THIS REPUBLIC DAY, RADICO KHAITAN SALUTES OUR ARMED FORCES, THEIR SACRIFICES, THEIR VALOUR AND THEIR SPIRIT OF VICTORY

When Pakistan threatened India in the summer of 1965, we fought back. Around 30000 Pakistani soldiers crossed over to the Indian side of the Line of Control (LoC), dressed as locals. Their efforts were thwarted by the superior Indian forces resulting in a decisive victory for India.

Pakistan, under General Zia-ul-Haq, launched pre-emptive air strikes on 15 Indian airbases on Dec. 7. But in just 13 days it lost half of its population, its forces in the East, and surrendered to India. This marked the birth of Bangladesh (then East Pakistan).

It began with the infiltration of 900 Pakistani troops and terrorists into Indian territory at strategic locations. In 3 months, the Indian Armed Forces had evacuated Pakistani intruders and successfully recaptured the Tiger Hill and other posts as part of Operation Vijay.

Many sacrifices were made by our brave soldiers during these wars; we deeply respect their courage and inherent spirit of brotherhood. They have instilled a sense of pride, honour and glory in each of us.

Parade amid protest: President reaches out to farmers on R-Day

"Devoted to your welfare, path to reform can cause misapprehension"

LIZ MATHEW
NEW DELHI, JANUARY 25

With the Farm Laws (Amendment) Act, 2020, the government has introduced three new laws that have sparked widespread protests by farmers across the country. President Ram Nath Kovind, in his address to the nation on the eve of the 72nd Republic Day, said that the "path to reform" may initially cause "misapprehensions," but the government is "singularly devoted" to the welfare of farmers. Kovind also spoke about the border standoff in Ladakh without naming China, and said that India faced an "unsual" situation.

Punjab’s Nausherah village was marked as a dot on Google Maps—one of the thousands of villages lying along the 3,000-km boundary between India and Pakistan. Just like the military route on the Western Peripheral Expressway from the village, a dot on the map was the starting point of a tractor parade that saw a cloud of dust rise as the vehicles crossed Sonipat Monday night on their way to Delhi tractor parade. Farmers in tractors, policy on toes

Volunteers at Tikri have task cut out: Keep order, peace

SUKHTIR SIWACH

Throughout the day, farmers at Tikri Border will be used to hear the Tricolour and flag being unfurled from a nearby pavilion per square metre of protest. Police—but not farmers—will be in charge of maintaining peace and security. While older farmers will be guiding volunteers from their respective blocks, they will be迅猛地 calling to them in case they come across any trouble. Tractors and a flag of their own will be in hand with instructions and directions to prevent any misadventure.

Sukhbir Siwach, 35, says: "For Mega district, we have named around 100 volunteers from his district. He is making calls to them in case they can come here and stop any trouble. The tractor will have two flags—a Tricolour and a flag of their own. Location will be indicated to them. There will be a map of 7,500 volunteers to whom you will have to give the flag.

We have spoken to the police officials. For Tikri, we will have a restricted area that will be declared by the police. There are three blocks, each with their own president. There are multiple protestsites in South Delhi. They have made a strategy in these blocks and will give clear instructions.

Groups number two to three, around 1,000—1,500 volunteers. So, the police are ready, but the final number will depend on the leaders."
The incidence of chronic kidney disease in India is about 232 patients per million of population. About 240 patients develop kidney failure every year in India. The common causes of kidney diseases are diabetes and not controlled high blood pressure and these two take together account for 50 to 60 percent of kidney diseases. The other causes are hypertension, nephritis, glomerulonephritis, polycystic kidney disease, drugs and infections. Chronic kidney disease is a slowly progressive disease and in its later stage (Stage 5 or kidney failure) it is a life-threatening function. If not treated early, it can lead to loss of 15% to 20% kidney function, which should try to slow down the deterioration of kidney function during these years. Good control of diabetes (HbA1c < 7%) and blood pressure control (BP < 130/80 mmHg) can retard the decline of kidney function.

Are there newer drugs like SGLT2 inhibitors and abiraterone antagonists which seem to be very promising drugs for retarding the progression of chronic kidney disease or in addition to control of diabetes and blood pressure? Elderly age, family history, obesity, diabetes, and high blood pressure, smoking and obesity are risk factors for chronic kidney disease. Healthy food, exercise, and some non-modifiable lifestyle are essential ingredients to prevent these chronic kidney diseases. Multi-targeted strategies have been effectively used in public health and can slow down the deterioration of kidney function in these patients.

What are the latest technical trends in nephrology and research underway in nephrology? Dr. Vijay Kher

The patients with kidney failure have very high mortality which is worse than that of many cancers. The US government along with other stakeholders have come forward to support for project KIDNEY-X which seeks to improve the lives of 300 million people in the world with kidney disease by preventing kidney failure in the early stages and at low cost. Deceased donor kidney transplantation is the only treatment available for kidney failure patients in this country. Our national programme for prevention and control of diabetes, hypertension and polycystic kidney diseases have been effectively used in public health and can slow down the deterioration of kidney function in these patients.

Can the condition of a sick kidney be reversed if detected early? Acute kidney injury due to diabetes, blood loss and severe infections, infections that can be treated with conventional drugs. If diabetes and blood pressure are controlled effectively and consistently from the early stages, one might be able to prevent the progression of kidney disease. Chronic kidney disease can be slow and should be slowed down. THIS REPUBLIC DAY

The tableau and the tractor both underline the significance of talking to the public rather than talking down to them.

O n Tuesday, Republic Day will be celebrated throughout the country with great enthusiasm and fervor. There are also signs that the government must unveil measures that address these issues in the upcoming budget. Ties in access to education and health and the growing gender disparities will be visible. Education has worsened. The impact on the female workforce has been equally grim.  Ahead of the Budget, what is the state of the economy? The government's narrative tells us that its key objectives are to strengthen jobs and boost consumption. However, the employment data has been concerning, with over 20% of the workforce being unemployed. This, coupled with the recent surge in COVID-19 cases, suggests a persisting economic slowdown.

The fiscal position is also under pressure. The fiscal deficit for FY2021 is projected to be around 11.5%, well above the target range. The revenue mix has not changed significantly, with indirect taxes accounting for a major share. This is likely to persist in FY2022, as the financial year begins with the new tax year.

What are the key measures announced in the Budget and their likely impact?

The Budget is expected to focus on boosting consumption, employment, and infrastructure spending. The union government has announced a host of measures to achieve these objectives. Here are some of the key points:

1. Infrastructure: The government has announced a large-scale infrastructure push, with a focus on roads, railways, and airports. This is expected to create jobs and boost economic activity.

2. Jobs: The government has announced a series of measures to boost job creation. These include schemes to provide training and skill development, and incentives for employers to hire new workers.

3. Consumption: The government has announced a range of measures to boost consumption, such as increased spending on welfare schemes and tax incentives for middle-class taxpayers.

4. Climate Action: The government has announced a large-scale push for climate action, with a focus on renewable energy and green infrastructure.

What are the risks associated with the Budget?

While the Budget is expected to provide a boost to the economy, there are risks associated with it. These include:

1. Fiscal Deficit: The fiscal deficit is likely to remain high, which could lead to higher interest rates and lower investment.

2. Transparency: There are concerns about the transparency of the Budget process, which has been criticized in recent years.

3. Fiscal Consolidation: The government has not announced any significant measures to address the long-term fiscal imbalances, which could lead to higher interest rates and lower investment in the future.

The Budget should not be seen in isolation, but rather as part of a broader framework for economic development. The government should be transparent about the assumptions underlying the Budget, and should also provide a roadmap for how it plans to address the longer-term fiscal imbalances.

REPUBLIC DAY

"The Constitution of India has a special identity across the world. The fundamental rights enshrined in our constitution give us the rights as citizens of a free democratic Nation. India has touched glorious heights in various fields due to the strenuous efforts of its people. On the solemn occasion of Republic Day, let us come together and take a pledge to march on the path of progress and make the Nation and State 'Aatmanirbhar'."

India and Australia aim to take their bilateral relationship to new heights in 2021, investing in new sectors for mutual benefit even as they deepen their engagement in traditional areas of cooperation.

India and Australia see each other as strategic partners, reflecting their shared interests in regional stability, economic growth, and counter-terrorism efforts. The two nations have a long history of cooperation, dating back to the mid-19th century, and their growing strategic partnership is seen as crucial in the Indo-Pacific region, which is rapidly becoming a strategic priority for both countries.

The relationship between India and Australia has been strengthened in recent years, with a number of high-level visits and agreements. In 2014, the two nations signed a Comprehensive Strategic Partnership, which aims to deepen cooperation in a range of areas, including defence, security, trade, and education.

Economic ties between the two countries have also grown significantly. Australia is India’s fifth-largest trading partner, with two-way goods trade amounting to $61.6 billion in 2018-19. India is the second-largest destination for Australian exports, while Australia is the third-largest export market for India.

Tourism is another area where the two countries have seen growth. In 2019, India was Australia’s third-largest source of tourists, with approximately 740,000 Indian visitors spending over $2.5 billion in Australia. The Australian government has expressed interest in further increasing these numbers, with a target of doubling tourism from India by 2025.

India and Australia also have strong people-to-people ties, with a large Indian diaspora living and working in Australia. India is Australia’s second-largest source of skilled migrants, with over 130,000 Indian nationals living in Australia.

In conclusion, the strategic partnership between India and Australia is seen as a critical element in maintaining regional stability and promoting economic growth in the Indo-Pacific region. As the two countries continue to deepen their cooperation, they will be well-positioned to meet the challenges of the 21st century and build a brighter future for their peoples.
