DAYS AFTER COMMUNAL CLASH IN DELHI, DEMOLITION BY BJP-RUN CIVIC BODY

Bulldozers roll, raze in Jahangirpuri in the face of Supreme Court order

Court orders status quo but demolition continues for two hours before pause

ANAND MOHAN J, PAVNEET SINGH CHADHA & ANANTHAKRISHNAN G

HIT BY communal violence days earlier, Jahangirpuri in North West Delhi saw seven bulldozers roll into the neighbourhood Wednesday on orders of the BIPled North Delhi Municipal Corporation, razing parts of several structures, including the exterior gate of a place of worship.

The demolition, which started around 10.15 am, went on for two hours despite the Supreme Court's directions at 11 am that status quo be maintained. The matter will be heard by a bench of Justices L Nageswara Rao and B R Gavai

The demolition action came a day after the civic body wrote to the North West DCP requesting 400 police personnel for what it called was an "anti-encroachment drive".

This came after Delhi BJP

THE ACTION in Jahangirpuri flies in the face of the civic body's usual practice of sending a notice at least five days in advance in cases of encroachment. The bylaws state that the notice has to be given to the person who has carried out the alleged illegal construction. During this time, the person can be asked to make alterations, failing which the civic body has the power to demolish or seal the structure.

president Adesh Gupta had also written to the North MCD Mayor Tuesday demanding that "illegal encroachment done by rioters be bulldozed".

Shah holds meet with Delhi BJP, Panda cites 'immigrants in Europe'

LIZ MATHEW & ABHINAV RAJPUT NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

AS THE BJP-controlled North MCD's demolition action in Jahangirpuri reached the Supreme Court and some among the Opposition slammed the use of bulldozers, the party indicated that there would be no backing down and its Delhi unit would "keep the pressure on illegal immigrants".

BJP sources said the party

Attrition high, so Infosys & TCS invoke job clause to retain talent

PRANAV MUKUL NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

AN OVERHEATED job market in the software and BPO space has triggered a surge in attrition rates at TCS and Infosys, the top two IT companies in the country by revenue, prompting tech companies to fall back on unconventional tactics in an attempt to retain talent.

A workers union representing IT and BPO sector employees has said that Bengaluru-based Infosys is enforcing a clause in the employee contract to prevent workers from joining some of its competitors. The union has written to the Ministry of Labour & Employment and the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, seeking intervention in the matter.

Infosys, on its part, has said that such a non-compete clause is a "standard business practice" in employment contracts.

The non-compete clause under contention says that after resigning, an Infosys employee cannot work, for a period of six months, with one of the named rival companies on a client he or she would have serviced in the preceding 12 months before quitting.

Among the rival companies named in the employment contract are TCS, Accenture, IBM, Cognizant and Wipro for Infosys software services wing. For the business processing management (BPM) wing, the named competitors in the employment pact are Tech Mahindra, Genpact, WNS, TCS, Accenture,

IBM, Cognizant, Wipro and HCL This comes amid rising attrition in the segment. For the March-quarter, Tata Consultancy Services reported an annualised attrition rate of 17.4 per cent, up from 7.2 per cent in the same quarter last year. Infosys reported an annualised voluntary attrition rate of 27.7 per cent during January-March period, compared to 10.9 per cent in January-March

They thought we'll be easy to beat: An Indian team blazes a trail to Bridge silver

ANCHOR

MIHIR VASAVDA MUMBAI. APRIL 20

FOR ANIL Padhye, it was the late evening deals with his maternal grandparents in the 1980s that got him hooked to bridge. His teammate, Ashok Goel, stayed up late at night to master the skills of the card game. And their captain, R Krishnan, took to the sport casually at first, in his hostel room at IIT Madras, exactly 50 years ago in 1972.

The trio was part of a sixmember team that won India's first-ever silver medal at the World Bridge Championship earlier this month. All of them are in their early-to-mid 60s and hail from varied backgrounds stockbroker to industrialist, banker to publisher.

Subrata Saha, Sukamal Das and Rajesh Dalal were the other members of the team that defeated heavyweights like the US en route to the final of the seniors category, where they lost to a strong Polish side.

"It's an important moment for the sport in the country,' Padhye said. "For the first time, an Indian team has reached the final the World Championship. This augurs well for the sport and hopefully will change the perception among the masses.

Popularly known as the 'Bermuda Bowl', the World Championship in the Italian city of Salsomaggiore attracted 24 teams from across the globe. After the round-robin stage India finished fifth, qualifying for the knockout rounds where the top-eight teams made the cut.

Bulldozers roll

Before 8 am Wednesday, a heavy deployment of police, CRPF and Rapid Action Force was in place in Jahangirpuri, which saw violence following a Shobha Yatra on Hanuman Jayanti on April 16- 10-12 people, including six police personnel, were injured and police have picked up 23 people

Scrap dealers and vegetable vendors scurried to pack their belongings in white gunny sacks, with one question on everyone's lips: "Bulldozer aa gaya?"

With residents coming out of their homes to see what was going on, security forces - numbering over 1,000 – confined people in narrow lanes and took up positions on rooftops

Senior officers, including Special Commissioner of Police (Law and Order) North Dependra Pathak and DCP Northwest Usha Rangnani, surveyed the area.

Pathak said adequate force had been deployed to "assist MCD in their operations" and that they would "uphold the law and order situation".

At 10.15 am, the first bulldozer $\,$ rolled into Kushal Cinema chowk, making its way past the police barricades and splitting a food cart in half. The bulldozer then razed part of a kiosk selling soft drinks and tobacco.

Rahima, 30, a mother of three, broke down at the sight of the bulldozer crushing three fridges which her family had bought after taking a loan of Rs 2 lakh. "Hum sab par bhi bulldozer chadha do (Run us over too). They should have given us notice first. We would have taken away all our goods. We have been living here for 15 years. All colonies in Delhi have such encroachments, it was never a problem earlier. We are being targeted only because of the recent violence," she said, picking up bottles of cold drinks from the Police personnel took Rahima and her family inside their home and locked it from the outside, saying, "Jab khatam hoga khol denge (We will unlock it when it ends).'

Raman Jha (52), a father of five, who lives with his family in a JJ cluster, watched as the bulldozer razed his paan shop next. "I have been out since 7 am and the police had promised me this was an encroachment drive that will not target shops," he said.

A few minutes later, at 10.30 am, as a second bulldozer manoeuvred into Kushal Chowk, Jamila pleaded with the authorities to stop the drive as her husband Hussain's cart was razed.

"Earlier, when MCD staff used to come, they would inform us a day in advance and we would pack our things. There was no notice this time. Ek samuday ko target kiva ja raha hai (One community is being targeted)," Hussain

With four bulldozers now at work, senior advocate Dushyant Dave brought up the matter in the Supreme Court, during 'mentioning hours' when cases that require urgent attention are brought to the notice of the Chief Justice of

Dave, who appeared for the Jamiat Ulama-i-Hind, told the court: "This is completely unauthorised, unconstitutional, demolition which is now ordered in Delhi, in Jahangirpuri area, where allegedly riots took place". He contended that under mu-prior to signing of the contract

nicipal laws, notice has to be given before carrying out any demolition and this wasn't done for the drive in Iahangirpuri.

"Without notice to anyone, under the Municipal Corporation Act at least 5 to 15 days notice is required, they have a right to appeal against that...", said Dave. He pointed out that though the demolition was planned to start at 2 pm, it had already started at 9 am 'knowing that we are going to mention it".

The bench, headed by Chief Justice of India N V Ramana, ordered that "status quo, as exists today, shall be maintained, until further order", and listed the matter for Thursday.

The Supreme Court's directions, though, fell on deaf ears, as the demolition activity continued. "We have no information till now about the order to stop, so action will continue," said North MCD Commissioner Sanjay Goel, who was at the spot.

Incidentally, it is settled law that officials cannot delay enforcement of Court orders until a formal signed copy is provided.

Minutes later, North MCD Mayor Raja Igbal Singh said that while the Supreme Court order had not reached them, "we are stopping it (the demolition)".

Yet, the bulldozers continued chipping away the facades, reaching a juice shop owned by Ganesh Kumar Gupta. The 54-year-old said his shop was legal and allotted by the DDA in 1977. "My father used to run it before me. I have all the documents, but the authorities did not wait. No notice was served in advance. I have suffered a loss of at least Rs 5 lakh. This shop is my only source of income. I have four children. I will now approach the court. They continued to demolish the structure despite the SC order coming in."

Next, the vehicles arrived at the main gate of the mosque near which violence had erupted last Saturday.

Around noon, an outside gate of the mosque was torn down, while the one behind it was left intact. This led to some women coming out on the streets in protest, only to be met by policemen in riot gear who chased them back into the lanes of C-Block.

As reports of the demolition continued to pour in even after the SC order, Dave once again approached the court a little after noon and raised this. "I am sad. Despite the world knowing that this court passed orders, they are not stopping. It sends a terribly wrong message," he said, urging the court: "They say order is not communicated. Please communicate, ask the Secretary General... It's widely reported in the media immediately. This is not right. We are a rule of law so-

Taking note, the CJI asked the counsel about the officials it should be communicated to, and directed that its order be passed on to them though the Registrar General or Secretary General "im-

"It will be late otherwise," Dave said.

"We are communicating," responded the CJI.

Senior Advocate Kapil Sibal told the court that there is a petition pending about a similar demolition drive in Uttar Pradesh. Madhya Pradesh and Gujarat, He urged the court to list that also on Thursday. The court agreed to the request and tagged both together.

dozers quietened down a little after noon, as people who had parts of their shops destroyed gathered to collect whatever possessions they could.

At 3.40 pm, Punender Yadav, 23, a bulldozer driver who hails from Hardoi in Uttar Pradesh, prepared to leave. "I will return when the call comes. I got Rs 8,000 for today's assignment.'

'Got no notice...'

and complained about the harsh sun, the 35-year-old shop owner had immediately split a red flex board into two to make a temporary sun shade. "All I asked was whether the encroachment drive would damage my shop and they promised me it was against scrap dealers." Akbar said.

Barely an hour later, all that a bulldozer left of his small shop was squashed cigarette packets and cold drinks covered in dust. And all that this family of four was left with was an earthen piggy bank with coins and spare notes.

A few hundred metres away, Dinesh Kumar was adding up the losses, the metal awning over his mobile repair shop, a "recent investment", now a mere number: "Rs 50,000.'

"What have they achieved? What have they proved with this? They could have just asked us to remove the awnings and we would have done it." said the 40year-old. "The shop was just some months old, but I was born in this building and have lived there all my life.

The Delhi municipal corporation's snap anti-encroachment demolition drive, a few days after a Hanuman Jayanti procession in the area sparked communal violence, has left in its wake a trail of devastation and despair, cutting across fault lines.

For Akbar, the end came after five days of brisk business. "My customers were CRPF, Delhi Police, RAF (Rapid Action Force)... I gave them water and sometimes free sugar. I gave those CRPF officers shade from the sun by breaking my own flex boards," he said.

A few months ago, with the onset of summer, Akbar had "taken a loan of Rs 2 lakh" and bought several items, including three chocolate-coloured refrigerators, for the shop which he had been running "since 2006". "I had also bought cold-drink stocks worth Rs 15.000. In all. I have sustained losses of over Rs 2 lakh from damage to the shop and destruction of property," he said.

Akbar's wife, Rahima showed an MCD vendor certificate issued in 2021. "We did nothing illegal. Why were we punished? This is our livelihood. For you, this may just be kabaad (scrap)," said the 30-vear-old.

Their two children, Rahim (16) and Asif(12), were busy trying to salvage what they could from the debris. Asif picked up a packet of fruit juice even as sledge hammers dismantled whatever little was left of the shop. Rahim managed to save a few packets of

According to Akbar, Rahim dropped out of school during the first Covid lockdown and now works as an apprentice at a mobile repair shop. "I was asleep when the bulldozer came. I saw my mother crying downstairs and went to help her save those cold drinks." Rahim said.

Dinesh Kumar had opened his mobile repair shop in November 2020, "after working for 18 years in a managerial role in an NGO".

"I resigned last year because I was inspired by the Government's push for entrepreneurship, and wanted to develop my own business." he said. In the case of Ashu, who runs a motorbike repair shop in rented space on the local mosque's premises, the bulldozers damaged the metal awning, the shutter, and even three vehicles, including a bike that a customer had left to be repaired. Staring at the mangled remains of the twowheeler, he estimated losses totalling "Rs 1.5-2 lakh".

A father of two, Ashu was "saving up for Eid". "Now, the customers will come after me. The shop has been closed since the day of the violence and there has been no business, and now there are all these losses. I never thought such a thing would happen. I have been running this shop for 16-17 years, and no one has raised any issue about the structure," he said.

"The MCD did not give us any intimation and just demolished our stores. This was supposed to be festival time, and we are left with this," he said.

replicated the same in Delhi. It's against the Indian Constitution. They don't have the right to attack the Ram Navami procession -- we have seen them using illegal guns and working from illegal constructions. You can see the demeanour of those people, dressed like dons. The BJP is not against any community, we work on Sabka Saath Sabka Vikas. But BJP governments will act against all criminal elements and terrorists. This is not to target any community, but the criminals, the mafia and people who have connection with terrorist outfits.'

On Wednesday afternoon, Union Ministers and senior BJP leaders from Delhi headed to North Block where Union Home Minister Amit Shah held a meeting. Delhi BJP chief Adesh Gupta, Lok Sabha MP Ramesh Bidhuri, MLA Rambir Singh Bidhuri and party leader Manjinder Singh Sirsa were present. So were Union Ministers Dharmendra Pradhan Bhupender Yadav, Kiren Rijiju and Principal Secretary to Prime Minister PK Mishra.

Countering what they called "selective criticism", BJP leaders targeted the Opposition, saying its statements were "polarising" the Union Minister Anurag Thakur took on Congress leader Rahul Gandhi over his remark urging Prime Minister Narendra Modi to switch off "bulldozers of hate" and switch on power plants. "This is all you can expect from someone whose history is linked to corruption and riots... He is doing no good to the country by sowing the seeds of hatred. He is maligning the country's image." he said.

On the Jahangirpuri action, a BJP leader said: "It was decided at the top level with Central leaders part of the decision. The Delhi leadership was also demanding it, but it came from the top. Whether on social media or on the ground or in the Sangh, the leadership in Delhi wants the Yogi (Adityanath) model... you also know that for such action to be undertaken and for police and bureaucrats to be convinced, it can't be done at the state level.

Mayor Raja Iqbal Singh, however, said that the Jahangirpuri action should not be seen through the prism of politics. "If people encroach, then naturally there will be action," he said. Delhi BJP chief Gupta said "rioters have no religion and they have to be given a reply in their language".

and 1.70 for Haryana. On Wednesday, Delhi reported 1,009 new cases, one death and 5.70 per cent positivity rate. In view of the rising cases, the Delhi government has decided to make masks mandatory again, with a fine of Rs 500 in case of a violation, Earlier this week, Uttar Pradesh and Harvana made masks mandatory in districts near Delhi. While the Delhi Disaster Management Authority (DDMA) has decided not to shut schools, it will come up with separate Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) for them.

Cities like Mumbai and Chennai have also reported an Rvalue of over 1 -- 1.13 for Mumbai, 1.18 for Chennai and 1.04 for Bengaluru.

At the height of the Omicrondriven wave, the country's Rvalue had risen to its maximum so far of 2.98 (December 30, 2021-January 10, 2022). "The R-value for the third wave was the highest. The perception of threat for the third wave might be low in the minds of people -- probably because there were fewer deaths -but the number of people getting infected was very high," said

"The value for India we have estimated at present is roughly what the R-value was (1.08) between February 14-March 11 last year -- i.e., just before the onset of the second wave when it rose to 1.37 on March 9-April 21, 2021, before decreasing to 1.10 (April 29-May 7) and finally to below 1 by May 9 (R: 0.98)," said Sinha. With 2,067 new cases being reported in the last 24 hours, India's active case load stands at 12.340: the weekly positivity rate is 0.38 per cent.

After hours of heavy dealing, which saw both teams taking turns to get into the lead, India recorded an upset and progressed to the semi-final, where they defeated France. That ensured a historic finish, given that no Indian team had ever reached that far in a World Championship.

In the final, India took on Poland, which had five former world champions in its team. The European giants proved too strong, recording a 45-point win over six sets and 96 deals.

Despite the loss in the final, the bridge community has hailed their performance as path-breaking. Cricket legend Sachin Tendulkar, whose father-in-law

Anand Mehta was a bridge player himself, led the accolades, tweeting that "age isn't a barrier to be the best in the world".

Bridge made its debut at the 2018 Asian Games and India won three medals – gold in men's pair, bronze in men's team and bronze in mixed team.

Padhye, who has partnered Mehta in the past, hoped their silver medal will prove to be a catalyst for change, and attract younger players to the sport. "There's a stigma attached to the sport, unfortunately, and many people mistake it for gambling,' he said.

Padhve, who runs a printing business, recalled how his grandmother "got restless if she did not play a couple of deals every evening". "It's a stimulating activity that keeps you alert and agile. And even though it's a cerebral game, that does not mean physical fitness is less important. Every day, we have to play almost eight hours — and to do that for 10 days in a high-pressure tournament like the World Championship, it's challenging."

The average age of the sport in India is believed to be around 55-60 years, with people from varying backgrounds getting addicted Krishnan believes one thing ties them all: A high IQ level. "It demands high levels of concentration and analytical skills. In India, there isn't a lack of intellect so this game suits us in that sense," he said. The challenge, Goel said, is to make it accessible to the youth. Like Padhve, Goel, an industrialist, insisted that bridge is a thinking man's game that is more about mental stimulation, rather than gambling.

"It's important to realise this so that we can make this sport appealing for the vounger generation and take it to schools. A lot of other countries are excelling because they have bridge in their school programmes. Unless we bring younger people to the sport, it won't flourish as much as it should," he said. "I hope our silver medal will bring about that change."

"As I arrive in India today, I see vast possibilities for what our two great nations can achieve together. From next-generation 5G telecoms and AI to new partnerships in health research and renewable energy -- the UK and India are leading the world... Our powerhouse partnership is delivering jobs, growth and opportunities for our people, and it will only go from strength-to-strength in the coming years," Johnson said in a statement.

In Gujarat, he is set to visit a factory being set up by a top British firm and a biotechnology university working in collaboration with the University of Edinburgh.

The British High Commission said Johnson will use the visit to "drive progress in negotiations on the landmark UK-India free trade agreement, which is expected to help double our trade and investment by 2030". Negotiating teams will hold their third round of formal talks in India next week, it said.

"Work is already progressing on cutting red tape for businesses following the UK-India Enhanced Trade Partnership launched by both Prime Ministers last year, and today our governments will announce new measures to make it easier to export UK-made medical devices to India," it said. "This clause has been there for quite some time. There are a lot of iob opportunities in the market because of which the attrition rate is very high. Companies were even matching offers received by their employees from rivals to retain talent. But in the last few weeks, I have received around 65-70 complaints, where Infosys is enforcing this (non-compete) clause," Harpreet Singh Saluja, president of Pune-based IT employees union NITES told The Indian Express.

"It is standard business practice in many parts of the world for employment contracts to include controls of reasonable scope and duration to protect confidentiality of information, customer connection and other legitimate business interests. These are fully disclosed to all job aspirants before they decide to join Infosys, and do not have the effect of preventing employees from joining other organisations for career growth and aspirations," Infosys said in response to a set of queries sent by this newspaper.

In the company's earnings call for the January-March quarter, Infosys Chief Financial Officer Nilanjan Roy said: "Voluntary LTM (last 12 months) attrition increased to 27.7 per cent. While LTM attrition continues to increase due to the tail effect, quarterly annualized attrition saw a decline of approximately 5 per cent after flattening in the previous quarter... IN THE ongoing eight-year-old probe into the Rs 60,000 crore Pearl Group ponzi scam, a special CBI court has for the first time granted regular bail to a director of the dubious group of companies out of 8 such highranking officials arrested during the course of the investigation.

While Chander Bhushan Dhillon, Pearl Group's director for legal affairs, has walked out after securing regular bail, 5 other arrested directors -Nirmal Singh Bhangoo (MD), Mohan Lal Sehajpal, Sukhdev Singh, Subrata Bhattacharya, and Gurmeet Singh — are in cus-

Dhillon, who had joined the Group in 1986, was made a director in 2011 and was among 11 alleged conspirators the agency arrested in December last year. The court, in its detailed or-

Renew your pledge for public service

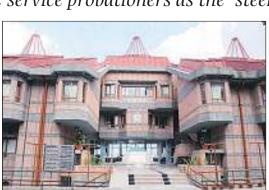

Our first Home Minister, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, described administrative service probationers as the 'steel frame of India'

■HE CIVIL Services continue to be the top draw among career choices in India because they allow you the opportunity to work with the government and shape important policy decisions for the country. Not only that, a civil servant understands problems first hand and, in solving them, becomes not just the decision-maker but a change-maker and imple-

That's why the Government celebrates April 21 every year as "Civil Services Day" as an occasion for administrative officers across cadres to re-dedicate themselves to the cause of citizen's welfare and renew their commitments to public service. This date is chosen to commemorate the day when our first Home Minister, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, addressed the probationers of Administrative Services Officers in 1947 at Metcalf House, Delhi. He referred to them as the "steel frame of India."

The first commemorative event to celebrate Patel's inspiring speech was held in Vigyan Bhawan, New Delhi on April 21, 2006. Every year since then, the Prime Minister's Awards for Excellence in Public Administration are presented to Districts/Implementing Units for execution of priority programmes and innovative practices. This encourages participation from a large number of districts across the country. These awards bring civil servants together, help them connect with each other and learn the good practices they have adopted in resolving public grievances across the country.

The prime responsibility of civil services executives to society is to serve the government it has elected. They must offer the same standard of free, frank, impartial and responsive advice, and the same level of professionalism in administration and delivery of services, policies, programmes irrespective of the political party in power. Another accountability of civil servants is to operate within the framework of the Constitution, prioritise public interest in maintaining law and order and ensure that proper and ethical procedures are fol-

It is because of the gravity of governance that the civil services exam is considered one of the toughest in the country with aspirants from all disciplines trying their luck. Commonly referred as the "mother of all exams," it is often said that clearing the civil services exam requires a "true passion" along with a "dedicated and systematised approach." The toughness of this exam can be gauged from the fact that of the four lakh students appearing in the UPSC preliminary examination every year, only a thousand manage to

The tradition of civil services goes back to 1600. The East India Company's Directors used to choose officers who were then schooled at Haileybury College in London before being dispatched to India. In 1854, following the submission of Lord Macaulay's Report to the British Parliament's Select Committee, the East India Company's patronage-based system was replaced by a modern merit-based civil service in India. The Civil Service Commission was established and the first competitive examinations were held in 1855. At first, the examinations were only held in London. Candidates were required to be at least 18 years old and the maximum age for taking the exams was 23

The subject "European Classics" had a lot of dominant share marks, giving the British or other Europeans an unfair advantage. Even though Satyendranath Tagore, poet laureate Rabindaranath Tagore's brother, was successful in passing the examinations in 1864, four other Indian candidates were successful three years later. Then Indians petitioned for examinations to be held in India for the next

In Allahabad, the first Indian Civil Service Examination was held in 1922 and later in Delhi, the Federal Public Service Commission was established.

In 1931, Indians were assigned to 20 per cent of the total number of Superintendent of Police positions. When there were no European candidates in 1939, the appointment was increased again. In 1950, the Federal Public Service Commission was renamed the Union Public Service Commission after the creation of the Republic

We, at Next IAS, believe civil service is that selfless commitment to nation-building, which ensures implementation of government policies, creates a matrix for smooth functioning and ensures schemes reach beneficiaries.

Historical Background

April 21 was chosen as National Civil Service Day to commemorate the day when the first Home Minister of independent India, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, addressed the probationers of Administrative Services Officers in 1947 at Metcalf House, New Delhi. In his speech, Patel referred to the civil servants as the "steel frame of India."

Civil services in our country consist of Indian Administrative Service (IAS), Indian Police Service (IPS), Indian Foreign Service (IFS) and a comprehensive list of All India Services and Central Services, Group A and Group B. The celebration on this day motivates officers to work more efficiently for the public.

Significance and role in current

Civil servants are the heartbeat of every community and their work is felt at the local, state and Central levels in various ways. They are the ones developing and implementing national policies and programmes, protecting our borders, becoming the first responders fighting crimes and guarding our freedom and

In his address, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel once said, "Along with discipline, you must cultivate an esprit de corps without which a service as such has little meaning. You should regard it as a proud privilege to belong to the Service, covenants of which you will sign, and to uphold throughout your service, its dignity, integrity and incorruptibility."

From 'steel frame' to transformational pillar

■HESE DAYS, in democratic polities world over, the role of the State has veered away from primary functions and has expanded to saving its citizens from bigger challenges like external aggression, delivering social, economic and political justice besides ensuring welfare. The civil services become particularly important in achieving the goals of a welfare state. To achieve desired policy outcomes, civil services officers are playing a great transformational and enabling role. We have come a long way from the "steel frame" image of bureaucracy to one that is more accommodative, inclusive, responsive, sensitive, grounded and serviceoriented. It comprises energetic, dynamic and truly world-class officers who are motivated by the desire of making India count in the global high table.

Many officers from different civil services of the Union Government as well as in states are doing a very good job in making government services and programmes more accessible to the common man.

They are upholding principles of a performing, efficient and ethical government. To motivate and encourage young recruits to all civil services and to remind them about their commitment to constitutional values of rule of law and perform various developmental functions efficiently and accountably, the Government started celebrating April 21 as Civil Services Day from 2006. This is held under the aegis of the Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances and Pension. It is on this day in 1947 that our "Iron Man" and first Home Minister, Sardar Vallabh Bhai Patel, who is credited with creating the Indian Administrative Service (IAS) and Indian Police Service (IPS) just after independence, addressed the first batch of IAS officers at Metcalfe House, Delhi. This was the IAS training academy in those days.

Thanks to his mantra, many young officers are doing a very good job despite the challenges that confront an emerging power. They are working round the clock to ensure social justice and last mile connectivity as envisaged by Mahatma Gandhi.

This is the occasion when all civil servants rededicate themselves to the higher mission of citizen welfare and renew > their commitment to public service and excellence in work. The Government of the day rewards few of them for their meritorious services in priority sectors. As part of many events, the Prime Minister's Awards for Excellence in Public Administration are presented to Districts/Imple-implementation of priority programmes and excelling in innovation categories. These awards bring together civil servants from across India to exchange notes on best practices, good and ethical governance. This annual affair is eagerly awaited by all public administrators to celebrate outcomes of work done in the entire year.

Our Prime Minister is dedicated to the vision of a "New India" where everyone, irrespective of their origin and circumstances of birth, is able to realise his or her full potential. May we realise an India as dreamt of by our founding fathers like Bal Gangadhar Tilak, Lala Lajpat Rai, Mahatma Gandhi, Sardar Patel, Dr B R Ambedkar and in post-independent India by thinkers like Jai Prakash Narayan, Ram Manohar Lohia, Pt Deen Dayal Upadhyay and other luminaries.

Time to be proactive

VERY YEAR, on April 21, the Na- tional Civil Services Day is celebrated as a token of appreciation for all our officers who are engaged in various public departments in the country and who work tirelessly to run India's administrative machinery. This day also acts as a reminder for civil servants to not lose sight of their vision, to serve citizens above all else.

The civil services, particularly at the higher stratum of the administrative hierarchy, play a critical role, both in determining policy choices as well as charting the course through which a policy is implemented. Officers appointed in IAS, IPS, and others are often the ones who work at the grassroots level to address various social issues faced by the citizens.

Why is Civil Services Day celebrated?

The Government of India celebrates Civil Services Day every year as an occasion for the civil servants to re-dedicate themselves to the cause of serving citizens and renew their commitments to public service. The particular date was chosen to commemorate the day when the nation's first Home Minister, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, addressed the probationers of Administrative Services Officers in 1947 at Metcalf House, Delhi. It is here that he referred to civil servants as the 'steel frame of India'.

Does the government award any prizes, release any documents and so on?

As part of the Civil Services Day celebrations, the Prime Minister's Awards for Excellence in Public Administration are presented to districts/implementing units for execution of priority programmes and innovation. A large number of districts across the country participate in the awards scheme to celebrate the outcomes of work done in the entire year, thus scaling up the entire process.

These awards not only rewards civil servants but help them connect with each other to grasp the good practices being implemented across the nation in the field of public work, grievance resolution and

The Indian bureaucracy has managed to strengthen, stabilise and grow a post-independent India for 75 years despite grave economic challenges, abject poverty and communal differences. And it did so while being bound by the rules and limitations of the Constitution. Steering the helm of this ship was no easy feat, but Indian civil servants, especially the Indian Administrative Services (IAS) and the Indian Police Services (IPS), have managed to do it with great conviction. But will it be enough now and for the future?

To conclude, we can say that the current systemic architecture may not be able to go on for long as a new India of the future demands an updated bureaucratic system. Thus, the time for a proactive, imaginative and highly tech-savvy bureaucracy words of the first Home Minister of India Sardar Vallabbhai Patel, on the role of a civil servant: "Your foremost consideration must be how best to contribute to the well-being of India as a whole".

Every year, only a few thousand of aspirants, among lakhs, make it as finalists for Civil Services. Rome wasn't built in a day. Likewise, every successful candidate achieves his goal brick by brick, over a period, and transforms from an aspirant to a Civil Understanding the nature of Civil Services exams and tuning one's energy accordingly is important before you start the preparation. It requires certain traits, much like the nine jewels mentioned below.

RESOURCES- It is important for an aspirant to choose the right resources from the ocean of study material available online and stick to them, without deviation. For example, the PT-365 programme at this moment.

TIME MANAGEMENT- Since the exam cycle is almost a year-long process, it is important to manage one's time judiciously. Aspirants should focus on the three stages of selection, manage time and set priorities for classes, tests, preparation, etc.

ADAPTABILITY- Charles Darwin's 'survival of the fittest' theory holds true even while preparing for Civil Service exams. An aspirant should be able to adapt to the changing nature of exams and change their approach at each state of exam.

MOTIVATION- As this journey is long and continuous evaluation of oneself is part of it, one shouldn't lose the motivation to become a Civil servant. You can get inspiration from the great works being done by Civil Servants such as Ashok Khemka and OP Choudhary

MENTAL HEALTH- An aspirant who studies eight to 10 hours a day on an average needs to take care of his mental health to be active and to improve memory skills.

N THIS Civil Services Day, it's GUIDANCE- Why do a few aspiour duty to recall the great rants crack the exam in their first attempt, while many others take years to clear it? One of the main reasons is the guidance towards what needs to be done at what moment and setting priorities across different aspects that come in the way.

> PERSEVERANCE- Commitment towards the goal despite all odds that comes in a way is one of the important qualities an aspirant should develop.

> EVALUATION- Continuous evaluation and gauging one's preparation levels is another important aspect of an aspirant. This can be done through mock tests. After the mock test, you need to find out the weak areas and work upon them to refine your preparation. This has to be done until an aspirant's name appears in the final selection list.

> SUCCESS- A remarkable journey always ends with success. And a sincere aspirant with the above traits can crack the Civil Service Examination and become a good Civil Servant. VISION IAS, India's premier research > and training institute for Civil Services Examination, has been inculcating these core aspects among its students through their support services. They include academic counselling, classroom mentoring, test series mentoring, catering to academic and psychological support systems by giving individual attention to students enrolled in our various programmes. VISION IAS turns hundreds of aspirants into Civil Servants every year.

> VISION IAS has been delivering the top ranks over the years through test series programmes, classroom programmes, distance-learning programmes, Abhyaas, extensive DAF support system for personality test and interview-guidance programme.

> We wish you to become a Civil Servant with the guiding words of Sardar Patel: "Take to the path of dharma the path of truth and justice. Don't misuse your valour. Remain united. March forward in all humility, but fully awake to the situation you face, demanding your rights and firmness."

DEMOLITION IN JAHANGIRPURI

After communal flare up, bulldozer politics

AAP leaders say BJP settling Rohingya and Bangladeshis across the country

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

OPPOSITION PARTIES criticised the anti-encroachment drive carried out by the BJP-controlled North MCD in the violence-hit Jahangirpuri area on Wednesday, accusing the party of trying to foment more trouble.

"This is a demolition of India's constitutional values. This is state-sponsored targeting of poor and minorities. BIP must bulldoze the hatred in their hearts instead," senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi tweeted.

CPM leader Brinda Karat, among the few political leaders to come to Jahangirpuri in protest against the demolition, stood in front of one of the bulldozers waving a copy of the Supreme Court order ordering status quo on the matter. She said: "We had a bit of an argument, police said the order had not been uploaded and I said 'But I'm showing you'... Afterwards, our team met people there and found there were no notices given and that it was completely selective... As far as I'm concerned, all this has nothing to do with legality-illegality but with a sectarian agenda.'

AAP leaders spoke in one voice on the issue. Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia said the only way to end hooliganism in the country was to bulldoze the BJP headquarters. "The BJP is providing a discourse to the country today to talk only about ladai-jhadga and hooliganism," Sisodia said, accusing it of going about it "in a scripted way".

He added: "BJP netas are talking about Rohingya. The BJP must give an estimate of how many Rohingya and Bangladeshis have settled here in the past 8 years and where. Once it says how many Rohingya and Bangladeshis have settled and where, we'll know where the next riot will happen."

Rajya Sabha MP Raghav Chadha said the BJP had helped settle Bangladeshis and Rohingya in different parts of the country to "use" them to cause riots: "If you want to know where the next riots are going to happen, just ask them to reveal where they have settled Bangladeshis and Rohingya." Senior leader and MLA, Atishi, oo said the BJP had helped settle Bangladeshis and Rohingya in different parts so that goondagardi can be perpetrated. Both leaders also said it was Home Minister Amit Shah's house that should be demolished to stop riots. The BJP and AAP have been trading charges over the communal violence that broke out in Jahangirpuri on Saturday, during a Hanuman Jayanti procession, each claiming that Ansar, one of the main accused. had links with the other.

Sisodia said: "Illegal constructions have been demolished, now the homes of those BJP netas should be demolished who gave not done anything for schools, hospitals, rising prices... They have only encouraged fighting. If the hooliganism must stop, the easiest way to do it is to bulldoze

Delhi Congress chief Anil Chaudhary said the anti-encroachment drive was an excuse to poison the discourse among people: "What is the BJP trying to achieve by sending bulldozers to an area where communal tension is rife because of recent violence? It has become clear that BIP and AAP leaders have been found to be involved in these cases and they don't want peace to prevail." He also questioned Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal's silence.

Congress communication department head Randeep Surjewala said the government is running bulldozers on constitutional order and rule of law.

Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot many states... but what they are is suffering losses in the violence but on social media they will say the other side has suffered ing out. People of the country... should realise what is the truth. It will not be in the country's interest if we start thinking only from a religious point of view.'

should address the nation and say that the government will not tolerate violence and condemn those indulging in it—be it Hindu,

"The demolition drive in Jahangirpuri is a brazen demolition of our constitutional order. Bulldozing continued even after a stay from none other than the Supreme Court. Bulldozer culture of the BJP-RSS is demolishing the foundations of rule of law. Mass action is the only alternative," CPI

Hyderabad MP and AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi, meanwhile, was allegedly stopped by police from visiting Jahangirpuri. The AIMIM, in a tweet on Wednesday night, said the leader

Manoj Kumar Jha, RJD MP in Rajya Sabha, said targeting of Muslims by the BJP and its affiliates is taking new shape every day. "Today was a very alarming day because terrorising minority citizens by open flouting of the rule of law went on despite a directive to maintain status quo by the SC. Mansura's relative Sarika (22) was trapped with her, along with her four children.

Sitting at the entrance of their red brick house, Sarika pointed towards an electricity meter installed outside and said, "We pay our bills. Ever since the violence, there is a lot of anger and people have branded us as Bangladeshi Muslims. My family comes from Kolkata and we belong here." The house has been here for two decades, the family said. The family of 10 resides inside two rooms and sells cattle feed for a living. They buy it for Rs 3 per kg and sell it at the local markets, managing to make Rs 300-400 a Sarika's husband Alam (32) piled white gunny sacks at the entrance of his house to help his family. "I was trapped for five days inside the house because police stopped us from leaving since the incident took place. Now my wife and her children are trapped inside without electricity. We will try and make a makeshift staircase to get them out," Alam said.

'Saw my shop being demolished on the TV'

PAVNEET SINGH CHADHA NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

AS A bulldozer reached near the mosque in C-Block at Jahangirpuri on Wednesday, an anxious Shadab sat in front of his TV at his house in H block, a few metres away. "I tried to go to the shop twice, but police did not allow me to enter. I saw it happen on TV and in the media. They demolished the shed and the shutter. I do not even know the extent of the loss as I am yet to see the damage in person," said the 25-year-old, who has been running a wholesale mobile parts shop, 'Shadab Mobile Parts', for over five years.

PICKING UP THE PIECES AFTER MCD ACTION

While the drive was on near Kushal Chowk, police had confined people behind gates in the colony. Shadab said: "I pleaded with the police to let me go once, but they pushed me back. This is the first time I have seen an encroachment drive with bulldozers here in five years. The MCD usually comes to pick up the garbage and some carts."

Confined to their homes, many struggled to count their losses. Jamaluddin (74) sat outside his house on a chair as his grandchildren picked up bricks and rubble after his family's bathroom and water supply pipeline were destroyed. A native of Madanpur, West Bengal, he said he moved to Jahangirpuri four decades ago and sells vegetables. He lives with a family of seven in a small house.

"Peene ka paani bhi nahi hai, sab tod diya (We don't even have water for drinking). I woke up today and there was a frenzy in the area. As the bulldozer came charging towards my house, I pleaded with them (to stop), but who can stand in front of a bulldozer? For the first time, we are being called names like Bangladeshi and being made to feel like outsiders. We have lived in peace and harmony for years. The incidents of last week are damaging," he said.

Alauddin (17) said that the shed of his family's cycle repair shop near the mosque was destroyed. "We earn Rs 500-600 a day. Since Covid, work has already been slow and now after the violence, it has come to a halt. There are illegal colonies everywhere and suddenly, this area is the priority for MCD to bring in its bulldozers," he said.

Left behind, a home without a Why civic body action raises The CPI too hit out at the BJP. staircase, a family stranded question marks over due process

ABHINAV RAJPUT NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

WEDNESDAY'S ACTION in Jahangirpuri by the North MCD flies in the face of its usual practice of sending a notice at least five days in advance in cases of encroachment.

The Delhi Municipal Corporation Act 1957 states that the civic body needs to give at least five days' notice to a person who has carried out the alleged illegal construction. During this time, the person can be asked to make alterations, failing which the corporation has the power to demolish or seal the unauthorised structure.

"Where the erection of any building or execution of any work has commenced or has been carried out, or is being completed... in contravention of any of the provisions of the bylaws, the commissioner may make an order directing that such erection work shall be demolished by the person at whose instance the work has been carried, not being less than five days from the date on which a copy of the order of demolition with a brief statement of the reasons has been delivered to the person," reads the Delhi Municipal Corporation Act 1957.

While this is the case of unauthorised construction on private land, in case of public land, the corporation has extended jurisdiction. The Act states that the commissioner may, without notice, remove any "stall, chair, box, ladder or other things whatsoever placed, deposited, projected attached or suspended. Secondly, any article placed whatever hawked or exposed for sale on any public street or in other public place in contravention of this act, and vehicle, package box or any other thing on which such article is placed".

Officials said it is this rule that the corporation has used in case of Jahangirpuri to carry out a demolition exercise which is bigger in nature than is generally

The MCD used 4 bulldozers, 8 trucks and 4 small trucks to clear a 2-km stretch. Praveen Khanna carried out on footpaths and roadsides, senior officials from Delhi's three civic bodies said.

Structures demolished in Wednesday's drive include the outer gate of a mosque, vending carts, the concrete extension of a juice corner, and the staircase of a household.

"The notice has to be issued for permanent construction, not for temporary construction. In this case we have not touched any permanent construction," said Ankita Mishra, deputy commissioner of Civil Lines Zone, when asked about Wednesday's action.

Another official of the SDMC, who was part of the special task force constituted to clear encroachments in the city by the DDA, said that such drives, where notices are not served, have in the past largely been limited to roadside stalls or temporary sheds. "If we demolish a concrete structure like a juice shop or conduct demolition near a religious place, due process of serving notice is followed," said the official.

Another North body official said it is surprising to see the force in such large numbers — more than 1,000 personnel were deployed on Wednesday — being provided by the police on such short notice. The corporation used four bulldozers, eight trucks and four small trucks to clear the 2-km stretch near Kushal Cinema.

North MCD Mayor Raja Iqbal Singh, when contacted, said there was no need to send notices as the drive was mainly to clear traffic and remove sacks of waste being kept on the road. Asked about the outside gate of a mosque being demolished, he said. "I am not aware of the masjid gate, and in the case of the juice corner, only the extension has been demolished." He said the action should not be linked to communal clashes four days ago as similar drives have been carried out earlier too.

The civic body's continued action despite the Supreme Court ordering a "status quo" at the site also raises questions. In a 1987 ruling in Vinod Kumar Singh vs Banaras Hindu University & Others, the Supreme Court had held: "When a judgment is pronounced in the open court, the parties act upon it and conduct their affairs on the basis that it is in judgment of the court and that the signing of the judgment is a formality to follow. A judgment to be operative does not await the signing thereof by the court. If what is pronounced in the court is not acted upon, the litigants would be prejudiced; their confidence in the judicial process would be shaken. A judgment pronounced in the open court should be acted upon unless there be some exceptional feature, like, soon after the judgment is declared in the open court, a feature, not placed for consideration before the court earlier, is brought to its notice by either party to the cause, or the court discovers some new facts from the record or the court notices a feature, which should be taken into account, or a review is asked for, which is granted. In such a situation the court may take up the matter again for further consideration, and it has to give good reasons if the judgment delivered by it is not to be operative."

SCHOOLS TO REMAIN OPEN

Fresh Covid cases cross 1,000; govt reimposes fines for mask violations

GAYATHRIMANI

MASKS HAVE been made mandatory in public places in the national capital once again, with the Delhi Disaster Management Authority (DDMA) reimposing a fine of Rs 500. This comes even as the number of fresh Covid cases in Delhi shot past the 1,000-mark on Wednesday.

All schools, colleges and other educational institutions would remain open with strict Covid protocols in place, and a separate Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) will be prepared for schools in consultation with experts, said officials present in the meeting. The enforcement drive against mask violations is likely to start on Thursday.

The city reported 1,009 cases, a sharp spike as compared to Tuesday when 632 cases were registered. The positivity rate, which saw a dip a day ago, rose to 5.7%, and one death was recorded.

recorded 131 cases. Cases had been dipping from the last week of March and were in double digits for two days on April 4 and 5. On April 13, 299 cases were recorded, following which, it increased by a minimum of 100 every day till April 19, and by 377 on Wednesday.

During the meeting, chaired by L-G Anil Baijal and attended by Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, Deputy CM Manish Sisodia, Revenue Minister Kailash Gahlot and senior officials from the health and revenue departments, the Delhi government informed the DDMA that the Chief Minister is closely monitoring the situation, and that the deputy CM has already issued an SOP to schools,

"Aggressive Covid testing in Metro and railway stations, and airports will restart soon. More emphasis will be laid on vaccination as it has helped to fight the disease, and Rs 500 fine for not wearing masks will be imposed, along with strict enforcement drives," said an official.

On April 13, Ajay Bisht, deputy secretary of the Health and Family Welfare department, had also issued an order to all districts magistrates to continue services of doctors and staff hired for vaccinations, testing, surveillance, and management of the infection in Covid hospitals and DHCs till July 30.

Officials said the authority has asked to keep a close watch over XE variant, which is likely to be more transmissible. The DDMA has also sought genome sequencing tests on all RT-PCR positive samples. All RT-PCR samples collected from April 912 will be sent for sequencing at ILBS to ascertain new variants, said

Hospitalisation trends will be also closely watched over the next fortnight, said the official. Testing of people with symptoms will be scaled up and district authorities have been directed to promote vaccination for all eligible age groups. Special attention and care will be given to people with co-morbidities, said the official.

Further, departments and authorities concerned have been directed to keep an eye on gatherings like weddings, protests and other

"We are yet to obtain an official order. Once we receive it, the enforcement drive and action plan will be implemented to control the spread of cases. We expect it will come by this evening," said a senior district official

Boy peeps out of school bus, dies after head hits pillar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NOIDA, APRIL 20

A CLASS III student died after he peeped out of the window of his school bus and allegedly hit his head against a pillar in Ghaziabad on Wednesday morning. According to police, the victim has been identified as Anurag Bharadwaj (11) who lived with his parents in Modinagar.

While police are ascertaining the sequence of events, the boy's family has registered a complaint alleging murder against school authorities. Based on the family's complaint, police have filed an FIR under IPC section 302 (murder) against the bus driver and school authorities including the principal. "We received information that a minor died while on his way to school on Wednesday morning. It appears that he had put his head out and came in contact with a structure. The family has alleged murder on part of the bus driver and school authorities. We are investigating the case," said an officer from Modi Nagar police station.

As per police, the bus picked up the boy at 7 am. Eyewitnesses said that the child felt unwell and put his head out to get some air just as the bus took a turn, and he hit his head against a pillar. Anurag was rushed to the nearest hospital where he was declared dead on arrival.

The driver is absconding, said police. The family has alleged that the school withheld information about the incident and he died due to direct negligence of school authorities.

THE ENCROACHMENT

Due process lies at the heart of citizens' rights and freedoms. A bulldozer ran over it in the national capital

HE BULLDOZER IS at the door, due process is underfoot, and the Supreme Court cannot unsee the danger. The sequence of events speaks for itself: At Jahangirpuri in northwest Delhi Wednesday morning, seven bulldozers rolled in, accompanied by over 1,000 policemen, to demolish "illegal encroachments" in an area still tense because of the flaring of communal violence on the occasion of Hanuman Jayanti on Saturday — and they continued on their mission to raze for well over an hour after the Supreme Court ordered them to pause. Evidently, the BJP-led North Delhi Municipal Corporation follows the BJP's agenda ardently, even when the Court directs it to hold its hand, even when it goes against the law. At Jahangirpuri, the fig leaf of illegal constructions — is so thin it does not even require a puff of Delhi's acrid air to be blown away. After all, in dense urban sprawls across India, encroachment of public spaces is so widespread that it is not remarkable anymore — what is striking is the selective action taken in its name by the state. In Jahangirpuri, as in Khargone in Madhya Pradesh only days earlier, the timing was a dead giveaway. "Illegal encroachment" has become the pretext for a BJP administration to target "rioters" after the eruption of communal violence, who belong overwhelmingly to one community.

No notices were sent to the residents of Jahangirpuri before bulldozers were sent to demolish structures, many in the vicinity of the mosque that was at the centre of the communal clashes Saturday. Bylaws call for a notice except in the case of public land encroached by temporary structures – what is temporary and what is not needs to be settled as per due process. Therein lies the rub. A bulldozer's damage can't be reversed and that's why this flagrant flouting of due process, and the bid to brazen it out even after the court stepped in to caution and restrain, makes victims of those who were at the receiving end in Jahangirpuri. But it is not only they who are in danger of being left without recourse in the face of this brutish bulldozer politics. Any attack on due process, much less one that is as high-profile and therefore as unabashed as this one, affects all citizens. It goes to the fundamental promise that lies at the heart of a constitutional democracy — to protect lives and safeguard rights. Due process is not just what is written into the rule-book. It is inscribed in the everyday relations between institutions and citizens and government. It is what keeps them honest, and respectful of each other's freedoms and spaces.

The spectacle in the national capital Wednesday, the intimidatory deployment of bulldozers and police force, the attempt to cock a snook at the judiciary, should set many alarm bells ringing, especially in the court. Illegal encroachments in public spaces need to be addressed — but as per the law. It's for the Supreme Court to underline this principle, it is the only bulwark for the citizen against a transgressing state. It must act. It cannot kick this can down the road. For the citizen's sake — and for its own.

FULLER CARE

Initiatives to resuscitate traditional medicine are welcome. There is need to iron out regulatory flaws, remove misapprehensions

NAUGURATING THE WHO'S Global Centre for Traditional Medicine (GCTM) at Jamnagar in Gujarat on Tuesday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi talked of the possibilities offered by therapeutic approaches that are different from the allopathic medicine system. Their emphasis on "holistic care" makes traditional medicine systems particularly potent in dealing with the challenges posed by modern lifestyle disorders like diabetes and obesity, he said. Conversations on medical pluralism - one of the stated objectives of the new medical centre — are welcome. They could pave the way for a healthcare ecosystem in which healing approaches based on diverse knowledge systems learn from, and complement, each other. For that to happen, however, there must be thorough stocktaking on why practitioners of different medical systems rarely see eye to eye today. This would involve clearing misapprehensions but also, and equally importantly, ironing out regulatory deficits.

According to WHO data, 65 to 70 per cent of people in India use traditional therapies at some stage in their lives. The turnover of the AYUSH (ayurveda, yoga and naturopathy, unani, siddha and homeopathy) industry has gone up six times in the past eight years. Paradoxically, however, there is a lot of misinformation about such cures and their practitioners are vilified at times. A part of the blame for this must be laid at the door of a section of practitioners who make unsubstantiated claims. During the pandemic, for instance, Baba Ramdev sought to exploit mass anxiety by making wildly inaccurate claims for the products manufactured by his Ayurvedic pharmacy, Patanjali Ayurved. The yoga guru disparaged the allopathic system as a "farce" and alleged that lakhs of people had died because of the faulty treatment by doctors practising this system of medicine. Reports of traditional medicine practitioners prescribing allopathic drugs and steroids are also common. At the same time, the grouse of such physicians, about being judged according to criteria designed primarily to ascertain the efficacy of allopathic medicines, deserves serious attention. The National Commission for Indian System of Medicine Act, 2020 does try to resolve this predicament — the act was amended in 2021. But accomplishing one of the major objectives of this law - "ensuring the availability of quality medical professionals of Indian systems of medicine and adoption of the latest research" — will take time.

A growing body of scholarly literature today documents the efforts of a section of traditional medicine practitioners to sync the practices of these systems with modern research protocols. Regulatory bodies and initiatives such as the GCTM would do well to rope in such professionals.

How to get a TV show

Here's how, from Piers Morgan's playbook: Make outrageous statements, play the martyr

n the age of hyperbole, everything is either "awesome" or "atrocious", "the best movie ever" or so "problematic" that it represents all that ails society. Yet, even by the standards of the widespread penchant for exaggeration, TV show host and right-wing provocateur Piers Morgan's claim that he is "like Nelson Mandela when he came out of prison" and that his on-air tantrums and job search are a "long walk to the freedom of expression" is a bit much. And yet, given the sharp lines that have been drawn in the "culture wars", Morgan's sense of self-importance is likely to be rewarded by many.

Last March, Morgan walked off his ITV show, Good Morning Britain, after a co-panelist confronted him on his statements about Meghan Markle's interview with Oprah Winfrey. In essence, Morgan said that Markle was faking mental illness in order to gain public sympathy and tarnish the royal family's image. After a backlash, Morgan was asked to apologise — he quit instead. Now, he claims that his new show on the Rupert Murdoch-owned TalkTV will "stand up for democracy" and against cancel culture.

Shorn of the rhetoric, all that has happened is that a powerful, extremely well-paid person has switched jobs. And even the most ardent opponents of cancel culture will agree that not being on television for a year is hardly the same as being imprisoned for decades and fighting Apartheid. Perhaps Morgan's life has been such a bed of roses that he has lost all sense of perspective. More likely, though, he has figured out — as so many seem to have across the world — that the best way to be on TV is to upset half the people, make outrageous partisan statements, and use guests on panels to further an agenda.

ANYONE WHO HAS ever genuinely immersed themselves in Ramcharitmanas will recognise the singular poignancy of one moment in the Sundarkand where Hanuman meets Sita. Until that point the story is hurtling towards disaster. Sita has been abducted. Ram is distraught and unsure of himself. But the moment Hanuman meets Sita is the point at which the epic turns; the confidence that order will be restored reappears. Hanuman drops Ram's ring from the tree. Sita experiences contradictory emotions: Joy at recognition of the ring; fear about what its presence might mean. (In Tulsidas's rendition: Harsha vishaad hridya akulani). Sita is thinking many things. Suddenly Hanuman's words of reassurance break out as he identifies himself. In all musical renditions, whether by Channulal Mishra or the underrated version by Mukesh, the gentle line "madhur vachana bole Hanumana (Hanuman spoke, his words like honey)", always stops you in your tracks. Its power is not just the simple poetry but the magical calm it produces, an almost irresistible effect that, for a moment at least, bathes you in gentle reassurance and bliss. That moment is itself the deliverance from all worry, and from evil.

It is a measure of our perversion as a society that Ram and Hanuman are now tropes to prepare the ideological groundwork for pogroms. The communal frenzy that has accompanied Ram Navami and Hanuman Jayanti, spread across several cities, should leave us in no doubt about the direction in which India is headed. On the surface, the narrative circulating in society is simple "Hindus were taking out processions celebrating festivals. We were asserting our right. We got pelted by stones or worse. The minorities are responsible for this. It shows Hindus are not safe nor do they have space in their own country". And then the ominous "We need to get rid of them." This narrative is designed to feed the most contrived sense of Hindu victimhood. This is an old playbook.

What should give us nightmares is this. The simple fact is that this narrative is very widespread. All the arguments that we used about majoritarian communalism in India no longer hold. Its logic is no longer merely instrumental (as if that is not bad enough), that will pass with election cycles. It is no longer

Think of what might happen to a society whose dominant religious sensibility literally inverts everything of value. Religion has often been misused and put to grossly perverse and violent uses. But can you think of another occasion in the history of modern Hinduism where everything sacred has become ominous, forms of worship have become fearsome, singing and text weapons, acts of public piety menacing, a sense of community murderous, and any talk of decency or civilisation constraining? That is the fearsome image the organised mobs that masquerade as religious processions now evoke episodic where we can take reassurance that it will somehow pass of its own accord. It is not local in nature, but has taken on a national character. The orgies of hate and prejudice are not aberrations. They are now the norm. They are the norm because the highest levels of political authority, including the prime minister, by silences or dog whistles, condone it. They are the norm because elites openly spout it, without shame. They are the norm because being communal in some ways has become almost a necessary condition of political advancement and is fast becoming the default common sense of civil society.

But what is more ominous is this. Think of what might happen to a society whose dominant religious sensibility literally inverts everything of value. Religion has often been misused and put to grossly perverse and violent uses. But can you think of another occasion in the history of modern Hinduism where everything sacred has become ominous, forms of worship have become fearsome. singing and text weapons, acts of public piety menacing, a sense of community murderous, and any talk of decency or civilisation constraining? That is the fearsome image the organised mobs that masquerade as religious processions now evoke. Let us be very clear. This new form of Hinduism you are seeing unfolding is not an expression of genuine pride and piety. It is meant to be a raw assertion of power and violence to intimidate minorities. It is meant to literally extract reaction (even one photograph will do), that can be used as a pretext to construe all minorities as a threat. The number of seemingly well-meaning people for whom stone-throwing on threatening processions can become a vindication of the deepest prejudices against minorities is truly alarming. It is the one factoid they are looking for to sustain their insidious lie that Hinduism will not be safe unless minorities are shown their place if not erased. This was the mission and the aggressive processions accomplished that. It sustains the insidious lie that the murderous perversion of modern Hinduism, now sustained by state power, is entirely reactive; a belated self-assertion against a minority that dominates us, rather than what it is: Increasingly a drive to violence and cruelty.

Writing on communalism has become a futile act. Who is it addressed to? Certainly not the state whose ideological practices and power fuel the crisis in the first place. Not civil society, because there is not much of civil society left. Not religious groups. To the votaries of new Hinduism, the only discourse of communalism that matters is one they can use in a discourse of revenge. To Muslims, what reassurance can we now give that asymmetry of numbers, state power and ideological zeal will not be used in a project of their cultural erasure? Those who claim to be secular are bulldozed by the lie that secularism is minority appeasement. To those who want to speak the language of human dignity beyond the vortex of communal identification? Is anybody left in that camp? To the Opposition parties who have no courage of conviction or a grammar of politics that can combat majoritarianism?

There is a comforting fallacy out there that somehow a pragmatic, instrumental logic will at some point assert itself over the politics of Hindutva: Inflation and unemployment will show up the cracks. But this communalism is not always rooted in material conditions. The fact that hordes of young men are seeking vindication and self-esteem through a public display of collective narcissism and violence suggests that communalism is now so deep that even social discontent has to express itself in the language of communalism.

Almost all the preconditions for widespread pogrom-type violence are now in place in India. You almost dread the thought that India has reached a point where the question is not "if" but "when." What else would you call the widespread acceptance of vile prejudice, the dismantling of any semblance of conscience, the alignment of the state with majoritarian power, the complete effacement of the individual by imposed communal identification, the self-justification of the majority that has cloaked itself as the victim, the total contempt for rights, the glorification of violence, the search for the slightest pretext for revenge, and the radical othering of minorities?

Unsung Dalit Women Heroes

Their stories must become part of historical, cultural narratives

Aditi Narayani Paswan

IT WOULD BE a profound injustice to recognise Babasaheb Ambedkar, whose 131st birth anniversary was recently celebrated, as only a Dalit leader. He also worked hard for the cause of women's rights, believing that a society's political, economic and social aspects can only be ameliorated when men and women have equal rights. This piece is therefore a tribute to all the women from the periphery who have either not been heard of or written about but are important. We can't celebrate Ambedkar without giving due respect and acknowledgement to these women.

The historical and cultural narratives of India have failed to acknowledge the contributions of the women from the margins, as they are either androcentric in approach or reflective of the dominant castes. Remembering unsung Dalit women heroes and their stories of struggle and bravery from across the centuries, will broaden these narratives and help address the institutionalised discrimination Dalit women have faced for centuries.

The story of Sabari from the Ramayana has been used as an example of acceptance, selflessness and unconditional love, and adapted into bhajans and poems. The coming of bhakti saw the emergence of women from the Mahar caste, such as Sant Nirmala and Soyarabai, questioning Hindu orthodoxy. Nangeli fought against the cruel "breast tax" system, which imposed a tax on women of the lower castes who covered their breasts. She cut off one of her breasts and presented it to tax collectors, inspiring other women in the community to cover their breasts unapologetically.

The bravery of Dalit women has not only been visible in their deeds but also in the words they wrote. In Maharashtra, writers like Shantabai Kamble, Baby Kamble, Mallika Amar Sheikh and Kumud Pawde shone a light on Dalit feminism through their autobiographies. In Tamil Nadu, writers like Bama and P Sivakami explored gender discrimination as a two-fold oppression.

Every section of society attempted to combine social and political liberation during the freedom struggle. Kuyili, who commanded the army of Velu Nachiyar, the queen of Sivaganga in Tamil Nadu, was a Dalit woman who fought against the British around 1780. Jhalkaribai, another fearless Dalit warrior, played a pivotal role in what is known as the First War of Independence in 1857, as the most trusted companion and advisor of Rani Laxmibai of Ihansi, Born in Ujirao, Lucknow, Uda Devi formed a battalion consisting of Dalit women under the leadership of Begum Hazrat Mahal.

Among social reformers, there was Savitribai Phule, a pioneer in education for Dalits, who started a school in 1848 with nine girls. By 1851 this became three schools with around 150 girl students. She also started a school in 1849 with her friend Fatima Sheikh, the Mahila Seva Mandal in 1852 to raise awareness about women's rights and the Balahatya Pratibandhak Griha, where widows and rape survivors could deliver their babies. Born in the Kaibarta caste community, Rani Rashmoni, protested practices like sati and child marriage and atrocities against lower caste people and even submitted a plea against polygamy to the Company. Moovalur Ramamirtham Ammaiyar fought against the exploitative Devadasi system. In 1936, she published a Tamil novel on Devadasis and wrote the fictional series Damayanthi in 1945.

Dakshayani Velayudhan was the first and only Dalit woman to be elected to the constituent assembly in 1946. She was also a part of the provisional parliament from 1946-1952. Her contribution in civil disobedience and satyagraha is a story that needs to be told.

The bravery of Dalit women has not only been visible in their deeds but also in the words they wrote. In Maharashtra, writers like Shantabai Kamble, Mallika Amar Sheikh and Kumud Pawde shone a light on Dalit feminism through their autobiographies. In Tamil Nadu, writers like Bama and P Sivakami explored gender discrimination as a two-fold oppression. Marathi writers like Urmila Pawar and Meenakshi Moon worked to make Dalit women visible in women's movement and. through their research and testimonies, brought out the grim reality of the missing voices. Dalit women like Dulari Devi and Mayawati also need to be celebrated. Her conviction and social engineering skills made Mayawati chief minister of UP four times, and through her art, Devi, a Mithila painter from Bihar, tracks the interplay between meaning and power within the hierarchical structures of religion, caste, gender and politics.

INDIA AND SAUDI Arabia underlined the importance of maintaining an atmosphere conducive to further negotiations between Islamabad and New Delhi, to attain the objectives of non-aggression and non-use of force. They agreed that consolidation of Indo-Pak relations would contribute to the security, stability and peace in South Asia, and the entire region according to a joint communique issued at the end of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's four-day visit hailed as heralding a new year in Indo-Saudi relations. The communique says that India stressed its desire to establish peaceful and harmonious relations with all countries including Pakistan.

India's wheat opportunity

It must not rush to encash it. Not delivering on quality or not honouring commitments sustainably can have counterproductive long-term effects

DEVESH ROY AND NEELKANTH MISHRA

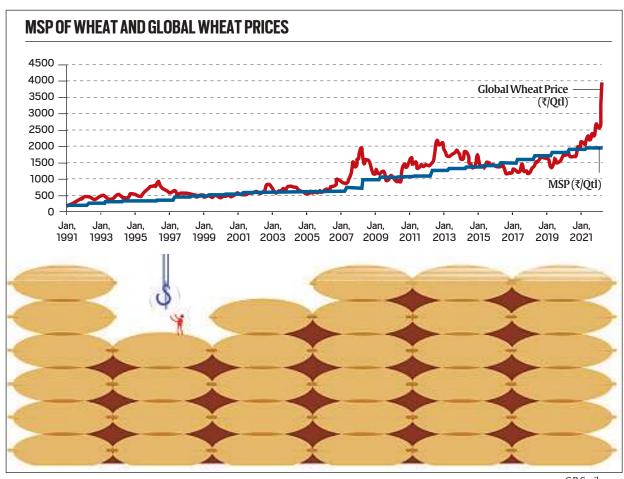

THE EFFECTS OF conflicts show up in countries geographically distant from the war zone. India faces strong headwinds to growth from the surge in energy costs due to the Russia-Ukraine clash and the resultant sanctions. The elevated geopolitical uncertainty also threatens global growth, which hurts Indian exports.

On the other hand, distant countries also get an opportunity to fill the void left by conflict areas being unable to export. Russia and Ukraine together accounted for nearly 30 per cent of global wheat exports. This sudden shortage of wheat in global markets and the surge in prices has spawned a discussion in India on how best to capitalise on the opportunity. India's wheat output has consistently exceeded its demand for the past five years, as seen in the buildup of inventory. Wheat inventory was 23 million tons at the end of February. The rabi harvest, which is projected to be around 111 million tons (this has some downside risk), would augment it significantly. When the last rabi harvest ended in June 2021, with output at 100 million tons, stocks of wheat with the Food Corporation of India (FCI) touched a record high of 60 million tons, two-and-a-half times the buffer norms for July.

It would, therefore, appear that India is ready to reap windfall gains. Yet, on closer look, the prospects for sustained wheat exports appear limited. To start with, the available surplus of around 25 million tons (including the seven million tons exported last year) accumulated over five years, implies an average annual surplus of five million tons. Not only is this a fraction of the nearly 60 million tons of wheat exported annually by Russia and Ukraine, but even at $500 per ton, it would be worth just $2.5 billion annually.

Further, given how little political appetite exists in most countries for food price increases, particularly for cereals, exporting foodgrains also requires political resolve. Exporting all the surplus stock would push up domestic wheat prices, potentially inviting restrictions on future exports, similar to the recent hikes in export tariffs on palm oil in Indonesia. Exporting for a year and then banning exports is bad for trade relationships. In agricultural trade, India has the dubious distinction of being an unreliable trading partner, which partly explains its 1 per cent share of global wheat exports despite being the second-largest producer in the world. Rushing to "encash the opportunity" can potentially dent the long-term prospects for agricultural exports.

A bigger concern from the perspective of a sustained opportunity is that Indian wheat is not competitive globally in most years. As the government (through FCI) buys 40 per cent of all the output at the minimum support price (MSP), and FCI holds most of the surplus grain at a high cost, exports only occur when export prices far exceed the MSP (Figure 1). Under WTO commitments, the government (read FCI) may not sell procured grain for commercial gains. For private players to route the surplus to exports, a large gap is necessary given the additional intermediary (FCI releases wheat into the market, traders buy from the market and then export). As the MSP only rises every year, in years where global prices fall, exports would

Consideration of the export parity price (EPP) amplifies the lack of competitiveness. The price a producer can expect to receive is the FoB price (the price when loaded onto the ship) minus the cost of getting the produce from the farm or factory to the border or the port. If the latter is high, as it is in India, the EPP falls for the producer, which further constrains exports. At Rs 1.2 to move one ton per kilometre, domestic rail freight costs are higher than the global average. A study conducted by IIM-Kolkata found that road transport costs from wheat producer-states were even higher - Rs 4.5 from Uttar Pradesh and Rs 2.8 from Madhya Pradesh. Domestic logistic costs in aggregate are over 13 per cent of GDP compared to the global best practice of 8 per cent. There is inefficiency at the ports too. While wheat also uses dry-bulk shipping, in container handling, India's cost per container of $1,374 is substantially higher than those of other agricultural exporters like Thailand and Vietnam at $759 and $913, respectively. The question is: After meeting all the costs, does India remain competitive and leave enough margins for sellers? The crisis can be an opportunity for India to fix the fundamentals, like its "time to trade" and "costs to trade", which are among the highest globally.

Perhaps the most important constraint on sustainable Indian exports is the composition of importers and the role of non-price attributes like food safety, quality, and variety of wheat. Russia exports to Turkey, Egypt, Turkey, and Bangladesh, and Ukraine to Indonesia, Philippines, North Africa,

Perhaps the most important constraint on sustainable Indian exports is the composition of importers and the role of non-price attributes like food safety, quality, and variety of wheat Russia exports to Turkey, Egypt, Turkey, and Bangladesh, and Ukraine to Indonesia, Philippines, North Africa, Bangladesh, Korea, Thailand, and Spain. Neighbouring Bangladesh

Bangladesh, Korea, Thailand, and Spain. Neighbouring Bangladesh importing wheat from Russia and Ukraine when India is accumulating surpluses deserves scrutiny. Generally, though, several of these markets are high value, demanding food safety and quality, and have preferred varieties of wheat. A recent ICRIER study showed that Indian agriculture produce faces more rejections in key export markets compared to other developing countries. India has the highest number of consignment rejections in both European and US markets despite a comparatively low level of agricultural exports. Addressing these challenges, whether concocted or real, would be more helpful in boosting the sustainable export opportunity.

Lastly, a long-term sustained export strategy must incorporate the changing nature of global trade. India's opening up of its trade follows the "heterodox" approach: Open on the export side while being restrictive on the import side. This creates political difficulties in trading relations, but may also not be good economics.

Rushing into opportunistic export deals would thus appear to be short-termism, and cannot be a strategy for agricultural exports. Not delivering on quality or not honouring commitments sustainably can have counterproductive long-term effects, hurting India's reputation. Much of the expansion in trade historically has occurred through new products and varieties and new customers, which requires new links, agreements, and looking at opportunity costs of wheat production, market structures within the country (like the FCI's role), as well as reducing the risk of frequent policy interventions.

In a free fall

The politics and economics of freebies are deeply flawed, they are a quick passport to fiscal disaster

N K Singh

INDIA IS A Union of states. It is not a confederation of states. It is not a question of holding together but of coming together. The Union is indestructible. The configuration of the states which constitute the Union can change. The Union, therefore, is integral to both the Centre and the states. The strength of the Centre lies in the strength of the states.

Therefore, the macroeconomic stability of the Union is contingent on the macroeconomic stability of both the Centre and states. That is why in grappling with the complex issues of the Fifteenth Finance Commission, of which I was the chairman, we devoted the entire Volume-IV to the states. Each state in this volume of the report has been analysed at great length. So have their individual deficits, debts and macroeconomic stability, which includes the developmental challenges each of the states face.

The political dialogue built around freebies is fraught with danger. There is great ambiguity in what "freebies" mean. We need to distinguish between the concept of merit goods and public goods on which expenditure outlays have overall benefits. Examples of this are the strengthening and deepening of the public distribution system, employment guarantee schemes, support to education and enhanced outlays for health, particularly during the pandemic. All over the world, these are considered to be desirable expenditures.

Therefore, it's not about how cheap the freebies are but how expensive they are for the economy, life quality and social cohesion in the long run. We must dread the thought of replicating the culture of competitive freebie politics. We must go the route of achieving higher rates of economic growth. The race to efficiency is the race to prosperity.

There are seven reasons why. First, freebies undercut the basic framework of macroeconomic stability. The politics of freebies distorts expenditure priorities. Outlays are being concentrated on subsidies of one kind or the other. What, therefore, does this mean to fiscal sustainability for states which are already debt-stressed?

Illustratively, in the case of Punjab, while estimates vary, some have speculated that the promise of freebies might cost around Rs 17,000 crore for their implementation. If we take everything impacting the debt ratio of Punjab into account, there is going to be an additional impact of 3 per cent of GSDP. As we know, the debtto-GDP ratio of Punjab is already at 53.3 per cent for 2021-22, which would worsen on account of these new measures.

Second is the issue of the distortion of expenditure priority. Take, for instance, the change to the new contributory pension scheme from the old scheme, which had a fixed return. Rajasthan announced that it would revert to the old pension scheme. This decision is regressive as the move away from the old scheme was based on the fact that it was inherently inequitable. The pension and salary revenues of Rajasthan amount to 56 per cent of its tax and non-tax revenues. Thus, 6 per cent of the population, which is made up of civil servants, stands to benefit from 56 per cent of the state's revenues. This is fraught with dangers not only of intergenerational inequality, but also affects the broader principles of equity and morality.

Third, the issue of intergenerational equity leads to greater social inequalities because of expenditure priorities being distorted away from growth-enhancing

Fourth, movement away from the environment. When we talk of freebies, it is in the context of providing, for example, free power, or a certain quantum of free power, water and other kinds of consumption goods. This distracts outlays from environmental and sustainable growth, renewable energy and more efficient public transport systems.

Fifth, the distortion of agricultural priorities. This affects agricultural practices which do not depend on extensive use of water and fertilisers. The depleting supply of groundwater is an important issue to consider when speaking of freebies pertaining to free consumption goods and resources.

Sixth, its debilitating effect on the future of manufacturing. Freebies lower the quality and competitiveness of the manufacturing sector by detracting from efficient and competitive infrastructure enabling high-factor efficiencies in the manufacturing sector.

Seventh, this raises the question of whether the time has come to consider recourse mechanisms like subnational bankruptcy. Freebies bring into question market differentiation between profligate and non-profligate states and whether we can have a recourse mechanism for subnational bankruptcy.

The race to the bottom implies government deregulation of markets and business. This means eventually that states compete to underbid each other in lowering taxes, expenditure and regulation. We must strive instead for a race to efficiency through laboratories of democracy and sanguine federalism where states use their authority to harness innovative ideas and solutions to common problems which other states can emulate.

The economics of freebies is invariably wrong. John Maynard Keynes said, "There is no harm in being sometimes wrong especially if one is promptly found out." In this case, it has been promptly found out that both the economics and politics of freebies are deeply flawed. It is a race to the bottom. Indeed, it is not the road to efficiency or prosperity, but a quick passport to fiscal disaster.

Ignorance isn't bliss

Understanding trail of hate in India requires honest examination of its origins

importing wheat from

India is accumulating

Russia and Ukraine when surpluses deserves scrutiny.

BALBIR PUNI

HATE AND BIGOTRY feed on each other. They germinate and flourish on a toxic diet of divisive and schismatic ideologies and polarising creeds that discriminate against human beings on the basis of colour, region, gender, faith and divide them between believers and non-believers — ranging the chosen ones against the idolatrous.

'Calling out hate' by SY Quraishi (IE, April 15) has little to do with the anatomy of hate or its ongoing malignancy. It is more of an ad hominem attack on the ruling dispensation. A complex phenomenon has been over-simplified to suit a convenient political narrative. The arguments are drearily familiar, facts dodgy and conclusions delusional.

For aeons, India has had syncretic traditions inspired by the Vedic aphorism, "Ekam sad vipra bahudha vadanti" (there is only one truth and learned persons call it by many names). Because of this underpinning, Indian society has never insisted on uniformity in any facet of life. Indian philosophy is a smorgasbord of varied ideas and traditions - incongruous at times, but always a part of a harmonious milieu.

This equanimity of Indian society was, however, disrupted by invading creeds claiming only their God, and His messenger were true, and the rest were false and worthy of destruction, along with their followers and places of worship.

The first such incursion came in 712, when Muhammad bin Qasim vanquished Sindh, and as Chach Nama, a contemporary Arab chronicle states, introduced the practice of treating local Hindus as zimmis, forcing them to pay jizya (a poll tax), as a penalty to live by their beliefs. "Hate" and "bigotry" thus made their debut in India, which was hitherto free from this virus. Pakistan's official website credits this invasion as when the country was born as an Islamic nation in the Subcontinent.

In the 11th century, Mahmud of Ghazni, while receiving the caliphate honours on his accession to the throne, took a vow to wage jihad every year against Indian idolaters. During his 32-year reign, he did keep his solemn promise over a dozen times. The But why go into the distant past?

Unfortunately, the trail of hate unleashed over a thousand years ago continues to haunt us even today. The last 100-odd years witnessed the Moplah riots, Partition, and the decimation of Hindus/Sikhs/Buddhists in Afghanistan, Pakistan, Bangladesh and the Kashmir Valley. The recent pre-planned attacks on Ram Navami processions in over half a dozen states, and the onslaught on the Hanuman Janamutsav rally have reminded us that the ogre of hate is alive and stinging.

It's uncanny: While communal mayhem was going on in India, Muslim mobs were fighting pitched battles against the police in dozens of towns in Spain, Sweden and the city of Jerusalem. In Sweden, Muslims were agitated over blasphemy involving the holy Quran. Protests in Spain are against the imprisonment of a rapper convicted of insulting the monarchy and praising terrorist violence. While the issues involving these sordid episodes may differ, the pattern is common.

Were the Hindu-Muslim relations peaceful in the past and have soured post-2014? The fact is, ties between the two communities were seldom cordial. There were intermittent skirmishes, wars and occasional short-lived opportunistic alliances. Is the current dispensation responsible for Muslim alienation? Remember, even Gandhiji failed to wean Muslims from Muhammad Ali Iinnah's schismatic movement.

In the aftermath of the Moplah violence and communal riots at several places in India, Gandhiji observed in Young India (May 24, 1924): "My own experience but confirms the opinion that the Musalman as a rule is a bully. and the Hindu as a rule is a coward". Nothing much has since changed in the Subcontinent.

Can laws or police fight hate? No. If they could, Kashmiri Hindus wouldn't have gone through the hell they did in the 1990s, and would have been happily back in their homes by now. India is a secular democracy, not because of its Constitution. It's the other way round. When Pakistan declared itself an Islamic Republic in 1947, it would have been natural for India to identify itself as a Hindu state. It didn't, and couldn't have - because of its Hindu ethos of pluralism. A Hindu-dominated India, is, and will always be, catholic, plural, myriad and a vibrant democracy.

George Orwell said, "The relative freedom which we enjoy depends on public opinion. The law is no protection. Governments make laws, but whether they are carried out, and how the police behave, depends on the general temper in the country".

Can one fight hate selectively? The burning of Graham Staines and his children is reprehensible. So was the lynching of Akhlaq and Junaid. But why the cowering silence on the dastardly gunning down of Swami Lakshmanananda Saraswati and four of his disciples (August 2008) in Orissa for which seven Christians and a Maoist have been convicted? Over a dozen Muslim workers of the BJP have been killed in Jammu & Kashmir and other parts of India in the recent past. These victims of hate are, of course, ignored. Their deaths don't suit the narrative.

Charged reactions, punctuated with half-truths, deliberate omissions and tailored narratives, offer no real solution. Pusillanimity to face facts will only exacerbate the situation and give egregious results. Ignorance is not always bliss.

In this context, it's relevant to recall what Lester Pearson (14th PM of Canada) said: "Misunderstanding arising from ignorance breeds fear, and fear remains the greatest enemy of peace.'

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

GAME OF PRIVILEGE

THIS REFERS TO the editorial, 'Family game' (IE, April 20). Cricket in India, by all accounts, is alluring — for players, spectators, sponsors and management boards. While the players have to prove themselves to stay in the game, the spectators have to buy tickets, sometimes at a premium, sponsors have to shell out astronomical amounts to catch people's fancy, there are no real constraining factors for those running the whole show. The authority baton gets passed, and quite naturally too, to the next in the family, letting the family members enjoy the status, power and pelf without a break. Even the apex court's interventions have not been able to change this inherent structure. If the government is really keen to usher transparency in the functioning of the cash-rich BCCI, it must step in to stem the rot. But then, the political class and cricket officials make for more than cosy company, don't they?

Vijai Pant, Hempur

RESPECT HOUSE

THIS REFERS TO the article, 'Living in a shrunken house' (IE, April 20). The parliamentarians of the early decades of independent India had set elevated standards for their successors by engaging in quality deliberation in Parliament and by showing the utmost respect for parliamentary decorum. The issues of national interest should prevail over partisan consensus on any subject that has been brought in front of the legislature for thorough scrutiny. The anti-defection law ties a parliamentarian's hands during the voting process, but their independent opinion on the floor of the house isn't covered under the purview of the law in normal circumstances. The floor leaders and party whips of different political parties should respect the differences of opinions of their fellow party men and coequal colleagues.

FACE THE TRAGEDY

THIS REFERS TO the editorial, 'The dead must count' (IE, April 20). The controversy over the mortality data in the Covid pandemic has reached new heights, with the Indian government's alleged efforts to resist the WHO's report. The virtual collapse of the healthcare system in the second wave, the numerous shallow graves on river banks, and the shortage of vaccines pointed to the government's shortcomings. Unfortunately, attributing failures to a global conspiracy aimed at tarnishing India's image is an oft-used recourse. An impartial, all-encompassing survey on the number of deaths in the pandemic is the need of the hour and would mark the first step towards rebuilding trust and honouring the dead.

GOVT & POLITICS

BUSY DAY

THE HOME Ministry was abuzz with activity on Wednesday with Home Minister Amit Shah being present in office. Not only were bureaucrats on their feet with several meetings concerning the ministry, including one on matters related to Goa, being held, several Cabinet ministers also came to meet Shah. They included Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan, Environment Minister Bhupendra Yadav, Parliamentary Affairs and Coal Minister Pralhad Joshi and Law Minister Kiren Rijiju. By late afternoon, Delhi BJP leaders also came to meet Shah in the wake of the Iahangirpuri demolitions. Shah had largely kept to his residence through much of the pandemic, handling both the ministry and political work from there. With the situation improving over the months, sources said, he has begun spending more time in the ministry, holding all meetings at North Block.

PARTY MATTERS

MANY OF the Congress leaders, who are interacting with poll strategist Prashant Kishor, are not agreeable to his pitch that the party should transform itself into an election machine. As is their wont, they believe strengthening the organisation and bringing clarity on the party's core ideology – in other words what it stands for – is more important. Once that is done, electoral success will follow, they say. But, one senior leader who met Kishor on Wednesday, believes that the past few days of hectic activities have boosted the morale of the dejected cadre. He says there is now hope among the workers that the leadership is gearing up to do something.

SITE VISIT

THE TMC has in the past questioned the visits of delegations of BJP leaders to sites of crime, ranging from political violence to cases of alleged rape in West Bengal. With the communal clashes in Jahangirpuri and the subsequent demolition drive putting the national capital's law and order system under the scanner, the TMC has decided to take a leaf out of the BJP's playbook. On Friday, a team of six women MPs of the TMC, led by Lok Sabha member Kakoli Ghosh Dastidar, plan to visit Jahangirpuri on a "fact-finding mission". The team has been asked to submit a report on the matter to West Bengal Chief Minister and TMC chief Mamata Banerjee.

After Azam camp's swipe at SP, Jayant stirs peace buzz with visit Chaudhary meeting with Azam Khan's family in Rampur on Wednesday.

ASAD REHMAN LUCKNOW. APRIL 20

DAYS AFTER the Samajwadi Party was attacked by an aide of its senior leader Azam Khan for "ignoring" Muslims, SP ally RLD chief Jayant Chaudhary paid a visit to Azam Khan's wife Tanzeen Fatima and son Abdullah Khan at their Rampur residence on Wednesday. The RLD posted the pictures of the meeting from its official Twitter handle.

While RLD spokesperson Surendra Nath Trivedi termed the meeting a "courtesy visit", sources said Chaudhary may have met the Khans to try and mend ties between the family and SP chief Akhilesh Yadav. Azam Khan remains one of the tallest SP leaders, especially of supremo Mulayam Singh Yadav's time, and the statement from the Khan camp followed talk of Muslim disenchantment with the SP.

"Jayantji was in Rampur for some other programme. Since he was there, he met Azam's family. Azam Khan is a big leader of Uttar Pradesh and he has been in jail for a long time. If the national president of the RLD is visiting the district, then it is but natural that he visits his family," said Trivedi.

Sources said Azam Samaj Party chief Chandrashekhar was also scheduled to meet Khan in jail on Wednesday, but had to cancel it as he fell ill.

Job creation, industry my priority: Mamata to investors

'Will create 1.5 cr jobs in five years'

ATRIMITRA KOLKATA, APRIL 20

MAKING A strong pitch for big-ticket investments in West Bengal, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee said on Wednesday that her main target in the near future was industrialisation and employment generation and that the state will create 1.5 crore jobs in the next five years.

Addressing a gathering of industrialists during the inaugural session of the Bengal Global Business Summit, Banerjee took a jibe at the former Left government in the state. "We lost 75 lakh man-days every year during the Left Front rule, but now no man-days are lost."

She also urged Governor lagdeep Dhankhar to speak to the Central government and ensure that industrialists are not harassed by central agencies.

She said, "If you don't mind, Governor sir, on behalf of all industrialists, we want all help from the Centre. In the Governors' conference, please raise this issue. Industrialists will not raise their voice (fearing reprisal)."

"At a time when employment opportunities in the country slumped by 40%, we witnessed 40% growth in the same. Our people are in places like NASA. We want to bring that talent here," she said.

JAGDEEP GOVERNOR Dhankhar on Wednesday invited industrialists to set up business in West Bengal. He was speaking on the first day of the two-day Bengal Global Business Summit (BGBS) 2022 in Kolkata.

Referring to the state-Centre ties, he said: "It will be appropriate for Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee to proactively catalyse a development bonhomie with all concerned as it is imperative to distance development from a partisan stance.'

He also suggested a non-partisan approach and involvement of Opposition parties in development programmes. "A greater reflection of the political spectrum of the state in participation in such ventures would surely be motivational," he said.

Emphasising coordination with the Centre, he said: "This can fructify by synergistic working between the Government at the Centre and the State, and all other entities. This would certainly result in an economic leap for the state.'

Baghel and Gehlot present, PK stresses on messaging to revive Congress

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

TWO CONGRESS chief ministers - Rajasthan's Ashok Gehlot and Chhattisgarh's Bhupesh Baghel joined a group of party leaders Wednesday and sat through a presentation by election strategist Prashant Kishor to fine-tune his proposals to make the party battle-ready for 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

The two leaders posed several questions to Kishor, including on his bottom-up design to strengthen the party organisation.

Given that both have extensive organisational experience in their previous roles as state Congress presidents and AICC incharge of states, they are learnt to have focused on Kishor's emphasis on preparing the party cadre at the booth level, besides improving its communication strategy, refurbishing its image and political messaging, choice of alliances and tactics, including creating divisions in BJP states where Congress is strong.

The deliberations will continue for the next two days and the group of senior leaders, who were asked by party chief Sonia Gandhi to cull out actionable points from Kishor's proposals and find areas of convergence, will submit a report to her. On Wednesday, Sonia attended the nearly five-hour-long meeting at her 10, Janpath residence.

On Kishor's presence at the meeting, Gehlot said: "Prashant Kishor has become a brand. He was with (Narendra) Modi and BJP for 2014 Lok Sabha polls; then he went with Nitish (Kumar), and then with the Congress in Punjab. He is a professional. There are many others like him — we get in touch with them, too. But Prashant Kishor has become a big name, so the media is focusing on him."

"We have been taking suggestions from agencies and experts. Since Kishor has become a big name... he is in (the) discussions. If his experience comes in handy... to unite the opposition; to fight against the government (then it will help the Opposition)...'

The group comprising P Chidambaram, Ambika Soni, Privanka Gandhi Vadra, Digvijaya Singh, Jairam Ramesh, Mukul Wasnik, K C Venugopal and Randeep Surjewala had met on Monday and Tuesday as well. Surjewala said, "We propose to conclude these deliberations over the next 48 to 72 hours." He said they are looking at suggestions by Kishor, as also by "certain very experienced people in the party".

"Those suggestions include the ways and means to strengthen the Congress organisation and connect with the masses, gear up for upcoming polls, leading up to 2024," he said.

J&K admin sets aside 18,000 kanals of land for industrial use

NAVEED IOBAL SRINAGAR, APRIL 20

A YEAR after Jammu and Kashmir notified a fresh industrial policy, the administration has made available more than 18.000 kanals of land for the purpose of setting up industrial units. Out of this, ,747 kanals have been allotted in Kashmir, according to an official. Ranjan Thakur, Principal Secretary of the Industries and Commerce Department, told The Indian Express that land for the industrial units have been provided at multiple locations in the Valley but "largely in Pulwama, where we have cleared up about 2,000 kanals for this"

Lassipora in Pulwama, Thakur said, has emerged as an area of interest among the investors because of its connectivity to the highway. All of this, he said, is state land and the government has "not acquired a single kanal under the land acquisition Act". Change of land use from agricultural to non-agricultural purposes has been permitted, he said.

According to the administration, investment of more than Rs 52,000 crore has been proposed in the Union Territory, Of this, 52 per cent is in Jammu and the rest is in Kashmir.

The government estimates that the industrial units will generate 4 lakh jobs approximately, which will include direct employment, indirect employment and "non-committed" employment.

The proposed units are in 10 major sectors, including cement/stone crushing, pharmaceuticals, food processing, joinery mills and textiles. The highest investment is in food processing and organics-based units.

In Jammu and Kashmir, 257 and 762 units, respectively, have been proposed.

'Moderate' Raje puts Hindutva foot forward as BJP seeks unity in Rajasthan

DEEP MUKHERJEE

JAIPUR, APRIL 20

WHILE THE message emerging from the meeting the BJP central leadership had with its senior Raiasthan leaders on Tuesday was of unity, along with an indication that the party would not project a chief minister face, former CM Vasundhara Raje appears to be positioning herself for the role.

In the past fortnight, Raje has adopted a markedly pro-Hindutva stand in targeting the Ashok Gehlot-led Congress government, in a shift in her political stance. Her statements followed a visit to Delhi last month, where the BJP national vice-president met Prime Minister Narendra Modi, national BJP president J P Nadda and other senior leaders.

Earlier this month, Raje accused the Gehlot government in Rajasthan of practising "appeasement politics", soon after an April 1 order of Jodhpur Vidyut Vitran Nigam Limited directed 10 districts under its jurisdiction to ensure there were no power cuts in Muslim-dominated areas during "People in the state are not only observing Ramzan but are also fasting for Navratri in the scorching heat. Why is the state government concerned only about Ramzanis and not other residents?" Raje tweeted on April 5, along with a copy of the order.

On Monday, Raje accused the Rajasthan government of neglecting temples, and promised one in every district if the BJP was voted to power. When her party was in power in Rajasthan, she said, they had spent Rs 550 crore on the development of 125 temples and Rs 110 crore on a panorama of 50 gods and goddesses and saints. Known to be among the moderate faces in the BJP, Raje earlier stuck to development in her campaign pitch, steering clear of Hindutva. This was seen as one of the reasons for her alienation from the BJP dispensation of Narendra Modi and Amit Shah, and her language now might be a bid to close the gap. "I have never heard her talk so openly about Hindus and appeasement. The statements reflect her efforts to once again come to the forefront of the Rajasthan BIP," said a former member of Raje's Cabinet. The two-time CM also had Muslim faces in powerful positions in her Cabinet, including

Raje during a visit to Karauli after the violence. @VasundharaBJP

Yunus Khan (2013-2018), who was considered to be Raje's most trusted aide and the second-incommand in her government. He held important Cabinet portfolios such as the Public Works

In the 2018 Assembly elections, Khan had been denied a ticket from his seat Deedwana in Nagaur district, in what was seen as a snub by the Centre for Raje. He was instead fielded from Tonk, against senior Congress leader and CM contender Sachin Pilot. The only Muslim candidate of the BJP in Rajasthan, Khan had lost by a massive margin.

■ Poll vault

RAJE'S HINDUTVA shift coincides with jostling for one-upmanship within state BJP ahead of next year's polls. It is also as much a surprise for the state as her own supporters.

Apart from the Central leadership, Raje also had frosty ties with senior BJP leaders such as Ghanshyam Tiwari and Madan Dilawar with strong roots in the RSS. After the 2018 elections. Tiwari had floated his own party but was brought back into the BJP in 2020 by state president Satish Poonia, who is also close to RSS. The shift in Raje's political stance was also evident in her statements on the recent violence in Karauli district, where communal clashes erupted following alleged stone-pelting at a motorcycle rally passing through a Muslim-dominated area on Hindu New Year on April 2, leading to arson.

"The Gehlot government...is trying to impose restrictions on Hindu festivals through administrative orders. This won't be tolerated," Raje said in Karauli while on a visit to the district in the aftermath of the violence.

Asitting BIPMLA and a former minister said: "Muslim leaders such as Yunus Khan were inducted into the BJP by former CM and vice-president Bhairon Singh Shekhawat. It was a tradition that Raje loyalists in the Rajasthan BJP insist she was "always committed to the BJP's ideology". "We follow the line of action decided by the parliamentary board of our party. Right from the beginning, our party is focused on issues such as Article 370, Ram Mandir and the Uniform Civil Code. Vasundharaji's mother Rajmata Vijaya Raje Scindia was an active member of the VHP and was involved in the Ram Mandir movement," said BJP MLA and Raje supporter Pratap Singh Singhvi.

Guru Tegh Bahadur sacrificed life for Hindu dharma, says Shah

DIVYAA NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

GURU TEGH Bahadur sacrificed himself to "protect Hindu dharma", Union Home Minister Amit Shah said at an event at the Red Fort on Wednesday evening to mark the 400th birth anniversary (Prakash Parv) of the Guru.

Shah said the nation stands truly indebted to the great Sikh

"When Kashmiri Pandits told him about atrocities being committed on them by Mughals, he (the Guru) said, 'go and tell Aurangzeb that they can convert others (only) after they can convert me'," Shah said.

"He came to Delhi and sacrificed himself right here — at Chandni Chowk....Sir kalam karne wale toh chale gaye, par jinhone apne sir ka balidaan diya aaj karoron log unke marg pe chalte hain (those who ordered his execution have long gone, but millions follow the path of the one who sacrificed himself).... That's why he continues to be known as Hind ki Chadar even 400 years later.'

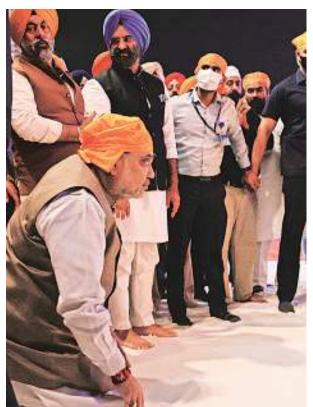

'There's no one in the country who is not touched by the Guru's sacrifice — Hindus, Sikhs…everyone respects him," he said.

Shah said India is free today and is celebrating Amrit Mahotsav of 75 years of its independence due to the supreme sacrifice made by Sikh Gurus. He called it Prime Minister Narendra Modi's "good fortune" to witness during his tenure commemorations of three Sikh Gurus – 550th parkash parv of Guru Nanak Dev, 400th Parkash utsav of Guru Tegh Bahadur, and 350th parkash parv of Guru Wednesday's event set the stage for Modi's address from Red Fort a day later, which will mark the culmination of the two-day event organised by the Ministry of Culture, in collaboration with Sikh Gurudwara Management Committee.

A special rendition of the shabad. Tilak janju rakha prabh taka', dedicated to Guru Tegh Bahadur, was presented by 400 school students during the threehour function.

In his speech, expected around 9:30 pm on Thursday after 'shabad kirtan' by 400 ragis (Sikh musicians), PM Modi is likely to focus on relaying a message of interfaith peace.

Nashik top cop shifted over azaan controversy

He had disallowed bhajans on loudspeakers near mosques

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE MUMBAI, APRIL 20

DAYS AFTER Nashik Police Commissioner Deepak Pandey announced that no one will be allowed to play bhajan or songs on loudspeaker within 15 minutes before and after the azaan call in a radius of 100 m of any mosque, the officer was shunted out from his post on Wednesday. This also comes after Pandey earned the government's censure for writing to Maharashtra DGP Rajnish Sheth, allegedly terming revenue officials and executive magistrate as RDX and detonators.

Pandey was appointed as the special IG of Prevention of Atrocities against Woman (PAW)

- deemed to be a side posting. While Pandey's announcement had drawn flak from right wing groups, the officer had also issued a directive to religious places in Nashik, instructing them to take permission for usage of loudspeakers by May 3, failing which, legal action will be taken against those violating the rule, including being "externed or detained by police".

The directive was in response to an "ultimatum" given by MNS president Raj Thackeray that repercussions would follow if loudspeakers on mosques were not removed by May 3.

In his letter to the DGP, Pandey had alleged that revenue officials were hand-in-glove with the land mafia and were harassing people. He had sought that powers of revenue officials and executive magistrate to be given to the police.

The letter had sparked a controversy, with the state Cabinet earlier this month expressing its displeasure over the language used by Pandey in the letter.

Apart from Pandey, the government on Wednesday appointed Suhas Warke, an officer from the 2000-batch, as the new joint commissioner of police (Crime). Milind Bharambe, whom Warke replaced and who oversaw several high-profile cases, is the new IG (Law & Order), a post previously held by Warke.

The government also transferred Thane joint commissioner Suresh Mekala to the state CID, appointed DIG Virendra Mishra as the additional commissioner (North Region) in Mumbai and transferred DCP (Zone III) PS Dahiya to the Maharashtra Anti Terrorism Squad as DIG. Vinayak Deshmukh, who was the Jalna SP, was made the additional commissioner of police (West Region).

Further, Krishna Prakash, who was the Pimpri-Chinchwad police commissioner, was transferred as IG (VIP Security). Centre extends ceasefire pact with 3 Naga groups by a year

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

THE CENTRE has extended ceasefire agreement with three Naga groups for further period of one year. The groups include National Socialist Council of Nagaland-NK (NSCN-NK), National Socialist Council of Nagaland-Reformation (NSCN-R) and National Socialist Council of Nagaland-K-Khango (NSCN-K-Khango).

All these groups are breakaway factions of NSCN-IM and NSCN-K and signed the ceasefire agreements with the government over the years.

"It was decided to extend the ceasefire agreements for a further period of one year with effect from April 28, 2022 to April 27, 2023 with NSCN-NK and NSCN-R, and from April 18, 2022 to April statement from the Ministry of Home Affairs said.

The development comes even as NSCN-IM leaders, led by General Secretary Th Muivah, Tuesday met with Centre's representative for Naga peace talks, AK Mishra, at the outfit's headquarters, Camp Hebron near Dimapur.

Former special director of the Intelligence Bureau, Misra, who replaced RN Ravi as the Centre's representative last year, reached Nagaland on Monday to discuss the vexed Naga political issue. He is expected to meet the state government's core committee, as well as the Naga National Political Groups (NNPG) during his stay.

This is the first time that talks on the Naga issue were held inside the NSCN-IM headquarters. The discussions on Tuesday lasted for little more than two hours.

The meeting comes a week after Nagaland CM Neiphiu Rio, Deputy CM Y Patton and former CMTR Zeliang met PM Narendra Modi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah in Delhi to discuss the status of peace talks.

7 charred to death in fire near Ludhiana dumpsite

RAAKHIJAGGA LUDHIANA, APRIL 20

SEVEN MEMBERS of a family of migrants from Bihar were burnt to death in a fire that broke out in their shanty next to a garbage dump in Ludhiana's Tajpur road Wednesday morning. The dead included a two-year-old boy.

Assistant Commissioner of Police (East) Surinder Singh said the incident took place while they were asleep. The deceased were identified as Suresh Sahni (55), his wife Rona Rani (50), and the couple's children Rakhi (15). Manisha (10), Chandini (5) Geeta (6) and Sunny (2). Their 17-year-old son, Rajesh Kumar, survived the fire.

There are several rag pickers who live around a huge dump of 20 lakh tonnes of garbage near Tajpur road. The family had their hut at the same spot and had been living there for the last 10 years.

Ram Babu Sahni, a relative of the deceased, said Suresh was planning to go to his native village in a day or so for his elder daughter's marriage, which was scheduled for April 30.

Though police have not revealed the cause of the fire, Tibba road police station SHO Randhir Singh said: "Two table fans were running inside the jhuggi and it had a small LPG cylinder as well. Whether it was a short-circuit or any other cause is vet to be ascertained. A case has been lodged after." Forensic experts have taken the samples and the footage of the two nearby CCTV cameras is being examined, he added

IN SEPTEMBER last year, a 29year-old woman from Andhra Pradesh's Kurnool district had travelled to New Delhi for a new iob when an auto-rickshaw driver started misbehaving with her. She took out her phone, opened an application — 'Disha' — and pressed the SOS button. Within minutes, her distress signal had been relayed to Delhi Police, routed through police in Kurnool, and the matter was addressed. Disha app, developed by Andhra Pradesh government to provide quick response of women's safety issues, was launched in February 2020 and has been downloaded more than 1.30 crore times. The response time of less than 10 minutes, and support provided by trained responders, especially women police officers trained to handle specific situations, have made the app so popular that the number of calls through it have overtaken calls to emergency police number 100 – in Andhra Pradesh.

"It is a first-of-its-kind app in the country to protect women in distress," former state Home minister Mekathoti Sucharita said. "We have deployed special patrol vehicles, which are connected to the Disha control room through

The Disha control room is located in Tech Tower at AP Police Headquarters in Mangalagiri.

According to DIG G Pala Raju, who is in charge of the Disha programme, the control room has received more than 10,000 actionable SOS calls since the app was launched, and these have led to nearly 1,500 FIRs being filed. Based on SOS calls, police have been identifying and geo-tagging sexual offenders, cyber bullies and stalkers targeting women. The app has also helped such as when a flat tyre left a woman stranded on a deserted road, or when a pregnant woman had to be rushed to a hospital. Disha patrol vehicles have safely dropped such stranded women at their homes or hospitals.

The app's SOS button not only sends an alert to Disha Command Control Centre, but it also alerts five phone numbers that can be registered as emergency contacts. If the app's hand gesture feature is turned on, even shaking the mobile phone five times will lead to an SOS alert being sent. A 'track my travel' feature is also available on the app which can be activated if one is travelling alone.

On March 23, Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Y S Jagan Mohan Reddy flagged off a fleet of 163 Disha patrol vehicles to further re'Disha Caravans' — buses equipped with a washroom, rest and changing rooms for the convenience of women police officers in the field were also added to the Disha fleet. Each mobile restroom vehicle costs Rs 19 lakh and 30 have been ordered. Around 900 scooters are also being introduced. Disha patrol now has 900 two-wheelers and 3,000 other vehicles. Former minister Sucharita said the issue of women's safety became urgent after the November 2019 rape-murder of veterinary doctor on Hyderabad's outskirts. Since then, besides the app, 18 Disha police stations have been opened to deal exclusively with women's issues. The doctor was given the pseudonym Disha, and the women's safety app was named after her.

Govt focusing on decriminalising bona fide action, omissions: Gauba

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

THE GOVERNMENT is focusing on decriminalising bona fide action or omissions which are not fraudulent, Cabinet outcome of malafide intent is a huge problem for citizens, for private sector, creating opportunities for harassment and rent seeking," he said. On the Prime Minister's directions, we are now focusing on decriminalisation of such minor offences and violations, he said. "This work needs to be taken up as a mission by each one of us," Gauba said after inaugurating the celebrations in Delhi. "We need to constantly learn, innovate and adapt to be able to do justice to these expectations."

Besides job-specific competencies, we need to be conscious of the larger context of our actions, of the overarching goals, priorities and our role in accomplishing them, Gauba said.

Gauba said civil servants "need to introspect".

"We do need reforms like every other institution. If we want to remain relevant, we must focus on delivery. On improving our capabilities and our skills. And above all, on maintaining the highest traditions of civil service in our work and in our conduct.'

The Civil Services Day celebration was presided over by Minister of State for Personnel Jitendra Singh besides senior civil servants.

MLA for remark against interfaith marriage EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE THIRUVANANTHAPURAM, censures former

CPM publicly

THE KOZHIKODE district committee of the CPI(M) on Wednesday publicly censured former party legislator George M Thomas for his recent comment that "love jihad is a reality and interfaith marriage by a party worker shattered the religious harmony in the region".

According to the CPI(M) constitution, 'public censure' is the third harshest disciplinary action, starting from warning, followed by censure, public censure, removal from a party post, and dismissal from party membership.

The disciplinary action against Thomas, who is a district secretariat member of the party in Kozhikode, was taken at a meeting of the party's district committee. The action against Thomas, the lone Christian face of the party in the district, came a day after the state leadership said his statement was against the party's stand on the issue.

After the meeting, CPI(M)'s district secretary P Mohanan said Thomas's comment on interfaith marriage was against the secular stand of the party. "He understood the mistake and tendered an apology. As he realises the gravity of the issue, the party decided to publicly censure him. The disciplinary action against Thomas was taken unanimously. There will not be any further disciplinary action," said Mohanan.

ficials that included forming a "special board" for the welfare of elderly saints, pujaris and purohits, construction of a "Ramayana gallery", books on the history of each of 75 districts, a "Gaurav gallery" in every university and developing an 'integrated temple information system".

Reviewing presentations by the departments of culture and tourism in the presence of cabinet ministers, the CM also asked officials to construct a "Ramayana cultural centre" in Barabanki and open academies for the development of local languages such as Braj, Awadhi, Bundeli and Bhojpuri.

Fulfilling the electoral promise to "ensure the welfare of elderly saints, pujaris and purohits", Adityanath instructed officials to form a special board for them so that "the schemes for their overall welfare could be implemented properly". The ruling BIP had made the promise in its election manifesto for the 2022 Assembly elections.

During his visit to Ayodhya recently, he had directed officials to stop collecting house tax on commercial rate from muth and other religious institutions and advised them to rather collect a token amount, if needed.

In an attempt to promote religious tourism in the state, the CM asked officials to develop an online integrated temple information system within 100 days with detailed information on prominent temples, their history, route map, etc and ordered the setting up of "Bhajan Sandhya Sthals" in Prayagraj, Mathura, Gorakhpur and Varanasi, besides getting a "cultural mapping" done for the Ramayana era traditions.

20A OF SRI LANKA CONSTITUTION

To douse Sri Lanka fire, an attempt to reduce the President's powers

SRI LANKA'S embattled Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa has promised to repeal the 20th amendment to the country's constitution, and to bring back clauses of the 19th amendment (which had been rolled back) as the 21st amendment. An escalation of the unrest in the country is likely after police in central Sri Lanka shot and killed a man protesting food shortages and high fuel prices on Tuesday.

19TH AMENDMENT: The 19th amendment, rushed through by the United National Party (UNP) regime led by then Prime Minister Ranil Wickremesinghe in April 2015, took away the powers of the President to remove the PM and the Cabinet at his discretion.

Following the amendments to Articles 46(2) and 48 of the constitution, ministers could be removed only if the PM ceased to hold office by death, resignation or otherwise, or if Parliament rejected a government policy or the budget, or if the government lost a vote of confidence in the House.

The amendment was criticised as having been brought for political reasons and passed without following proper procedure. Wickremesinghe pushed changes in the draft even during its third reading by Parliament.

20TH AMENDMENT: The 20th amendment (known as 20A) passed in October 2020 turned the clock back on 19A. The amendment restored and enhanced to an unprecedented degree the executive powers of the President, and abolished the independent constitutional council for a Parliamentary Council. It gave the President power to dissolve parliament and remove the PM, nominate the country's top judge, and gave him legal immunity for his actions. It also allowed those with dual citizenship to hold political office.

The amendment, which was pushed by

Protest in Colombo amid the country's economic crisis. Reuters

President Gotabaya Rajapaksa and passed by a two-thirds majority in parliament, was criticised for destroying the balance between the legislature, executive, and judiciary, and for centralising power in the hands of one individual. The changes were opposed by not just Tamils and other minority groups, but also by some Sinhala Buddhists.

The ruling party argued that 20A was needed for reasons of national security and economic development.

PROPOSED 21ST AMENDMENT: The changes proposed by Prime Minister Rajapaksa seek to remove several key powers of the President, essentially reducing the presidency to a ceremonial position. It is expected that the amendment might hand over almost all key powers of the President to the PM, except, possibly, those relating to the three armed forces. The attempt is to douse the flames at a time when Galle Face in Colombo is witnessing huge gatherings of protesters seeking the President's resignation, and the government has its back to the wall with very few options left.

WHAT ARE DIGITAL BANKING UNITS, AND WHAT SERVICES WILL THEY PROVIDE?

FINANCE MINISTER Nirmala Sitharaman on Tuesday reiterated her Budget announcement on setting up 75 digital banking units in 75 districts this year.

WHAT IT MEANS: Earlier this month, the Reserve Bank of India announced the guidelines for DBUs, following the report of a working group of the Indian Banks Association. A digital banking unit is a specialised fixed-point business unit or hub housing certain minimum digital infrastructure for delivering digital banking products and services as well as servicing existing financial products and services digitally in self-service mode at any time. Commercial banks (other than regional rural banks, payment banks and local area banks) with digital banking experience are permitted to open DBUs in tier 1 to tier 6 centres, unless specifically restricted, without needing to take permission from the RBI in each case.

SERVICES: As per the RBI, each DBU must offer certain minimum digital banking products and services. Such products should be on both liabilities and assets side of the balance sheet of the digital banking segment. Digitally value-added services to conventional products would also qualify.

The services include savings bank accounts under various schemes, current accounts, fixed deposits and recurring deposit accounts, mobile banking, Internet banking, debit cards, credit cards, and mass transit system cards, digital kit for merchants, UPI OR code, BHIM Aadhaar and point of sale).

Other services include making applications for and onboarding of customers for identified retail, MSME or schematic loans. These may also include end-to-end digital processing of such loans, starting from online application to disbursal and identified government sponsored schemes that are covered under the national portal. PRANAV MUKUL

SIMPLY PUT QUESTION & ANSWER

Smart city's nerve centre

The govt has announced that 80 of the 100 planned Integrated Command and Control Centres have been set up, with the rest to be completed by August 15. What purpose do these centres serve in smart cities?

ANISHA DUTTA

NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

DURING A two-day Smart Cities Conference in Surat on April 18 and 19, Union Housing and Urban Affairs Minister Hardeep Puri announced that 80 Integrated Command and Control Centres (ICCCs), an integral component of the Smart Cities Mission, have already been set up, while the remaining 20 would be completed by August 15 this year.

These ICCCs are spread across various states that have been developing Smart Cities, with states such as Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh and Gujarat leading in terms of the total number of ICCCs set up.

What is the Smart Cities Mission and what makes a city 'smart?'

The Smart Cities Mission aims at developing 100 cities, which were shortlisted, into self-sustainable urban settlements. The mission was launched on June 25, 2015 and was projected as one aimed at transforming the process of urban development in the country. Among its strategic components is 'areabased development', which includes city improvement (retrofitting), city renewal (redevelopment) and city extension (greenfield development), plus a pan-city initiative in which 'smart solutions' are applied covering larger parts of the city.

Key focus areas of the scheme include construction of walkways, pedestrian crossings, cycling tracks, efficient waste-management systems, integrated traffic management and assessment.

The scheme also assesses various indices to track urban development such as the Ease of Living Index, Municipal Performance Index, City GDP framework, Climate Smart Cities assessment framework, etc.

What is an Integrated Command and Control Centre?

The Smart Cities Mission includes setting up ICCCs for each such city as a vital step. These ICCCs are designed to enable authorities to monitor the status of various amenities in real time. Initially aimed at controlling and monitoring water and power supply sanitation, traffic movement, integrated building management, city connectivity and

Varanasi's Integrated Command and Control Centre, which — like other ICCCs served as war-rooms for Covid-19 management during the pandemic, Express Archive

Internet infrastructure, these centres have since evolved to monitor various other parameters. The ICCCs are now also linked to the CCTNS (Crime and Criminal Tracking Networks and Systems) network under the Ministry of Home Affairs.

The ICCC acts of a smart city acts as a "nerve centre" for operations management. It processes a complex and large pool of data sets at an aggregated level. For example, it is now the go-to source for integrated traffic management monitoring.

The ICCC is the nodal point of availability of all online data and information relating to smart services included in a smart city, such as like LED street lighting, CCTV surveillance cameras, air quality sensors, smart parking system, WiFi, electricity and water supply and billing, GIS, e-hospitals, property tax management, estate management, engineering systems, asset management systems, and other services

During the pandemic, they also served as war-rooms for Covid-19 management.

How did the ICCCs help in management of Covid-19?

During the peak of the first wave, when countries were struggling to figure out ways the ICCCs as war-rooms for managing the outbreak, with real-time surveillance and monitoring of districts across the country that were affected by the coronavirus disease.

of combating the virus, the government used

Converted into war-rooms, the smart cities' ICCCs used the central data dashboard and provided information about the status of Covid-positive cases in various administrative zones of these cities, officials aware of the exercise said. The war-rooms were also used for tracking people under quarantine and suspected Covid-19 cases.

What is the current status of the Smarts Cities Mission?

The ambitious project, announced by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in 2015, had an initial deadline of 2021 for the first lot of 20 smart cities out of the 100 selected. Although the project was announced in 2015, the cities were selected over a period of two years between 2016 and 2018, each with a deadline of completion within five years from the time of their selection.

On the recommendation of NITI Aayog, the timeline was extended last year until 2023 due to delays caused by the pandemic.

progress on sustainable development goals (SDGs) needed to be worked upon, and recommended the extended deadline after noting substantial delays caused by the pandemic. "The period of implementation of SCM has been extended to June 2023," the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs informed Parliament in December last year.

According to current Ministry data, the SCM has so far covered over 140 public-private partnerships), 340 'smart roads', 78 'vibrant public places', 118 'smart water' projects and over 63 solar projects.

How much has been spent?

Out of the total outlay of Rs 2,05,018 crore, projects worth Rs 93,552 crore were proposed to be developed by the Centre and state funds. In a statement on Wednesday, the Ministry noted that as on date, almost 100% of these projects — projects worth Rs 92,300 crore — have been work-ordered.

The Smart Cities Mission has thus far included 7,905 projects worth Rs 1,93,143 crore that has been tendered, out of which 3,830 projects worth Rs 60,919 crore have been fully completed.

Financial progress has accelerated: from 2018 when the total expenditure was Rs1,000 crore, it has now increased to Rs 45.000 crore.

According to its proposed investments in the Mission, the Ministry plans to spend Rs 43,040 crore on mobility, Rs 25,435 crore on energy and environment, Rs 43,441 on social economic development, Rs 41,481 crore on area development, and Rs 29, 465 crore on water and water management.

What next?

With the Centre preparing a 60-point action plan following Prime Minister Modi's meeting with secretaries of all departments and ministries in September last year, the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs has begun work to finalise its recommendation for providing ICCCs as a service to states and smaller cities (The Indian Express, November 27, 2021).

The Ministry aims to finalise an ICCC model and implement a pilot project across six major states — Uttar Pradesh. Maharashtra, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh,

YOGESH NAIK

VAGSHEER, THE sixth submarine of the P75 project of the Indian Navy was launched on Wednesday by Veena Ajay Kumar, wife of Union Defence Secretary Dr Ajay Kumar, at Mazgaon Dock Ltd. It is the last of the Scorpene class submarines made under the P75 project and can join the Navy fleet within 12-18 months after sea trials.

The project

P 75 is one of two lines of submarines, the other being P75I, as part of a plan approved in 1999 for indigenous submarine construction with technology taken from overseas firms. The contract for six submarines under P75 was given to Mazgaon dock on October 6, 2005 and delivery was to start from 2012, but the project has faced delays. Under P75, INS Kalvari, INS Khanderi, INS Karanj and INS Vela have been commissioned. Sea trials are on for Vagir. Vagsheer is the sixth; its production was delayed due to the pandemic.

Why 'Vagsheer'

Vagsheer is named after the sand fish, a deep sea predator of the Indian Ocean. The first submarine Vagsheer, from Russia, was commissioned into the Indian Navy on December 26, 1974, and was decommissioned on April 30. 1997. The new Vagsheer will be officially named at the time of its commissioning.

Specifications

Naval sources said Vagsheer can take up to eight officers and 35 men. It is 67.5 metres long and 12.3 metres high, with a beam measuring 6.2 metres Vagsheer can reach top speed of 20 knots when submerged and a top speed of 11 knots when it surfaces It has four MTU 12V 396 SE84 diesel engines, 360 battery cells for power, and a silent

Permanently Magnetised Propulsion Motor. The hull, fin and hydroplanes are designed for minimum underwater resistance and all equipment inside the pressure hull is mounted on shock-absorbing cradles for enhanced stealth.

Features

Vagsheer is a diesel attack submarine, designed to perform sea denial as well as access denial warfare against the adversary. It can do offensive operations across the spectrum of naval warfare including anti-surface warfare, anti-submarine warfare, intelligence gathering, mine laying and area surveillance.

It is enabled with a C303 anti-torpedo torpedoes or Exocet anti-ship missiles, or 30 mines in place of torpedoes.

Its superior stealth features include advanced acoustic absorption techniques, low radiated noise levels, hydro-dynamically optimised shape, and it has the ability to launch a crippling attack using precision guided weapons, underwater or on surface. Scorpene submarines can undertake various types of missions such as anti-surface warfare, anti-submarine warfare, intelligence gathering, mine laying, area surveillance etc.

Road ahead

Vagsheer will be commissioned into the Indian Navy's Western Command after 12 to 18 months when sea trials end. It will be based with Western Naval Command, mostly in Mumbai.

The submarine will undergo a very comprehensive and rigorous set of tests and trials, for more than a year, to ensure delivery of a fully combat worthy submarine, capable of operation in all modes and regimes of deployment.

Life and legend of Guru Tegh Bahadur, who stood up to the Mughals

MANRAJ GREWAL SHARMA

CHANDIGARH, APRIL 20

TO MARK the 401st birth anniversary of Guru Tegh Bahadur, the ninth Sikh guru who stood up against forcible conversions by the Mughals, Prime Minister Narendra Modi will give an address from the Red Fort on Thursday. The BJP has been trying to reach out to the Sikh community ever since it decided to go it alone in the Punjab elections following the breakdown of the alliance with the Shiromani Akali Dal over the three farm laws.

The ninth Guru

Tegh Bahadur was born in Amritsar on April 21, 1621 to Mata Nanki and Guru Hargobind, the sixth Sikh guru.

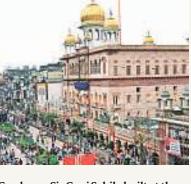

Tegh Bahadur was married to Mata Gujri at Kartarpur in 1632, and subsequently left for Bakala near Amritsar.

After Guru Ram Das, the fourth Sikh guru, the guruship became hereditary. When Tegh Bahadur's elder brother Gurditta died young, the guruship went to his 14-year-old son, Guru Har Rai, in 1644. He remained on the seat until his death at the age of 31 in 1661. Guru Har Rai was succeeded by his five-year-old son Guru Har Krishan, who passed away in Delhi in 1664 before he could reach the age of eight. It is said that when asked about his successor, he took the name of "Baba Bakala", his grand uncle, But since Guru Har Krishan hadn't directly named Guru Tegh Bahadur, many claimants cropped up.

Dr Hardev Singh from the Department of Religious Studies, Sri Guru Granth Sahib World University, Fatehgarh Sahib, said that according to lore, Makhan Shah, a wealthy trader whose ship was caught in a storm at sea, had prayed that if it was saved he would give 500 gold mohurs to the reigning guru. But when he reached Delhi, he learnt that Har Krishan had passed away and there was a line of claimants at Bakala. It is said that he decided that whoever was the real guru would ask him for the exact sum he had promised in his prayers.

He had exhausted his options when he was told about Tegh Bahadur meditating in the bhora (basement). Tegh Bahadur took one is said to have run to the rooftop and shouted "Guru ladho re (I have found the guru)." Soon afterward, Tegh Bahadur moved to look at Makhan Shah, and told him he had promised 500 coins, An ecstatic Makhan Shah Kiratpur Sahib. In 1665, he bought land at Makhowal village and renamed it Chak Nanki (now Anandpur Sahib) after his mother.

The Guru's times

Aurangzeb was the ruling Mughal emperor. "There were conversions, either through a government order or through coercion. When people were charged with some crime or misdemeanour, they would be pardoned if they converted," Dr Hardev

Guru Tegh Bahadur, who started travelling extensively through Malwa and Majha, first came into conflict with the authorities when he started questioning the tradition of worshipping at the graves of pirs and faqirs.

As his message began to spread, a local chieftain at Dhamtan near Jind in present-day Haryana picked him up on fabricated charges of collecting revenue from villagers, and took him to Delhi. But Raja Ram Singh of Amer, whose family was a long-time follower of the Gurus, intervened and kept him in his house for around two months until he convinced Aurangzeb that the Guru was a holy man with no political ambitions.

Travels beyond Punjab Dr Amarjit Singh, director, Guru Granth

Sahib Department, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar, said that a little more than a year after setting up his headquarters in present-day Anandpur Sahib in 1665, the guru spent four-odd years travelling up to Dhaka in the east, and going up to Puri in Odisha. He also visited Mathura, Agra, Benares, Allahabad, and Patna. Guru Gobind Singh was born in Patna in 1666.

On the way back from Dhaka, Raja Ram Singh sought his help to broker a truce with the Ahom king. Gurdwara Dhubri Sahib on the banks of the Brahmaputra commemorates this peace accord. The Guru was also honoured at Guwahati's Kamakhya temple. According to historians, the Guru rushed back to Punjab on learning about the increasing atrocities by the Mughals.

The Guru's martyrdom Back in Anandpur Sahib, the Guru was approached by Kirpa Ram, a Kashmiri Brahmin who sought his protection from local chieftains who had told him to convert or face retribution. The Guru assured Das and his group of his protection and told them to tell the Mughals that they should first try to convert the Guru.

Aurangzeb considered this a challenge to his authority. According to Sri Gur Bilas Patshahi Dasmi, a biography of Guru Gobind Singh by Kavi Sukha Singh, the Guru himself went to Delhi where he was arrested by the Mughals. In a paper titled 'Who killed Guru Tegh Bahadur?', historian Sardar Kapur Singh wrote that Aurangzeb ordered the public execution of the Guru on November 11, 1675 after he declined to embrace Islam.

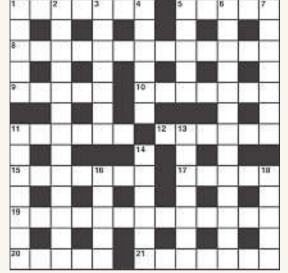

He was tortured to death and beheaded at Chandni Chowk along with his three companions, Bhai Mati Das, who was torn asunder. Bhai Sati Das, who was burnt to death. and Bhai Dyala ji, who was put in boiling water. Till the very end they were asked to change their minds, but they remained resolute. In 1784, Gurdwara Sis Ganj Sahib was built on the site on which they were executed.

Aakarshi, Priyanshu top BAI trials

New Delhi: Aakarshi Kashyap and Privanshu Rajawat are set to be picked for the upcoming Commonwealth Games and Asian Games respectively after emerging as winners in women's and men's singles at Badminton Association of India's (BAI) selection trials here on Wednesday. While Aakarshi prevailed over Ashmita Chaliha 21-10 17-21 21-15, Priyanshu saw off Odisha Open winner Kiran George 21-15 18-21 21-10 to top the rankings at the national trials at the IG Stadium Complex here. While Aakarshi, who stayed unbeaten in the tournament, is set to join double Olympic medallist PV Sindhu in the CWG team as the second women's singles player, Priyanshu will get a chance to represent the country at the Asian Games and Thomas Cup. With Lakshya Sen and Kidambi Srikanth given direct selection due to their top 15 world ranking, Priyanshu, however, won't get a place in the CWG team.

Pele back in hospital for tumour treatment

Brasilia: Brazilian soccer great Pele returned to hospital on Monday as he continues to receive treatment for cancer, Sao Paulo's Albert Einstein hospital said in a medical note on Tuesday.Edson Arantes do Nascimento's clinical condition is good and stable, and he is likely to be discharged in the next few days, doctors said, using Pele's full name. The 81year-old had a tumour removed from his colon in September 2021 and has since been in and out of hospital for treatment on a regular basis. Widely considered one of the greatest footballers of all time, the former Santos, New York Cosmos and Brazil player has suffered a series of health issues in recent years, including hip surgery that left him with recurring pain and trouble walking unaided. In February, Pele was admitted to hospital for a round of chemotherapy when a urinary infection was identified, keeping him in longer than was planned.

Delhi find reason to rejoice

Despite Covid outbreak in camp, Capitals put up brave display to thrash Punjab by 9 wickets

Delhi Capitals' spinner Kuldeep Yadav (2/24) dismissed Kagiso Rabada and Nathan Ellis on Wednesday.

SYNOPSIS: Bowlers make it a cakewalk for DC. Punjab suffer a night of

SHAMIK CHAKRABARTY

ONCE PUNJAB Kings folded up for 115, Delhi Capitals' challenge was to up their net run rate. They romped to the victory target in 10.3 overs, winning by nine wickets, getting to six points from as many games and improving their net run rate to +0.942. Such a resounding win amid the Covid scare would bring some joy in the camp. Punjab bowlers had virtually nothing to bowl with. Still, their captain Mayank Agarwal missed a trick by not bringing Rahul Chahar early into the attack, on a surface where three DC spinners – Axar Patel, Kuldeep Yadav and Lalit Yadav – accounted for six scalps, conceding 45 runs. Chahar was brought on in the seventh over, when Prithvi Shaw and David Warner had already sealed the deal. The legspinner dismissed Shaw in his first over, but by then the batsman had raced to a 20-ball 41. Warner remained unbeaten on 60 off 30 balls. "Was grateful to have gotten to play the game," the left-hander said post-match.

Cakewalk for DC

The game, played against the backdrop of a Covid outbreak in their camp, wasn't easy for DC. It's not easy to play cricket when a teammate is battling the virus in a hospital, while another one returned a positive test result on matchday. Also, DC weren't able to train since their last game against Royal Challengers Bangalore, their players and coaching staff coming into this fixture from room isolation.

Leadership becomes important in such situations and the team's young captain Rishabh Pant had head coach Ricky Ponting to fall back on. Warner, too, stepped forward. Before the start of the match at Brabourne Stadium, Pant was having what looked like an on-field leadership meeting, with the two Aussies.

The pitch was a bit on the slower side. The ball wasn't quite coming on to the bat and Shikhar Dhawan's soft dismissal gave DC an opening. The left-hander tried to paddle a Lalit Yadav delivery that was going down leg, nick-ing it to Pant behind the stumps in the process. Agarwal had a good start, but chopped on a Mustafizur Rahman delivery on to the stumps, playing away from his body. Then, Axar and Kuldeep took over.

Attacking Axar blindly on a pitch like this is risky business. Liam Livingstone was premeditated in his charge, making it easier for the left-arm spinner to outmanoeuvre the batsman. Axar just dragged his length back and Pant had an easy stumping.

Kuldeep's first over was a little indifferent and he conceded a couple of fours to Jitesh Sharma. But the chinaman bowler started to bowl faster - 'zorse dalo' was Pant's advice from behind the stumps - and his wickets of Kagiso Rabada and Nathan Ellis inside three deliveries thwarted Punjab's lower-order recovery. In between, seamer Khaleel Ahmed removed Ionny Bairstow and welcomed Shahrukh Khan with a hostile bouncer. Shahrukh and Sharma were trying to build a partnership, but a faster one from Axar trapped Sharma leg-before, on umpire's call. Khaleel returned to dismiss Shahrukh, which ensured that Punjab's total didn't attain respectability.

No DC bowler, bar Shardul Thakur, went beyond seven runs per over. Axar was outstanding, returning with 2/10 from his four overs. Lalit Yadav bagged 2/11 from two overs. Kuldeep (2/24) and Khaleel (2/21), too, contributed handsomely to their team's cause. Together, the bowlers made it a cakewalk for DC. "The bowlers did a fantastic job to make ours easier," Warner said.

Punjab's night of misery

One of the reasons for Punjab's inconsistent performance – four defeats in seven games now – is the fact that their middle order, save Livingstone, isn't contributing much.

Bairstow hasn't hit his straps yet, Shahrukh isn't making an impact and uncapped Sharma isn't converting his cameos into big scores.

Agarwal recovering from a toe injury and returning to the fold was a positive for Punjab. But he got out after getting a start, Dhawan and Livingstone fell cheaply and there wasn't much fight from the rest.

The onus was on Bairstow to bat deep, but he pulled a length ball on the hips straight to deep fine leg. At 54/4, Punjab needed a partnership. Sharma and Shahrukh needed to play low-risk cricket for the next eight-nine overs. The former played some fine shots, but became a little greedy and went across the stumps to sweep an Axar delivery. It was wrong shot selection, as the situation demanded a safer approach, a push down the ground. Also, Sharma misjudged the pace of the ball. He would learn from his mistakes.

For the moment though, Punjab need middle-order batting improvement. Just 15 fours and a six in their innings encapsulated Punjab's night of misery

Brief scores: Punjab Kings 115 all out in 20 overs (litesh 32: Axar 2/10, Lalit 2/11, Kuldeep 2/24) lost to Delhi Capitals 119/1 in 10.3 overs (Warner 60 not out, Shaw 41) by nine wickets

EMOTIONAL

Hot heads, calm minds and everything in between at the game

Plan's well that works well

Delhi Capitals have two frontline spinners in their XI against Punjab Kings - Axar Patel Kuldeep and Yadav. But Axar brings the ball into the left-handers, and perhaps they didn't want to risk Kuldeep in the Powerplay, or were saving him for later. So, when Punjab raced to 27 without loss in three overs, Rishabh Pant handed the ball to Lalit Yadav for some parttime off-spin to Shikhar Dhawan. The plan seemed to be simple - Lalit darted it in full, in an attempt to take out the slog to the shorter leg-side boundary and make Dhawan hit to the longer rope on the offside. Dhawan did exactly that, moving in-headed down the legside. Dhawan decided to swivel and slap it past the wicketkeeper. If he had missed, it would have been a wide. And any decent connection would have got four, as fine leg was up. But all Dhawan managed was to feather it for Pant to take a sharp catch. The plan had worked, even if not in the way DC might have envisaged..

Livingstone stranded

For a brief instant when he charged Axar Patel and wasn't to the pitch of the ball, Liam time you hit the biggest sixes against spin is when your last thought is 'you are not there, I am being done'. And you swing your hands through and if you connect, they go further than anything else," he had once said on a demonstration of six-hitting on Sky Sports. But of course, for that you have to connect. Axar had shortened the length and Livingstone was well short but still went for the big swing. However, the bat swished through well inside the line of the ball that turned and bounced into the gloves of Rishabh Pant. Livingstone was left stumped, in more ways than one.

Livingstone found himself in the exact position from where reckons he hits his biggest "The sixes.

Daddy, try harder

With his team under the Covid cloud, David Warner did everything an opener possibly can in a chase of 116. He put on a staggering 81 runs with opening partner Prithvi Shaw in the Powerplay, easily sealing the game during the field-restriction phase itself. Even as Shaw fell soon after, Warner made sure he stayed right till the end. He reached his half-century with a deliberately-delayed forcing slice off Nathan Ellis that raced past the wicketkeeper for four. He even hit the winning runs just after the halfway mark of the innings, pulling Rahul Chahar to the deep midwicket rope to finish on an unbeaten 60 off 30 deliveries. But after all this, he was still stumped by his children. "My kids just want to know why I cannot get hundreds like Jos (Buttler) does," Warner said at the post-match presentation. One way could be to ask his bowlers to concede higher totals.

Out of sync with inswing

Vaibhav Arora troubled Prithvi Shaw twice with his inswing, and once with the lack of it, in the opening over of the DC chase, but ended up conceding three fours. Shaw nearly had his stumps disturbed trying a booming drive to the first in-dipper, but an inside edge saved him, as the ball ran away past short fine. Arora bowled the next one wider, and Shaw had a go again, but couldn't get bat to ball as it curled in under his bat. Shaw was third time wiser and offered a relatively straighter bat to the

He barely has a front-foot stride and while that leaves him vulnerable to getting bowled through the gate, it helped him flick the next delivery, much straighter this time, over midwicket for four. By now Shaw was expecting inswing every ball but the last delivery of the over didn't: Shaw threw his bat somewhat inside the line, but fortunately for him, toe-ended it safely over cover for the third four..'

third inswinger.

Russians, Belarusians banned from Wimbledon; Medvedev to miss out

ASSOCIATED PRESS LONDON, APRIL 20

Tennis players from Russia and Belarus will not be allowed to play at Wimbledon this year because of the war in Ukraine, the All England Club announced Wednesday.

Among the prominent men's players affected by the ban are reigning U.S. Open champion Daniil Medvedev, who recently reached No. 1 in the ATP rankings and is currently No. 2, and No. 8 Andrey Rublev. The women's players affected include No. 4 Aryna Sabalenka, who was a Wimbledon semifinalist last year; Victoria Azarenka, a former No. 1 who has won the Australian Open twice; and Anastasia Pavlyuchenkova, the French Open runner-up year. Medvedev, Rublev and Pavlvuchenkova are from Russia: Sabalenka and Azarenka are from Belarus, Wimbledon begins on June 27. The All England Club confirmed in March that it was having discussions with the British government about whether Russians should be able to play in Wimbledon. "It is our responsibility to play our part in the widespread efforts ... to limit Russia's global influence through the strongest means possible," the All England Club said in a statement first posted on Twitter. "In the circumstances of such unjustified and unprecedented military aggression, it would be unacceptable for the Russian regime to derive any benefits from the involvement of Russian or Belarusian players with The Championships."

Russian athletes have been prevented from competing in many sports following their country's invasion of Ukraine. Belarus has aided Russia in the war. Soccer, figure skating and track and field all banned

Russian and Belarusian athletes and teams from their events because of the war. The Russian men's national soccer team was excluded from last month's World Cup qualifying playoffs, forcing them to miss a chance to reach this year's tournament in Oatar. Wednesday's move signals the first time a tennis tournament has told players from Russia and Belarus they are not welcome, and the ATP was quick to criticize the All England Club for what the men's tennis tour called a "unilateral decision" and "unfair." "Our sport is proud to operate on the

Kohli needs a break, can play for 6-7 years: Shastri

PRESSTRUST OF INDIA MUMBAI, APRIL 20

BATTING STALWART Virat Kohli is mentally "overcooked" and needs to take a break from cricket in order to serve the country for at least another six-seven years, feels ex-India coach Ravi Shastri. Kohli has been going through a lean patch with just two 40-plus scores to show in last seven innings for Royal Challengers Bangalore in the current IPL season.

The 33-year-old from Delhi, who hasn't scored a century in the last 100 matches across formats, had stepped down from T20 captaincy both for India and RCB and also quit Test leadership, while he was removed from ODI skipper's role. Shastri feels the likes of Kohli needs to be handled with care and empathy amid the COVID-19 restrictions which has confined players inside bio-bubbles.

"I am going straight to the main guy here. Virat Kohli is overcooked. If anyone needs a break, it's him," Shastri told Star Sports. "Whether it's 2 months or a month-and-a-half, whether it's after England or before

England. He needs a break because he has got 6-7 years of cricket left in him and you don't want to lose that with a fried brain."

Kohli was out for a duck on Tuesday night as RCB rode on Faf du Plessis' 96 to claim a 18-run win over Lucknow Super

"When I was coach at the time when this first started, the first thing I said is 'you have to show empathy to the guys'. "If you're going to be forceful, there is a very thin line there, from a guy losing the plot as opposed to him hanging in there and giving his best. So you have to be extremely careful."

Shastri said there might be one or two players in world cricket going through the same problem which needs to be addressed upfront. Echoing the same sentiment, former England captain Kevin Pietersen said Kohli should take time away from the game as well as social media to rejuvenate himself.

"...the guy has had so much to deal with, from marriage to baby to media scrutiny and all on his personal life. He is the biggest star on show," he said. "Virat Kohli needs to say 'cricket boots, for six months, I will see you later'. Turn off social media, go and get re-energised.

Pollard announces retirement from international cricket

Mumbai: West Indies white-ball captain Kieron Pollard on Wednesday announced his retirement from international cricket though he will continue to freelance in private T20 and T10 leagues across the globe. If one tries to sum up Pollard's international career in a nutshell, he could be termed as a perennial underachiever in maroon jersey. The 34-year-old Pollard, who made his ODI debut back in 2007, fittingly played his last series against India, a country which has become his second home due to his long association with Mumbai Indians.

"Hi all, after careful deliberation, I have decided to retire from international cricket. It was a dream of mine to play for West Indies since I was a 10-year-old boy and I am proud to represent the West Indies for over 15 years in T20 and ODI format of the game," Pollard announced on his official instagram page.

While he is a feared T20 cricketer, one of the finest that the world has seen, his numbers for the West Indies remain underwhelming with only 2706 runs at just above 26 and 55 wickets from 123 ODIs along with 1569 runs from 101 T20Is at an average of shade over 25. He also took 44 wickets.

With two games to go, Mumbai City's Round of 16 dreams are still alive

In their maiden Asian Champions League campaign, Mumbai City FC have played four games, winning once, drawing once and losing twice. They are in third place in a group of four, level on points with UAE Pro League club Al Jazira.

At the start of the competition, coach Des Buckingham had given the squad a target— to become the first Indian team to win an Asian Champions League game. The victory over Air Force Club Iraq ensured that their primary goal was met, but now Mumbai could possibly advance in the tournament. They have two more games left.

QUALIFICATION STORY

The winner of the Indian Super League shield wins a spot in the Asian Champions League Group stages while the winner of the ISL playoffs wins a spot in the AFC Cup group stages.

In the 2020-21 season, Mumbai won the ISL shield. This happened after the City Football Group (CFG) bought the cash-strapped club. CFG's entry changed the club's fortunes. They signed Spanish coach Sergio Lobera along with a sizeable chunk of the FC Goa team core that he had curated. Players like Mourtada Fall (still at the club), Ahmed Jahouh (still at the club) and Hugo Boumous (now at ATK Mohun Bagan) were signed along with strikers like Adam le Fondre and Bartholomew Ogbeche. These players helped the Islanders win the league at a canter and helped them become only the second Indian team to qualify for the AFC Champions League.

The next season, Mumbai, due to the financial rules of the league, had to let go of some crucial players but instead focused on signing young Indian talent like Apuia Ralte and Lallinzuala Chhangte. They finished fifth in the league but through the campaign kept building up towards Asia's premier continental competition.

ACL REPORT CARD

Four points from four games and a chance to take the second spot in the group with two games remaining puts them in a good position. It hasn't been smooth sailing for the Islanders. They have played most of these games with very little possession and are forced to give the ball away to teams that are simply better in quality. But what has carried Mumbai ahead so far has been their defending, which has been brave and their attempts to play attacking football from goalkeeper Phurba Lachenpa's hands to striker Diego Mauricio's feet, which have been braver.

THE PERFORMERS

In this campaign, the onus has been on Mumbai's defensive line to keep them alive. Senegalese defender Mourtada Fall has somehow put in perfect sliding challenges right at the death on multiple occasions and has headed dangerous balls away from the box. Lachenpa has saved 20 shots on target in three games the most in the Champions League. In the midfield, Apuia Ralte has shown his ability to keep the ball moving under pressure. Lallinzuala Chhante, a rightwinger signed from Chennaiyin FC in January, has the ability to slow games down by winning fouls - a crucial aspect of modern day football that not many Indian players are successful in exploiting. In the absence of striker Igor Angulo due to a calf injury, Diego Mauricio has taken over. The Brazilian has been instrumental in holding the ball in the final third and allowing Mumbai players to come further up the pitch. He offers Mumbai the chance to play a different style of football when playing in the opposition half - one that has translated into the Indian club becoming a dangerous team when attacking.

WHAT'S NEXT?

The format of the Champions League is such that all winners from their group plus three of the best runners up from each region make it to the Round of 16. Currently, Mumbai are level on points with Al Jazira and Air Force Club Iraq but are on third spot because Al Jazira lead the head-to-head record against the Islanders but then Mumbai lead the head-to-head record against Air Force Club. Al Shabab lead the group with 10 points. Currently there are five clubs (Al-Taawoun with 7 points, Al Rayyan with 7 points. Shabab Al-Ahli with 6 points and Nasaf Qarshi with 5 points and Al Jazira with 4 points) ahead of Mumbai in the race for the knockout stages. The top 3 teams will go through. SHASHANK NAIR

Drone PLI: Zerodha co-founder-backed firm, Adani JV, 12

SOUMYARENDRA BARIK NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

ADANI'S JOINT venture with Israeli defence firm Elbit Systems, IdeaForge Technology, and drone startup Omnipresent Robot Technologies - backed by Zerodha co-founder Nikhil Kamath are among the 14 companies that have been selected by the Ministry of Civil Aviation as beneficiaries of the production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme for the drone industry.

The PLI scheme for drones has a total outlay of Rs 120 crore, spread over three years. The eligibility criteria for the scheme includes an annual sales turnover of Rs 2 crore for drone companies and Rs 50 lakh for drone components manufacturers, along with a value addition of over 40 per cent of their sales turnover.

The Ministry has selected five drone manufacturers and nine drone component manufacturers as beneficiaries of scheme: Dhaksha Unmanned Systems, Idea-Forge Technology, IoTech-World Aviation, Omnipresent Robot Technologies and Raphe Mphibr are the five drone manufacturers selected as beneficiaries, the ministry said. Absolute Composites, Adani-Elbit Advanced Systems India, Adroitec Information Systems, Alpha Design Technologies, Inventgrid India, Paras Aerospace, SASMOS HET Technologies, ZMotion Autonomous Systems and Zuppa Geo Navigation Technologies are nine drone component manufacturers selected for the PLI scheme, it noted.

The ministry said the list of beneficiaries is likely to be expanded further since some more manufacturers are likely to exceed the eligibility criteria for the full financial year 2021-22, and a final list could be released by June-end.

Under the drone PLI scheme, announced last September, the incentive for a manufacturer of drones and drone components will be 20 per cent of the value addition made by the company in the next three years. The value addition will be calculated as the annual sales revenue from drones and drone components minus the purchase cost of drone and drone components.

The government expects investments of over Rs 5,000 crore in the drone space in the next three years on account of the new drone rules announced last year and the PLI scheme. "The annual sales turnover of the drone manufacturing industry may grow from Rs 60 crore in 2020-21 fold to over Rs 900 crore in FY 2023-24. The drone manufacturing industry is expected to generate over 10,000 direct jobs over the next three years," the Ministry of Civil Aviation had said last year while announcing the PLI pol-

The company lost 200,000 users in Q1 2022. Reuters file

Why has it lost subscribers?

Netflix lost 200,000 subscribers in O1 2022 as it fell way short of its earlier forecast of adding 2.5 million subscribers. Suspension of services in Russia resulted in a loss of 700,000 subscribers.

Gloomier times lie ahead as the company has predicted a loss of two million subscribers in the next quarter. "Macro factors, including sluggish economic growth, increasing inflation, geopolitical events such as Russia's invasion of Ukraine, and some continued disruption from Covid are likely having an impact as well," it said.

Sharing of accounts across households and the company's growth during the first two years of the pandemic which "created a lot of noise" were the reasons the company attributed its loss of sub-> tion to our 222m (million) households, we estimate that Netflix is being shared with over 100m additional households, including over 30m in the UCAN (US plus Canada) region." Netflix added that increasing competition from other streaming services was a likely reason behind its sluggish growth in the quarter. Finally, the company said that its growth over the last two years amid the pandemic "clouded the picture by significantly increasing our growth in 2020, leading us to believe that most of our slowing growth in 2021 was due to the COVID pull forward".

What's next for Netflix?

The company said it was looking for ways to monetise the millions of households sharing Netflix accounts. While sharing accounts may have in terms of getting more people to watch content on Netflix, the company said it also "created confusion about when and how Netflix can be shared with other households"

To get around the issue, it started testing different approaches to monetise such households and in March had introduced two new paid sharing features, where current members have the choice to pay for additional households, in three markets in Latin America.

Russia tweaks tax code to make it easier for foreign cos to pay in rubles

REUTERS MOSCOW, APRIL 20

RUSSIAN LAWMAKERS on Wednesday passed an amendment to the tax code that they said would make it easier for foreign companies to open accounts with Russian banks and pay for Russian gas and other goods in rubles.

Russian President Vladimir Putin last month signed a decree demanding foreign buyers pay for gas in rubles or else have their supplies cut. In practice the measure requires foreign gas buyers to open ruble and hard currency accounts at Gazprombank, which will receive payments in foreign currencies and convert them into rubles via auctions on a Moscow bourse. Meanwhile, UST reasury Secre-

No surrender in Mariupol as Russian deadline runs out

APRIL 20

A RUSSIAN ultimatum to Ukrainian troops in Mariupol to surrender or die expired on Wednesday afternoon with no mass capitulation, but the commander of a unit believed to be holding out in the besieged city said his forces could survive just days or hours.

In a video, the commander of Ukraine's 36th Marine Brigade, one of the last units believed to be holding out in Mariupol, asked for international help to escape the siege. "This is our appeal to the world. It may be our last. We may have only a few days or hours left," said Major Serhiy Volyna in a video uploaded to Facebook.

The United Nations said on Wednesday the number of refugees who have fled Ukraine since Russia invaded on Feb 24 had surpassed five million. More than half are children.

Russia has been trying to take full control of Mariupol since the war's first days. Russian-backed separatists said shortly before a 2 pm (1100 GMT) Wednesday deadline that just five people had surrendered.

US Pentagon chief speaks for 1st time to Chinese counterpart

ROBERT BURNS WASHINGTON, APRIL 20

Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin on Wednesday spoke with his Chinese counterpart for the first time since becoming Pentagon chief more than a year ago, breaking a communications impasse that American officials saw as increasingly dangerous amid concern that Beijing might provide military support for Russia's war in Ukraine.

Austin requested the telephone conversation with Gen. Wei Fenghe after months of failed effort to speak with Gen. Xu Oiliang, the highest ranking uniformed officer in the Communist Party military structure.

In a brief statement after the call, the Pentagon said Austin and Wei discussed US-Chinese defence relations, regional security issues and "Russia's unprovoked invasion of Ukraine." It offered no details

The defence ministry in Beijing provided a more detailed account. It said Wei "expounded his solemn position on the Taiwan issue and stressed that Taiwan is an inalienable part of China."

The two men exchanged views on "maritime and air security issues," the ministry said, adding that Wei conveyed to Austin that "China demands that the US stop military provocations at sea and not use the Ukrainian issue to discredit, frame, threaten and pressure China.'

Three MPs withdraw support to govt

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA COLOMBO, APRIL 20

SRI LANKA'S Leader of Opposition Sajith Premadasa on Wednesday claimed that Parliament Speaker Mahinda Yapa Abeywardene had assured that President Gotabaya Rajapaksa was ready to resign if all parties request him, media reports said on Wednesday.

There have been growing calls for President Rajapaksa's resignation over the past few weeks over his government's mishandling of Sri Lanka's worsening economic crisis.

Speaker Abeywardene, however, denied informing party leaders that the President was ready to step down, the Daily Mirror newspaper reported.

There is a report circulating on social media that I have informed party leaders of the President's willingness to resign if they (party leaders) make a request. I only said the President is ready to handover the government to anyone who commands majority," the Speaker clarified.

Leader of Opposition Premadasa reiterated that Speaker Abeywardena had said this at a party leaders' meeting.

"You said to the party leaders that all party leaders of his House go and ask him to step down, he is ready for it. We're ready to do that. You give us the opportunity. All of us in the Opposition are ready to unanimously make that statement.

President assures inquiry into police shooting

Colombo: Sri Lankan Gotabaya President Rajapaksa on Wednesday pledged "an impartial and transparent inquiry" into a police shooting that left one person dead and 13 others injured. The president said in a tweet he was "deeply saddened" over the incident, which occurred Tuesday in Rambukkan and urged "all citizens to refrain from violence as they protest." AP

"I am not a fool to distort what you said. Don't deny your statement. You are a Tom Pachaya (blatant lier)," Premadasa said. Chief Opposition Whip Lakshman Kiriella also confirmed that the Speaker did not say.

The President was dealt a further blow when three more parliamentarians withdrew their support to the government.

Sri Lanka Muslim Council SLMC) MP Faizal Cassim informed Parliament that he along with MPs Ishak Rahuman and M S Thowfeek will withdraw their support to the government. The three MPs were part of the opposition Samagi Jana Balawegaya (SJB) coalition, including from the SLMC

UK court formally approves Assange extradition to US

JILL LAWLESS

A British judge on Wednesday formally approved the extradition of Julian Assange to the US to face spying charges. The case will now go to Britain's interior minister for a decision, though the WikiLeaks founder still has legal avenues of appeal.

The order, which brings an end to the years'-long extradition battle closer, comes after the UK Supreme Court last month refused Assange permission to appeal against a lower court's ruling that he could be extradited. District Judge Paul Goldspring issued the order in a brief hearing at Westminster Magistrates Court, as Assange watched by video link from Belmarsh Prison.

Home Secretary Priti Patel will now decide whether to grant the extradition. The move doesn't exhaust the legal options for Assange, who has sought for years to avoid a trial in the US on charges related to WikiLeaks' publication of a huge trove of classified documents over a decade ago.

In Nearly 2 Months Of War, Many Young Ukrainians Have Left The Country Or Taken Up Arms, While Elderly Have Stayed Back

In fog of dementia, one grandmother relearns that her country is at war

VICTORIA KIM APRIL20

EVERY MORNING, Olga Boichak's grandmother wakes up at her home in western Ukraine, turns on the television and discovers anew that her country is at war

Panicked and flashing back to childhood memories of bombings during World War II, she starts packing to evacuate, her granddaughter said. Her husband of six decades hides the house keys and reassures her everything will be all right, and that their home is the safest place for them.

Before long, the war, the fear and the reassurance will dissipate into the fog of dementia as have all new memories in recent years. Until the next morning, or the next air raid siren, when the reality of the invasion that has subsumed Ukraine for more than 50 days will find her once more. "She's going through the daily trauma of rediscovering that war has begun, and keeps trying to evacuate," Dr Boichak, who is based in Sydney and speaks to her grandparents and her aunt, a health care worker who looks after them, weekly over video chat. She declined to give her grandparents' names or their exact location in relatively safe western Ukraine out of concern for their safety.

"It's really heartbreaking," she said.

In nearly two months of war, many Ukrainians who are young and able-bodied have left the country or taken up arms. Many who are elderly, infirm or disabled have stayed behind, unable to make the journey or unwilling to leave the surroundings set up for their needs.

Dementia in particular is a "hidden" disability that can result in patients being left out of humanitarian assistance or protection from responders, according to Alzheimer's Disease

Her grandfather, a retired physician, felt strongly about spending his final years in the home they spent decades rebuilding and where her grandmother, a retired architect, tended to a garden for years growing tomatoes, zucchini and carrots, Dr Boichak said.

On day 41 of the war, Dr Boichak, a sociologist and lecturer who has been researching the role of social media in shaping narratives about war and military violence, beginning with Russia's 2014 invasion of Crimea, posted her grandparents' story on Twitter. She described how her grandmother had been caught in a "never-

For weeks after the Russian soldiers took control, her 82year-old grandmother, Rita, kept trying to go on her daily walks to the market in the town center even though the streets were no longer safe. The market had long stopped operating as food became scarce and people ran out of cash.

Her grandmother, a retired teacher who has been showing increasing signs of dementia over the past three years, keeps forgetting about the war and getting angry at the grandson she lives with for not letting her out of the house, Vovchenko said.
