi will distribute more than 1 lakh land documents to people from indigenous communities of poll-bound Assam in Sivasagar district on Saturday.

Assam is expected to go to polls in April and this will be Prime Minister Modi's first visit to the state in the run-up to the election. The distribution of the land documents is in line with the promise made by the Sarbananda Sonowal-led government when it came to power in 2016 — to protect "jati, mati and bheti (community, land and hearth)".

"It is for the first time that landless indigenous people will be freshly allotted land and given pattas," Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal said on the occasion. Beneficiaries will also include those who were allotted land earlier, but will now be given pattas.

The beneficiaries — over one lakh people across the state — have been identified by the sub-divisional land advisory committees in the districts, a government official said.

The Sonowal-led government has already allotted 1.10 lakh pattas over the last four-and-a-half-years, the official added. "Having a patta is very important and is useful for several other purposes as well. It will also allow them to secure bank loans against their land," the official said.

The distribution will take place at historic Jerenga Pothar (field) in Sivasagar. The field holds significance in Assamese history because it was here that the 17th-century Ahom princess Jyomti was said to have been tortured and killed by her brother-in-law for not revealing the whereabouts of her husband.

The alleged encroachment of land by "doubtful citizens" is a pivotal issue in Assam politics, and the BJP had campaigned strongly on this plank during the 2016 elections.

But in 2019, the BJP faced opposition to the Citizenship Amendment Act in Assam over concerns that it was detrimental to the interests of the indigenous people. Two new political parties — the Assam Jatiya Parishad and the Rajior Dal — owe their genesis to the anti-CAA protests. Both are talking about an alliance against the BJP for the coming elections.

On the other hand, this week, the Congress and five other parties — the CPI, the CPI(M) and the CPI(ML); the AIUDF and the Anchalik Gana Morcha (AGM) — officially announced their pre-poll 'grand alliance'. The alliance is silent on who will be their chief ministerial face.

Home Minister Amit Shah, who sounded the poll bugle in Assam last month, had said that the newly formed political parties in Assam were trying to help the Congress win. BJP president JP Nadda, addressing a rally earlier this month in Assam, said the party will always protect Assam's culture.

BSF forcing people to vote for BJP: TMC complains to EC

Force dismisses charge; BJP alleges Rohingya in voter list

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
KOLKATA, JANUARY 21

WEST BENGAL Urban Development and Municipal Affairs Minister Firdah Hakim on Thursday claimed that the BSF was "terrorising" people in border areas into voting for BJP in the upcoming state elections.

The TMC government raised the issue with the Election Commission (EC) during an all-party meeting in Kolkata on Thursday.

BJP state chief Dilip Ghosh alleged that in some areas, the names of Rohingya refugees had been added to the electoral rolls and asked Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) Sunil Arora to look into the issue.

"The BJP says lakhs of Rohingyas have entered the voter list, but the list has been prepared by the EC. This means the BJP is accusing the election body. We told the EC to check the BJP's efforts to spread communal hatred in Bengal," said Hakim.

The meeting was attended

TMC and BJP leaders after the all-party meeting with the EC.

by TMC leaders Hakim, Subrata Bakshi, Subrata Mukherjee and Partha Chatterjee; CPI-M leaders Rabin Deb and Samik Lahiri; and CPI leader Prabir Deb; Congress leader Soumya Aich Roy; and BJP leaders Dilip Ghosh, Mukul Roy, Shishir Bajoria and Swapan.

Replying to Ghosh's Rohingya remarks, Hakim said the allegation was an insult to the EC and claimed that the BSF was forcing voters to favour a certain political party.

"The BJP is sending the BSF to villages in border areas in West Bengal and terrorising people into voting for them. This is my allegation. The Election Commission said we would cross-check it," Hakim said.

The BSF denied the allegation in a statement. "The BSF is a professional Border Guarding Force, which has in the past, and also in the present, guarded our international borders with total sincerity and dedication. We have actively checked on illegal infiltration and smuggling... The statements given by Sh Partho Chatterjee, Hon'ble Education Minister, and Mr Firdah Hakim, Rural and Development Minister of State of West Bengal, leveling allegations against the BSF is without any basis..."

Prominent Bengal cleric launches party: 'Want to be the kingmaker'

Open to Left, Cong alliance; plans to contest all 294 seats

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
KOLKATA, JANUARY 21

AHEAD OF the Assembly elections in West Bengal, Pirzada Abbas Siddiqui, the 34-year-old cleric of Furfura Sharif in Hooghly district, Thursday launched a new political party and said that his party plans to contest all the 294 seats in the state with alliance partners.

His 26-year-old brother Nausad Siddiqui has been named chairman of the Indian Secular Front and Simul Soren the president of the party's working committee.

"Now, we will sit for talks with other parties, including AIMIM, and then we will make clear on how many seats we will contest in this election. For now, we are considering to contest all the 294 seats," Abbas Siddiqui told mediapersons at a press conference in Kolkata.

Stating that his "doors are open" for an alliance with the Left Front and the Congress, Siddiqui said: "CPI(M) and Congress leaders have sent feelers to us. Both the parties suggested that we first launch our political platform. Let us wait and see."

He, however, ruled out contesting the elections. "I want to be the kingmaker. I will not contest the election but will do everything possible for the party. We will work for the betterment of Muslims, Dalits, tribals, and the poor. Our party is for all," said Siddiqui, one of the descendants of Pir Abu Baqar Siddiqui.

He rejected the charge that his party would enable the division of Muslim votes in the state. Accusing Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee of failing to deliver, Siddiqui blamed the Trinamool Congress for "allowing BJP to get into Bengal".

Furfura Sharif is the second most prominent Sufi shrine in the country after Ajmer Sharif.

India issues strong demarche over death of 3 fishermen in Lanka waters

ENS & PTI
NEW DELHI, CHENNAI, JANUARY 21

INDIA ON Thursday expressed "shock" and lodged a strong protest at the death of three Indian fishermen in Sri Lankan waters, as it issued a strong demarche to the acting envoy of the island nation in New Delhi. "We are shocked at the unfortunate loss of lives of three Indian fishermen and one Sri Lankan national following a collision between their vessel and a Sri Lankan naval craft," the Ministry of External Affairs said in a statement.

"Our strong protest in regard to this incident was conveyed by our High Commissioner to the Sri Lankan Foreign Minister today. A strong demarche was also made to the Sri Lankan Acting High Commissioner in New Delhi," it said.

"Expressing our deep anguish at the loss of lives, we emphasized the need to deal with issues pertaining to fishermen in a humanitarian manner. Existing understandings between the two governments in that regard must be strictly observed. Utmost efforts should be made to ensure that there is no recurrence," the ministry said.

In Chennai, Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami, citing information from fishermen that the four died in an attack by the Sri Lankan Navy, condemned the island nation's maritime force.

Palaniswami said he has written to Prime Minister Narendra Modi to initiate an appropriate inquiry through the Indian High Commission in Colombo into the incident, three days after Sri Lanka said an Indian fishing boat sank in its waters following a "collision" with its Navy vessel.

Condoling the deaths, the Chief Minister, in an official release, said he has ordered relief of Rs 10 lakh each to the fishermen's families.

TN Governor to decide on pardon for Perarivalan in 3-4 days: Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

A G Perarivalan

A CALL on the Tamil Nadu government's recommendation to pardon Rajiv Gandhi assassination convict A G Perarivalan will be taken by the Governor within three-four days, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta told the Supreme Court Thursday.

Mehta told a bench of Justices L Nageswara Rao, S Abdul Nazeer and Indu Malhotra, hearing a plea by Perarivalan seeking release, that he had received an instruction to communicate that Governor Banwarilal Purohit will decide the matter "as per the Constitution" in a couple of days. Recording the submission, the bench adjourned the matter by four weeks.

In his plea, Perarivalan had said the Governor was yet to take a call on a recommendation by the state government on September 9, 2018, to grant him remission and release him forthwith. Hearing the matter in November last year, the Supreme Court had made clear its unhappiness over the pendency of the request for over two years.

It had asked Perarivalan's counsel Senior Advocate Gopal Sankaranarayanan if it could exercise powers under Article 142 of the Constitution — which allows the Supreme Court to pass any order necessary to do "complete justice" in any case — to request the Governor to decide on the matter. "You please tell us what... the Court can do in such cases. Can we ask the Governor to do that, as has been done in earlier cases?" the bench said.

Sankaranarayanan said while the matter was the prerogative of the Governor, in several instances, the court had exercised powers under Article 142. The bench had then said, "We don't want to exercise our jurisdiction at this stage but we are not happy that a recommendation made by the government is pending for two years."

While informing the court about Tamil Nadu's decision of September 2018 recommending release of all seven convicts in the 1991 Rajiv Gandhi assassination case, Advocate Balaji Srinivasan, representing the state, had argued that the matter involved a "larger conspiracy" and said the Governor was awaiting a report from the CBI.

However, Justice Rao had said to this that the "larger conspiracy" only dealt with whether other people were involved and not with those already convicted and in prison. The bench had also noted that the "larger conspiracy" probe had been pending for years now.

Arrested at the age of 19 in the case, Perarivalan had been sentenced to death in May 1999 on the charge of purchasing an 8-volt battery used by the assassins to trigger the belt bomb that killed Rajiv Gandhi. In 2014, his sentence and that of two others, Murugan and Santhan (both Sri Lankans), was commuted to life. Soon after, the AIADMK government in Tamil Nadu had ordered the release of all the seven convicts in the case.

While a pardon request moved by Perarivalan in 2015 was not considered by the Governor, a Supreme Court order on a related petition in September 2018 clarified that the Governor was "deemed fit" to decide on the pardon. Within three days, the AIADMK government had recommended that all seven convicts be released.

Concrete houses for all homeless farmers, labourers if re-elected: CM Palaniswami

ARUN JANARDHANAN
CHENNAI, JANUARY 21

Edappadi K Palaniswami

THE AIADMK government will build concrete houses for all homeless farmers, labourers and the poor if it returns to power in the upcoming elections, Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami announced on Thursday during a roadshow in northern Tamil Nadu.

Addressing party cadres at Cheyyar near Chengalpet, he also said that his government is in the process of collecting data about crop damage in the recent heavy rainfall and promised that relief will be given to the farmers soon after the process is completed.

"Farmers, labourers and poor people who are homeless in rural areas will get concrete houses, it is our key promise. Our farmers and working class population should be living with dignity. From rural areas to cities, all those who are homeless will get concrete houses," he said.

Palaniswami's speeches during the rally that covered several towns, including Thirupurur and Cheyyar, mainly targeted the opposition DMK and its chief M K Stalin's gram sabha model campaign programmes.

Terming most of the DMK accusations against the AIADMK as "uncivilised", Palaniswami also targeted the DMK chief's son Udhayanidhi Stalin, who heads the opposition party's youth wing. He said: "Udhayanidhi Stalin is threatening police officers in public. What will happen if such people come to power in this state?"

In the recent past, Palaniswami, while mostly targeting DMK's first family, has been making repeated statements about his own humble background, saying he studied in government schools unlike his political arch-rival Stalin, son of late M Karunanidhi.

On Thursday, he asked if Karunanidhi ever travelled to Delhi for the cause of Tamil Nadu or Tamil people. "All his trips to Delhi were made to ensure power and position for his son and daughter and his close relatives..." he said. "You see, every other DMK leader is a multimillionaire. And DMK is a corporate firm, not a political party," he added.

The Chief Minister also defended Deputy Chief Minister O Panneerselvam.

Referring to "false accusations" being raised against Panneerselvam at Stalin's events, Palaniswami lauded his deputy as a leader "who spent his own money to bring back about 400 stranded Muslims at the beginning of Covid outbreak from Delhi on trains". "And he [Panneerselvam] ensured their well-being and treatment after reaching Chennai," the Chief Minister said.

WhatsApp officials appear before House panel over privacy policy change

ENS & PTI
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

THE PARLIAMENTARY panel on Information Technology on Thursday questioned representatives of WhatsApp over proposed its changes in privacy policy and raised concerns of Indian citizens, sources said.

The WhatsApp representatives who appeared before the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Information Technology said the proposed changes are aimed at bringing in more transparency and the chat and calls on messaging platform still remain end-to-end encrypted, it is learned.

According to the sources, the representatives of WhatsApp said that there was no change in the privacy policy of 2016 and in fact it has become more transparent. A source said the representatives answered all the questions raised by the panel members and assured them that they would give in writing the responses to the questions for which they could not answer adequately.

The source also claimed that the company representatives agreed that data was being monetised.

The panel separately interacted with representatives of Facebook, Twitter and Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology.

After the meeting, a

The panel separately interacted with representatives of Facebook and Twitter

WhatsApp spokesperson said in a statement, "We wish to thank the Honorable Parliamentary Committee for giving us an opportunity to appear before them and provide our views. We look forward to assisting the Hon'ble Committee in future as well."

In a strongly-worded letter to WhatsApp CEO Will Cathcart earlier this week, the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology had said the proposed changes to the WhatsApp Terms of Service and Privacy Policy, without giving users an option to opt out, "raise grave concerns regarding the implications for the choice and autonomy of Indian citizens". The letter noted that with over 400 million users in India, the changes will have a disproportionate impact on the country's citizens.

WhatsApp had earlier this month begun asking its 2 billion users worldwide to accept an update of its privacy policy if they want to keep using the popular messaging app. The new terms caused an outcry among technology experts, privacy advocates and users and triggered a wave of defections to rival services such as Signal and Telegram.

SP flags illicit liquor trade at 'all police stations in Bihar', shunted

SANTOSH SINGH
PATNA, JANUARY 21

THIRTEEN DAYS after he wrote a letter to his counterparts across the 40 police districts of Bihar about illicit liquor trade being carried out "at all police stations" with the connivance of officials and local public representatives, SP (Prohibition) Rakesh Kumar Sinha was transferred out. The same day, his successor Sanjay Kumar Singh withdrew the letter by Sinha, dated January 6.

Six other IPS officers were transferred on January 19 along with Sinha, who has been moved to the Special Branch. Bihar DGP A K Singhal could not be contacted despite several attempts.

In his letter to the SPs, a copy of which is with The Indian Express, Sinha asked for a probe into the properties owned by constables, sub-inspectors and inspectors of the Excise Department and urged that their mobile phones and those of their relatives be kept under surveillance to monitor connections with liquor mafia. However, Sinha did not name anybody.

"Even though Bihar government has imposed prohibition, liquor sale is being carried out clandestinely under jurisdiction of all police stations with constables, sub-inspectors and inspectors of Excise Department getting bribed," says the letter. It adds that several "local public representatives have been in illicit liquor trade and the liquor law is openly being violated".

Sinha said if there was a probe into the "legal and illegal property" of excise constables, sub-inspectors and inspectors,

"the government system would be shaken".

While not directly addressing issues raised by Sinha's letter, Bihar Education Minister Ashok Kumar Choudhary told The Indian Express: "The CM has already put in place a system of annual declaration of assets by public representatives for transparency. If there is any specific finding by the police about some public representatives, it must be looked into by the competent authority."

JD(U) spokesperson Rajiv Ranjan Prasad said the party had "no knowledge of this letter".

"But the state government is committed to taking stringent action against the liquor mafia,"

The same day, Rakesh Kumar Sinha's successor Sanjay Kumar Singh withdrew the letter dated Jan 6

Prasad said.
RJD spokesperson Mrityunjay Tiwari said Sinha's letter should be taken seriously. "The government must look into the properties owned by excise, police or even local public representatives. We have been saying all along that the prohibition law is an absolute failure".

Uma urges Nadda for liquor ban in BJP-ruled states

Bhopal: Former Union minister Uma Bharti on Thursday urged BJP chief JPNadda to enforce a ban on liquor in BJP-ruled states.

"Through this tweet, I publicly appeal to my national president @JPNadda to chart out a plan for a complete liquor ban in BJP-ruled states... Revenue losses can be made up through other means. However, rapes, murders, accidents and the cases of physical molestation of minor girls under the influence of liquor are horrendous and a blot on the society," she said in a series of tweets. PTI

CRPF chief: Have taken all steps to empower commandos on VIP security duty

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

AGAINST THE backdrop of an attack on a convoy of BJP president JP Nadda in West Bengal in December, CRPF DG AP Maheshwari Thursday said the force has taken all steps to "empower" its commandos deployed for security duties of VIPs and that they have "plugged the gaps". Nadda enjoys Z plus security of the CRPF.

"We have improved our VIP security skills. We are following the best security standards... we are working to match our skills with the best standards of the SPG," he said at a press meet here.

Regarding the incident in which some BJP leaders were injured, he said, "Whatever happened in the outer ring is in the domain of the state government and I believe the authorities concerned are doing their job. We have a security system in place and have the capability of carrying out our VIP from such situations safe and secure."

Maheshwari said the CRPF has gone into "past data and trends" to see areas where security can be improved, and is in touch with all stakeholders involved in this task, including the state police forces.

The CRPF at present has 62 VIPs under its cover, including Home Minister Amit Shah, BJP president J P Nadda, Congress president Sonia Gandhi, party leaders Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, and former PM Manmohan Singh.

Apart from the CRPF, CISF and NSG provide such cover under the central VIP protection charter.

The CRPF chief said that aspects of "upgrading technology for surveillance or assessment or in organising an armed or tactical response" have been worked upon. "I can assure that it is as best as it can be."

The CRPF is also "considering" inducting women soldiers into its elite jungle warfare force, the CoBRA. The CoBRA battalions largely engage with Maoists in the interiors of Chhattisgarh and Jharkhand. "We already have a unit of women commandos who have been pressed into combat duties in Bastar. Now we are considering inducting them into CoBRA," Maheshwari said.

He also said that in Jammu and Kashmir, security forces had killed 215 terrorists, including Hizb-ul-Mujahideen commander Riyaz Naikoo, in the past one year. Regarding Left Wing Extremism, he said 340 Maoists were made to surrender in 2020 and added that CRPF established bases in 18 forward areas of which four each are in Jharkhand and Chhattisgarh.

Police: 3 held for kidnapping, killing 10-yr-old boy in Kasganj

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
LUCKNOW, JANUARY 21

THREE PERSONS were arrested Thursday in connection with the abduction and murder of a 10-year-old boy at Pithanpur village in Sidhpura police station area of Uttar Pradesh's Kasganj district.

Police said the boy was kidnapped on Monday evening over enmity between the two families, which are related to each other. The three accused have been identified as Ajay Kumar, Amar Pal and Raj Bahadur.

Circle Officer (Patiyali) Gaveendra Pal Gautam said Lokesh was kidnapped from near his house. "Lokesh's body was recovered on Wednesday, following which we launched a search for the accused," said Gautam.

He added, "The two families live close to each other and have neighbouring farm lands. The dispute started after Lokesh's family objected to installation of some irrigation equipment by the family of the accused. Three people then kidnapped the boy."

A police statement issued on Thursday said, "On January 19, a complaint was received from Kishanveer Singh that his 10-year-old son Lokesh was missing. A case was lodged under 364-A (kidnapping). Three teams were formed for the case." Lokesh's body was recovered from a field outside the village, said police.

Police said Ajay was intercepted Thursday following a tip-off. "During a brief confrontation with police, he suffered a bullet wound in his leg... The remaining accused were also arrested on Thursday," the statement said.

SC grants bail to Kannada actor in drugs racket case

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Thursday granted bail to Kannada actor Ragini Dwivedi, who was arrested in connection with the Sandalwood drugs racket case. The actor was arrested in September 2020 under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985.

Appearing for Dwivedi, Senior Advocate Sidharth Luthra said she had been in custody for 140 days while her co-accused had got bail. He also contended that the case against her was based on the statement of a co-accused and no contraband had been found in her possession. The only charge that remained was that of consumption of less than 1.5 gm, he said.

Opposing this, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta said it was not a case of mere personal consumption and that messages were exchanged between her and drug peddlers cautioning each other to be careful about police. There was also tampering of evidence with urine samples being replaced with water, he added. ENS

BECAUSE THE TRUTH INVOLVES US ALL

LAWS ON PAUSE

This is exactly what the Opposition had asked for—and the Government rejected. This should help farmers come to the table

THE NARENDRA MODI government's offer to suspend the implementation of its three agricultural reform laws for at least 18 months marks a significant departure from its stated let's-keep-talking position in the deadlock with agitating farmer unions. It, effectively, amounts to a repeal of the laws, in their current form, as the unions are demanding. Coming after the government—and the party's—insistence that all criticism was motivated and political, this is an unequivocal admission of the lack of stakeholder consultation and haste that marked the passage of the legislation. Unlike the Labour Code bills referred to the Parliamentary Standing Committee or the Personal Data Protection Bill now being scrutinised by a joint house panel, the farm laws were enacted through the ordinance route in June. The Modi government, even at the time of their introduction in Parliament, refused to heed the Opposition's request to place the bills before a Select Committee. Instead, it got them passed in September with hardly any debate or informed discussion. This was despite these laws, by the government's own contention, being as game-changing for Indian agriculture as the 1991 reforms for industry, services and the external sector.

The proposal to put the farm laws on hold and constitute a committee to come out with a mutually-agreed resolution basically substitutes for work that should have been Parliament's remit. Had the bills gone to a select or joint committee that would have invited comments and suggestions from agriculture experts, farmers and other stakeholders, it may not have created the situation of distrust manifested in the ongoing protests at Delhi's borders. The Modi government clearly underestimated the strength of the agitation and is looking for a face-saver short of an outright repeal of the laws. One hopes the unions, too, step back from their hard repeal-or-nothing-else line, accept this offer and join the committee that, unlike the parallel Supreme Court-appointed panel, should have representation from both votaries and critics of the laws. This is as good as the legislation being repealed, redrafted and reenacted.

While the Modi government must shoulder the blame for ramming through the farm laws and also mishandling of the protests that ensued, one cannot, however, find fault with the reforms themselves. Dismantling the monopoly of state-regulated mandis in agricultural produce marketing, doing away with stocking restrictions and allowing processors, organised retailers and exporters to enter into contract cultivation agreements with farmers are all steps in the right direction. The fundamental reality today is that India has transitioned from being a structurally deficit to a surplus farm producer. That, in turn, presents a new challenge of finding markets both within and outside the country, which only the private sector can address. The government's job is to be an enabler, as it did for other sectors in the first two decades of reforms. Agriculture has waited too long and its reforms call for deft political management. Hopefully, the deadlock with farmers has helped the government realise that to effect meaningful change, 300-plus seats in the Lok Sabha also needs some humility and a willingness to listen.

BIDEN'S BURDEN

The challenge before the new US president is to reunite America and redefine its role in the world

TAKING CHARGE OF the United States, amidst what he called a "winter of peril and promise", Joe Biden celebrated the restoration of American democracy and issued a stirring call for unity in the deeply divided nation. Referring indirectly to the questioning of the election results by the outgoing president, Donald Trump, who skipped the swearing in of Biden, and his incitement of a mob attack on the US capitol earlier this month, Biden declared that American democracy has been tested, but prevailed in the end. Biden pointed to the multiple challenges confronting the nation—the COVID-19 pandemic whose toll is approaching nearly half a million, deepening domestic inequality, entrenched racism, climate change and new questions about the American role in the world. Dealing with these simultaneous challenges, Biden argued, demands an end to the "uncivil war" that has enveloped America.

Biden's soaring sentiment on reuniting the nation was rightly rooted in realism. More than 70 million voters chose Trump and a large section of them continue to believe the election was unfair. Biden's call for unity was not only directed at Trump's supporters, but also his own party, many of whom are itching for political revenge. It will not be easy, however, for him to translate the soaring sentiment to reunite the nation into concrete outcomes. Many of his first steps at reversing Trump's policies—on immigration, climate change, and American participation in multilateral institutions—touch deeply contested domestic political terrain. Biden's economic agenda on minimum wages and raising taxes runs into intense opposition from the business groups, including the big tech companies of Silicon Valley, that rallied round him in the election. He also has to deal with a Congress that is so evenly divided between Democrats and Republicans and is not amenable to productive legislative action.

Four years ago at his inaugural, Trump set the dark tone for his presidency by talking about an "American carnage" that was devastating the nation. Biden, in contrast, has chosen to raise hope by reminding America that its "better angels" had prevailed in the crises that came before. With his nearly five decades-long political career in Washington, he is probably better placed than his peers in navigating dangerous political waters. A record of ideological flexibility and the ability to reach across the political aisle gives Biden the opportunity to rebuild a bipartisan political centre that can produce long overdue economic, political and social change that is so essential for American unity and renewal.

SLAYING THE DRAGON

Kalam is a beginning. More goodies await renaming

AS IT TURNS out, Gobi Manchurian was not the biggest blow that India could have dealt to Chinese national pride. No, that could only happen by renaming dragon fruit because, according to Gujarat CM Vijay Rupani, the common English name makes one think of China—a strict no-no given current geopolitical circumstances. And, so, the fruit with the spiky, fuchsia peel will henceforth be known as "kamalam", thanks to its resemblance to our national flower. Any tip of the hat to a certain political party is purely coincidental.

But why stop at dragon fruit which, as a matter of fact, is of Central American origin? Considering how far back Indo-Chinese relations go, there are plenty of other things to rename, starting with white sugar aka cheeni. It would be very non-atmanirbhar of us to not come up with our own name for it. And what about chai, which originates in the Chinese word for tea, cha? We also propose that Malayalis should hereafter stop referring to their karahis as cheenachatti because that word is a clear reference to the wok's Chinese antecedents. Nobler minds have already suggested that foods of Chinese origin should be banned, so there's no point repeating it, although it would be remiss of us to not point out that chowmein and manchow soup probably have more to do with Surat than Suzhou.

Of course, at some point, we'll remember that no aspect of culture remains static, especially in an interconnected world as ours. To use a metaphor from Chinese cuisine (forgive us), it's a bit like the broth in a hot pot to which various ingredients are added—thinly-sliced chicken, maybe some bean sprouts, followed by noodles and, perhaps, shrimp balls and fried tofu—until it becomes far richer and more appetising than it would have been on its own.

ANAND KRISHNAN

TRANSPARENCY AND TRUST are two major—and interrelated—pillars of public policy decision-making. Transparency is the principle of allowing those affected by decisions to know about the outcome and the process that led to those decisions. Transparent governance means that government officials act in an open manner, with citizens being informed of the decisions they are making. Transparency has many components—availability of all relevant information in the public domain, a public discourse or debate based on this information and a final decision by the government, which acknowledges and addresses the issues raised during the debate.

Trust is the foundation upon which the legitimacy of public institutions is built and is crucial for the success of public policies that depend on behavioural responses from the public. Trust is earned by keeping the promises made and, perhaps, is not a "unitary" entity. A government could be trusted to do some things right and it cannot be relied on in some other respects. For example, trust in police services may be different than, say, in the judiciary, and within the judiciary, there could be a difference between the lower and higher judiciary. It is influenced by the integrity of the people and system, the perceived fairness and openness of these institutions. The robustness of institutional mechanisms depends on checks and balances. If the autonomy of institutions is compromised, trust is weakened.

The responsibility of maintaining transparency is with the government and given the fact that "trust" has to be earned, the responsibility of the government is again more important. Indians are brought up to trust higher authorities, including parents, and questioning them is considered rude. Thus, most Indian governments start off with an advantage; they must work hard to lose that trust. This has been repeatedly confirmed by the global trust surveys where India has always ranked high in trust of government. For example, in the 2018 Edelman Global Trust Survey, 70 per cent of the public had trust in the government—a high percentage, though a five-point decline from the previous year. However, in an apparent paradox, Indians do not really trust the capacity and fairness of public institutions in doing things the right way.

Let us review the decisions regarding the vaccine through these two prisms. The regulatory approval has been faulted on all the three counts of transparency, but primarily on the first criteria—the one related to the availability of data on safety and efficacy of the approved vaccines in public to enable a free and fair discussion among all stakeholders, and not just scientists and experts. The evidence regarding at least one of the vaccines had not yet been vetted by peers and there was no debate in the public. The Subject Expert Committee probably had a good discussion, but its details are not in the public domain. Finally, the decision was itself couched in terms which was not understood by large sections of people, including public health experts. Even though the government issued a clarification, the fact that it was compelled to do so says something—this situation was eminently avoidable.

The evidence regarding at least one of the vaccines had not yet been vetted by peers and there was no debate in the public. The Subject Expert Committee probably had a good discussion, but its details are not in the public domain. Finally, the decision was itself couched in terms which was not understood by large sections of people, including public health experts. Even though the government issued a clarification, the fact that it was compelled to do so says something—this situation was eminently avoidable.

We really do not have adequate platforms to have an open dialogue and debate on any public matter and that should be worrying. The media is, perhaps, the only such space available and it plays a critical role—by holding public institutions to account, it helps build trust in them. While in general, the media has asked the right questions on the vaccine issue, they have also contributed to erosion of trust by the tone and tenor of these questions—television is more culpable than the others. It has often failed to maintain the thin line separating responsible journalism of questioning the government on its decision and hounding or eulogising the government—both erode trust.

Public trust is critical for greater compliance with government guidelines during emergencies, be it COVID-appropriate behaviour or the acceptance of vaccination institutions. The offices of Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), National Centre for Disease Control (NCDC), Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) and their capacity have come under scrutiny and there is a general feeling among scientists and public that these institutions have not performed their role appropriately. Only posterity will judge how well these institutions performed their role—or, at least, when we have travelled some distance from the pandemic. However, questions about their competence and autonomy are not good for generating public trust in the interim. It is difficult to say how much of the current vaccine hesitancy can be attributed to lack of transparency and trust, though undoubtedly, they have contributed to it.

The importance of transparency and trust in governance is to ensure that there is no "undue" influence in the government decision-making—political or commercial. In some ways, the decision on the vaccine has become less of a scientific one and more of a commercial and political one, especially with India wanting to lead the world in vaccine supply. Such opaqueness has also led to concerns about the cost of vaccination. The responses of some ministers that seem to be heavy on vaccine nationalist tones have not helped matters.

One could argue that in cases of emergencies like the COVID-19 pandemic, these values could be compromised. However, one could also argue that these situations call for more rigour in holding to these values.

It is in national interest that we promote transparency and trust in governance. This is not optional. We desperately need to cultivate public spaces for healthy dialogues, where all opinions are respected. Do we expect governments to pay only lip service to these values and not follow them in practice? An open and measurable accountability framework for governance in health is the need of the hour. We have enough theoretical frameworks for them but little operationalisation. It is time we bring it up as a priority public health agenda.

Getting top foreign universities to open campuses requires more institutional autonomy

ANAMIKA

THE NATIONAL EDUCATION Policy-2020 (NEP-2020), the fourth since Independence, was rolled out in July 2020 and has led to intense discussion on school and higher education. The most challenging aspect of the policy is the implementation of even those aspects on which there is some sort of consensus. The earlier education policies (1968, 1986 and the 1986 revised in 1992) were lauded as documents with clear vision. However, these policies could not yield much due to faulty implementation.

There are many provisions in the policy for improving the quality of higher education. For the first time, internationalisation of higher education has been highlighted as an objective. One such provision is to invite the top 100 World Class Universities to open international branch campuses (IBCs) in India. The underlying assumption is to raise the standard of research and teaching to international levels and slow down the out-bound mobility of Indian students. The biggest challenge would be the inclination of top universities to establish a campus in India. Not many such universities have such policies in place. At the same time, many universities are yearning to turn truly global and hold institutional mobility as a prerequisite.

Internationalisation of higher education in India has a pre-history. Many top foreign universities collaborate with Indian higher education institutions such as IITs and central universities for research and knowledge transfer. The collaboration has been strengthened by government's schemes such as GIAN and SPARC. Conventional wisdom dictates that the existing research and academic collaborations between foreign and Indian institutions would facilitate the entry of IBCs in India.

To explore the potential of the policy of branch campuses and gauge the mood of top universities' interest in India, a series of conversations have been held with experts, academic administrators and global heads of foreign universities. The discussions throw up interesting points. Top foreign universities are willing to respond positively provided there is sufficient clarity in areas essential for operationalisation of branch campuses in India. Interestingly, such universities are not looking forward to state sponsored infrastructure of the kind that the Dubai Knowledge Hub has offered—ready to move in campus, office space, and other facilities. A closer look at the IBCs suggests that these campuses are driven by the desire to accumulate profit in the manner of business enterprises. This implies that India will have to allow IBCs to repatriate income. The outflow of the money may not necessarily be 100 per cent of what these universities earn in India, but it will have to be a significant amount. As of now, there does not seem to be a viable model to balance the ploughing back of the resources earned in India and cash remittances to the parent university.

A key issue in the internationalisation of higher education is the preference for subjects and the areas of research considered rewarding. Social sciences and humanities do not generally figure in the imagination of decision makers—they are not seen as profitable ventures. There does seem to be a heartening change in this respect. However, here, and in a much greater measure compared to the science and business-oriented courses, foreign institutions demand more autonomy in framing and changing curriculum, daily functioning of the institution, the freedom to say no to industries, and even in the manner the institution is branded. The favourably inclined foreign universities also expect to be treated on par with Indian institutions in matters of government funding and scholarships. In return, they are willing to implement the Indian policy of social inclusion in higher education in their IBCs.

A related aspect of internationalisation of higher education is India's keen interest on increasing the inflow of foreign students. The Study in India programme was launched in April 2018 with generous scholarships. Top universities encourage their students to go abroad for a semester or a year. Exposure to multiple cultures, subjects and pedagogies is deemed to be an asset and part of cultural capital. India is no doubt a potential destination for such study abroad experiences although it must be admitted that it is not happening on a large scale. The establishment of IBCs in India would gel well with the Indian quest for the in-bound mobility of students and scholars. The international standards maintained by the IBCs would be attractive enough for international students to explore and experience Indian education and culture.

JANUARY 22, 1981, FORTY YEARS AGO

KARNATAKA VIOLENCE
AT LEAST FIVE people were killed in the police firings at the HAL in Bangalore and in Chintamani, Kolar district, Karnataka. Three students were killed when the police opened firing in Chintamani, about 70 km from Bangalore. In Bangalore, two people were killed when the police opened fire to quell a riotous mob during the bandh called by the striking employees of the public sector units. The police opened fire after their attempt to disperse the stone-throwing mob through lathicharging and teargassing failed. In fact, the mob snatched a constable's rifle and set fire to a police officer's motorcycle and a few cycles. The forum of public sector employees demanded a judicial inquiry into the police firing and called on workers to observe January 25 as a black day.

MADRAS CJ RESIGNS
THE CHIEF JUSTICE of the Madras High Court, M M Ismail, is resigning in protest against his transfer to Kerala "without" his "consent". Sources close to him said that a straightforward and honest judge opposed to any form of authoritarianism had no other alternative but to tender his resignation. They said that Ismail was not opposed to the transfer per se but the manner in which it was imposed on him. He sat on court on January 21 and is likely to sit on January 22 as well.

WHO TRAINS COPS?
THE POLICE TRAINING institutions in Punjab and Haryana, responsible for training "the guardians of the law" and "friends of the public" seem inadequately equipped to discharge their functions. They are staffed by "condemned" and "shelved" police personnel, an investigation by this newspaper has revealed. These institutions also have inadequate facilities and are run according to a dated curriculum framed in British times.

HOOCH TRAGEDY
FIVE PERSONS DIED after drinking illicit liquor in Jaipur district of Rajasthan. Two others were admitted to hospital.

The case for Rahane

Gabba win provokes the question: Does India need Virat Kohli the great batsman or Virat Kohli a mediocre captain? In the larger interest of Indian cricket, Rahane should lead in Tests

BISHAN SINGH BEDI

I MUST CONFESS I am still in a state of inebriation after the Indian flag fluttered on Tuesday evening at the Gabba. I did in fact tell my wife, that it was all so orgasmic!

A place far away from home, an intimidating arena, and an Australian fortress now feels so desi, so Indian, a future tourist attraction where cricket-loving Indians from all over the world will take their kids and say, "Look, feel, savour, here is where our cricket team swaggered with their broken bodies and unearned that intangible quality of character and earned respect."

My Twitter handle exploded as I struggled to come to terms with the awesomeness of it all. The media went to town trying their best to describe the Brisbane goosebumps. Social media, however, was miles ahead, devouring every bit of each and every player's family members, who understandably thoroughly enjoyed their reflected sunshine.

However, I didn't understand one particular aspect in this celebration. I don't quite get the need to overemphasise the modest back stories of players. Someone being a rickshaw driver's son has nothing to do with his cricket: On a sporting field all are equals. Those adjectives, intended praise perhaps, seem like slurs. If youngsters are competing on equal terms then where's the need to indulge in pity of any sort? I get that the people want to highlight the hardships involved in the journey to the Indian team for inspiration. But the way it plays out on social media and WhatsApp forwards, it's stripped off those nuances and comes across as insensitive.

Another of my peeve is the hyping tag of "the greatest win ever". It reduces some of the truly great memories of the past as mere footnote-moments. I have tried to get to the bottom of this phenomenon and have concluded that Mother Nature doesn't allow us to keep our memory bank bursting with a distant past. Only recent memories stay alive and kicking. They call it recency bias. And a momentous event like the Gabba glory turns into instant gratification — the need to glorify the present ends up in erasure of the past. The past recedes into a distance, almost out of realms of reality; this is purely a psychological ploy to process the present.

The context of the pandemic, which became the backdrop of this great achievement, also has added further layers. In India, we have had to cope with man-made disasters also. So, this cricket series was played in an environment of doom and gloom. Ajinkya Rahane & Co. have worked wonders to bring smiles to our drab faces. For that we can't be grateful enough, appreciative enough.

Personally, I am floored with the way Rahane conjured magic from broken bodies around him. The way he handled his meagre resources reminds me of Tiger Pataudi, who throughout his captaincy tenure was woefully short of a well-rounded unit but his leadership alone gave Indian cricket fresh legs. It was Pataudi who defined an "indianness" in our cricket. He infused in us a thrilling sense of being together in this ride.

Mind you, when Tiger was thrown at the deep end, his biggest qualification was his royal upbringing, the very thing that could have jeopardised his and our chances. The country had chosen democracy, reducing the kings and queens to mythology, to children's games. Tiger never flaunted his regal heritage and got into his groove fairly soon to leave a stamp of utter selflessness and humility — the soul of leadership. I find all these qualities in Rahane and he is a seasoned campaigner unlike Patuadi, who had to find his way in the captaincy maze.

I've observed Rahane pretty closely on this tour. The hallmark of any captain is his ability to handle the bowling resources. This is where yours truly has become an absolute "mureed" of Rahane. Three Tests is good enough time to assess a captain's bowling changes and fielding placements. I tried hard but I couldn't find a single Rahane move which could be questioned by armchair critics like me.

Let me keep my views away from the context for a while and lend an ear to Chappell (Ian Chappell), someone not in a habit to be appreciative of foreign captains on Australian soil. Actually, most of the Australian media is pretty notorious when it comes to truly complimenting the leaders of the visiting teams. However, Rahane came in for raving praise from Chappell and all and sundry in print as well as electronic media.

For me personally, it was more important that the Indian bowlers thrived under Rahane's quiet but watchful eyes. Ravichandran Ashwin is not easily satisfied with himself or even with the man at the helm. But it was heartening to see him at peace with himself and also the captain. You could see him all-involved in the final Test even when he wasn't in the playing XI. The obvious sign of a disgruntled dressing room are sulking faces of those carrying drinks.

Even to a critical eye, it was pleasing to see a captain who was unperturbed, unruffled and least demonstrative. What sealed my vote for him was his gesture at the end of the Test.

I've observed Rahane pretty closely on this tour. The hallmark of any captain is his ability to handle the bowling resources. This is where yours truly has become an absolute "mureed" of Rahane. Three Tests is good enough time to assess a captain's bowling changes and fielding placements. I tried hard but I couldn't find a single Rahane move which could be questioned by armchair critics like me.

Watching him hand over the glittering Border-Gavaskar Trophy to T Natarajan, a rookie on his first away tour, would have had the cricketing Gods looking down at him with kind eyes. This for me was pure and simple leadership at its honest best.

The great Richie Benaud famously said, "Captaincy is 90 per cent luck and 10 per cent skill. But don't try it without that 10 per cent." Rahane has both, though with a minor change in proportion. He has 50 per cent luck and 50 per cent skill.

I hope I'm not giving the impression of bending my back to build a case for Rahane to take over as Test captain. If anything my sincere aim is to prolong Virat Kohli's batting career for the country. Shared responsibilities in cricket are different from corporate/political fields where individuals are almost vying for cut-throat glory. In sports, especially cricket, captains can be seen swimming or sinking with the teams they lead.

Another ticklish thought pops up in my mind: Does India need Virat Kohli the great batsman or Virat Kohli a mediocre captain in the long run? Evidence has provided us with an instant option. Rahane can lead in Tests while Kohli and Rohit Sharma can share the duties in white-ball cricket. I am certain none of the selectors would want to own up this responsibility. Maybe Kohli can offer to make an honourable way for Rahane to take over during the series against England at home. I can assure no bad blood would be caused when we ensure that the larger picture on the canvas is Indian cricket.

Postscript: Not for a moment am I suggesting that given an opportunity to lead Indian Test side, Rahane will not commit a blunder. Far from it. Having played this game long enough I can safely confide that cricket has a great knack of bringing down a haughty head with a thud. Chances of Rahane meeting with that fate are slender — because he doesn't seem to possess a haughty head, not yet anyway.

For Super Middlemen

Centre's farm laws transgress Constitution's federal structure. They will create monopolies in agriculture production and trade, hurt farmers

DUSHYANT DAVE

THE CONSTITUTION of India is a "fundamental document", as declared by B R Ambedkar on September 17, 1949 during the Constituent Assembly debates. To him, this document defined the powers and functions of the three organs of the state — the legislature, executive and judiciary: "...in fact, the purpose of a Constitution is not merely to create the organs of the State but to limit their authority because if no limitation was imposed upon the authority of organs, there will be complete tyranny and oppression... it would result in utter chaos."

The Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement on Price Assurance and Farm Services Act, 2020 (Act 20 of 2020), Farmers' Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Act, 2020 (Act 21 of 2020) and the Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act (ECA), 2020 (No. 22 of 2020), have been enacted by Parliament, and seemingly step beyond its authority, creating chaos.

Let us examine them from a constitutional perspective. The Supreme Court (SC) has consistently held agriculture to be a state subject. A constitution bench in ITC Ltd. v. Agricultural Produce Market Committee (2002) held: "The Constitution of India deserves to be interpreted, language permitting, in a manner that it does not whittle down the powers of the State Legislature and preserves the federalism while also upholding the Central supremacy," holding that Parliament is incompetent to legislate on agriculture.

By Act 22, Parliament has virtually made the ECA, 1955, redundant. Central and state governments can now control the supply and price of essential commodities only in exceptional circumstances. Far from sub-serving the "interests of the general public", interests of large businesses will be served.

Act No. 20 and 21 of 2020, enacted by Parliament are clearly referable to Entry 14 and Entry 28 of List II, which include "agriculture" and "markets". The Constitution distributes in Schedule VII, subjects or matters to be legislated thus: List I for Parliament, List II for state legislatures, and List III for concurrent exercise by both, subject to limitations. Clearly, the Constitution-framers wanted states to deal exclusively with matters relating to agriculture.

T T Krishnamachari, member of the Drafting Committee, made the following pertinent point in the Constituent Assembly on June 14, 1949: "I am one of those who believes, and believes very firmly, that wherever we assign a field to the provinces in which they can act we must leave that province in sole charge of that field..."

Shibanlal Saxena moved an amendment seeking "...that agriculture and land revenue systems all over India should be amenable to planning on an all-India scale". This amendment was not accepted by Krishnamachari and was rejected. Brajeshwar Prasad proposed an amendment arguing that "agriculture is a vital subject... but here I am only saying that the power to legislate on this subject must remain exclusively in the hands of the Centre." Krishnamachari rejected this saying, that "agriculture happens to be the principal industry in this country, and practically one of the main functions of the State, and beyond taking certain powers for the purpose of co-ordination, I do not think the Centre is at all capable of handling this vast problem..."

The two farm laws, ostensibly meant to create an ecosystem where farmers and traders enjoy the freedom of choice relating to the sale and purchase of farmers' produce, contain extraordinary provisions opposed to the regulation of markets by states for the sale and purchase of agricultural produce. In M.C. V.S. Arunachala Nadar Etc vs The State Of Madras & Others, the SC, speaking through J Subba Rao, asserted "that cultivators suffer from many handicaps; to begin with he is illiterate and in general ignorant of prevailing market prices especially in regard to commercial crops... The establishment of regulated markets must form an essential part of any ordered plan of agricultural development in this country." The Court observed: "The aforesaid observations describe the pitiable dependence of the middle-class and poor ryots on the middlemen and petty traders, with the result that the cultivators are not able to find markets for their produce wherein they can expect reasonable price for them."

The new farm laws, far from providing regulated markets, purport to leave cultivators to the mercy of the free market. A farming agreement for one or five years, providing for various facets of the supply of produce, including time, standards and price and other related matters, the power of inspection and rejection can create serious hurdles for the illiterate and ignorant cultivator. State laws do not apply once a farming agreement has been entered into and no stock limit applies to quantities of farming produce purchased thereunder, notwithstanding the ECA. The freedom to carry on inter-state or intra-state trade and commerce in farm produce is now absolute. No levy or fee can be levied under the state APMC Act or any other law of the state.

The farm laws are clearly aimed at creating trading giants in agricultural produce who can control agricultural activity. These laws create "super middlemen" to replace the existing smaller middlemen, hurting the cultivators even more. The availability of regulated markets and the hope for fair prices stand shattered. Farm laws run counter to the state's policy, inter-alia, to distribute material resources to sub-serve common good, a Directive Principle.

In its 2019 election manifesto, the BJP had made 12 promises to farmers declaring, "at the very beginning of our current term, Prime Minister Modi embarked on a mission to double farmers' income. We will make all efforts to achieve this goal by 2022." So, what made it take a complete U-Turn? And why is the PM not willing to keep up his promise? We will never know.

Necessary, not essential

Need to control prices of certain commodities is historically contingent

TIMES CHANGE and economies evolve. If one hangs on to policies simply because of a historical legacy, that will be an inferior response. There was an Air Corporations Act of 1953, repealed in 1994. It is unlikely anyone will want the pre-1994 monopoly of Indian Airlines and Air India simply because this was perceived to be important in 1953. The Essential Commodities Act (ECA), dated 1955, is roughly of the same vintage. That's not quite correct — ECA's antecedents are of an earlier vintage. It goes back to war-time shortages and the Defence of India Act, 1939. When World War II was over, there was no possible justification for that particular Defence of India Act and it was repealed. However, there was justification for government control over "essential" commodities, "essential" being defined as necessary and indispensable.

Accordingly, there was first an ordinance and then an Act in 1946, the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act. The preamble and title indicated this was meant to be temporary. Meanwhile, we had the Constitution and under Article 269, the Union government had powers to enact laws for items on the State List, as if they were on the Concurrent List. But only for five years "from the commencement of the Constitution". That took us to 1955 and we can skip the details of how Entry 33 in the Concurrent List was amended so that the ECA permanently entered the statute books.

Footwear may be essential, in the sense of being indispensable. That doesn't necessarily mean the government should "control the production, supply and distribution of, and trade and commerce" in footwear. At least that's what most people will think now. However, if we cast our minds back, in 1973, a Planning Commission "Committee on Essential Commodities and Articles of Mass Consumption" concluded that the following were essential items — cereals, pulses, sugar, gur and khandsari; edible oils and vanaspati; milk, eggs and fish; common clothing; standard footwear; kerosene oil and domestic fuels; common drugs and medicines; bicycles, bicycle tyres and tubes; matches, dry cells and hurricane lanterns; soaps and detergents; textbooks and stationery. Hence, it felt, "in the urban sector the requirement would be to make available one or two common types of footwear — called 'Janta' shoes or chappals — at reasonable prices." The distribution of "common clothing, standard footwear and soaps and detergents may be entrusted to the National Cooperative Consumers Federation".

Over time, in addition to those listed by Planning Commission, the essential products list included aluminium, art silk textiles, cement, cinema carbon, coarse grains, coconut husks, coir retting, cold storages, collieries, copper, cotton, drugs, dry batteries, electrical appliances, electrical cables and wires, ethyl alcohol, fertilisers, food grains, fruit, furnace oil, electric lamps, diesel oil, household electrical appliances, cars, maize, insecticides, iron and steel, jute and jute textiles, kerosene, linoleum, LPG, lubricating oils and grease, meat, molasses, mustard oil, newsprint, oil pressure stoves, paper, paraffin wax, petroleum products, plants, fruits and seeds, pulses and edible oils, groundnut oil, rice, salt, sugar and sugarcane, synthetic rubber, tea, textiles, tractors, two-wheelers, tyres and tubes, vegetable oil, wheat. The ECA has a schedule (Section 2) of what is "essential" and if an item is in that schedule, it is axiomatically "essential". Before liberalisation, there were around 80 Union government-level orders and around 150 state government-level orders decreeing various items as "essential". Note that if an item is not in the schedule, under that same Section 2, when circumstances warrant, it can be put back on the schedule, sometimes for a limited period of six months.

The progressive tightening of the ECA manifested itself through more and more items being added to the schedule. In addition, offences were made non-bailable and there were special courts. For example, in 1974, an amendment noted, "The hoarders, black-marketeers are playing hell with the lives of millions of people in the country." Hence, offences were made non-bailable. We shouldn't forget the Essential Commodities (Special Provisions) Act of 1981 or the 1980 Prevention of Black Marketing and Maintenance of Supplies of Essential Commodities Act either.

Hording has a negative nuance attached to it, though hoarders often perform a useful function of reducing price volatility. In contrast, black marketing has a uniformly negative nuance. But black markets exist only when there is a shortage. Just because an item like footwear is indispensable, there is no call for the government to intervene in the market. The antecedents were because of war-related shortages. The subsequent shortage was created through industrial licencing. Licencing led to entry barriers and shortages. Shortages led to price controls and government intervention. In 1973, the Planning Commission also recognised this: "Assured supply of specific essential commodities and articles of mass consumption at reasonably stable prices will not be a practical proposition if domestic availability of these items does not expand in line with the growing demand." But, in that day and age, it didn't recommend an end to licencing.

When delicensing occurred, there was no longer any shortage of manufactured products and several items have progressively been removed from the essential items schedule. Why are people upset that cereals, pulses, oilseeds, edible oils, onions and potatoes have been removed from the schedule? If necessary, they can always be put back, hopefully temporarily. More importantly, there is an issue of de-seasonalising prices of agricultural commodities, often subject to cycles. But the ECA doesn't solve that problem. It is solved by ensuring storage and processing, allowing markets to function, not through limiting them.

PM to interact with beneficiaries, vaccinators in Varanasi today

Modi, other elected representatives may take job in phase 2

KAUNAIN SHERIFF M & LIZ MATHEW
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

WITH NEARLY one million health workers getting the first dose of the Covid-19 vaccine, Prime Minister Narendra Modi will Friday speak with some of these beneficiaries on their inoculation experience in order to boost confidence among the people.

"The world's largest vaccination drive is underway in India. Our frontline warriors are getting vaccinated across the nation. At 1:15 PM tomorrow, 22nd January, I would interact with beneficiaries and vaccinators of Covid vaccination drive in Varanasi, via video conferencing," Prime Minister Modi tweeted.

Sources in the PMO indicated that as another step towards creating vaccine confidence, the Prime Minister and other elected representatives will likely take the vaccine in the second phase, when the priority group above the age of 50 will be inoculated.

"The PM also is likely to take the vaccine. In the first phase, it was meant for health workers and frontline workers. Now, it will not be out of turn for political leaders," said a source.

The Union Health Ministry Thursday said the cumulative number of vaccinated healthcare workers had touched 9,99,065 till 6 pm. The Prime Minister said the virtual interaction "would give first-hand opportunity to hear their experiences as well as feedback" on vaccination.

"The interaction follows continuous dialogue and discussion by the Prime Minister with scientists, political leaders, officials and other stakeholders to proactively ensure smooth conduct of the world's largest vaccination drive," the Prime Minister's Office said in a statement.

On the demand by several states, including BJP-ruled Bihar, that elected representatives be included in the first priority group, Modi during his interaction with Chief Ministers had earlier said: "...This is my personal suggestion. First are the corona warriors, second are frontline workers. The people's representatives are not included in this category."

The Health Ministry said that on Thursday, 4,041 vaccination sessions were conducted across the country and 1,92,581 beneficiaries were vaccinated till 6 pm. "187 Adverse Events Following Immunization (AEFIs) have been reported till 6 pm on the sixth day of the vaccination drive," the ministry said.

The Health Ministry said one hospitalisation following immunization has been reported from Rajasthan—however, the event was "not related to vaccination". The beneficiary was vaccinated on January 16 and four days later suffered from intracranial hemorrhage and was admitted to an Udaipur hospital.

On Thursday, Odisha (26,558), Telangana (26,441), Karnataka (16,103) and Bihar (15,798) recorded the maximum vaccinations in the country.

Meanwhile, on Thursday, the Health Ministry unveiled an "Information, Education and Communication" campaign to address vaccine hesitancy and misinformation. "Let us put a stop to these falsehoods. All eminent doctors of well-known hospitals have taken the vaccine and praised the exercise for its desired end," Dr Harsh Vardhan, Union Minister of Health & Family Welfare, said during the launch. "...The paradox is that countries across the globe are asking us for access to the vaccines while a section of our own is fomenting misinformation..." Vardhan said while urging everyone to seek correct information from credible and authentic sources.

4.3 lakh frontline railway staffers to get shots

AVISHEK G DASTIDAR
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

MORE THAN 4.3 lakh railway employees have been selected to receive the coronavirus vaccine as part of the country's frontline work force. They include station masters, engine drivers, security personnel, ticket checkers and trackmen.

After discussions with the Health Ministry, Railways started compiling a list of its frontline staff. More than 30,000 railway employees have so far contracted Covid-19 and around 700 have died from it.

With freight train operations in full swing and passenger train services getting back to pre-lockdown levels, it was decided to insulate the critical staff of the national transporter engaged with public interface work as well as backroom operations such as maintenance from the virus.

The majority of the shots will be received by commercial staff associated in public interface work such as ticket checking. Around 36,000 station workers, including station masters, are on the list. More than 70,000 are inspectors, ticket checkers and others who are on trains and stations.

Around 70,000 are from the Railway Protection Force, while 41,000 loco pilots and 44,000 assistant loco pilots will get the vaccine. This apart, 8,000 trackmen and around 6,000 shunters have also been identified. Healthcare staff of the Indian Railways will also be insulated. Around 32,000 health workers and around 5,000 contractual staff are on the list.

SC issues notice on petition against web series 'Mirzapur'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

THE SUPREME Court on Thursday issued a notice to Amazon Prime Video and Excel Entertainment, the makers of 'Mirzapur', on a plea seeking a ban on the second season of the web series on the ground that it "has completely tarnished the historical and cultural image of the city/district". The petition also sought setting up of a pre-screening committee for programmes directly launched on online platforms.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India S A Bobde also sought the response of the central government on the petition filed by Sujeet Kumar Singh, a 38-year-old farmer from a village in Uttar Pradesh's Mirzapur.

Rudra Vikram Singh, the petitioner's lawyer and younger brother, said he had not moved against 'Mirzapur 1' as it had already been released. The petition was filed on September 22 last year, seeking a ban on the second season which was due for release in October. It came up for hearing on Thursday.

Akbar to court: Ramani destroyed evidence by deleting Twitter account

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

FORMER UNION Minister M J Akbar, who has filed a criminal defamation case against journalist Priya Ramani over allegations of sexual misconduct and harassment, told a Delhi court through his lawyers on Thursday that she "deliberately, intentionally, maliciously" destroyed evidence by deleting the Twitter account.

Akbar has sued Ramani over allegations of sexual misconduct and harassment. With several other women making similar allegations against him, Akbar resigned as Minister of State for External Affairs in October 2018.

According to the petition, the web series "has shown every resident of Mirzapur as goon, vagabond and adulterer in front of the country", so much so that its residents "feel shy and hesitant" when people outside Mirzapur look at them with suspicion after watching the series. It is full of "nudity, vulgarity... and abusive language", the petition said.

Such shows "are clear violation of the dictum of the Supreme Court to block the publication or transmission of obscene material containing sexually explicit act or conduct and also publishing or transmitting of material containing sexually explicit act or conduct and also publishing or transmitting material depicting children in sexually explicit act or conduct forthwith", it said.

The complainant has also said the show promoted social enmity, showcased abusive content and presented the district in poor light and even showed illicit relations on screen.

The FIR has named show producers Ritesh Sidhwani, Farhan Akhtar and Bhaumik Gondaliya under sections 295A (deliberate and malicious acts, intended to outrage religious feelings of any class by insulting its religion or religious beliefs), 504 (intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of the peace) and 505 (statements conducing to public mischief) of the IPC along with sections of the Information Technology Act.

Besides the Vindhyachal Temple, which is one of the 108 Shaktipeethas, the place is also home to Kantil Sharif Dargah and Ashtabhuj Temple.

Also, it was the workplace of Rashtra Kavi Nirala, who lit a flame of revolution against the British, Singh said in his petition, among other things that make Mirzapur famous. All this notwithstanding, the series portrays "that the city/district belongs to the goons only". It shows the district administration and judiciary bowing down to goons, the petitioner said, adding that women are shown as promiscuous and in some cases incestuous.

While we even visited producer Himanshu Mehra's office address in Andheri, it seems that he vacated that office two years ago."

KUTCH VIOLENCE

36 arrested for rioting, probe into migrant death continues

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
RAJKOT, JANUARY 21

THREE DAYS after two groups belonging to different communities clashed, leaving a migrant worker dead and several injured in Kidana village near Gandhidham town in Kutch district, 'B' Division police station of Gandhidham has arrested 36 people for rioting even as a fourth FIR has been registered in connection with that incident.

"We arrested 36 people yesterday in connection with the case of rioting registered after the violence in Kidana. Those who have been arrested are the people who were rounded up after the violence," Mayur Patil, Superintendent of Police, Kutch (east), said.

Those arrested belong to the both the groups that clashed in Kidana village on January 17 during Vishwa Hindu Parishad's (VHP) rath yatra to collect funds for the proposed Ram temple in Ayodhya. "For us, who belongs to what group is not important. All that matters is that they were involved in the offence," the SP added.

The FIR, the basis, on which the arrests were made, said violence started when leaders of the rath yatra started raising religious slogans loudly when the rath reached Masjid Chowk.

In the clashes, Arjun Sovaiya, a 30-year-old migrant worker from Jharkhand, was allegedly stabbed to death and the auto driver he was travelling in was set on fire. The murder charge is in the FIR lodged by the auto driver Nurmamad Chavda at the same police station.

Patil, however, said no one was arrested in connection with the murder. "Investigation is going on but we are collecting more evidence. We are analysing CCTV footage and video clips recorded in phones," said the SP.

Milk prices defy seasonal trend as supply pressures build

HARISH DAMODARAN
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

VEGETABLE PRICES have cooled with the usual winter-time increase in supplies of carrots, cauliflower, cabbage, radish, capsicum and peas. Even onions and tomatoes aren't on fire like they were only a couple of months ago.

That isn't happening though in milk, whose production also tends to rise during winters when calvings by buffaloes peak. Dairies are now paying more for milk during the current "flush" season (October-March), even as prices of dairy products have firmed up. And if international market trends are any indication, they look set to climb further.

On Tuesday, skim milk powder (SMP) prices at Global Dairy Trade (GDT), the fortnightly auction platform of New Zealand's Fonterra Cooperative, averaged $3,243 per tonne, the highest since the $3,264 of August 5, 2014.

In the domestic market, too, dairies are selling SMP at Rs 245-255 per kg, as against Rs 180-190 in September and the Rs 140-150 lows touched in July. Even more striking is the recovery in milk fat prices. According to Ganesan Palaniappan, a leading Chennai-based dairy commodities trader, ex-factory rates of cow butter and ghee are ruling at Rs 305-310 and Rs 400 per kg, respectively. These are up from their corresponding levels of Rs 260-270 and Rs 340-350/kg in September and Rs 200-225 and Rs 280-290 in July.

All this is reflected in milk prices as well. Maharashtra dairies are procuring cow milk with 3.5% fat and 8.5% solids-not-fat content) at Rs 27-28 per litre, compared to Rs 24-25 in September and Rs 18-20 in July. "Global prices at more than six-year high is good for Indian farmers. It also opens up export possibilities, especially of white butter and ghee," said R S Sodhi, managing director of Gujarat Cooperative Milk Marketing Federation (GCMMF). Anhydrous milk fat (ghee) prices soared 17.2% to $5,398 per tonne in the latest GDT auction, while butter was traded at an average of $4,735. That latter works out to around Rs 346 per kg, which is, in fact, above the Rs 305-310 being realised by Indian dairies on domestic sales.

Hardening of milk prices is nevertheless unusual at this time. The calving season for animals, when more milk starts flowing from their udders, generally begins from September. That is when temperature and humidity levels drop, alongside improved fodder-cum-straw availability from the monsoon rains and harvesting of the kharif crop. The calvings peak in the winter and continue till March-April before the onset of summer.

The unseasonal supply crunch being seen at present is basically a lagged effect of the Covid-19 induced lockdown that forced the closure of hotels, restaurants, hostels and canteens, apart from cancellation of marriages and other public functions. The demand destruction and price crash from that resulted in farmers underfeeding their animals.

"The impact of that is playing out just when demand is returning. Hotels and restaurants have already reopened, weddings are taking place, and schools, colleges and hostels are also restarting. So, we have a supply-demand mismatch," Rahul Kumar, CEO of the French multinational Lactalis India, which owns Prabhat Dairy in Mumbai and Thirumala Milk Products Pvt Ltd in Chennai, told The Indian Express.

The above mismatch could increase in the coming days due to three reasons. The first is that very few dairies - GCMMF, Karnataka Milk Federation and Tamil Nadu's Aavin - are today holding enough stocks of powder and fat. The second is international prices, which make exports more viable than imports.

The third reason has, again, to do with Covid. The lockdown made it difficult for farmers to access artificial insemination services. There were supply chain issues - be it of liquid nitrogen containers, frozen semen straws or technicians. Not being able to inseminate on time could, in turn, translate into further delayed calvings.

Sensex @50,000, what next for investors

The non-stop bull rally on the stock markets has taken the benchmark over the milestone of 50,000. But several questions loom over the market horizon: Is the rally for real? Why is it happening? Will the bull run continue?

SANDEEP SINGH & GEORGE MATHEW

How has the Sensex moved and changed over time?

Launched on January 2, 1986 (base year: 1978-79 = 100), the country's first equity index has risen from 124 in April 1979 to 50,000 today, a compounded annual growth rate of 15.9% over 42 years. From 1990, when it hit 1,000, the CAGR of the S&P BSE Sensex is 13.5%.

Thirty-five years ago, there were no IT companies and banking stocks in the benchmark index; it now has 9 stocks from banking and finance, and 4 information technology companies. Only five companies that were initially part of the index retain their place — Reliance Industries, HUL, ITC, L&T, and M&M.

What is behind the unhindered rise of the market?

The continuous rally that followed the crash triggered by the Covid-19 pandemic in February and March 2020, was driven by foreign portfolio investors (FPIs); since April 1, 2020, inflows have hit a record Rs 2.41 lakh crore. The system is flush with liquidity, which is one reason for the non-stop rally.

The latest spike that has pushed the Sensex past 50,000 is primarily on account of the smooth transition of power in the United States after the deadly January 6 siege of the Capitol. As President Joe Biden offered hope — promising to take all Americans along and hinting at improving relations with the rest of the world — market sentiments were lifted. Biden's proposed $1.9 trillion stimulus is likely to keep global markets at elevated levels for now.

Analysts expect the combination of strong capital inflows, low interest rates, leaner corporate balance sheets, and steps taken by the government, to quicken the pace of economic recovery in India. GDP, which contracted by 23.9% in the June quarter, is expected to rise by 0.1% in the December quarter. In the first half of 2021-22, the economy will grow at 14.2%, according to a Reserve Bank of India study. Apart from robust FPI inflows, a big reason for the rally has been the impressive corporate results in the second and third quarters.

Is the rally broad-based, or limited to only a few stocks?

The Sensex, which fell by 36% between February and March 23, 2020 — when it closed at 25,981 — has risen by 68% since April 1. On Thursday, it hit an all-time high of 50,184, before retreating to close at 49,624. While this has been the gain for the 30-stock index at BSE, the broader markets too have been part of the rally.

Over the same period, the BSE mid cap index has risen over 80%, and the small cap index by over 95%. Almost all major sectors have participated in the rally — the auto index has jumped 117%; and metal and IT indices have risen 110% and 105% respectively. The technology, capital goods and healthcare, banking and consumer durable indices have risen by over 60%; the oil and gas index by 47%; and the telecom and FMCG indices by 46% and 24% respectively.

At this point, is there optimism about the future?

There is optimism for several reasons. The sharp decline in Covid-19 numbers and the beginning of mass vaccination have raised hopes for normalisation of the economy, and the strong showing by companies in the third quarter has been a positive sign.

With the uptick in demand for steel, cement, and real estate, as well as in consumption, analysts expect to see a restarting of investment by the corporate sector over a period of 12 months from now.

While the low interest rate scenario is likely to continue for sometime both on the domestic and global fronts, there is talk of a fiscal stimulus in the Budget on February 1, which could provide a fillip to the economy and markets. Many see the Budget exercise as an opportunity for the government to showcase its agenda for reforms and growth of the economy going forward.

Finally, the soothing words from President Biden at his inauguration have brought hope of improvement in the global trade environment, and a rebuilding of trust and better trading relations between countries.

Does this mean the market will continue to rise?

As of now, the bulls seem energetic — and barring temporary blips, markets are likely to remain at elevated levels, and rise further. While the transition in the US is comforting for markets, there is expectation of additional stimulus, some of which are likely to find its way into Indian equity markets. There is hope that the worst of the pandemic is over, and that rapid vaccination will bring confidence and define the pace of recovery in the economy.

The Indian rally has been driven by the huge liquidity in global markets, and FPIs are expected to bring more funds into Indian equities in the coming financial year as global interest rates remain low and India's economic fundamentals make the country an attractive investment destination.

Are there any concerns, and reasons to be cautious?

While investors want the rally to continue, they know that the markets are trading in an expensive zone, and a dose of negative news may just pull the trigger for a correction. Vaccines have been great news for markets since November 2020, but some concerns remain over new mutant strains of the virus, and the effectiveness of vaccines against them.

Many feel that the duration of the stimulus programme will be key. If the central banks decide to pull the plug earlier than expected, then the markets could see correction as economies need to come back on track before the stimulus is rolled back.

"As of now, liquidity is pushing up the market. When the liquidity tap closes, there could be some correction. The RBI can't keep on pumping liquidity into the system as it will push up inflation. Some marketmen also feel fundamentals are being ignored. Retail investors should not blindly put money in stocks. Retail investors have burnt their fingers several times in the past," a veteran stock broker Pawan Dhamidharka said.

The aspect of inclusivity has been flagged. Small businesses and individuals at the bottom of the pyramid were worst hit by the pandemic, but the recovery so far remains largely limited to large and medium corporates. "The government's fiscal support will have to take care of this, because if growth is not inclusive, it will not be sustainable in the long term," the CEO of a leading mutual fund said.

Analysts say that the rise in inflation, tightening of monetary policy, and increase in interest rates will also be critical for the markets. If the US decides to increase rates, money will start flowing back from emerging market equities to US treasuries, and that may result in a correction.

"Investors should not get carried away by the euphoria of this bull run. At high levels, markets are vulnerable to corrections," VK Vijayakumar, chief investment strategist at Geojit Financial Services, said.

Should you book some profits now?

It won't be a bad idea to book some profits on investments that have achieved their targeted growth, and for investors who need to go for asset allocation. However, one has to be clear on the new investment destination, as booking profits to reinvest when markets fall, may not pay out as expected.

It must always be remembered that while investments should be made in a regular and disciplined manner, redemption or profit-booking must be planned and executed when the markets are on a high, or when the expected gains have been achieved. Experts say it is better to pull out from individual stock investments, and to allow the mutual funds to play out because mutual fund investments are diversified and less risky.

Feb 2014 to Jan 2015

The Sensex rises sharply from levels of 20,000 to 29,000, or around 45%, with the surge beginning amid expectations of victory of the BJP-led NDA under the leadership of Narendra Modi.

Feb 2006 to Dec 2007

The Sensex doubles from 10,000 to 20,000. This is driven by high economic activity, high GDP growth rates and strong inflow from foreign portfolio investors.

Jan 2004 to Dec 2005

The Sensex rises sharply from levels of around 6,000 to 9,000, led by low interest rates in the economy, high pace of infrastructure development and a revised GDP growth rate for 2005-06.

July 1991 to April 1992

The Sensex almost triples from levels of around 1,500 to 4,500, following the hugely reformist budget presented by then Finance Minister Manmohan Singh in July 1991.

Trump's presidency, reflected in his golf

SHIVANI NAIK
MUMBAI, JANUARY 21

IT WON'T quite make the second impeachment dossier amid the litany of other offences. But caddies can testify that outgoing President Donald Trump killed trees on a golf course.

He would carry a can of red spray paint in his golf cart. "Whenever his ball hit a tree that he didn't think was fair, he'd go up and paint a big X on it," Rick Reilly writes in Commander in Cheat: How Golf Explains Trump in 2019. "The next day the tree was gone," a caddy told Reilly of Trump's whims on the golf course, which turned out to be a microcosm of his presidency.

When the Professional Golfers' Association (PGA) of America revoked hosting rights of the 2022 PGA championship of the Bedminster golf course he owned, Trump was said to be furious. Talk of impeachment had already incensed him, but after the PGA's dumping, he is said to have worked up an altogether different level of frenzy.

It is no secret that Trump consistently sought refuge in golf. The grass was always greener on that side. Though, when it wasn't — like at Pinehurst one year — he raged about turtlebacks on the course: "Disgraceful... ugly... burnt... just to save water."

"I would make golf aspirational, instead of trying to bring everybody into golf, people that are never gonna be able to be there anyway."

Obama shouldn't play

When trying to win the presidency in 2016, Trump got stuck into incumbent Barack Obama; golfing, tweeting about it 27 times between 2011 and 2016, SB Nation counted. "Can you believe that, with all of the problems and difficulties facing the US, President Obama spent the day playing golf. Worse than Carter," he said in 2014.

If elected, he promised, he'd have no time for a round. But in his first year itself, Trump made between 87 and 94 trips to the golf course. His Mar-a-Lago golf property in Florida became the "Winter White House". Bedminster was White House for summers.

In 2017, Newsweek reported that a giant white box truck blocked camera views of photographers who would click the identifiable red cap from behind hedges. This was Golfgate. The US Secret Service had to release a statement saying: "The USSS is in the business of protection and investigations not in commissioning vehicles to block the media's view of the President's golf swing."

Golf and diplomacy

Trump's presidency had milked the property at Bedminster by doubling the initiation fee to $200,000 (which went up to $450,000 by 2019). A press detail always accompanied him to his properties; POTUS would even plug his properties in UN speeches. And the Secret Service spent $150,000 in golf cart rentals (their largest spending) to tail and protect Trump, USA Today reported in 2018.

Lobbyists had figured that the President could be easily accessed (and flattered) with a casual membership of his club — where they could "run into" him.

But it was the company of the pros that Trump sought — from Tiger Woods to Dustin Johnson and Bryson DeChambeau. Annika Sorenstam and Gary Player were receiving Presidential Medals of Freedom a day after the January 6 storming of the Capitol.

Trump hosted heads of state such as the Chinese premier and Japanese former PM Shinzo Abe at Mar-a-Lago. The then Australian PM had to lean in on golf legend Greg Norman for Trump's cell number, while the New Zealand premier was asked by Trump to pass on a fanboy-message and request a meeting with the 1963 British Open champ Bob Charles, 80, who quipped that he might be a rare New Zealander Trump actually knew, solely on account of golf.

But diplomacy took a sinister turn when a couple of former Presidents of Colombia turned up at Trump's Florida golf club and met him unofficially, persuading him that a peace process underway with rebels back home would best be scuttled, according to a report by mcclatchydc.com.

Trump's golf diplomacy emboldened Republican fundraiser Elliot Brody to try and set up a "golf date" with Trump for a former Malaysian PM to lobby for resolving corruption charges that would help Brody's financial interests in 2017. Though the outing never happened, Brody, who pleaded guilty to undisclosed lobbying later, received one of the 74 Presidential pardons announced on Tuesday.

His eccentricities

While acquiring a Scottish golf course (one of 18 he owns on either side of the Atlantic, Dubai and Indonesia), intending to rebuild it, Trump declared the surrounding wind farms "stupid" because they spoil his view. But his cheating on the course filled up an entire Reilly book. He could bump up scores because they "sounded better" to those he gloated to later, he tampered with them when writing, blamed an opponent for distracting, made rules as he went along and moved the ball to mask his wretched chipping game. Caddies would call him "Pele" for kicking the ball into fairways out of bunkers. And he rationalised cheating: "Opponent cheats. So one needs to cheat to beat them. If it's all the same and everybody's cheating, then it's no cheating at all."

He claims his handicap is 3; caddies say it could be 8 or 9 — including a few who cheated on his behalf. "He's always got four balls in his pocket. He fiddles [botches] his ball on every hole. All 18. I promise you. Every hole," Reilly was told by caddies. At times, he simply self-improved scores from 78 to 72 as the day wore on, gloating to different people.

Just like his "club championships" had bulged to 18. "Whenever I open a new golf course," Reilly quotes him, "I play the official opening round and then I just call that the first club championship."

"I'm a winner," he would crow about his golf titles, at Presidential campaigns in 2016. A lie that bookended his term, as it turned out.

Trapped miners must wait 15 more days

WORKERS TRAPPED in a gold mine in China since January 10 may have to wait another 15 days before they can be rescued because of a blockage on their intended escape route, officials said Thursday. One is confirmed to have died, while 11 are known to be alive. The remaining 10 are missing. On 1st full day in office, Biden focuses on Covid, requires mask use for travel

Initiates strategy to ramp up vaccination, open schools; Fauci announces renewed US support to WHO

RICARDO ALONSO-ZALDIVAR
WASHINGTON, JANUARY 21

DEEP IN the deadliest coronavirus wave and facing worrisome new strains, President Joe Biden will initiate a national Covid-19 strategy to ramp up vaccinations and testing, reopen schools and businesses and increase the use of masks — including a requirement that Americans mask up for travel.

Biden also will address inequities in hard-hit minority communities as he signs 10 pandemic-related executive orders on Thursday, his first full day in office as the Commander-in-Chief.

Biden has vowed to take far more aggressive measures to contain the virus than his predecessor, starting with stringent adherence to public health guidance. He faces steep obstacles, with the virus actively spreading in most states, slow progress on vaccination and political uncertainty over how willing congressional Republicans will be to help him pass a $1.9 trillion economic relief and Covid response package.

Biden's top medical adviser on Covid-19, Dr Anthony Fauci, also announced renewed US support for the World Health Organisation after it faced blistering criticism from the Trump administration, laying out new commitments to tackle the coronavirus and other global health issues. Fauci said early Thursday that the US will join the UN health agency's efforts to bring vaccines, therapeutics and diagnostics to people in need, whether in rich or poor countries and will resume full funding and staffing support for WHO.

The US mask order for travel being implemented by Biden will apply to airports and planes, ships, intercity buses, trains and public transportation. Travellers from abroad must furnish a negative Covid-19 test before departing for the US and quarantine upon arrival. AP

China strikes optimistic tone with Biden administration

CATE CADELL
BEIJING, JANUARY 21

CHINA STRUCK an optimistic tone towards US President Joe Biden's new administration on Thursday, saying "kind angels can triumph over evil forces" and playing down early irritants as the result of an atmosphere poisoned by Donald Trump's term in office.

"I believe if both countries put in the effort, the kind angels can triumph over evil forces," foreign ministry spokeswoman Hua Chunying said on Thursday.

Taiwan's de facto ambassador to Washington attended Biden's inauguration with an official invitation, a first that indicated that the new president's administration would continue with Trump's increased support for the democratic island that Beijing claims as part of China.

Chinese govt spokesperson Hua Chunying

Also on Wednesday, the new Biden administration criticized China's policy towards Muslim Uighurs in Xinjiang, which the US social media platform said violated its stand against "dehumanising" people. The Chinese Embassy account, @ChineseEmbInUS, posted a tweet this month that said that Uighur women had been emancipated and were no longer "baby-making machines", citing a study reported by state-backed newspaper China Daily. The tweet was then removed by Twitter and replaced by a label stating that it was no longer available. REUTERS

Asked about both, Hua defended the sanctions and reaffirmed China's opposition to any official contact between the United States and Taiwan. She said China would fight back against any moves that undermine its sovereignty or interests. REUTERS

After oath, Harris highlights 'American aspiration'

LALIT K JHA
WASHINGTON, JANUARY 21

INHER first remarks to the nation as US Vice President, Kamala Harris has highlighted "American aspiration" and underlined that President Joe Biden has summoned the people to look beyond crisis and aspire to unite.

Harris, 56, made history on Wednesday when she was sworn in as the first female, first black and first Asian-American US vice president. The former senator was sworn in just before Biden took the oath of office to become the 46th US President.

"In many ways this moment embodies our character as a nation. It demonstrates who we are, even in dark times. We, not only dream, we do. We not only see what has been, we see what can be. We shoot for the Moon, and then we plant our flag on it. We are bold, fearless and ambitious. We are undaunted, in our belief that we shall overcome, that we will rise up. This is American aspiration," Harris said outside the Lincoln Memorial.

She cited the accomplishments of President Abraham Lincoln during the Civil War, who "saw a better future and built it with land grant colleges, and the transcontinental railroad".

She also highlighted how Martin Luther King Jr fought for racial and economic justice.

"In the middle of the civil rights movement, Dr King fought for racial justice and economic justice. American aspiration is what drove the women of this nation, throughout history, to demand equal rights," Harris said addressing "Celebrating America", a primetime special that wrapped up Inauguration Day. PTI

Row after EU diplomats don't get full status in UK Lanka opens to tourists after 10 months out of the bloc on Dec. 31, when Brexit fully took effect.

The BBC reported that the Foreign Office was refusing to grant the same diplomatic status and privileges to EU ambassador Joao Vale de Almeida and his team as it gives to envoys of countries, on the basis that the EU is not a nation state.

The Foreign Office did not immediately respond to a request for comment.

The European Commission, the 27-member bloc's executive body, said the EU's 143 delegations around the world had all been granted a status equivalent to that of diplomatic missions of states, and Britain was well aware of the fact.

"Granting reciprocal treatment based on the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations is standard practice between equal partners and we are confident that we can clear this issue with our friends in London in a satisfactory manner," said Peter Stano, the commission's spokesman for foreign affairs.

32 dead in Baghdad suicide bombings

SAMYA KULLAB & QASSIM ABDUL-ZAHRA
BAGHDAD, JANUARY 21

TWIN SUICIDE bombings ripped through a busy market in the Iraqi capital Thursday, killing at least 32 people and wounding dozens, officials said.

The rare suicide bombing hit the Bab al-Sharqi commercial area in central Baghdad amid heightened political tensions over planned early elections and a severe economic crisis. Blood was splattered on the pavement of the busy market amid piles of clothes and shoes as survivors took stock of the disaster in the aftermath.

No one immediately took responsibility for the attack, but Iraqi military officials said it was the work of the Islamic State group.

Iraq's Health Minister Hassan Mohammed al-Tamimi said at least 32 people were killed and 110 were wounded in the attack. He said some of the wounded were in serious condition. Iraq's military previously put the number of dead at 28.

WEDNESDAY'S BLAST in a crowded market in Baghdad was the first major suicide attack in the city in 3 years. The Islamic State group, which was driven away in 2017 from all territory it held in Iraq, carried out a blast in Baghdad in 2018 that killed 27. For 3 years since then, it had not succeeded in carrying out a major attack in the Iraqi capital. But experts say Wednesday's attack bears the marks of an IS strike, raising fears that this could signal a re-activation of the IS in the area.

said the first suicide bomber cried out loudly that he was ill in the middle of the bustling market, prompting a crowd to gather around him — and that's when he detonated his explosive belt. The second detonated his belt shortly after, he said.

"This is a terrorist act perpetrated by a sleeper cell of the Islamic State," al-Khafaji said. AP

THE LIST OF PROFESSIONS THAT RUSSIA BARS WOMEN FROM TAKING UP HAS BEEN SHORTENED

Russian women in driver's seat as ban on some jobs lifted

ANASTASIA ADASHEVA
MOSCOW, JANUARY 21

MUSCOVITE SOFIA Dorofeyeva had always been drawn to the trains travelling across the vast expanses of her native Russia but until this year she and her female compatriots had been barred from occupying the driver's seat.

This month, Russia shortened the list of jobs it bars women from holding because of their physical demands or hazardous nature, allowing them to become metro drivers, train conductors and lorry drivers.

After graduating in 2020

from a college that trains public transportation workers, Dorofeyeva eagerly awaited the start of the year to become an assistant train driver.

"All of us women who wanted to get this job had been waiting for a very long time," said the 21-year-old, who for years had been sketching anime-like illustrations of trains and female conductors, foreshadowing her profession.

"At first we couldn't believe it, but then of course we felt great joy as well as a sense of calm. Instead of fighting, we could finally just take this job after passing our exams."

Scores of professions still remain out of reach for Russian women women to have access to professions deemed too demanding or hazardous by the state began long before Dorofeyeva's time.

In 2009, Anna Klevets, a student in St. Petersburg, responded to an advertisement on the metro calling on men to apply to become assistant metro drivers.

When her application was rejected because of her gender, Klevets took her case to court. It eventually reached the Constitutional Court in 2012, but women remained barred from operating metro trains.

"I understood that it would be a long process," Klevets told Reuters. "But of course I didn't think it would take 10 years."

Klevets has been pleased to see her legal battle stir debate, even though scores of professions, including some that require exposure to explosives and chemicals, remain out of reach for Russian women.

"Everything should be available" to women, Klevets said. "Because a woman can decide on her own what to choose, where to go, who to be and what to do." REUTERS

Italian mafia crackdown nets centrist politician

CRISPIAN BALMER
ROME, JANUARY 21

ITALIAN POLICE arrested 50 people on Thursday and placed a prominent centrist politician under investigation in a crackdown on the 'Ndrangheta mafia that prosecutors say lays bare its efforts to launder cash and buy influence.

The 'Ndrangheta is based in the southern region of Calabria, the toe of Italy's boot, and has surpassed Sicily's more famous Cosa Nostra to become the most powerful mafia group in the country — and one of the largest crime gangs in the world.

"This investigation makes clear what we have been saying for decades. The 'Ndrangheta shoots less and has more and more ties with business and politics," said prosecutor Nicola Gratteri, who last week launched one of Italy's biggest mob trials.

Among those placed under investigation was Lorenzo Cesa, head of the small UDC party, who was in the national spotlight last week after he rejected overtures from Prime Minister Giuseppe Conte to join the ruling coalition, which has lost its absolute majority in Parliament.

Gratteri said Cesa was suspected of offering to procure contracts for the 'Ndrangheta in return for favours. Cesa, who is a member of the European Parliament representing southern Italy, denied the accusation, but said he would resign as head of the UDC "given this particular moment our country is going through". REUTERS

'Hybrid roles, the new norm: IELTS, Azure, software testing in demand'

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

COURSES PERTAINING to Microsoft's cloud platform Azure, software testing, English language test IELTS, Microsoft Certifications and e-mail etiquettes were the most sought after professional skills in India, according to the 2021 Workplace Learning Trends Report published by the open online course provider Udemy.

The report is based on data from the global companies using the Udemy for Business platform and a survey of more than 500 learning and development professionals.

"In the spirit of agile project management, many technical teams are moving employees away from single domain expertise. Instead, hybrid roles are becoming the norm. Leaders are encouraging employees to build expertise in more than one subject related to their job function. The technical skills related to this trend, like software testing and infrastructure architecture, saw sizeable growth in countries across the APAC region — including over 5,200 per cent year-over-year growth in Japan," the report stated.

Compared to the skills being sought in India, those in demand in developed Asian economies like Singapore, Japan, South Korea included design thinking, marketing strategy, information security, leadership, machine learning, storytelling, business English, listening skills and personal productivity.

In Australia, the top five courses in demand were Microsoft Azure's AZ-900 course, API testing, Microsoft Teams, Drawing and Google Cloud.

The report added that the slow but steady shift to remote work over the last few years has already called for a range of new behaviours and skills. But in 2020, leaders across every industry were forced to quickly prioritise solutions that enable entirely distributed teams to collaborate effectively.

"COVID-19 has really accelerated the shift from 'remote-accessible' to 'remote-first' thinking in collaboration design," says Sprintkick founder and Udemy instructor Evan Kimbrell. Collaboration was a major priority throughout the APAC region, taking the top spot for year-over-year growth in India, Singapore, and Indonesia.

Professional skill development platforms that offer courses and certifications online like Udemy and Coursera have been in high demand in the post-Covid era. Indian startups offering higher education courses have also attracted virtual eyeballs.

Higher education edtech platform upGrad, for example, saw its customer base double to 1 million between April and December 2020. During 2019-20, the company reported Rs 230 crore in revenues.

AMAZON HAS OPPOSED THE PROPOSED DEAL

Exchanges give go ahead to Future-Reliance Retail deal

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU
MUMBAI, JANUARY 21

AFTER MARKET regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi), stock exchanges have given their approval to Future Retail's Rs 24,713 crore deal to sell its retail assets to Reliance Retail, part of Reliance Industries Limited, with certain riders.

The BSE and the NSE, in their separate reports, have stated that the comments on the draft scheme of arrangement are "subject to the outcome of any of the ongoing litigations/arbitration/legal proceedings involving the draft scheme and/or the decision by any competent authority/competent court in this regard".

Sebi has also given a go-ahead to Future Group's scheme of arrangement and sale of assets to RIL. US-based Amazon had written to the Sebi asking the regulator to stop the deal, saying that the Future group had violated certain agreement with the US firm. Approvals from the Sebi and bourses are mandatory for the deal to be completed.

The stock exchanges, in their reports dated January 20, have advised Future Group to ensure that the details of the complaints made by Amazon.com NV Investment Holdings LLC (Amazon), the submissions of Future Retail Ltd and the counter submissions of Amazon are brought to the notice of the shareholders of the listed entities involved in the scheme while seeking their approval.

Companies involved in the scheme are advised that any future disputes, complaints, regulatory actions or proceedings, or orders issued therein involving the draft scheme, if any, shall be brought to the notice of shareholders prior to the approval by the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT).

The stock exchanges have also asked Future to ensure shareholders are informed that 74.2 per cent of the business value of the Future Enterprises Ltd, post amalgamation of all the transferor companies, is getting transferred to Reliance Retail Ventures Ltd and Reliance Retail and Fashion Lifestyle Ltd and that these two companies would not be seeking listing post the scheme of arrangement.

In October, the Singapore International Arbitration Centre passed an interim award in favour of Amazon with a single-judge bench of V K Rajah barring Future Retail Ltd from taking any step to dispose of or encumber its assets or issue any securities to secure any funding from a restricted party.

Sebi has cleared the Future-RIL deal with some riders. Sebi has asked Future Group to specifically mention the litigation pending before the Delhi High Court and arbitration proceedings by Amazon contesting the deal to the shareholders and the NCLT.

The market regulator has also directed Future Group to ensure that suitable disclosure about the latest financials of the companies involved in the scheme being not more than six months old are made before filing the same with the NCLT.

In August 2019, Amazon had agreed to purchase 49 per cent of one of Future's unlisted firms — Future Coupons Ltd — with the right to buy into the flagship Future Retail after a period of 3 to 10 years. Future Coupons holds 7.3 per cent equity in the BSE-listed Future Retail, which operates popular supermarket and hypermarket chains like Big Bazaar, through convertible warrants.

Amazon had dragged Future Group to arbitration at SIAC, arguing that Future violated its contract by entering into the deal with rival Reliance.

'Lockdown boosts household savings to 20-year high'

Household savings, which had been falling between 2014 and mid-2019, have scooped up $200 billion in extra savings, a 20-year high, amid the lockdown, as per a UBS report

Peaked in 2020: UBS' real-time tracker shows that the overall quantum of savings has been rising since mid-2019 and surged in 2020 (peaked in June 2020 but still running higher than pre-pandemic level)

CASH IS KING: A vast portion of this savings is in cash only, which soared by a whopping 135 per cent during the lockdown months

Slowdown in spending by the households through the lockdowns has resulted in $200 billion extra net savings in financial assets, which is as a percentage of GDP is close to the peak seen post-global financial crisis of 2008-09 and is still growing and is granular and broad-based, and not concentrated in the hands of the rich

THE BREAKDOWN:

Bank deposits and insurance/pensions form 14 per cent each of the total household savings, while 19 per cent constitute claims on government and a whopping 135 per cent are in hard currency

Savings flowing into equity markets have picked up, but remain less than 5 per cent of the total savings. But this 5 per cent is much higher than the FPI inflows in the past two years combined, which jumped 25 per cent on-year in 2020

RBI: Cost of green bonds issuance high in India

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU
MUMBAI, JANUARY 21

THE COST of issuing green bonds has generally remained higher than other bonds in India, largely due to asymmetric information, a Reserve Bank of India (RBI) study said. "The average coupon rate for green bonds issued since 2015 with maturities between 5 to 10 years have generally remained higher than the corporate and government bonds with similar tenure," the report on green bonds said.

For the US dollar-denominated green bonds with tenure of more than or equal to 10 years, the coupon rate was, however lower than the corporate bonds, it said. It may be mentioned that most of the green bonds in India are issued by the public sector units 17 or corporates with better financial health. "It is evident from the fact that the private sector issuers of green bonds, on average, reported lower debt-to-assets ratio compared to the non-issuers of green bond," the RBI report said.

Green bonds constituted 0.7% of all bonds issued in India since 2018

Green bonds constituted only 0.7 per cent of all the bonds issued in India since 2018, and bank lending to the non-conventional energy constituted about 7.9 per cent of outstanding bank credit to the power sector, as of March 2020, the RBI study said.

"High borrowing cost has been perhaps the most important challenge and our analysis indicates that it could be due to the asymmetric information," it said. Therefore, developing a better information management system in India may help in reducing maturity mismatches, borrowing costs and lead to efficient resource allocation in this segment, the study said.

CRUDE & NATURAL GAS

Covid, lack of key infra, lower offtake hurt output in Dec

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

INDIA'S CRUDE oil and natural gas production fell by 3.6 per cent and 7.1 per cent, respectively, in December on the back of lower production by state-owned Oil and Natural Gas Corporation Ltd and private sector players, according to the government data released on Thursday.

India's total crude oil production in December stood at 2,556.7 Thousand Metric Tonnes (TMT), down 3.6 per cent from production of 2,650.8 TMT in the year-ago period. ONGC reported that lack of availability of key infrastructure, including mobile offshore units and implications of the Covid-19 pandemic, had led to lower crude output. ONGC's crude production was down 2.75 per cent, compared to the year-ago period, while output by private sector players was down 11.6 per cent, compared to December 2019.

Natural gas production during the month was 2,424.9 million metric standard cubic meters (MMSCM), compared 2,610.4 MMSCM in December 2019, which was impacted by lower offtake of natural gas from customers as well as delays in operationalisation of new gas discoveries due to Covid-19. Crude oil processing in December was up 0.9 per cent, compared to the year-ago period, with Indian refiners processing 21,024.4 TMT of crude in December, compared to 20,829.8 TMT in the year ago period.

RBI withdraws 3 circulars on excess pension recovery

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU
MUMBAI, JANUARY 21

THE RESERVE Bank of India (RBI) on Thursday withdrew three circulars on recovery of excess payments made to pensioners as the documents didn't follow guidelines and court orders.

In a circular issued on March 17, 2016, the RBI had said as soon as the excess payment made to a pensioner comes to the notice of the paying branch, the branch should adjust the same against the amount standing to the credit of the pensioner's account to the extent possible including lumpsum arrears payment.

If the entire amount of over payment cannot be adjusted from the account, the pensioner would be asked to pay forthwith the balance amount of over payment.

Google inks deal with French news publishers

PARIS, JANUARY 21

GOOGLE AND a French publishers' lobby said on Thursday they had agreed a copyright framework under which the US tech giant will pay news publishers for content online, in a first for Europe.

The move paves the way for individual licensing agreements for French publications, some of which have seen revenues drop with the rise of the Internet and declines in print circulation. The deal, which aims to provide a sustainable way to pay publishers, is likely to be closely watched by platforms such as Facebook, a lawyer said.

Alphabet-owned Google and the Alliance de la presse d'information générale (APIG) said in a statement the framework included criteria such as the daily volume of publications, monthly internet traffic and "contribution to political and general information". Google has so far only signed licensing agreements with a few publications in France, including national daily newspapers Le Monde and Le Figaro.

Google's vehicle for paying news publishers, called Google

News Showcase, is another new product it has developed which allows publishers to curate their own content online. It is so far only available in Brazil and Germany.

Google and APIG did not say how much money could be distributed to APIG's members, who include most French national and local publishers. And details on how the remuneration would be calculated were not disclosed.

The deal follows months of bargaining between Google, French publishers and news agencies.

Govt planning to open up coal marketing to streamline process

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 21

THE GOVERNMENT is considering opening up coal marketing, Coal Secretary Anil Kumar Jain said on Thursday. previous fiscal. Coal India accounts for over 80 per cent of domestic production. "It's about time that coal marketing was opened up. All the knots, which have tied up coal linkages, PPAs, FSAs and bidding have to be opened up," said the secretary, adding the freeing up of coal marketing would give an assurance to buyers that they will be able to get the product, if they want it, without having to go through multiple processes.

The government, in June 2020, opened up coal mining for commercial use.

This marks the successful completion of the last major step in the transition of Shivalik Mercantile Co-operative Bank (SMCB) to a SFB. SMCB is the first UCB in India to transition to a SFB under the voluntary transition scheme. The bank had received an in-principle approval from RBI for transitioning to a SFB in January 2020 and was given an 18-month timeline to commence business as a SFB. Satwik-Ashwini put up a flawless show in Thailand

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA BANGKOK, JANUARY 21

THE MIXED doubles pair of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Ashwini Ponnappa made it to the quarterfinals of the Toyota Thailand Open with a stunning 22-20 14-21 21-16 win over world no. 17 German duo of Mark Lamsfuss and Isabel Herrtrich in a match that lasted close to an hour. Satwiksairaj also paired up with Chirag Shetty in the men's doubles to notch up an upset 21-18 23-21 win over seventh seeds Korean combination of Choi Solgyu and Seo Seung Jae.

"We served and received pretty well, that made the difference for us. Overall, we are getting back to the way we were playing in 2019," said Chirag.

Satwik said he was "very happy with the performance." "We want to play our game. We want to be our best on the day. We were lacking in service and returns in our last match. We didn't want to make the same mistakes in this match," he said.

Prannoy, however, failed to cross the second round hurdle, going down 17-21 18-21 to Malaysia's Daren Liew, a day after battling through pain to upstage Asian Games champion Jonatan Christie in a gruelling three-game match.

Also bowing out of the competition were MR Arjun and Dhruv Kapila after losing 9-21 11-21 to English pair of Ben Lane and Sean Vendy.

Big guns fire

Indian shuttlers PV Sindhu and Sameer Verma stormed into the quarterfinals of the Toyota Thailand Open after registering straight-game wins but HS Prannoy bowed out of Super 1000 tournament here on Tuesday.

Olympic silver medalist Sindhu expectedly outclassed Malaysia's world no. 92 Kisona Selvaduray 21-10 21-12 in a lopsided second-round contest that lasted just 35 minutes. She will face either Thailand's Ratchanok Intanon or Korea's Sung Ji Hyun next.

World no. 31 Sameer also continued his impressive run, stunning world no. 17 Rasmus Gemke 21-12 21-9 in just 39 minutes for his third victory over the Danish player. The Indian, who had shocked Malaysia's eighth seed Lee Zii Jia in the opening round, will face third seed Anders Antonsen of Denmark, who received a walkover, in the quarterfinals.

SHARDUL THAKUR INTERVIEW

'We knew Australia hadn't rested their bowlers and they could be getting tired'

DEVENDRA PANDEY MUMBAI, JANUARY 21

THE FLIGHT from Brisbane to Dubai to Mumbai suddenly seemed longer for Shardul Thakur. Pride in winning the Test series in Australia jostled with desperation to finally go home. It had been five months since he'd seen his parents, the longest he had been away from home.

Cricket during Covid-19 had thrown a new challenge at cricketers. Reaching home at Palghar, Thakur spoke to The Indian Express about his crucial 67 runs in the first innings at Gabba, and the 7-wkt match haul.

EXCERPTS:

Has the win sunk in?

No, we are still on a high. It's a big victory for us. Everyone is talking about it from the stadium to the airport, till I reached home. I was only hearing praises. Beating Australia and winning a game at Gabba was so special. It was a young team and everyone put their hands up and delivered. Be it bowling or batting, somebody stood up, it was a collective effort.

Did it ever cross your mind that the last Test could be slipping away from the team?

Never. We all went for a win. As the game got closer and closer we knew we would pull it off. I think the only time we all had a doubt was in the first innings when we had lost six wickets for some 180 runs. When I and Washington Sundar batted and crossed the 300 run-mark, we both saw the scoreboard and felt the lead was not that big. We can pull this game off in second innings if we get them out sooner.

When you walked out to bat what was running through your mind?

Our batting coach Vikram Rathour came and said play the ball as per merit, don't play any silly shot. I told Sundar that let's hang around because their bowlers were getting tired. Australia hadn't given rest to any of their seamers in the entire Test series, it was the same bowling attack playing and we could sense that they were getting tired. The more they got tired the easier it would get. And it happened, their bowlers did get tired. We had to just apply our mind and back our instincts.

India all-rounder Shardul Thakur's mother receives him at their residence in Palghar, Maharashtra, on Thursday. Express

You looked in total control in your batting?

I told myself that if I can hang around for two hours, I have all the shots to play. I always enjoy playing fast bowlers, I have never been scared of speed. Am not scared to face even 145 kmph plus. Maybe it's because of how my cricketing career started. We have a ground in my village where my first few years of cricket were played on matting wickets. The pitch in Palghar had uneven bounce, so handling bounce came naturally to me. At the same time I faced throwdown specialists regularly in the Indian team nets, so am used to playing pace.

Being a tailender, you looked so comfortable in your batting?

Since school days I used to play as an all-rounder. I always enjoyed batting and I always want to showcase my talent with the bat. I might bat lower down the order but my mind works like a batsman.

Did you know you will play the fourth Test?

There was confusion due to a lot of injuries in the team. I was told to be prepared but it was on the day of the game before the toss I was told that I will be playing.

How tough is life in a bubble?

It's very tough. Everyone can't get their family on the foreign tour. I left home on August 19 for IPL and from there we went to Australia. It was one of the longest tours and due to the bio bubble we can't go out. We were totally disconnected with the outside world. The only source of information was social media. Many hotels didn't have a balcony, so we didn't get fresh air for days. Staying in a hotel was a challenge but at the same time we were lucky to play cricket in times of Covid.

Didn't you get frustrated, wasn't the waiting game taking a toll on your mind?

I did, tell me who wants to sit out but at the end of the day only 11 can play. I have sat before for two series and waited too. I'm human and I do get demotivated. I look out for my motivation. Be it carrying drinks or cheering, I kept busy in these activities.

You had a terrible Test debut in 2018 which lasted ten balls? Did it ever cross your mind?

For me it was ab agla mauka kab aayega? That wait between two Tests has changed me as a person. There were two options, either I crib and say, yaar yeh agla mauka kab aayega or just go there and keep working. Keep working was the only option. My father is a farmer and all our life we are taught to keep trying. Keep working hard, keep pushing. Agar ek saal kheti kharab ho jayega iska matlab yeh nahi ke next time I won't do farming. Same is in cricket, I will again try.

Did you speak to anyone during this long gap between two games?

I spoke to Ravi bhai (Shastry) one day. I asked him that sometimes I get only one game per series, I always feel pressure on me when I play. What should I do? He replied, if you see this opportunity as pressure, then I will certainly feel pressure in my game. But if you feel that you want to win, then except the game pressure, there won't be any add-on pressure.

You must be pleased with your bowling? Took seven wickets in a game?

I was a bit nervous in the first innings because I was playing a Test match after a gap of two years. My first Test match lasted for ten balls, it was the second Test match but it was as good as the debut game. In the last three years, I haven't played many first class games. I was more concerned about my rhythm but with wickets coming, I gained some confidence. In the second innings I said if I can get wickets in first, why not in second. I was high on confidence.

Did you get carried away while bowling to Cummins, you kept bowling him bouncers?

We knew in the second innings that their lower order would try getting quick runs. The boundaries are big, so it was a plan that if Cummins goes to pull, there is a chance for a catch.

How did the dressing room react to your batting, Ashwin compared your strokes to Viv Richards?

He said jokingly, he came and said that after a long time he saw a bowler, hitting such a great cover drive. He appreciated it, many knew I could bat, so it was not surprising.

How did you counter sledging?

They did, but I didn't listen to them. They wanted to disturb my concentration but I just ignored them. The only time I couldn't understand Australia players was when they passed a humorous comment, it's hard to pick whether it was just a comment, or sarcasm.

What did you miss most in five months? How did your family react?

I missed my family, my home cooked food, my bed. When I came today my mother said ki kitna patlaa ho gaya hai tu. Khane ko nahi milta tha kya? It's a line which any mother says. The day the series ended, I was just hoping that I will reach home soon. Suddenly the flight seemed very long, the drive home took very long too. I just wanted to reach home ASAP.

What has been more tough for you, getting a seat on the crowded Dahanu shuttle, or facing Australia attack?

Getting a seat in a train, it required skill and timing. Facing fast bowlers is much easier.

DAY TODAY BY PETER VIDAL

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)
 You'll be turning a corner at work before long, perhaps at the beginning of next week. But the real point that your stars are trying to make is that firm foundations are necessary to worldly success. But, then, so are good ideas, so get your thinking-cap on.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
 A battle royal is taking place between family commitments and worldly ambitions. The next major lunar pattern is seeing to it that the personal side of life will win out over your public duties. If you've felt hard-done-by recently, don't worry - you're about to turn the tables on a rival.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
 Travel stars are reaching yet a new peak and you may be feeling strangely restless. Let me warn you, though, that this is no time for complacency. Drop your guard and you'll make a silly mistake, one which is so easily avoided: check, re-check and check again.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
 You may be inclined to act the firebrand. Far better, though, to stand aside and to let other people fight their own battles. There is absolutely no point in getting involved, especially as you might make a bad situation worse. Oh, and isn't it about time you told someone you loved them?

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
 There is no knowing where an invitation or proposal will take you now or over the weekend. It's very much a case of following the positive path and letting fate weave its wonderful web. You could be making rash promises, so ensure that you're prepared to follow them through.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
 The general mood should alter around early evening, taking you into more serious realms. Prepare for a change of plan and keep your schedule open for the next few days. A mystery could be cleared up, but, confusingly, there could be more than one answer.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
 There is simply no way to get plans off the ground without the full support of partners and colleagues. Someone older or more experienced holds the key, perhaps in the form of financial backing. Your strong point now is your charm - and your irresistible ability to wrap partners around your little finger.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
 Life is certainly hotting up and you'll put the health of your relationships, both personal and professional, before everything else. Romantic Capricorns are in for a treat, but don't rush it - the next four weeks bring pleasant emotional planets. Be sceptical of amazing financial offers, though.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
 It's time to pamper yourself. You're coming to the end of a period when there's been continual pressure on your expenses, but it's still too early to relax. Wait for the offers to flood in. Keep your diary open, just in case you get a better social offer.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
 Get things moving while a great many decisive planets are so very active. You must remember, though, that others have contributed to your happiness and offer them the recognition and gratitude they deserve. After all, while life is heading your way, you need to carry partners with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
 You may be pushed into making a snap decision but, if you know what's good for you, you will draw back from a final commitment. Romantic Virgos can expect events to move their way, and about time, too. But don't let anyone blame you for past misdemeanours - when they're not your fault.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
 There can be few Pisceans who are not enjoying a love affair of sorts at the moment, whether with a long-term partner, a new friend, or even a place, a pet or a favourite dream! Social and emotional pressures in your horoscope are overwhelming, and there's a sense of freedom and infinite possibilities.

Stokes, Archer to return for India tour

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
LONDON, JANUARY 21

Explosive all-rounder Ben Stokes and pacer Jofra Archer on Thursday returned to a 16-member England squad named for the first two Tests of the upcoming four-match series against India.

The England selectors also named six travelling reserves for the first and second matches, to be held at the MA Chidambaram Stadium in Chennai from February 5.

Both Stokes and Archer missed the ongoing two-match Test series in Sri Lanka as part of England's policy to rest their all-format players, while Rory Burns was at home for the birth of his first child.

The team will continue to be led by Joe Root. Surrey's Ollie Pope will travel to India and will be added to the squad when passed fit. Pope is recovering from a shoulder injury sustained in September during the Test series against Pakistan. All-rounder Moeen Ali, who was the only cricketer to return COVID-19 positive on arrival in Sri Lanka, has fully recovered and was included in the team.

The national selectors have provided rest to Jonathan Bairstow, Sam Curran and Mark Wood. The three players, who are currently in Sri Lanka, were on Thursday named in the playing XI for the second Test against the islanders but will head home after that.

"This is consistent with the selection policy of finding a block of rest for all multi-format players at some point during post-Christmas winter schedule," the England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) said in a release.

In Wood's absence, Olly Stone has been retained in the squad to provide captain Root with a second genuine pace option after Archer. With Archer and Stokes returning, and subject to fitness of the rest of the squad, Somerset's Craig Overton will return home after the Sri Lanka series.

The fast bowling department will be spearheaded by veteran James Anderson in the company of his seasoned teammate Stuart Broad, Archer and Chris Woakes.

English players travelling from Sri Lanka will fly to Chennai on a charter flight after the conclusion of the second Test in Galle.

After Chennai, the action will shift to Ahmedabad's Motera, currently the largest cricket stadium in the world with a capacity of 110,000.

Heroes come home

India's heroes from Australia return to a rousing welcome from families, friends and neighbours

SHAMIK CHAKRABARTY
JANUARY 21

'AJINKYA AALA re, aala (Ajinkya is here)... people sang. It didn't have the grandeur of Shammii Kapoor's 'Govinda aala re, aala', but to paraphrase Ajinkya Rahane's former Mumbai Ranji team mate Vinayak Samant, the people in and around W-54 housing complex in Matunga revelled in their Amol Palekar-like down-to-earth affinity. India's (stand-in) captain-fantastic returned home on Thursday morning, and his neighbours and fans rolled out the red carpet.

Rahane has been playing Test cricket since 2013. Never before in his life had he returned home from an overseas tour to such a hero's welcome. Then again, never before in the history of Indian cricket had the Gabbator been breached and a depleted India bounced back so spectacularly to conquer Australia in their own backyard. As the captain, Rahane presided over the turnaround.

The Mumbai contingent in the Indian team - Rahane, Rohit Sharma, Shardul Thakur, Prithvi Shaw and head coach Ravi Shastri - landed in the Maximum City in the morning. The Mumbai Cricket Association (MCA) officials were present to receive them at the airport. A cake was cut there itself to celebrate the achievement.

At the housing complex in Matunga, where Rahane lives, his fellow residents had organised a special reception. The man of the moment didn't forget to wear a mask. He held his two-year-old daughter Aarya and was accompanied by wife Radhika. Rose petals were showered on the boy-next-door hero, while the sound of dhols filled the air.

At the ground floor of his apartment, a special board displayed Rahane's Test record as captain - four wins and a draw in five Tests, and three Test series victories. The 32-year-old stood in front of the specially-designed board, as camera shutters went into overdrive.

Three years ago, Rahane was dropped from the Test XI in South Africa despite having the best overseas batting average in the group at that time. Cricket is a great leveller.

About 100 kilometres away, fireworks greeted Shardul Thakur's homecoming at Palghar. Thakur's seven wickets and 67 runs in the first innings in Brisbane proved to be game-changing.

(Captions clockwise from top) Frenzy awaited India fast bowler T Natarajan when he returned to his village Chinnappampatti, south of Salem. A special procession was also arranged from the bus stop to his house; India Test skipper Ajinkya Rahane arrives at the Mumbai airport with coach Ravi Shastri on Thursday; Cheteshwar Pujara with his family.

'We will play'

Upon his arrival in Hyderabad, Mohammed Siraj headed straight to his father's grave from the airport. Siraj's father, Mohammed Ghouse, breathed his last on November 20. The Indian team management gave the option to the 26-year-old pacer to return home, but Siraj chose to stay and ended up being the most successful Indian bowler in the Test series - 13 wickets from three matches.

In Sydney, he and Jasprit Bumrah were allegedly racially abused by some fans. During a press conference later in the day, Siraj said that match officials had allowed the Indian team the liberty to leave the game following the incident, but Rahane turned down the offer.

"I faced abuses in Australia. The case is going on, let's see whether I get justice or not. My job was to report the incident to the captain," Siraj told reporters, adding: "The umpires offerred us to leave the game but Rahane bhai said we won't leave the game. 'We did no mistake, so we will play'. The abuses which I faced in Australia made me mentally stronger. I didn't let them affect my game." India lodged an official complaint with ICC match referee David Boon and Cricket Australia offered an unreserved apology for the incidents.

Natarajan rides a chariot

Down south in Salem, T Natarajan was put on a chariot, as hundreds gathered on the streets to celebrate one of the most heart-warming stories in Indian cricket. For someone from Chinnappampatti, a village 36 kilometres off Salem in Tamil Nadu, it's been a fairy-tale rise for the 29-year-old. His hardship as a child and teenager and how without his exceptional cricket skills, he could have ended up as a weaver like his father have been well documented.

Natarajan went to Australia as a net bowler, made a seamless progression to white-ball internationals and returned home as a Test cricketer after playing at the Gabba. His team mate from Tamil Nadu, Washington Sundar, would be late to check in, scheduled to return home in the early hours on Friday.

Quarantine relaxation

Meanwhile, the Indian team's Mumbai-based cricketers have been granted 'special exemption' from the mandatory 14-day quarantine rule after returning from overseas. The stipulation includes a seven-day quarantine in a hotel provided the in-bound passengers test negative at the airport.

But the home Test series against England is commencing on February 5 and the players will have to report in Chennai on January 27. After about six months in various bio-bubbles, for the Indian Premier League and in Australia, they will enter another bubble for the next series. Family time would be short, but that's how it is in a Covid-affected world.
