SANTOSH SINGH PATNA, AUGUST 24

THE NEW Grand Alliance government in Bihar won the trust vote with ease on Wednesday with JD(U) leader and Chief Minister Nitish Kumar launching a sharp attack against his former ally BJP, accusing it of "trying to finish" his party since the 2020 polls leading to his decision to break their tie-up. Nitish also said that he had "no ambition other than serving Bihar".

The government won the trust motion with 160 votes in its favour and none against as the BJP, with a strength of 77 MLAs, staged a walkout before voting began. All the seven non-BJP parties in the Assembly voted in favour of the government. Four MLAs were not present in the House, which has a current strength of 242.

Forest or not: Centre vs Chhattisgarh on transfer of 300 sq km for industry

JAY MAZOOMDAAR NEW DELHI, AUGUST 24

IN MARCH. Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel announced in his Budget speech that the state government has transferred over 300 sq km – an area larger than Raipur – in the Bastar region from the Forest department to the Revenue department to ensure easy availability of land for setting up industries and building infrastructure.

The move has now run into a hurdle – even as paperwork is underway for transferring more land in other parts of the state.

Chhattisgarh did not seek forest clearance for transferring the land, which the state claims is non-forest land handed over earlier "by mistake" to its Forest department. Now, the Union Environment Ministry has pointed out that the land in question is "undemarcated protected forests", which cannot be given away without forest clearance.

On August 15, in two letters to the Chhattisgarh Chief Secretary and head of the state's Forest department, the Union Environment Ministry's Integrated Regional Office (Raipur) asked the state to stop the CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

DIPANITA NATH PUNE. AUGUST 24

AYODHYA KI Ramleela is set to feature three BJP parliamentarians as actors in key roles this time. While Azamgarh MP Dinesh Lal Yadav, the Bhojpuri actor-singer popularly known as "Nirahua", will take up the role of Laxman, Ravi Kishan, the Gorakhpur MP and Bhojpuri actor, will essay Kewat and Manoj Tiwari, the MP from North East Delhi, will play Parashuram. The veterans of Delhi's Ramleela stage, Tiwari and Kishan, had played Angad and Bharat, respectively, in Ayodhya ki Ramleela in 2020 too. 2021.

Ayodhya ki Ramleela was rolled out soon after Prime Minister Narendra Modi laid the foundation stone for the construction of the Ram temple in Ayodhya in August 2020. Since then, it has been held every year at an Ayodhya ground on the banks of the Sarayu river, which is less than 2 kms from the site where the Ram temple is coming up. Earlier, it used to be just livestreamed, on YouTube and Facebook, besides being telecast live on the state-run Doordarshan, even as it reportedly registered a 16 crore audience in 2020 and 22 crore in

This time however. Avodhva ki Ramleela – to be held between September 26 and October 5 from 7 pm to 10 pm daily – will be staged before a live audience in addition to being telecast live by Doordarshan and streamed on other social media platforms every evening. The organisers are making arrangements for an audience of 11,000 people at the show venue every day.

"There are lots of challenges because over the last two years we have been holding this Ramleela without sponsorship.

Since there were no crowds due to the pandemic, sponsors also stayed away," says Subhash Malik, the Ayodhya ki Ramleela's creative director and Meri Maa Foundation's founder. The previous annual budget for the show was around Rs 2 crore, with Malik expecting it to cross Rs 3 crore this time. "We raise 20 per cent of the amount from friends and I fund the remaining amount." he adds.

The organisers are also making preparations to ensure that Ayodhya ki Ramleela, which is already among the country's biggest Ramleelas, is made into a "grander show" with a 120 ft stage, LED and digital technology, which would create 3D effects of caves, palaces, and foun-

The Ramleela has also roped in star power in the form of Rahul Bhuchar as Ram, Diksha Raina as Sita and Shahbaz Khan as Ravan. ### Bihar trust vote

With the trust motion held in the backdrop of the CBI raids against RID leaders, Nitish's speech targeted the "current leadership" of the BJP, saying that its previous leaders AB Vajpayee, LK Advani and Murli Manohar Joshi used to "like me, care for me and listened to me"

In contrast, he said, the current BJP leadership did not even concede the state's "simple demand" to grant Central university status to Patna University. He recalled that the Vajpayee-led NDA-I government had approved the proposal for converting the Bihar College of Engineering into the National Institute of Technology (NIT) in a special Union Cabinet meeting.

Without naming anyone, Nitish said the BJP's present leadership "does little except prachar prasar (publicity)... Yeh cheez kya hain (What is this?)'

Detailing his reasons for quitting the NDA on August 9, Nitish Kumar said: "I could sense even during the poll campaign of 2020 that things had been working against me... Kisko khada kar diya (who was pitted against me),' Nitish said, without naming Chirag Paswan whose party LIP had fielded candidates against the ID(U) in almost all of the seats. Nitish said he had decided to part ways with NDA earlier in 2013 after "feeling uncomfortable" in the alliance after the Vaipavee-Advani era. "We returned to the NDA in 2017 after Tejashwi (Prasad Yadav) faced corruption charges. But what happened to that case? It has been five years now," he said.

Citing other points of discord, he said, "Everyone knows that Har Ghar Nal Ka Jal is a state government programme and the Centre launched it later. But we were being pressured to take money spent on the programme and declare it a Central government scheme. We refused to do so."

Referring indirectly to the tussle over the continuance of JD(U)'s R C P Singh as Union minister, Nitish said, "Humein dabane ki koshish ho rahi thi (There were attempts to stifle us)... Woh chah rahe thhe hum khatam ho jaaye (They wanted to see us finished)... After the 2020 poll results, we were told Nand Kishore Yadav (IDU) would become Speaker but someone else was made. Our old friends like (BJP leaders) Sushil Kumar Modi, Prem Kumar and some others, too, were not made (state) ministers.

Nitish alleged that the BJP had made RCP Singh work against the JD(U). Singh had to quit as Union minister after failing to receive the JD(U)'s backing for another Rajya Sabha term.

Reiterating his commitment to remain with the Grand Alliance, Nitish said: "There is no question now of going anywhere. After I walked out of the NDA, I got calls from all over the country praising my decision... These people(BJP) are celebrating the 75th of the country's vear Independence. Had they taken part in the freedom struggle? They are trying to foment trouble in society. We need to remain united.... We will fight together.... I have no personal ambition. I want to work for Bihar." The Chief Minister also spoke indirectly on questions raised against IT Minister Mohammed Israil Mansuri's visit to the Vishnupad temple in Gaya recently. "When the BJP was with us, even they had got some Muslim votes in Gaya. Now they are talking nonsensical things," he said.

In his speech, Deputy Chief Minister Tejashwi Prasad Yadav asked the BIP to explain how it was that when Nitish Kumar is with BJP, it is "mangalraj (good governance)" and when he is with RJD, it becomes "jungleraj". He said the RID's tie-up with Nitish Kumar would be "very long" and "break all records of good governance".

He said socialists "were not ones to be cowed down". "The BJP has two strategies, scare them or buy them over. But we are not at all afraid," he said.

Reacting to a BJP leader's comment on taking away the voting rights of Muslims, Tejashwi said, "No one can take away the voting rights of Muslims." On joining hands again with Nitish, he said they had only two options: see "social despair rise" or join hands to "salvage" the country of Mahatma Gandhi. Dr Ram Manohar Lohia and other great leaders. "Joh dar gaya, woh marega; joh ladega, woh jeetega (Those who get scared will die, those who fight will win)," he said. Speaking in the House, BIP leader and former Deputy Chief Minister Tarkishore Prasad said Nitish Kumar "might well be nursing a PM ambition but his party never succeeded in coming to power in Bihar on its own".

Earlier, BJP leader Vijay Kumar Sinha resigned as Speaker before the trust vote after refuting the RJD's allegations of being "autocratic" in the House. RJD's Awadh Bihari Choudhary is expected to be chosen as the new Speaker on August 26. The BJP later named Sinha as its Legislature Party leader.

CBI raids

Tejashwi describing the CBI, ED and I-T department as the "jamai" (sons-in-law) of the BJP-led Centre.

Speaking in the Bihar Assembly during the trust vote on Wednesday, Tejashwi said, "When they fail to buy over their political opponents, woh log jamai ko aage kar dete hain (they put forward the sons-in-law). They launch them on those who can neither be cowed down or bought over.'

Among the locations searched was an under-construction shopping mall, Urban Cubes, in Sector 71 of Gurgaon which. CBI sources alleged, is linked to Tejashwi. "The mall is owned by Whiteland Corporation Ltd...we have information that Tejashwi has beneficial interest. Our investigations have found that proceeds of crime from the 'land for jobs' deal were diverted to this property," a CBI official said.

Tejashwi denied the charges. "I am appalled at some media coverage attributing a Gurgaon mall ownership to me. I am also dismayed at the homework of the CBI, which has been conducting raids there." he said, claiming that he had "learnt that the mall was opened by a BJP MP".

The CBI also conducted raids at offices of Elite Landbase Pvt Ltd in Sector 42 of Gurgaon. According to CBI sources, the company is allegedly linked to the mall's construction.

The sources said raids were carried out at more than 25 locations, including in Patna, Katihar and Madhubani in Bihar, at premises allegedly linked to RJD treasurer and MLC Sunil Singh as well as two Rajya Sabha MPs from the party, Faiyaz Ahmed and Ashfaque Karim, among others. Premises allegedly linked to former RJD MLC Subodh Rai were also raided, they said.

RJD Rajya Sabha MP Manoj Jha said, "Beit ED or CBI, all such raids are carried out to benefit the BJP." JD(U) MLC and spokesperson Neeraj Kumar described the raids as "a dangerous test of strength by the Central government in Bihar through CBI and ED".

the previous year, an analysis of the quarterly disclosure made by the insurance companies reveals.

State-owned behemoth Life Insurance Corporation Companies noticed a sharp jump in the number of surrendered policies in 2021-22 when compared with the previous year. LIC has a market share of almost 64 per cent in the life insurance business.

Max Life Insurance, ICICI Prudential, HDFC Life, Bajaj Allianz, Aditya Birla Sunlife, Kotak Mahindra, TATA AIA, Exide Life Insurance, Canara-HSBC, Shriram Life Insurance, Future Generali India, Ageas Federal Life Insurance, EdelWeiss Tokio Life Insurance, Aviva Life Insurance and Bharti AXA, are the other 15 insurers, which saw an increase in the number of premature sale of policies during the year.

The surrender value of the policy of the policyholders gives an indication of the distress. The average surrender value paid to policyholders was Rs 62,552, less than half the average surrender value of Rs 1,67,427 paid to subscribers in 2020-21. For the LIC policyholder, the average surrender-value of over 2.12 crore policies surrendered during 2021-22 was just Rs 43,306 whereas. In the previous year, LIC policyholders surrendered 53.35 lakh policies and the average surrender value paid to them was Rs 1,49,997.

Only eight companies have witnessed a decrease in the number of surrendered policies in 2021-22 when compared with the previous year. These are: SBI Life, Reliance Nippon, IndiaFirst Life Insurance, PNB MetLife, Pramerica, Star Union Dai-Ichi, Aegon Life Insurance and Sahara India. Policy holders of these companies have surrendered 4.93 lakh policies in 2021-22, 21.7 percent less than in 2020-21.

the PMLA law. Justice Khanwilkar retired from the apex court on July

On Wednesday, the bench presided over by the CII allowed Chidambaram's request and said the "application for oral hearing is allowed. List the matter in the Court on 25.08.2022".

Article 137 of the Constitution gives the Supreme Court the power to review its orders or judgments, subject to provisions of law made by Parliament or rules under Article 145 of the Constitution. In January 2019, the Supreme Court had allowed an open-court hearing for petitions seeking review of its September 2018 judgment in the Sabarimala case. The top court had also allowed an open-court hearing for petitions seeking review of its December 2018 verdict in the Rafale deal case.

In April 2018, the court took up in open court review petitions against its March 2018 order forbidding arrest without prior permission for an offence under the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. On July 27 this year, the three-judge bench headed by Justice Khanwilkar upheld the PMLA law, including powers of the Enforcement Directorate (ED) regarding arrest, search, attachment and seizure in money laundering offences. The court underlined that "the principle of innocence of the accused/ offender is regarded as a human right" but "that presumption can be interdicted by a law made by the Parliament/ Legislature" The court also said that an Enforcement Case Information Report (ECIR) cannot be equated with an FIR, supplying an ECIR in every case to the person concerned is not mandatory, and "it is enough if ED, at the time of arrest, discloses the grounds of such arrest". The ruling came on a batch of 242 petitions that raised questions on different provisions of PMLA, including Section 3 which defines what constitutes money laundering. The court, however, left the question of whether amendments to PMLA could have been brought by way of Finance Acts in 2015, 2016, 2018 and 2019, respectively, to a sevenjudge bench which is already seized of a similar question in the matter of other legislation. On Wednesday, a three-judge presided over by CJI Ramana had, in a judgment on the Benami Transactions(Prohibition)Act.expressed concern on certain findings in the July 27 order allowing authorities to take possession of property before trial in exceptional cases. The court said that "having perused the said judgment, we are of the opinion that the aforesaid ratio requires further expounding in an appropriate case, without which much scope is left for arbibeing contrary to Articles 20 and 21 of the Constitution, being contrary to settled principles of criminal jurisprudence and being per incuriam (lack of due regard for law) on several grounds...".

transfer of land, saying it was in violation of the Forest Conservation Act, 1980 and multiple Supreme Court orders, and return the land already transferred.

But Chhattisgarh has stuck to its position. "A reply has been sent to the letter of the Government of India. No transfer of protected forest land has been done. Transfer of areas recorded as non-forest land, such as ghas bhumi (grassland), on revenue records is under process," Rakesh Chaturvedi, head of the forest force, Chhattisgarh, told The Indian Express.

When contacted, C P Goyal, Director General (Forests) under the Environment Ministry, declined comment. A senior official said "the matter is being looked into closely" in the Ministry. "As per the Supreme Court's definition, any land that is part of the (forest)working plan or under the control of the Forest department is forest land. Irrespective of tree cover, grasslands or rocky surfaces are also forest land," the official said

Records reviewed by The Indian Express show that at a review meeting of "the CM's important scheme" held on February 11, Chhattisgarh Forest officials advised their counterparts in the Revenue department to not use the term "denotification" in official communication regarding the transfer of those patches of "Orange areas", which were either not notified as forest or are smaller than 10 hectares with less than 200 trees per hectare.

Legally classified as "undemarcated protected forests", the so-called Orange areas are the result of an administrative logiam

Significantly, in an interview to The Indian Express on August 14, CII-designate Lalit spoke about the need to ensure crucial cases are listed on priority. Asked about the delay in cases, he said: "You touched upon that some matters don't get listed. That is something which we will have to find a solution to...To have Constitution benches sit all year (is one kind of institutional response)," he had said.

that remained a bone of contention between the Revenue and the Forest departments since the abolition of the zamindari system in 1951

In the mid-1950s, ex-zamindari forests with the Revenue department of undivided Madhva Pradesh were notified en masse as protected forests under the Indian Forest Act, 1927. The areas were subsequently surveyed and either declared reserve forests after settlement of rights, or denotified and returned to the Revenue department. The areas left out of the survey were marked in orange on the map.

As reports of rampant illicit felling and encroachment delayed the completion of the survey, the enactment of the Forest Conservation Act in 1980 took away the state government's powers to denotify forest land on its own. Carved out of Madhva Pradesh in 2000, Chhattisgarh inherited its share of Orange areas.

"After the Supreme Court gave a broad definition of forests in 1996, Madhya Pradesh handed over Revenue forests to the Forest department. That is how 2,328 sq km was added to the original Orange areas of 9,954 sq km during 1997-2007. In that process. some non-forest areas also came under the Forest department, which are now being returned to the Revenue department," said Sunil Mishra, Additional Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (land management), Chhattisgarh.

In May 2021, records show, the Chhattisgarh Revenue department sought a joint field survey with the Forest department to identify non-forest land "that had been included by mistake" in Orange areas. "We barely have any land available for development, particularly in the tribal areas. So this is a pragmatic policy to free non-forest land from the Forest department," said a senior Revenue official.

Not many are convinced. "Any legal transfer of forest land requires giving back twice the area from Revenue to Forest. Since that defeats the purpose, we are turn-tem" and the "style of running the party" which needs to change and not the face.

Sources said Ghulam Nabi Azad's decision to decline the chairmanship of the campaign committee in J&K and Anand Sharma's resignation as head of the steering committee for the Assembly elections in Himachal Pradesh were signs of things to come. But who will the G-23 candidate be? Sources said Azad is not keen. Sharma too is reportedly not interested.

Some leaders said it could be Shashi Tharoor or Manish Tewari, the articulate and suave Lok Sabha MPs of the party. Both of them are former Union ministers. Tewari has risen through the ranks, having headed the NSUI between 1988-93 and then the Youth Congress in 1998-2000, both tumultuous periods in the party's recent history.

G-23 leaders believe that ideas like decentralisation of power, revival of a collective decision making mechanism (Parliamentary Board) and empowering state units are ideas whose time has come.

But a decision to field a candidate is easier said than done. Given the composition of the electoral college and the hold of the family over the party, the candidate who has the subtle backing of the Gandhis will have a definite advantage. Even the mighty Pawar and Pilot could not defeat Kesri. The challenger, some fear, could also earn the displeasure of the family.

Gehlot, meanwhile, sought to downplay the talk that he could be made Congress chief. "This has been doing the rounds in the media for a long time. You keep talking about it. Nobody knows what is going to be decided," he said.

Gehlot said he is concentrating on the two responsibilities given to him - as senior observer for the coming Gujarat Assembly polls and CM of Rajasthan. "Has anybody briefed you at the AICC? No one has done that. Media keeps on speculating. Till a decision is made, neither you nor I can comment on it," he said.

Ramleela is returning with renewed vigour at other places as well, especially in Delhi which hosts more than 650 Ramleelas every year. The Delhi Luv Kush Ramleela Committee, which draws lakhs of people to Red Fort, is planning a grand show, as well as additional events such as a medical camp on September 17, the birthday of PM Modi. "We will distribute spectacles, wheelchairs, crutches and hearing aids, among others, free to those who need it, while volunteers will take them to hospital and back,' says Arjun Kumar, the Delhi Luv Kush Ramleela Committee president. Kumar also heads the Shree Ramleela Mahasangh, the umbrella organisation of Delhi's major Ramleelas.

The Luv Kush Ramleela will unveil a 180 ft stage on which a giant model of Ayodhya's Ram temple is being set up. "We have film stars, stunt artistes, dance troupes, make-up and costume designers, among others, coming from Bollywood. There is no financial burden as Ramleela is a work of God," says Kumar. "Everybody needs work and is enthusiastic about the chance to stage the Ramleela in a grand way again after the pandemic," he adds. The Luv Kush Ramleela also features BJP MPs and Union ministers, such as Ashwini Choubey, Faggan Singh Kulaste and Arjun Ram Meghwal, in its star cast.

One of the biggest Ramleela organisers in east Delhi is Shri Balaji Ramleela Committee, which was forced to hold only a one-day Dusshera Mahotsav in 2020 and pack its Ramleela shows in just three days in 2021 due to the Covid pandemic. "This time we have a full 10-day plan marked with artistes and mela and celebrations," says Manish

GAYATHRI MANI NEW DELHI, AUGUST 24

DELHI CHIEF Minister Arvind Kejriwal Wednesday flagged off 97 electric buses from Rajghat depot. "We are phasing out all old polluting buses gradually and replacing them with ebuses. 153 e-buses are already plying on roads, 50 more buses will be added by September and the total count of e-buses will increase to 300," said the CM, as he flagged off the second batch.

"People have seen worldclass education and health models. It's time to transform Delhi's transport sector into a model for the world to reckon with," he added.

He said the AAP government will study the transport model of different countries: "Many countries have very modern transport systems. We will take a page out of their book and develop the most effective and efficient transport model in Delhi." The CM further said that by November 2023, 1,500 more electric buses will be inducted which will take the total to 1,800. By 2023, Delhi will become the first city to have the highest ebuses in the country, he said.

"By the end of 2025, the capital's fleet will increase to 10,380 and around 80% -- that is 8,180 will be electric," Kejriwal said, adding that by 2023, the city will have 55 electric depots and by 2025, there will be 18,000 charging points in Delhi.

Currently, Delhi has three depots under the transport depart-

Kabaddi player, DJ, former sailor arrested in visa fraud case

New Delhi: A state-level kabaddi player from Haryana, a DJ from Delhi and a former merchant navy sailor have been arrested by Delhi Police for allegedly cheating people on the pretext of sending them to the US, Canada and other countries on forged visas.

The matter came to light when an immigration officer at IGI Airport caught a passenger, Aman Kumar, while he was boarding a flight to Canada. Kumar was arrested after the immigration officer found his Canada visa was forged.

During questioning, Kumar said two travel agents, Amit Kumar and Yogesh Kumar, allegedly helped him with the visa and stickers on the document. He claimed the same was arranged from Puniab for Rs 20 lakh. Further raids were conducted in Delhi, Punjab and Haryana and the duo were arrested. They revealed they had will not admit new students in

Police said Chauhan, who left his job during the pandemic, was the mastermind and was changing his location to evade arrest. He arrested from Kolkata airport on August 18 while he was trying to flee to Thailand.

"Chauhan told us he's an IT graduate and worked as a sailor for a shipping company. He left the job to pursue his interests in IT and create web software. He is an expert in making forged documents such as employment contracts and job letters in Canada, Russia, Vietnam etc," said the DCP. ENS

AAP's nine-member Political Affairs Committee, the party's highest decision making body, held a meeting Wednesday to discuss alleged offers and party's strategy.

"A few days ago, CBI registered a false case against Manish Sisodia and his house was raided. The CBI did not find anything during the raid -- no unaccounted money, jewellery or benami property. The next day BJP leaders reached out to Sisodia and told him that if he joins their party, all CBI and ED cases against him will be withdrawn. They told him that they will topple the AAP government and make him the Chief Minister... JAWAHARLAL NEHRU University (INU) Wednesday saw opposing student groups taking out protests on campus. While some slogans were against each other, both had one common complaint scholarships not being dis-

During its march in the vening the Akhil Bharativa Vidyarthi Parishad (ABVP) protested against the JNU administration with regard to violence at the scholarship section Monday - clashes had broken out between students from the outfit and security staff during their protest to demand the release of scholarships and fellowships, which led to injuries on both sides. Their primary demand was that administration apologise to students and staff for the violence. The JNU Students' Union, meanwhile, called for a march Wednesday night "against ABVP's violence in the scholarship section" and "against impunity to ABVP goons by JNU admin despite repeated instances of vioence by ABVP on campus". The demand to release longpending scholarships and fellowships featured in both marches despite their differences. A 55-YEAR-OLD mushroom farmer, who had bought flight tickets for his workers to send them home to Bihar during the Covid lockdown, allegedly committed suicide in Outer Delhi's Tigipur village.

On Tuesday evening, Pappan Singh Gahlot was found hanging from the ceiling fan at a temple opposite his house. His family said his death has come as a shock to them as he was always happy and dedicated to helping others.

Brijendra Yadav, DCP (Outer North), said: "We received a call around 5 pm. His house is opposite the temple where he would offer prayers every day. The temple head priest found his body."

Pappan left a suicide note, citing health issues and stated he was responsible for his death. "He said he had blood pressure and diabetes in the suicide note," said a senior police officer.

Pappan Singh Gahlot (55)

At their home, his wife Asha and daughter Shivani were inconsolable. Asha told The Indian Express, "We had been saving for Shivani's marriage. In February, we got her married. We were all so happy. How could this happen? Pappan was a jovial and helpful person. I remember the time when he told me he was booking flight tickets for 5-6 labourers. I had never heard something like this. I was scared because the pandemic had hit business, but he was adamant. He not only helped the farmers but also helped our relatives who lost jobs during Covid." Pappan's family said he never spoke about his health issues or anything regarding work. "It has been difficult to restart the business, but he did it. All his labourers came back... I would keep asking him about his health, but he never used to broach the subiect." said Asha

Shivani said she received a call at night, informing her of her father's death: "We never expected this. I spoke to him yesterday and asked about his health. He said he was fine. We proudly show all news clippings about my father's social work to our relatives. He was a good, hardworking man. But he never let anyone know what was going on in his head..."

Police said initial probe revealed no foul play, adding that the family was questioned but they do not suspect anyone's involvement. Inquest proceedings have been initiated.

Pappan was praised on social media for helping his workers and was even spoken about in a show by Bollywood actress Madhuri Dixit.

Recently, Delhi Lieutenant Governor Vinai Kumar Saxena had visited the Anang Tal Baoli inside Sanjay Van, and directed officials to restore the heritage stepwell within the next two months.

Union Minister of State for Culture and Parliamentary Affairs Arjun Ram Meghwal, who visited the site in May, had asked the Delhi Development Authority, under whose jurisdiction the area falls, to restore the historic lake in Mehrauli. The minister asked officials to expedite conservation work so the site could be declared a national monument.

As per the website of National Mission Monuments and Antiquities, a government agency, Anang Tal is situated "to the north of log Maya temple and approximately 500 metres to the northwest of Qutub Complex", and dates back to 1,060 AD. THE SUPREME Court Wednesday agreed to set up a three-judge bench to take a relook at its 2013 ruling in the S Subramaniam Balaji vs State of Tamil Nadu case, wherein it had held that the "state distributing largesse in the form of distribution of colour TVs, laptops etc. to eligible and deserving persons is directly related to the Directive Principles of State Policy" and warrants no interference by the court.

"Alright, I will constitute a three-judge bench," said Chief Justice of India NV Ramana, presiding over a bench hearing petitions seeking a ban on parties promising freebies in the run-up to elections.

The bench, also comprising Justices Hima Kohli and C T Ravikumar, was responding to requests by Senior Advocates Arvind Datar, Vikas Singh and Solicitor General Tushar Mehta. The CJI said while the initial petitions were on the promise of freebies before elections, there are now petitions about subsequent schemes, promises and grants too. "...unless and until there is a conscious, unanimous decision that we have to stop somewhere, this type of scheme or this type of freebies... is going to destroy the economy. Nothing can happen by way of legislation, by way of model code of conduct, or by way of our orders... If I pass a mandamus that no political party should make such promises from tomorrow onwards, there must be a debate. The issue is serious, no doubt," he said. The CJI asked why the gov-

'Incomprehensible': Top court sets aside a verdict by Himachal HC, calls for lucidity

ANANTHAKRISHNANG NEW DELHI, AUGUST 24

THE SUPREME Court has set aside an "incomprehensible" judgment of the Himachal Pradesh High Court and advised judges to maintain lucidity and brevity in their writing.

The bench of Justices D Y Chandrachud and A S Bopanna also touched on aspects of judgment writing, reminding judges that their verdicts "must make sense to those whose lives and affairs are affected by the outcome of the case"

The bench said it "found it difficult to navigate through the maze of incomprehensible language" in the high court decision. "Incoherent judgments have a serious impact upon the dignity of judicial institutions." It added: "A litigant for whom the judgment is primarily meant would be placed in an even more difficult position."

Writing for the bench, Justice Chandrachud said: "Language of the kind in a judgment defeats the purpose of judicial writing. Judgment writing of the genre before us in appeal detracts from the efficacy of the judicial process". The bench noted that it had to return two other judgments to the Himachal Pradesh High Court earlier and had also faced difficulties with an order of the Allahabad High Court.

"The purpose of judicial writing", Justice Chandrachud wrote, "is not to confuse or confound the reader behind the veneer of complex language. The judge must write to provide an easy-to-understand analysis of the issues of law and fact which arise for decision. Judgments of the High Courts and the Supreme Court also serve as precedents to guide future benches. A judgment must make sense to those whose lives and affairs are affected by the outcome of the case. Underlining the importance of the written word, the SC in its 16 order, said: August "Confidence in the judicial process is predicated on the trust which its written word generates. If the meaning of the written word is lost in language, the ability of adjudicator to retain trust of the reader is eroded"

"Judgment writing", said Justice Chandrachud 'is" also "a critical instrument in fostering the rule of law and in curbing rule by the law'.

DEBATE OVER MULTIPLE CHOICE FORMAT FOR PG ADMISSION

Used for long, no complaint:

Pointing to some of the modern problems with writing judgments, the SC said "brevity" had become "an unwitting victim of an overburdened judiciary" and "of the cut-copy-paste convenience afforded by software developers". Justice Chandrachud said he himself has been providing headings and sub-headings in his judgments to assist the reader in providing a structured sequence and said it will be useful for judgments to carry paragraph numbers and a Table of Contents.

The verdict also emphasised the need to make rulings accessible to all including people with disability and advised to ensure that watermarks are not improperly placed in uploaded orders as that will make the documents inaccessible for visually disabled who use screen readers

MAYURAJANWALKAR BAMBOLIM, AUGUST 24

THE FAMILY members of actor and BJP leader Sonali Phogat Wednesday refused to grant consent for a post-mortem to be conducted on her body, demanding that the Goa Police register an FIR for murder in the case. Phogat's brother also filed a formal complaint with the Goa Police, claiming she was murdered by two of her associates.

The Goa Police on Tuesday had registered an unnatural death report after the 42-year-old was 'brought dead" to the St Anthony's Hospital in Anjuna.

Phogat's family members, including brother Rinku Dhaka. nephew Monindar Phogat, and brother-in-law Aman Punia, who arrived in Goa Tuesday evening submitted a four-page written complaint at the Anjuna Police Station, alleging that it was "preplanned murder", and "a political conspiracy" by one of her staff members and his associate "to usurp her property".

In the complaint, it has been alleged that Phogat's staff member called her other brother. Vatan Dhaka on Tuesday and informed that she died during a film shoot. Rinku alleged that after reaching Goa, he got to know that there was no shoot planned.

Rinku said that Phogat learnt that the said staff member was behind a theft of Rs 40 lakh from her Hisar home last year and she wanted to file a complaint after returning from Goa. He claimed the police refused to register an FIR against the two persons.

ED had filed a case against Varma and Gupta among others under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) based on a cheating case filed in Aurangabad. The case in Aurangabad, the scheduled offence, was closed after a report was filed by the police stating that there was no evidence to charge the duo. The local court in the district accepted the closure report.

"When there is no scheduled offence at all in existence, continuation of the PMLA case will be nothing but a futile work. Such futile work at the cost of detention of accused behind bars, is absolutely without any legal basis or justification," special judge M G Deshpande said in his order.

SC reserves decision on plea against HC order

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, AUGUST 24

THE SUPREME Court on Wednesday reserved its decision on a plea challenging Allahabad High Court judgement upholding the Uttar Pradesh government's refusal to give sanction to prosecute CM Yogi Adityanath in a 2007 hate speech case.

Reserving its order, a bench of Chief Justice of India N V Ramana and Justices Hima Kohli and CT Ravikumar asked the petitioners and respondents to file their written submissions in the matter.

Petitioner Parvez Parwaz had challenged the UP government's May 3, 2017, decision, contending that Yogi had become CM by then and whether he therefore could have participated in the process to grant sanction. However, the HC dismissed the plea in 2018, finding no procedural error in probe or the refusal to grant sanction.

Appearing for Parwaz, Advocate Fuzzail Ayyubi said the HC had not gone into the question "whether the state can pass an order under Section 196 (CrPC) in respect of a proposed accused in a criminal case who in the meantime gets elected as CM and is the executive head as per the scheme provided under Article 163".

LAW OFFICER JOBS HC directs UP to reply, says 'we share PIL's concern'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE LUCKNOW, AUGUST 24

WHILE EXPRESSING "concern" over transparency in the appointment of 220 law officers in Uttar Pradesh, the Allahabad High Court on Wednesday asked the state government to file a reply to a PIL, which alleged that appointments were made without following due procedure as laid down by the Supreme Court.

Stating that the concern of the petitioners "about the transparency, fairness and objectivity in the matter of engagement of state lawyers cannot be doubted", the Bench comprising Justice Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya and Justice Prakash Singh directed the state government to file a reply by the Principal Secretary (Law/ Legal Remembrancer) stating what steps "are being taken/proposed to be taken for ensuring that observations and directions of the Supreme Court in the case of Brijeshwar Singh Chahal... are implemented in their true spirit".

The court gave six weeks to the state government to file the affidavit and listed the matter for further hearing on October 17.

In the case of Brijeshwar Singh Chahal, the Supreme Court had directed the states to take appropriate steps to reform their system of selection and appointment of government advocates

The PIL, filed by a group of lawyers, has sought quashing of the appointments of 220 state law officers, alleging that the appointments were made on the recommendation of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS). The PIL alleged that the procedure for appointments was not followed as per the regulations laid down by the Supreme Court.

The High Court said that it "shares the concern of the petitioners that the entire process should be more transparent and objective". FULL REPORT ON www.indianexpress.com

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE VADODARA, AUGUST 24

A CANDIDATE for the Railway Recruitment Board RCC Level-1 examination held in Vadodara allegedly hired a "dummy candidate" to appear for the test on his behalf and peeled off the skin of his left thumb to ensure that the hired person could clear the biometric verifications, police said.

The candidate. identified as as Manish Kumar Shambunath (26) and the person he hired, Rajyaguru Gupta (22) - both natives of Bihar - were arrested by the Laxmipura police and a local court Wednesday remanded them in three-day police custody. According to police, the invigilator at the exam centre found out about the impersonation when he used a sanitizer to clean the left thumb of the dummy candidate and the layer of the skin came undone

In the FIR lodged at Laxmipura police station, Operation Executive of Tata Consultancy Services (TCS), the agency conducting the exam, which was scheduled for August 22, has said that a total of 645 candidates appeared for the exam from the TCS centre.

Manish Kumar Shambunath and Rajyaguru Gupta

"In the third shift of the examination on August 22, scheduled from 5 to 6.30 pm, the candidates were taken to the fourth floor where they are allotted their labs and put through biometric verification of Aadhar card data, by using the left thumb impression on a biometric sequencing device...'

been sent to a laboratory for fur-ond round of biometric verification, Manish Kumar's thumb impression could not be recorded after two attempts, which is when the invigilator Akhilendrasinh grew suspicious.

"Akhilendrasinh used a sanitiser to clean the thumb in order to retry the verification. He then discovered that the person had a layer of skin stuck onto his thumb, which is why the second biometric verification could not be completed despite multiple attempts," the FIR added.

The examination officials then called the police control room and handed over Gupta to the police, where Gupta, a resident of Beladi village in Munger taluka of Bihar, confessed that he was hired by Kumar as a "dummy candidate" to appear for the railway recruitment examination.

Police inspector Pooja Tiwari of Laxmipura police station said, "The accused have told us that on August 19, Manish Kumar sliced off a thick layer of the skin of his left thumb. Along with Gupta, he boarded a train to Vadodara to arrive at the examination centre. They had carried the skin with Kumar's fingerprint in a polythene bag... We are yet to question Tiwari said that Kumar had got first aid treatment in Bihar for the self-inflicted avulsion injury and added that there could be an intermediary involved in the case.

"We are yet to begin questioning the accused as the court has given us custody late on Wednesday evening... From their primary questioning after their arrest on Tuesday night, we suspect that there are intermediaries involved, who have been using this modus operandi for cheating in other examinations... While it was Kumar's first attempt at the exam, the dummy candidate may have appeared for other candidates earlier," he added.

The Laxmipura police booked the accused under Indian Penal Code Sections for punishment for cheating by personation (419), making of a false document in the name of a fictitious person, intending it to be believed that the document was made by a real person (464), forgery (465), forgery for purpose of cheating 468, and criminal conspiracy [120(B)] as well as the Information Technology Act, 2000.

'Uber Files show how capital, influence and connections can bypass laws in democracies'

Dean Starkman, Senior Editor, ICIJ, David Pegg, Investigations correspondent, The Guardian, and Ritu Sarin, Executive Editor (Investigations), The Indian Express take you behind the scenes of a global probe. The session was moderated by Rakesh Sinha, Executive Editor, News Operations

Associate Partner

On what's in the Uber Files

Dean Starkman: Our data shows how Uber assembled this lobbying juggernaut and was able to gain access to powerful, democratically-elected global leaders like former Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, US President Joe Biden and French President Emmanuel Macron. Once you're in the door, you're halfway home, and it was able to influence and shape policy globally.

The second big point was that it was flouting local transportation and labour laws and running a business without a licence or permits. So, on the one hand, its officials were wining and dining with the leaders of Western democracies and, on the other hand, they were running an operation that was essentially rogue in most of these markets. This illustrated that there was something off in the way the democratic process was working and the advantage that capital, money, influence and connections had in liberal democracies. Another major revelation was while all this was going on, they were actually using stealth technology and other tactics to evade legitimate law enforcement inquiries. This protocol was called the kill switch. So when the law enforcement came knocking, and they often did with subpoenas, Uber had a protocol to shut down the access of the local office to the main services and thwart law enforcement. It did this in Paris. Amsterdam and in India as well. It was a playbook for evading a legitimate law enforcement investigation. Uber went to great lengths to gain access to the Russian market, made intricate financial deals with Russian billionaires and oligarchs with the explicit intent of influencing the political system.

On how The Guardian sourced data

David Pegg: The data was provided by a whistleblower named Mark MacGann because he thought these were things that needed to be brought to public attention. He approached us via an intermediary. Mark was effectively the head

AUDIENCE QUESTIONS

On whether Uber violated Indian laws and whether the government is taking any action

Ritu Sarin: Service tax has now become GST and when we did the story, there was a complaint against Uber for an outstanding amount of Rs 827 crore for not having paid GST. About the privacy issue, the ground rules are very clear. The data remains only with the journalists working on the project - they are not to be shared with anyone in the government or outside the core group.

David Pegg: As for going after those people and giving it all over to the government, of Uber's lobbying operation in Europe, the Middle East and North Africa for about two years, from 2014 to 2016. He was charged with contacting politicians, Ministers and very senior figures in Europe, the Middle East and Africa. Mark's responsibility was to liaise with politicians and lobby them for taxi regulation to be changed or updated so that Uber's operations would be legal. He did this for around two years but left the company in 2016 or 2017.

On Uber's damage control exercise in India after a woman passenger was raped by a cab driver in 2014

Ritu Sarin: The documents were from 2013 to 2017 and covered the rape incident in December 2014. It was the aftermath of the rape incident and what happened legally in the US that it would damage journalism. We are independent and we have to preserve that independence.

On having a law for the operation of taxi services in India

Ritu Sarin: Different countries have different laws and even in our country, different states have different rules and regulations. So there really cannot be one omnipotent law that guides aggregators.

Dean Starkman: Well, I would also say the laws are there already, all you have to do is enforce them.

made the story current and exciting for us. When the ICIJ (International Consortium of Investigative Journalists) offered us the Uber story, I thought it would be a corporate scam but the rape incident made it a news story.

There was this document in which Uber officials talked about how they should stop the "pandemic of violence" against women in India. Then there was another email from around the same period in which a top Indian executive of Uber is debriefing his entire team on how to handle the India assignment, asking them to "embrace the chaos." He also told his teammates that should the government or regulators approach them, they should ignore them and not talk without taking the company's prior permission. He asked them to forget controversies, focus on the market and keep growing bigger. Then came the rape after which Uber was in a state of panic. If you recall, Uber was banned in the capital for a few months and the emails show how the company was fearing that the ban might extend to other cities as well. That whole damage control exercise after the rape is unveiled in the Uber files and they deployed the kill switch. The Uber files are the most authoritative documentation of 13 instances when the kill switch was used. In the case of India, the details in the documents are not as expansive as, say they are in Paris or Brussels, but there is a very telling email. A very senior Uber executive has been recorded telling his staff - it's actually a boast - that "what we've done in New Delhi is to make the local officers or local executives seem to be very cooperative but actually we've shut down the systems.'

On Uber's claims that it is a changed company

Dean Starkman: This is a problematic argument for Uber to make because it wouldn't have achieved this global dominance were it not for the tactics that it used. The question isn't whether there should or shouldn't be ride sharing or hailing. All these are misnomers for taxi service but basically, it's how they achieve this and the degree to which they were able to disrupt and distort local labour markets. Our documents dealt with the 2013 to 2017 period. So, we don't know if this is a reformed company as they say. We'll just have to take their word for it for the time being.

Having said that, the fact is that they disrupted local labour protection as it existed before. So now you're dealing with a market where the price for a taxi ride has been dramatically undercut. Now that's great for consumers but it basically shifts costs and negative externalities onto both Uber drivers and their competitors. It also leaves the local municipalities to clean up after Uber. I think we're still in a place where we're trying to figure out whether Uber drivers and other taxi drivers should be paid a living wage, enjoy normal benefits of other full-time employees, get labour protection, should be insured and whether or not frankly the true cost of a taxi ride is reflected in the Uber fare.

On whistleblower Mark MacGann's ongoing legal dispute with Uber

David Pegg: Mark, when he left Uber in 2017, did so on fairly uncontroversial terms but later became involved in the dispute with the company over money. He said it owes him. What precisely has influenced somebody to come forward and to what extent do they have an axe to grind, and to what extent they're angry at the person that they're providing information about this is not unique to the Uber files but all kinds of investigation. How we balanced that as journalists is that we primarily told the story relying on the data.

On the regulatory problems Uber faced in India

Ritu Sarin: It has been a regulatory mess for them from the time they came in and they've

There were service tax issues again which they were evading. In fact, there are PPTs in the data where they are boasting about the manner of stalling queries. Coming to 2017, it ran into a lot of issues with the tax department, which are still pending. There are cases against Uber before consumer courts and there are around 700 complaints, which have all been bunched up and are being heard by the Central Consumer Protection Authority. There is a Public Interest Litigation (PIL), in the Supreme Court, not only for Uber but for other aggregators as well.

Nitish and Tejashwi are in charge – and under watch. Aggressive BJP and CBI in overdrive can't be alibis for failure HAT THE NEW Nitish Kumar government in Bihar would win the floor test was foretold. But the political test for the renewed JD(U)-RJD Mahagathbandhan begins now. A warning has already been sounded by the CBI raids on RJD leaders ahead of the Wednesday test, ostensibly in connection with a "land for jobs" scam dating back to Lalu Prasad's tenure as Union railway minister in UPA-1. The guilt or innocence of those raided will be proved by due process of law. But the raids' timing underscores the dismal pattern of the use of central agencies to target political opponents. An aggressive BJP, smarting after losing power overnight, and a vindictive Centre, out to settle political scores, however, are not the only challenges for Nitish and the government he leads with his ally-turned-rival-turned-ally Tejashwi Yadav.

To begin with, the JD(U)-RJD coalition will need to find a brand new internal equilibrium, one that includes the arithmetic but also goes beyond it. The political reality has changed since the last time the two parties were in alliance. While the JD(U) has lost ground under a leader who, despite his many achievements in government, looks more and more dependent on Tejashwi, the RJD has looked increasingly sure-footed under a younger leader who, in the last assembly polls, led it to the edge of victory. Tejashwi is also trying to remake his party - a new code of conduct for RJD ministers that gives them dos and don'ts, ranging from don't-buy-a-vehicle-for-personal-use-from-public-money to encouraging them to say "namaste" and "adaab" and discourage feudal gestures like feet-touching, shows the vastness of his task, but he has time on his side. The first point of friction, therefore, will lie in the equation between two leaders who come to the alliance from different vantage points - it will demand patience and wisdom from both, and from the younger man especially. Then there is the BJP, which still lacks a face of its own in Bihar, but which, under Modi, is likely to inflate itself into a "double-engine" Opposition - it will not hesitate to use its control over central resources to fight the state government. At the same time, the Nitish-Tejashwi duo will have to pass the governance test. Bihar has shown improvements in the years of Nitish raj, but it still lags behind other states on economic and social indicators. The heated protests by aspiring teachers and the images of lathi charge on them by the police and an additional district magistrate on Monday show the long haul ahead.

The renewed Bihar Mahagathbandhan, therefore, will have to address unemployment and other issues, while facing a BJP that is looking for a chance, and also dealing with the heightened expectations from them at the level of the national Opposition, where their coming together has sparked off a frisson. As Nitish and his young deputy get going, then, they must know they have no time to lose. They are being watched, and much is at stake. How they perform and deliver beginning today will also decide whether their Mission 2024 is anything more than a pie in the political sky.

Arif Mohammed Khan's outburst against Irfan Habib lowers dignity of his office, dents his own record and reputation

NTUESDAY, TWO days after he described Kannur University Vice-Chancellor and historian Gopinath Ravindran as a "criminal", Kerala Governor Arif Mohammed Khan lashed out at the doyen of the Aligarh School of History, Irfan Habib. He called the nonagenarian scholar of medieval India a "goonda". The immediate provocation for the inelegant outburst seemed to be his disagreements with the VC over university appointments, but Khan was also raking up a three-year-old issue - he was allegedly heckled while inaugurating the Indian History Congress in 2019, in which both academics were present. As Chancellor of Kerala's universities, the governor has had several run-ins with the state's LDF government over university governance. The primacy of due process in the management of institutes is incontrovertible. But the Kerala governor should ask himself: Does his intemperate language behove his high office? By insulting two distinguished academics, Khan has made the Kerala Rai Bhawan a participant in the coarsening of public discourse. Of course, Khan is far from being the first incumbent of a Raj Bhawan to court controversy. Over the decades, the constitutional office of governor has been dented and diminished, mostly by the tug and pull of politics. Red lines drawn by the Supreme Court have been repeatedly transgressed and recommendations by panels such as the Sarkaria and Punchhi Commissions seem to have gone abegging as more and more governors have become embroiled in partisan politics. At the same time, however, examples of gubernatorial high-mindedness, propriety and grace are not far to seek. President Droupadi Murmu's tenure as Jharkhand governor, for instance, was notable for her playing by the book without being discourteous to the JMM-led state government. Arif Mohammed Khan's appointment as Kerala governor had led to expectations of decorum and fair play in the Raj Bhawan's engagements with an Opposition-ruled government. In the 1980s, Khan emerged as a prominent voice of reform and reason. In later years, even though he changed political affiliation - Congress to Janata Dal to BSP, then BJP – Khan's reputation as a thinking politician remained intact. Unfortunately, however, not only has Khan's tenure as Kerala governor belied expectations of injecting sobriety into the Raj Bhawan, he has disappointed with his silences as well – on the remission of the sentences of the 11 convicts in the Bilki Bano case, for instance. The Kerala governor today seems a different person from the young politician who courageously spoke up for women's rights and defied his party line in the Shah Bano case.

SANJIB BARUAH

"THESE ARE DARK times for our nation". This was the deceptive but perhaps unwittingly accurate opening line of the email that former president Donald Trump wrote earlier this month telling the world about the search of his home in Palm Beach, Florida by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. "My beautiful home", he said, "is currently under siege, raided and occupied by a large group of FBI agents. Nothing like this has ever happened to a President of the United States before".

The FBI action was not a "raid"; it was the lawful execution of a search warrant. The search was in connection with a criminal investigation of classified White House documents that Trump apparently took to Florida when he left office. The investigation has been going on for months; the decision to seek a search warrant from a federal magistrate was made only after efforts to get the material using less invasive methods had failed.

Once upon a time, most Americans would have welcomed such a move to enforce the law. It would have been taken as a sign of the health of their democracy, a validation of the American ideal that no one is above the law. But these are not normal times. The news of the "FBI raid" sparked anger among Trump supporters and his allies in the media. The rhetoric of violence escalated in pro-Trump online forums. Republican politicians, including contenders for the party's nomination for president in 2024, quickly rallied around Trump. His reelection prospects shot up.

Trump, a master at shaping media conversations, lost no time to gain the upper hand in shaping the narrative. That the FBI or the Justice Department – under which the FBI operates - does not as a rule discuss ongoing investigations, gave him an opening. Trump, or his lawyer who was present at his home during the search, could have made public the search warrant and the list of items that was seized. This they did not do.

Instead, Trump politicised the search to appeal to his loyal followers who continue to repeat his false claim that he was fraudulently denied re-election. Nowhere in his lengthy email did Trump add the adjective "former"

It is indeed remarkable that nearly two years after Biden won, in the face of all contrary evidence and multiple failed legal attempts to challenge the outcome, many Republicans continue to say that the last presidential election was rigged. Quite a few Trumpbacked candidates have won Republican primaries. They are all election-deniers, that is, they push the debunked claims about electoral fraud, and they consider Biden's victory to be illegitimate.

before president to refer to his present status. By the end of the week, following a Justice Department request, a federal judge unsealed the documents related to the search. Now we know that the warrant was issued because of possible serious violations of the Espionage Act and laws governing official secrets. The seized documents include some categorised as so secret and sensitive because of potential damage to national security, that they were to be viewed only in a secure government facility. Yet, Trump called the FBI search "the weaponisation of the Justice System", and a desperate attempt by Democrats to stop him from running for president. "The establishment", he said conspiratorially, was trying to stop him now because of a string of victories of pro-Trump candidates in Republican primaries, and opinion polls showing that Republicans will make gains in the November mid-term elections, and others showing that Trump would beat Joe Biden in a hypothetical rematch in 2024.

It is indeed remarkable that nearly two years after Biden won, in the face of all contrary evidence and multiple failed legal attempts to challenge the outcome, many Republicans continue to say that the last presidential election was rigged. Quite a few Trump-backed candidates have won Republican primaries. They are all electiondeniers, that is, they push the debunked claims about electoral fraud, and they consider Biden's victory to be illegitimate. The latest and most significant among them is Harriet Hageman, who overwhelmingly defeated Representative Liz Cheney, who became a target of Trump's ire because of her highly visible role as vice chair of the congressional panel investigating the attack on the Capitol on January 6 last year.

The US homeland security bureaucracy uses the terms "violent extremism" or "domestic terrorism" to describe political violence perpetrated by American citizens inside the country. However, the use of these terms for the January 6 events has proved controversial. Many Republican politicians call the violent protesters "peaceful patriots".

Domestic terrorism or violent extremism may be useful terms for policing agencies. But they don't explain the support and sympathy for the insurrectionists among large sections of the people including Republican members of Congress. For that it may be rewarding to turn to a constellation of beliefs, values, and political attitudes that has come to be called "white Christian nationalism". Christian in this usage is an identity category; it is not about faith or church attendance. The "we" in this worldview consists of white, native-born, and culturally Christian Americans.

In their recent book The Flag and the Cross, sociologists Philip Gorski and Samuel Perry suggest that white Christian nationalism is a significant driver of the support for Trump, his rhetoric of resentment, and his authoritarian and anti-democratic impulses. It is no accident that Christian symbolism and icons of American patriotism and of white supremacy were on full display at the January 6 Capitol siege. These apparently contradictory symbols stand in for different facets of white Christian nationalism

The Flag and the Cross provides clues to why the stolen election myth has been so resilient. White Christian nationalists make a distinction between people they view as "real Americans" and those that are not. Since "real Americans" voted for Trump, official results showing that he lost can only be the product of manipulation and fraud. The geography of voting patterns helps reinforce this belief. Detailed maps of poll results suggest that many Republican voters live in communities that are almost entirely Republican. To people who may not know a single person who voted for Biden — and don't trust the institutions of election administration in other jurisdictions - a Biden victory may indeed seem suspicious.

These are dark times for democracy. The last few weeks in American politics raise a deeper question: Can a democracy - even the world's leading one – make itself safe against its voters and the politicians they elect?

WEAK STRONGMEN

Brazil President Bolsonaro holds out threat of not accepting electoral verdict. Populists are often scared by popular will T'S EASY TO forget, given its current ubiquity, what a curious anomaly modern representative democracy really is. Throughout much of human civilisation, the idea that a group that holds office will voluntarily give up their power - on a principle as capricious as one person-one vote — had little currency. After all, it was only after World War I that many of the West's so-called liberal democracies granted the franchise to women. The widespread success and acceptance of democratic politics, then, is indeed commendable. And the unfortunate attempts in many parts of the world to undermine the system are disturbing.

Brazil President Jair Bolsonaro - like Donald Trump, who he seems to have styled himself after - has been described as a "strongman". This "strength" has been manifested in statements against vulnerable groups and minorities, LGBTQ persons, Covid-denial and a general lack of respect for institutions. Now, as the election season in the country heats up, Bolsonaro is following a similar script to populists elsewhere, notably Trump: He is gearing up to deny a popular mandate. The president has recently repeatedly questioned Brazil's election officials and voting machines and said that he will not accept the electoral outcome. Hinting at support from the armed forces, he has told people to "prepare for war" in case the verdict is, in his reckoning, suspect.

"Strongmen", too often, are too feeble to take on challenges to their power. State power is used to target opponents, and when they do not succumb, they are demonised in the name of popular will. The final irony is when even the popular will -expressed through an election - ceases to be popular enough. Hopefully, Bolsonaro's grandstanding, while exposing the strongman's weakness, will not taint Brazil's politics, come election day.

RECENTLY, I WAS trying to make evening plans with a friend who said she couldn't because she had to pick up her daughter from the airport. Just tell her to take an Uber or Ola right outside, I suggested. We have a rule she said, no cabs at night, adding that if she allowed it once it would lead to endless arguments with her teenager, who considers the no-public-transport-post-11 rule frustratingly disruptive to her nightlife. This is a mighty inconvenient arrangement, to be a driver for one's child on weekends I told my friend, to which she replied matter-of-factly: That's life I see this play out everyday in Delhi and Gurgaon. My 19-year-old son and his male friends spend half their lives in Ubers; not only are the girls not allowed cabs, they have to keep the Live 360 App on at all times so anxious parents can track their whereabouts.

That even us city-dwelling and privileged parents are justified in our paranoia was made painfully clear in the last fortnight, when social activist-writer-poet Civic Chandran, 74, accused in two sexual harassment cases, was granted bail in one of them on a ridiculous premise. In a Kerala court, Judge S Krishnakumar ruled the victim's complaint "will not prima facie stand when woman was wearing sexually provocative dress". The other case is not the focus of this article but bears mentioning: Chandran was accused by a Dalit author of groping and trying to kiss her forcibly in April this year. In that case too Judge S Krishnakumar, quoting Chandran's long history of agitating against the caste system, granted him bail: His opinion being Chandran didn't know the woman was Dalit and he couldn't rule out the possibility that the alleged victim was attempting to "tarnish the status of the accused". Critically, in both cases, the orders put the burden of responsibility of sexual harassment squarely on the women.

Being female in India these days is akin to being a character in a Franz Kafka novel. In The Trial a man is arrested and prosecuted by a remote, inaccessible authority with the nature of his crime revealed neither to him, nor the reader. In the year 2022, the process by which a judge so casually arrived at the conclusion that a "sexually provocative" outfit could pardon a man's lusty intent, is chillingly Kafkaesque. Consider, Chandran's legal team produces photographs of the victim from her Facebook account, that, as her lawyer argued. have "no connection with Chandran or the event where the incident happened". Like any 20-something youngster, she's posing with her best friend, to be clear, in perfectly decent attire. Bizarrely, these totally unrelated images became the evidence to establish her "sexually provocative" dress sense - that apparently made the perpetrator so frenzied with sexual need, of course, he couldn't be expected to control his baser impulses.

What do we women make of this terrifying order? Ladies, be wise and delete those Goa images where you had the temerity to wear shorts on the beach; because even the men presiding over courtrooms, ostensibly dedicated to justice, believe women should just dress differently to avoid harassment.

As though this ordeal hasn't been humiliating enough for the victim and insulting to our collective intellects, the bail order expressed disbelief that a man aged 74 and "physically disabled" could have "forcefully put the de facto complainant on his lap and sexually pressed her breast". The last charge lodged against disgraced American comedian Bill Cosby, accused by over 60 women of rape over five decades, was in 2008, when Cosby was approximately 71 years old. A 2019 report from the National Database on Sexual Offenders (NDSO) in India reveals that there are around 37.000 sexual assault cases perpetrated by men over the age of 60. A timely reminder, too, there's nothing so special about old people. They're just people who got old and when they behave badly, they're certainly no more deserving of leniency.

Remember #MeToo? So much for that alltoo-brief spark of hope, that so brightly promised to change how we perceive violence against women. Right now it feels like the movement never happened, we're back to the same old exhausting conversations questioning a woman's role in her own assault. Will this ever end? I doubt it. Perhaps, there's something to learn from the government's highly successful campaign for Independence Day, #HarGharTiranga. Every woman, girl child, grandmother, transwoman, all of whom have faced sexually derisive comments at some stage of their lives should stubbornly wear "sexually provocative" clothes on their display pictures. Hashtag: No, we're not asking for it.

The Supreme Court played a key role in ensuring accountability for the crimes of Gujarat 2002. Bilkis Bano case introduces a question mark in that story

THE REMISSION OF the life sentences of the 11 convicts in the Bilkis Bano case comes as a powerful reminder of a key dimension of the post-2002 Gujarat violence scenario the guilty men and women went to jail only because of the then Supreme Court.

Bilkis, who was five months pregnant when she was gang raped by neighbours on March 3, 2002, after witnessing the murder of 15 members of her family including her three-year-old daughter, had tried to lodge a complaint the following day for rape and murder. While recording her complaint, the police only mentioned seven of the deaths, claiming that the bodies of the other people could not be found, and refused to record her complaint for rape. The case was closed in January 2003 for lack of evidence.

Bilkis, with the support of several NGOs, including Janvikas and the National Human Rights Commission, petitioned the Supreme Court (SC), which ordered the government of Gujarat to reopen the case in September 2003. The police then began a campaign of moral harassment, even waking her in the middle of the night to re-turn to the location of the rape and murders to re-enact the events. In December 2003, the SC directed the CBI to reopen the case. It finally arrested 12 people for rape and murder and six police officers for ob-struction of justice. Facing threats, Bilkis sought the transfer of the case in July, to which the SC agreed and a public prosecutor was appointed by the Centre in August 2004. Eventually, the case was tried in Mumbai and in 2008, 13 of the 20 accused were convicted, with 11 of them being given life sentences

The SC did not stop there. The Best Bakery Case, named for a bakery in Vadodara where 14 people were burnt alive on March 1, 2002, had persuaded the apex court that, in this case too, victims would not get justice in Gujarat. On April 12, 2004, invalidating the High Court decision, the Court ordered a retrial outside Gujarat and took the government, police and High Court of Gujarat to task: "When the investigating agency helps the accused, the witnesses are threatened to depose falsely and the prosecutor acts in a manner as if he was defending the accused, while the Court was acting merely as an onlooker, there is no fair trial at all and justice becomes the victim..."

A retrial was held in Mumbai starting in Ctober 2004. In February 2006, based on

Ode and Godhra.

However, the SIT refused to make use of recordings of the telephone conversations that took place during the riots between police officers, senior civil servants and Sangh Parivar leaders. Secondly, it left the vast majority of the accused out on bail and made no systematic effort to protect the witnesses who, subjected to alleged intimidation, turned hostile in large numbers.

The SC called the SIT to order and attempted to put the investigation back on track. A few trials could finally take place. The first one concerned the burning of the Sabarmati Express in Godhra: 31 accused were found guilty and 11 of them – a record were sentenced to death, while 20 others to life imprisonment. The second trial concerned the Sardarpura case, in which a special court sentenced 31 persons to life imprisonment, and acquitted 42 others in 2011. In the two Ode cases, in 2012, 27 of the accused were found guilty of murder and criminal conspiracy and sentenced to life imprisonment. In the Naroda Patiya case, in 2012, a special trial court acquitted 29 people and convicted 32 others of murder, criminal conspiracy and rape. And 22 were sentenced to a minimum of 14 years of imprisonment, seven to a minimum of 21 years; Maya Kodnani – a former member of the first Modi government in Gujarat - to 28 years (including 18 years under the charge of murder) and Babu Bajrangi – a

Incident of an unmanned armed boat reaching Maharashtra coast shows that few lessons have been learnt from terror attacks

D SIVANANDHAN

THE ENTIRE RANK and file of the Mumbai police, Maharashtra police, central agencies, Indian navy, and the Coast Guard went into a tizzy last week when an unmanned yacht reached the shores of Harihareshwar in Raigad district of Maharashtra. Local fishermen saw the boat and immediately informed the police. A day later, the Mumbai Traffic Police's WhatsApp helpline number received messages warning that a "26/11-like terror attack" will soon be executed in Mumbai. The messages also claimed that there was a plan to blow up the city.

When a team of police officials reached Harihareshwar and checked the 16-metreyacht, they found a cache of arms which included three deadly AK-47 assault rifles, some small arms, live ammunition, and some papers. Immediately, Maharashtra and other states were put on the highest alert, as the ghost of the audacious 26/11 terror attacks in Mumbai raised its ugly head.

As per the statement given by Maharashtra's Deputy Chief Minister (DCM) Devendra Fadnavis, who also is the home minister, in the state assembly, the boat is called Lady Han and belongs to an Australian woman Hana Laundergun. She and her husband, James Hobert, who is a captain, were going to Muscat from Europe, when the boat's engine got damaged in the middle of the ocean and they gave a call for help. A South Korean warship rescued the couple but since their boat was a small one, it could not be rescued in the rough weather.

According to a statement given by the Coast Guard, the yacht had made a distress call on June 26, it had a UK flag, and four sailors were rescued from the ocean.

Investigating the terror warnings received on WhatsApp, the Mumbai Police and ATS immediately started their investigations and reportedly detained a person from Virar. An initial probe revealed that the number from which the messages were sent had the country code of Pakistan. The Maharashtra ATS has been given the charge of investigating the matter. The police and authorities heaved a combined sigh of relief when initial investigations indicated that prima facie there was no terror angle to the incident and that the WhatsApp messages seemed to be fake. The question is: How did an unmanned and armed boat reach the shores of Maharashtra?

Hemant Karkare, Additional Commissioner of Police Ashok Kamte, and Inspector Vijay Salaskar were martyred while fighting the terrorists. Mohammad Ajmal Kasab was caught alive thanks to the valiant effort by a martyred and brave constable from Mumbai Police – Tukaram Omble.

These terror attacks had left all our state and central agencies embarrassed. A special committee --- the Ram Pradhan Committee - was formed to investigate what went wrong before and during the attacks. The committee in its report mentioned that there was a clear lack of coordination between state and central intelligence and investigation agencies, including the defence forces.

Based on the recommendations of the Committee, it was decided that heads of all state and central agencies, including the defence agencies, will meet at least once in six months to ensure that there is proper and seamless flow of information and intelligence between agencies. However, it is shocking and pitiful that in the past 13 years, this meeting has happened only once, in 2009.

After the 26/11 attacks, the Maharashtra state government along with the central government had taken several important measures to ensure that a similar attack doesn't take place ever again. The coastal police was set up to man the 770-kilometre Maharashtra coastline. In Mumbai, coastal police stations have been established. Amphibian vehicles costing crores of rupees were purchased. But these vehicles today are no longer functional due to lack of proper maintenance.

According to initial information, the unmanned yacht that found its way to Maharashtra was abandoned in the Gulf of Oman on June 26. This means that this unmanned and armed vessel had been adrift for 53 days and travelled roughly 900 nautical miles (approximately 1,500 kilometres) crossing the international waters, entered the Indian waters, dodged the Indian Navy's surveillance, managed to escape being stopped by the Indian Coast Guard and slipped through Maharashtra's Coastal Police dragnet and reached the Harihareshwar shore.

This is exactly how Kasab and his team had entered Mumbai, by first travelling in a ship provided by the ISI from Pakistan to international waters. They then hijacked an Indian fishing trawler named - Kuber, killed its crew and abducted the owner. They entered the Indian waters in the Kuber, and hoodwinked the Indian navy and Coast Guard's surveillance. As they reached the sea near Mumbai, they killed the owner and abandoned the boat and hopped onto two inflated rubber boats, attached with Yamaha engines, and sailed towards the shore undetected.

One can only shudder thinking about what could have happened if the vacht had been a manned and armed boat. It is now guite clear that, unfortunately, no lessons have been learnt from the astounding failures of 26/11.

incriminating evidence gathered by the CBI (which was finally charged with the investigation), nine of the 17 accused were given life sentences

At the same time, the SC considered that 1,594 cases should be reopened. Over 600 accused were thus arrested. This action, however, did not take the judicial process very far due to the obstructionist practices of the Gujarat government. Therefore, in March 2008, the Supreme Court appointed a Special Investigation Team whose terms of reference, outlined by the court in May 2009, restored the victims' hopes, even though this new body was called on to concentrate on only a half-dozen cases, which amounted to admitting that full justice was impossible: Naroda Patiya, Naroda Gam, Gulbarg Society, Sardarpura, Dipda Darwaja, Sabarkantha, Things changed a few months later, not only because the Government of India changed, but because the Supreme Court's approach appeared to have changed too. Many people who had been sentenced to heavy penalties – including Kodnani and Bajrangi – were liberated, like the 11 convicts of the Bilkis Bano case. The Supreme Court, which is not seen to oppose the government anymore, kept all these balls in its court.

PARTY IN DECLINE

THIS REFERS TO the editorial, 'Outsourcing Politics' (IE, August 24). The Congress Party's Bharat Jodo Yatra is the same jaded refrain from an organisation that seems to be completely bereft of ideas. The support of civil society organisations for this yatra, with the other political parties meaningfully mum, indicates the forlornness of the grand old party. Sadly, despite an organisational structure which extends throughout the length and breadth of the country, Congress is rapidly paling into insignificance. Its leadership, if any for that matter, has to be seen and heard on the ground. Piggy-backing on civil society's back isn't going to take the Congress too far.

THIS REFERS TO the editorial, 'Outsourcing politics' (IE, August 24). The Bharat Jodo Yatra of the Congress Party is aimed at restoring its evidently waning popularity. However, its approach to ensure this end is not so reassuring. This collaboration with civil society lacks diverse streams of thought and may come in the way of making it a mass movement. Further, a campaign covering 3,570 kms from Kanyakumari to Kashmir and spanning 14 states and Union territories requires popular leaders at the state level and a strong party cadre throughout to mobilise people. The party is woefully weak in this regard. If the idea is to re-energise the followers, the thrust of the campaign should have been different

THIS REFERS TO the article, 'Exploiters like us' (IE, August 24). The woman who humiliated the guard is a representation of the mentality pervading Indian society. People from regions like Bihar, a state with a labour export tradition, bear the brunt of this discrimination. Neither Tyagi, who has the backing of the ruling party nor Roy should be tolerated. Education cannot cure casteism and class bias. This is not what we should aspire to. We need to ensure that the future of India is not centered around ideas of "aukat".

IAM CONFUSED by two important issues facing us. One, flying the Indian flag on the 75th year of Independence, and two, the little work being done by elected MPs in Parliament. Both relate to freedom of individual expression in a thriving democracy. The first issue arises when some say that they will not fly the national flag. They feel that they are always patriotic and it is not necessary to show it for a few days this time. I respect their freedom of choice. It's not at all compulsory to wave the flag as the Prime Minister had merely requested people to do so for "har ghar tiranga", at least on Independence Day. But, if we were to take the rationale further, then there is no need to celebrate a special occasion, through acts like the singing of the national anthems of the two countries before a cricket match or the Olympic committee playing the national anthem of the country that wins a gold medal. This is a mark of respect for a special occasion and we should honour it. There is no question of freedom of choice here. By the way, I stand in cinema halls when the national anthem is sung before a film. And I don't think it should be played before a source of entertainment like a film, but stand I will.

This raises a philosophical question: Should I exercise my freedom of choice and not stand? Should I not respect my flag and anthem? This results in a sense of confusion in me. Which one outweighs the other mental freedom or the sentiment of showing respect? Obviously, the latter wins for me. Leon Festinger's dissonance theory clearly states that the mind finally compels a consonance by forcing one to take either option. For example, some continue to smoke despite all the research showing that it leads to cancer. The smoker's mind brings about consonance by quoting those who did not get cancer, despite smoking all their lives. There are many such examples. The many who don't or have given up smoking are appalled by those who continue to smoke. This brings me back to my question of being against those who feel that they are patriotic even if they don't show it by waving a flag or standing for our anthem.

For most, it's a lack of respect and, equally important, going against a request of the Prime Minister (whoever it may be). I am not a member of any political party, but I feel that for special occasions like the 75th year of Independence or an emergency like a war, the nation should come together. We need to do it openly and not privately. Freedom of choice should take a backseat and be used for different occasions. I was born in the year of our Independence and I feel that we must honour those who gave their lives for our Independence and the armed forces who continue to ensure that we are free. Just a gesture was needed. Refusing to offer to even do that is a reflection that one disregards emotion merely to prove a point.

To hoist the flag or not to

... should not be the question. This is about respect, not freedom of expression

The second and perhaps more important issue is that there seems to be no work taking place in Parliament. The Opposition parties feel that the ruling party is bulldozing itself into our lives. The Opposition must realise that they are in a minority in Parliament and must plan for the future in the hope that they will finally gain a majority in the coming elections. They do not realise that by walking out and opposing for the sake of it, they are actually harming whatever chances they have in 2024.

They must stay in Parliament and state their position clearly, even if they are overruled. The ruling party, on the other hand, must also communicate in unambiguous terms the rationale behind their position. They must control the narration and let the Opposition react. They must expect them to cherry-pick what they wish to highlight as the failings of the BJP and the BJP must show what they have achieved. The people don't expect the elected MPs to take to the streets and hold placards in Parliament. This should be left to political workers outside the House. Those who are inside, on the other hand, should use the Parliament to state their parties' views. Perhaps no work, no pay should be made a rule. Parliament is for healthy debate, not for unruly behaviour, which results in nothing really happening.

Freedom of expression comes with responsibilities. The people live in an ever-evolving society and it continues to reflect what it thinks. The flag issue and the behaviour of all MPs must not be treated as vet another freedom of expression issue. It's finally in our hands as to how we showcase freedom in India and ultimately for ourselves. In many ways, both can have a far-reaching impact and we must pause to think of where we wish India to go and what we wish it to become. Till then, this will always remain a fragile issue.

President says Ukraine is reborn six months into the war

AIR RAID sirens blared in the capital, but strikes did not land. A recorded concert played in a bomb shelter. And at a goldendomed monastery, a solemn ceremony honoured soldiers and prayed for their victory.

Ukrainians marked their Independence Day — and the sixmonth mark since the start of Russia's invasion — with quiet re-solve on Wednesday, as a feared escalation of attacks by Moscow did not materialise, and President Volodymyr Zelenskyy pledged to prevail in the war.

In a defiant, slickly produced speech standing before burned and destroyed Russian tanks on a central avenue of Kyiv - prerecorded for security reasons – Zelenskyy said Ukraine was a nation "reborn" in conflict with a renewed sense of cultural and political identity and one that has united democracies.

The latest find as water levels fall: dinosaur tracks in Texas. Severe drought conditions at Dinosaur Valley State Park, about 60 miles southwest of Fort Worth. exposed dinosaur tracks from around 113 million years ago that were previously hidden under-to Stephanie Garcia, a spokeswoman for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The tracks belong to Acrocanthosaurus.

neath the Paluxy River, according which are theropods, or bipedal dinosaurs with three toes and claws on each limb.

The dinosaur would have stood 15 feet tall and weighed close to seven tons as an adult. They would have left their tracks in sediment that hardened into what is now limestone, researchers say. "Due to the excessive drought conditions this past summer, the river dried up completely in most locations, allowing for more tracks to be uncovered here in the park," Garcia

Severe drought conditions at Dinosaur Valley State Park exposed dinosaur tracks underneath the Paluxy River. NYT said. "Under normal river conditions, these newer tracks are under water and are commonly filled in with sediment, making them buried and not as visible.'

The tracks are likely to be buried again by rain this week. But the finding – even if for a brief moment - excited researchers and the public.

"Tracks being buried under layers of sediment do help protect them from natural weathering and erosion," Garcia said.

Other tracks at Dinosaur Valley State Park belong to a sauropod, or long-necked, smalldinosaur, called headed Sauroposeidon proteles. This species would have stood 60 ft tall and weighed 44 tons as an adult.

Louis Jacobs, a vertebrate paleontologist and an emeritus professor of earth sciences at Southern Methodist University, saw the tracks on Saturday. He said these uncovered tracks joined trackways that were already known, and they now add up to about 150 dinosaur steps.

"Those footprints – they're spectacular because they're deep," he said. "You can see the toenails. There's more than one kind, and there's a lot of them."

Jacobs said the prints signaled there might be more that remained undiscovered. As the river erodes, it will expose more but also erase some others.

Dinosaur tracks collected from the Paluxy River in 1938 are on display at the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. Similar tracks have been found in British Columbia and South America, said James Farlow, a vertebrae paleontologist and adjunct biology professor at Purdue University Fort Wayne.

The footprints occur on a sedimentary rock unit called the Glen Rose Formation, which is mostly limestone, deposited about 105 to 110 million years ago, Farlow said. "Texas is blessed with a lot of good fossil occurrences," Farlow said, "not only of dinosaur footprints but also of dinosaur skeletons as well."

Dogs get teary eyed when reunited with owners: study

PAPER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI. AUGUST 24

A WAGGING tail, soft and relaxed eyes, slurpy licks, and a body wiggle to show the belly may be some telltale signs of a happy dog. But now new research, published in the journal Current Biology, suggests that dogs can also cry happy tears when they meet their owners.

"Tear volume (in dogs) increased significantly during reunion with the owner, but not with a familiar non-owner," the researchers said. The research team used the SchirmerTearTest(STT), which reveals the amount of waterv tear production in each eye, to arrive at their results.

First tear volume of 18 dogs was measured using the STT in their normal home environment with the owner. The same test was conducted on dogs within the first five minutes of their owners after a separation of five to seven hours. Tear volume for reunion with familiar non-owners was also measured. in the dogs' day care centres, dogs secreted larger tear volumes during reunions with

However, it is not yet known if dogs produce tears when they experience negative emotions. Further, the team also did not look at whether NEW RESEARCH dogs make tears when they get

Joint US-South Korea military drills with eye on North Korea, the biggest exercise of its kind in years

NEHA BANKA

ON MONDAY, South Korea and the United States began their biggest joint military drills since 2017, a tri-service exercise involving thousands of troops and live-fire exercises. Separately, Korea began four days of civil defence drills designed to boost government readiness. The twin exercises were "aimed at improving the country's preparedness to match changing patterns of war, with evolving cyber threats against key facilities such as chip factories and supply chains", a Reuters report quoted South

Korea's President Yoon Suk-yeol as saying. ANNUAL EXERCISE: The drills, called the Ulchi Freedom Shield, are an annual military exercise that the two allies have held for many years to prepare for a possible conflict with North Korea, and were earlier referred to by the names Ulchi Freedom Guardian and Ulchi Focus Lens. Ulchi is a reference to the legendary Korean general Eulji Mundeok, who lived in the sixth-seventh centuries.

different approach, and has vowed to "normalise" these joint exercises. Yoon had criticised Moon's efforts to engage with North Korea, and had accused him of being "submissive". He has backed the drills, which will continue through September 1, as necessary to face real scenarios. NON-CONVENTIONAL ATTACK: Are-port in The Korea Times said the drills will include a rehearsal of "scenarios such as responding to North Korea's attacks on key industrial facilities including an airport, a semiconductor factory or a nuclear power plant....The training script reflects many of the actual combat situations being experienced in Ukraine, which has been defending its territory against Russia..."

THREAT FROM PYONGYANG: After eight missile tests in 2021 and only four in 2020, North Korea has fired an unprecedented number of missiles this year. The latest launch, on August 17, was the 18th test of 2022, in the course of which more than 30 missiles have been fired, including a suspected intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) on May 25. And the country is preparing to conduct its seventh nuclear test later this year, a DW report said, quoting US and South Korean officials. The last test was conducted in September 2017.

The PMLA verdict review

SIMPLY PUT QUESTION & ANSWER

The Supreme Court will take up a review of its July 27 judgment upholding the law in an unusual open-court hearing today. What did the verdict say, and on what grounds have the petitioners sought a review?

APURVA VISHWANATH NEW DELHI, AUGUST 24

ON THURSDAY, the Supreme Court will hear in open court a review of its judgment upholding key provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2002. A three-judge Bench comprising Justices A M Khanwilkar (who has since retired), Dinesh Maheshwari, and CT Ravikumar had ruled on a batch of over 240 petitions challenging the special law against money laundering.

What was the ruling?

In Vijay Madanlal Choudhary & Ors v Union of India, a judgment delivered on July 27, the Supreme Court upheld the key provisions of the PMLA. In the 540-page ruling, the SC accepted the government's arguments on virtually every aspect that was challenged by the petitioners: from reversing the presumption of innocence while granting bail to passing the amendments as a Money Bill under the Finance Act to defining the contours of the powers of the Enforcement Directorate (ED).

How is a judgment reviewed?

A ruling by the Supreme Court is final and binding. However, Article 137 of the Constitution grants the SC the power to review its judgments or orders. A review petition must be filed within 30 days of pronouncement of the judgment. Except in cases of death penalty, review petitions are heard through "circulation" by judges in their chambers, and not in an open court. Lawyers make their case through written submissions and not oral arguments. The judges who passed the verdict decide on the review petition as well.

The SC rarely entertains reviews of its rulings. A review is allowed on narrow grounds to correct grave errors that have resulted in a miscarriage of justice. "A mistake apparent on the face of record" is one of the grounds on which a case for review is made. This mistake. the court has said, must be glaring and obvious - such as relying on case law that is invalid.

Why is the PMLA verdict under review?

Congress MP Karti Chidambaram, one of the petitioners who challenged the PMLA. sought a review of the verdict. The key grounds on which review is sought are: Amendments introduced as Money

Karti Chidambaram (left) is the petitioner in the case; Shiv Sena MP Sanjay Raut has been accused of offences under the PMLA. Express Archive

Bills: In 2015, 2016, 2018, and 2019, amendments including on bail and classification of predicate offences were made to the PMLA through the Finance Act. The petitioners argued that the PMLA amendments do not qualify as a Money Bill as defined under Article 110 of the Constitution.

While the Court agreed that this could be a valid contention, it did not decide on the issue since the question of what qualifies as a Money Bill has been referred to a larger seven-judge Bench in another case. The seven-judge Bench - which is yet to be constituted – is supposed to decide the contours of a Money Bill, and whether amendments to service conditions of Tribunal members and passing of the Aadhaar Act could have been made through the Money Bill route.

The review petition argues that the court could not have upheld the PMLA Act without deciding this crucial question or deferring the challenge till the larger Bench settles the debate.

Interpretation of Section 3 of the PMLA: Section 3 of the law defines the offence of money laundering in terms of who is punishable. It states: "Whosoever directly or indirectly attempts to indulge or knowingly assists or knowingly is a party or is actually involved in any process or activity connected with the proceeds of crime and projecting it as untainted property shall be guilty of offence of money-laundering.'

The SC in its verdict, accepted the government's submission that a drafting error had crept in, and said that the expression "and" should be read as "or" in Section 3. This reading would mean that projecting the property as untainted property would not be an added condition to concealment, possession, acquisition and use of such property. If the expression "and" is to be read as "or", then projecting the property as an untainted property could be a separate criterion.

The petitioners seeking a review argue that this interpretation would expand the scope of the provision.

Retrospective application of the offence of money laundering: The PMLA is an offence to punish money laundering with an intent that a person must not be allowed to take benefit of the offence he commits. The Act limits itself to "proceeds of crime" which is property that is derived out of a scheduled offence committed earlier by the accused. A scheduled offence is an offence specifically listed in a Schedule attached to the PMLA. However, several offences have been added to the Schedule since the PMLA was enacted in 2005. The key to defining what is money laundering is determining if that property is derived from a "scheduled offence".

In its ruling, the SC said the offence of money laundering, i.e., enjoying the "proceeds of crime", is a "continuous one", and can be acted upon independent of when the scheduled offence was committed. This means holding property that is derived from an offence which may not have been a scheduled offence at the time of commission of the offence, will also be defined as money laundering.

The petitioners seeking review have argued that this is a retrospective reading of the law, and violates the fundamental right under Article 20(1) of the Constitution that guarantees that "no person shall be convicted of any offence except for violation of the law in force at the time of the commission of the act charged as an offence, nor be subjected to a penalty greater than that which might have been inflicted under the law in force at the time of the commission of the offence.'

Enforcement Directorate distinct from "police": The SC verdict upheld Section 50 of PMLA that empowers ED officials to record statements on oath from any person. This is admissible in court, unlike statements or confessions made to the police. The verdict held that officers of the ED are not "police officers", and 'investigations' were "inguiries". In line with this reading, the SC also said that the ED need not supply a copy of the Enforcement Case Information Report (ECIR) with an arrested person.

The petitioners have argued that SC has not taken into account certain obvious provisions which give penal powers to the ED while making this determination.

Bail provisions: The SC verdict, citing a compelling interest in imposing stringent bail conditions for economic offences, upheld the bail provisions under PMLA that impose a reverse burden of proof on the accused.

The petitioners have argued that "in the absence of an FIR (or equivalent), Complaint (charge sheet), case diary (not maintained), and documents relied upon by the prosecution, no accused can present facts and submissions to persuade the Special Court to believe that he is not guilty of such offence".

Tomato flu, and enterovirus behind outbreak

ANONNA DUTT NEW DELHI, AUGUST 24

ease (HFMD) caused by enteroviruses – at the Institute of Liver and Biliary Sciences in New Delhi, said that HFMD, though not very common, is reported from time to time across the country. According to Dr Asawathyraj S of the Institute of Advanced Virology in Thiruvananthapuram, who characterised the virus from Kerala and has been studying the infection, the current HFMD cases are mainly caused by the enteroviruses Coxsackievirus A-6 and A-16. Another pathogen, Enterovirus71, which too causes the disease, is not very prevalent now, she said. This is good - because the pathogen is known to lead to severe neurological symptoms, including fatal encephalitis (brain inflammation).

"There are so many viral infections in chil- are more deep rooted and the distribution is viruses that are transmitted through the in- dren, but we cannot — and there is no need also different." Dr Gupta said: "HFMD can be testine. Dr Ekta Gupta, professor of virology to – test for each and every one. However, diagnosed by observing the symptoms, eswe are now seeing more and more viral infections because testing for viral infections has increased over the last five years with virology labs being set up across the country. The pandemic has given a further push to such surveillance," Dr Gupta said.

toms could be of a hand, foot, and mouth dis-self-limiting, doctors do not usually test for it. Dr Asawathyraj said: "The monkeypox rashes pecially the red rashes." Surveillance is not needed at the level of individuals, she said.

The drills had been scaled back significantly because of the Covid-19 pandemic, and because President Yoon's predecessor, President Moon Jae-in, had put his faith in the so-called "Sunshine Policy" towards Pyongyang, officially "The Reconciliation and Cooperation Policy Towards the North". Also, former US President Donald Trump thought the drills were too expensive and too provocative.

Before the joint drills, North Korea rejected the South's proposal that Pyongyang give up its nuclear capabilities in phases, in return for economic benefits.

WITH CASES of tomato flu reported from at least four states – Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Harvana, Odisha – the Health Ministry on Tuesday issued guidelines on prevention, testing, and treatment. The infection has been intermittently reported from Kerala earlier.

A correspondence published online in the The Lancet Respiratory Medicine on August 17 said that while tomato flu "could be an after-effect of chikungunya or dengue fever in children", it could also be "a new variant of the viral hand, foot, and mouth disease, a common infectious disease targeting mostly children aged 1-5 years and immunocompromised adults".

A type of HFMD

Tomato flu or tomato fever is characterised by fever, joint pain, and red, 'tomatolike' rashes, and is usually seen in children of ages five or younger. They also present other symptoms of viral fevers such as diarrhoea, dehydration, nausea and vomiting, and fatigue.

Researchers now believe these symp-

Why it is spreading

Dr Gupta said, "Perhaps there is more attention on the infection because more cases are being reported this year - this could either be because there actually are more cases or because we are more vigilant about viral infections and testing after Covid-19."

She explained that since the disease is Another explanation for the infection picking up now could be that schools have re-opened fully after the pandemic, Dr Asawathyraj said.

Clinical presentation

"In almost all cases, say 99.9% cases, the disease is self-limiting. But, in a small number of cases it can lead to CNS (central nervous system) complications," Dr Asawathyraj said. Also, she said, the disease in this outbreak has some atypical presentations: the red 'tomato' rashes, traditionally restricted to the mouth (tongue, gums, and inside of the cheek), palms, and soles, are now being reported on the buttocks, and there is a shedding of nails.

The rashes can be distinguished from the rashes of monkeypox by a visual inspection,

Treatment and prevention

No specific treatment or vaccine is available for the disease. Those with the infection are treated symptomatically, such as prescription of paracetamol for fever. As the disease happens mainly in children, the Centre's advisory to states on Tuesday focused on prevention in this age group.

As per the advisory, anyone suspected to have the infection should remain in isolation for five to seven days after the onset of the symptoms. Children must be educated about the infection, and asked not to hug or touch other children with fever or rashes. They should be encouraged to maintain hygiene, not suck their thumb or fingers, and use a handkerchief for a running nose.

If a child develops symptoms, they should be isolated, their utensils, clothing, and bedding must be regularly sanitised, they must be kept hydrated, and the blisters must be cleaned using warm water, according to the advisory.

Roots and meaning of mandala art, now on display in a park in Liverpool

VANDANA KALRA

NEW DELHI, AUGUST 24

A SPECTACULAR 'Mandala' art installation, bigger than the size of a football field, currently covers a public park in Liverpool in the United Kingdom. Unveiled on August 12, the piece of land art called The Knowsley Mandala is made of natural elements, and is expected to last a month after which it will slowly fade away.

The artist behind the creation at Halewood Park Triangle is Yorkshire-based James Brunt, who is known for using natural materials found in forests, parks, and on beaches to create elaborate artworks that he photographs to document before they wither.

The art form

Mandala patterns are motifs that are centuries old, and are used to depict the cosmos. They have been adapted by artists the world over, each of whom has added their own interpretation to these designs.

Literally meaning the "circle" or the "centre" in Sanskrit, mandala is defined by a geometric configuration that usually incorporates the circular shape in some form. While it can also be created in the shape of a square, a mandala pattern is essentially interconnected.

Mandala is rooted in Hinduism and Buddhism. Mandala imagery first appeared in the Vedas (c. 1500-500 BC), and Buddhist missionaries travelling along the Silk Road are believed to have taken it to regions outside India. By the sixth century, mandalas were recorded in China, Korea, Japan, Indonesia and Tibet. Separately, native American peoples are believed to have used the mandala as representation of a deity or the cosmos, and as a spiritual form.

Its meaning

It is believed that by entering the mandala and moving towards its centre, one experiences a cosmic process of transforming the universe and that of moving from emotions of suffering to the feeling of joy.

In Hindu philosophical systems, a mandala or yantra is usually in the shape of a square with a circle at its centre.

A traditional Buddhist mandala is a circular painting that is meant to help its creator discover their true self.

There are various elements incorporated within the mandala, each of which has its own meaning. For instance, the eight spokes of the wheel (the Dharmachakra) represent the eight-fold path of Buddhism that brings liberation from the cycle of birth and death. The lotus flower depicts balance, and the sun represents the universe. Facing up, triangles represent action and energy, and facing down, they represent creativity and knowledge.

Mandala in modern Indian art

Deep-rooted in ancient philosophy, the mandala has attained varied forms in the hands of modern and contemporary

While it continues to appear in Buddhist Thangka paintings, it has a central place in the works of even mainstream artists associated with tantric and neo-tantric spiritual movements.

Choosing to transition from the more figurative depictions of the previous generations of Indian artists, Sohan Qadri and Prafulla Mohanty, in the 1960s, gained widespread recognition for their works that were imbibed with tantric symbolism such as mandalas, which are also used in rituals of tantric initiation.

While in some of his works Qadri represented the pictorial symmetry of the mandala, in others he arguably merged the concept with a symbolic representation of Kundalini, the divine energy believed to be located at the base of the spine. Playing with the symmetrical patterns, Biren De often painted light petals that merged to create circular forms in his interpretations of the mandala.

G R Santosh often brought together aspects from mandala and geometric forms ### to create human figures.

And the Bindu became the central theme in the works of S H Raza, who brought it global acclaim as the source of energy and life.

Mandala in therapy

As part of art therapy, participants are encouraged to create and colour mandalas. Studies have also been conducted to understand if mandalas can help reduce stress. Swiss psychiatrist and psychoanalyst Carl Jung explored the psychological effects of mandalas and introduced it in psychotherapy. He saw the mandala as an expression of one's innermost self, and asked his patients to draw and describe circular drawings. In the autobiographical book Memories, Dreams, Reflections, he stated:

"I sketched every morning in a notebook a small circular drawing, a mandala, which seemed to correspond to my inner situation at the time... Only gradually did I discover what the mandala really is.... the Self, the wholeness of the personality, which if all goes well, is harmonious."

Whistleblower complaint: House panel summons Twitter executives

ENSECONOMIC BUREAU NEW DELHI, AUGUST 24

THE PARLIAMENTARY Standing Committee on Information Technology, headed by Congress MP Shashi Tharoor, has summoned executives of social media platform Twitter for a hearing, a day after a former executive of the platform alleged that the Indian government had "forced" Twitter to hire individuals who were "government agents" and had unsupervised access to vast amounts of the platform's user data.

While the agenda of the hearing says that Twitter officials will be heard on the subject of "Citizens' Data Security and Privacy", sources within the panel said that Opposition members of Parliament will grill them on the allegations made by Twitter whistleblower Peiter 'Mudge' Zatko, former head of global security at the company. In a complaint filed with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, Zatko claimed that Twitter "knowingly" permitted an "Indian government agent direct unsupervised access to the company's systems and user data". "The company did not in fact disclose to users that it was believed by the executive team that the Indian government had succeeded in placing agents on the company payroll," it read.

Zatko also said that in nations where Twitter was needed to have a physical presence and full time employees, "the threat of harm to Twitter employees was sufficient to cause Twitter to seriously consider complying with foreign government requests that Twitter would general elections. "It will not be made representations for grandone-go because none of the state governments have notified the rules, all of them have it in draft form. All are waiting and watching ... before the elections, the government may like the Wage Code and Social Security Code to be implemented because gig employees are taken care of, universal social security would be there, minimum wage would be there. Electorates are not worried about hire-and-fire. trade unions are worried about that. So for election purposes, it is imperative to pass Wage Code and Social Security Code instantly," labour economist and professor at XLRI - Xavier School of Management Jamshedpur, K R Shyam Sundar said. ### CORAL DAVENPORT& LISA FRIEDMAN WASHINGTON, AUGUST 24

CALIFORNIA IS expected to put into effect on Thursday its sweeping plan to prohibit the sale of new gasoline-powered cars by 2035, a groundbreaking move that could have major effects on the effort to fight climate change and accelerate a global transition toward electric vehicles.

"This is huge," said Margo Oge, an electric vehicles expert who headed the Environmental Protection Agency's transportation emissions program under Presidents Bill Clinton, George W. Bush and Barack Obama. "California will now be the only government in the world that mandates zero-emission vehicles. It is unique." The rule, issued by the California Air Resources Board, will require that 100 per cent of all new cars sold in the state by 2035 be free of the fossil fuel emissions chiefly responsible for warming the planet, up from 12 per cent today. It sets interim targets requiring that 35 per cent of new passenger vehicles sold in the state by 2026 produce zero emissions. That would climb to 68 per cent by 2030. The restrictions are important because not only is California

THE RESERVE Bank of India (RBI) on Wednesday lifted the restrictions on American Express Banking Corp (AmEx), allowing it to restart onboarding of new domestic customers on its card network. The central bank had put the curbs on American Express in May 2021 for not complying with a circular it had issued on storage of payments data in 2018. The RBI had in June lifted similar restrictions on Mastercard after 11 months.

"In view of the satisfactory compliance demonstrated by American Express Banking Corp ... the restrictions imposed, vide order dated April 23, 2021, on onboarding of new domestic customers have been lifted with immediate effect," the central bank said in a notification.

Duleep Trophy: Rahane to lead West Zone

DEVENDRA PANDEY MUMBAI, AUGUST 24

series against New Zealand A.

The zonal selection committee, chaired by former India pacer Salil Ankola, has included Shreyas Iyer and Shardul Thakur in the starstudded West Zone squad for Duleep Trophy.

Nine players from Mumbai have been picked in the West Zone team. Mumbai had reached the finals of Ranji Trophy, where they lost to Madhya Pradesh.

Rahane will be playing his first competitive game since his hamstring injury he sustained in the IPL for Kolkata Knight Riders. The veteran batsman will need some big runs to push his case for the Indian Test team.

It is learnt that Iyer won't be part of India A team which will play New Zealand A in Bangalore next month. Iyer has been kept on stand bye for the Indian team in Asia Cup.

The zonal selection committee picked Mumbai's top order batsmen Prithvi Shaw, Yashasvi Jaiswal, Shams Mulani and Tanush Kotian. While wicket-keeper batsman Hardik Tamore, who scored hundred in the semi-finals of the Ranji Trophy also made it to the team

The selectors have also picked Gujarat's wicket keeper batsman Het Patel and allrounder Chintan Gaja. Saurashtra's Chirag Jani and left arm pacer Jaydev Unadkat have been included in the side. Baroda's pacer Atit Seth and Maharashtra's star batsman Rahul Tripathi too have made it to the West Zone squad. Tripathi was picked for Indian team to Zimbabwe but couldn't get a game.

Sarfaraz Khan for India A

Mumbai's middle-order batsman Sarfaraz Khan will be part of India A squad which will play against NZA. As a result the selectors didn't include his name in the West Zone squad. Khan has been a run machine in the domestic circuit for past two seasons. He scored more than 900 runs in this season of Ranji Trophy. Apart from Khan, Gujarat's batsman Priyank Panchal and pacer Arzan Nagwaswalla will be picked for India A squad.

India A Squad: Priyank Panchal (Captain), Abhimanyu Easwaran, Ruturaj Gaikwad, Rajat Patidar, Sarfaraaz Khan, Tilak Varma, KS Bharat (wk), Upendra Yadav (wk), Kuldeep Yadav, Saurabh Kumar, Rahul Chahar, Prasidh Krishna, Umran Malik, Mukesh Kumar, Yash Dayal Arzan Nagwaswalla

No pattern to dismissals a good sign for me: Kohli

Former India skipper convinced that there isn't anything inherently wrong with his batting. In recent times, he has got out to all styles of bowling

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE AUGUST 24

ONCE SYNONYMOUS with gluttonous runmaking, Virat Kohli has seemingly climbed down to the level of ordinary mortals over the last few years.

Without an international hundred since December 2019, the wait for No. 71 has gone on for so long that some have begun to wonder if Kohli is the same player he was during his purple patch from 2016-2019.

Some analysts believe the problem is technical, others think it's mental while some say the former India captain is not out of form, just short of runs and awaiting a big hundred.

But the man himself can't find a definite and singular reason for his lean patch. Every cricketer who has played at the top level has encountered tough times, and how one bounces back is the real test of character.

Unlike on the 2014 tour of England when he struggled outside off-stump and was tormented by James Anderson, there's no particular pattern to Kohli's dismissals during the current slump.

"I know where my game stands and you cannot run this far in your international career without having the ability to counter situations and counter conditions and counter different kinds of bowling. So, this for me, is an easier phase to process, but I don't want to put this phase behind me," Kohli said on Star Sports show Game Plan. After the nightmarish 2014 tour when he even struggled with his mental health, Kohli made a memorable return four years later scoring almost 600 runs in five Tests.

"What happened in England was a pattern, so something that I could work on and something that I had to kind of overcome. Right now, there is nothing that you can point out saying that the problem is happening here," Kohli reflected.

The lack of a definite pattern has convinced Kohli that there isn't anything inherently wrong in his batting. In recent times, he has got out to pace, swing, short balls, cutters, off-spin, leg-spin and left-arm spin.

'So, that for me, is actually an easier thing to process because I know that I'm batting well and at times, when I start feeling that rhythm back, then I know that I'm batting well.

"So, that for me is not an issue, which wasn't the case in England (2014). I didn't feel like I was batting well at all. So, I had to work hard on one thing that could be exposed again and again which I overcame; right now, this is not the case," Kohli said as he looked ahead to the Asia Cup in the United Arab Emirates starting this weekend. India face Pakistan in their opener and Kohli has often made the big difference in big matches against the arch rivals. Coming out of a break after sitting out of the limited-overs series against West Indies and Zimbabwe, he can make a fresh start and get himself in the groove with the T20 World Cup in Australia a couple of months away. Last year's edition in the UAE was the last time Kohli led India at an ICC event. Despite his stellar record as captain, the team's inability to win a global tournament - the last one India clinched was the 2013 ICC Champions Trophy under MS Dhoni was often held against Kohli. He will be keen to get India over the finish line as a player and a batsman now.

"I want to learn from it and I want to understand what are the core values that I have, as a sportsperson and as a human being. As long as I'm ticking those boxes, I know there are ups and downs, and when I come out of this phase, I know how consistent I can be. My experiences are sacred to me," he said on the show.

"Whatever I have experienced in this phase or in the past, as well one thing that I can vouch for is that I have never valued myself more as a person," Kohli turned philosophical.

Bouncier Old Trafford track promises a pace fest

REUTERS AUGUST 24

CAPTAIN DEAN Elgar believes South Africa's fearsome four-prong pace attack will only get better as he admits he is unsure of what the wicket holds for the second test against England at Old Trafford that starts on Thursday.

South Africa needed only 82.4 overs to take England's 20 wickets as they beat the hosts by an innings and 12 runs in the first test at Lord's, with the majority of the damage done by the pace quartet of Kagiso Rabada, Anrich Nortje, Lungi Ngidi and Marco Jansen. "I reckon they can get much better, they're still pretty fresh," Elgar told reporters on Wednesday. "The wicket assisted them at Lord's, we must take that into account, but you have to put the ball in the right areas and they did that.

"Our bowlers are leading our pack at the moment and they're extremely hungry for success. The competition among them is brilliant and the way they go about things is the most professional behaviour I've seen from fast bowlers."

Elgar suggested the tourists would likely retain the same XI for the second test, with only spinner Simon Harmer a potential addition to the side, though there is not an obvious candidate for him to replace with Keshav Maharaj having also bowled well at Lord's. "We have our 12, the same as the first test and we decide on the day. Everyone is down to play and on the day you will be told if you are or not, which creates that sense of not taking the foot off the gas," Elgar said.

He also admitted they expect a much-improved home team in the second test with the three-match series on the line.

"I hope the second test goes the same way but we know England are hurt and they will fight back with a vengeance." (Reporting by Nick Said in Cape Town, editing by Pritha Sarkar)

Robinson in for Potts

Fast bowler Ollie Robinson has returned to the England team in place of Matthew Potts as captain Ben Stokes looks for more pace and bounce from his seam attack.

Robinson is the only change made by Stokes. Stokes believes the Old Trafford wicket will be quicker than the pitch used in the first test, and Robinson is best place to exploit that.

"When you look at what Ollie possesses as a bowler, one of his real key assets is how much extra bounce he gets compared to other bowlers in our squad," Stokes told reporters on Wednesday. "We think here at Old Frafford, with it being a slightly quicker wicket than other grounds we play at, it obviously offers a lot more bounce."

Robinson has 39 wickets in nine tests at an average of 21.28 and might have played in the match at Lord's had he not been recently returned from injury.

"We all know the quality of bowler Ollie is because when he has played for England before his skillset is incredible," Stokes said. "I am very excited for him to put the England shirt on again. It's something he has worked very hard for and thoroughly deserves.

"Ollie's form wasn't letting him down, it was his body and that is a tough thing to deal with. But, where he is now, I think he can look back on that and use it as something to gain experience from."

Prannoy enhances his reputation of beating higher-ranked opponents with a win over second seed Momota; to take on compatriot Sen today

SHIVANI NAIK AUGUST 24

HS PRANNOY breaks hearts for a living. On Wednesday at the Tokyo Gymnasium, those broken hearts belonged to the stoic, silently accepting Japanese spectators, who watched home contender Kento Momota reduced to helplessness in a 21-17, 21-16 loss, to being just a gravel patch that had come loose off the tarmac, around which the Indian smoothly glided before racing ahead. Causing the biggest upset of the World Championships pretty early, Prannoy ousted the beleaguered second seed, to earn himself a pre-quarters match against fellow Indian, Lakshya Sen.

That Sen might prove trickier than Kentosan wasn't particularly established prior to the match. The Japanese had been a World No.1 for more than 100 weeks - almost unbeatable at one point - and had defeated Prannoy seven times, and lost never.

History's burden can weigh you down in strange ways, and the former automaton's unreal precision in earlier matches going back to 2013, where his tosses and soft drops to the front court always punctured Prannoy's hopes, couldn't be shrugged off because there was a change of the calendar nine years later.

To Prannoy's credit he didn't doubt himself one bit the few times Momota threatened to break There were a bunch of loose, closing in at 13-12 in the opener. He even cut down on the balled fist roar, gesturing in the struggling Japanese' direction. Like he's been all season, Prannoy stayed calm, executed a plan almost to perfection, and moved so smoothly around the court, he always had enough time to trick and outwit an opponent, whose street cred was built on endless retrieving in rallies and not leaving the shuttle, but who has been clearly struggling in recent years. Still, it took Prannoy 54 minutes over a two set scoreline, and patience lay in careful construction of each of those winners.

The plan given Momota was playing everything to Prannoy's forehand, was to return cross. With a fair amount of venom, when peppering the World No 2 southpaw's backhand. There was some added shoulder when the smashes went cross, an accelerated whip too, as they travelled deep. He yoyo'd Momota front and back, but that was more to keep him guessing and unsettled at the net. The howitzer cross winners, vrooming past Momota's right peripheral vision, would demand he go across his body for the backhand, though he was often chasing the wind. Frustration was writ large on his face, as every net chord tippled over, even a reflex

low defense grazed the line

rather than the backhands he's known for. Though in one wicked instance, a reverse sliced backhand where he locked his forearm, went straight just when Momota had come to expect it to go cross. But it was that sort of a day, when Prannoy attacked at will, simply because he believed he was playing well.

Momota in his prime never feared trailing because he had the control and speed to rush to the finish. But now, low on confidence, he looked haunted when Prannoy's cross courts left him sprawled on the playing floor. His opponent, whose ability to shred a reputation has never been in doubt - he's beaten all the top names of the day, on the other hand, was riding his confidence and self-assurance that's come from backing his own talent, buying into his own genius, scoffing at comparisons with other's careers and knowing intrinsically that fitness-permitting, he has every shot in the book - and its doppleganger deceptive double, to outsmart the best in the world.

Someone like Kidambi Srikanth floats in and out of that confidence zone. A Lakshya Sen knows he has to commit to a scrap to prevail. A Sai Praneeth might not be able to stall an opponent or call his bluff through a single explosive patch. But Prannoy has all of those qualities, and a poised mind to pace matches that follows the process, for failure can't sting him now after all these years.

Momota - or his ranking and reputation - had expected to stalk and spook the Indians in the lower quarter of the draw, though the players themselves might well have believed he was imminently beatable. The Thomas Cup triumph might not have piqued sponsor interest in a shuttle-ignorant country, but it's infused in Prannoy, the man who believed India could win, immense confidence.

The Japanese former two time World champ merely bore the brunt.

The road ahead

While Momota couldn't have run into anyone as dangerous as Prannoy, one suspects Prannoy would feel the same about Lakshya Sen. The bronze medallist from 2021 is nicely warming up for his second go at the medal, and is known to eye finals, nothing less. He won India Open, and the Commonwealth Games, and winning titles is something that's been lacking in giantkiller Prannoy's curriculum vitae.

No Indian coaches are expected to sit for the pre-quarters and it will be an exciting clash, as both these players can think on their feet, and happily plot on their own. One is cerebral and pickled in experience, the younger one is clever and gritty, a magic mix Prannoy is fresher after not having to play the Commonwealth Games. His biggest scalps have invariably come earlier in tournaments when he's not exhausted after a tough week. Seeded 9 and coming off a title, Lakshya Sen will count as a scalp for Prannoy who said his goal is looking to playing "one more round" each day at the World's. For the Almora man, Prannoy is just the right kind of seasoned players whose will and resolve he likes to take down.

HS Prannoy defeated Kento Momota 21-17 21-16 in the World Championship to set up a last-16 clash with Lakshya Sen, who defeated Spain's Luis Penalver 21-17 21-10. AP

Arjun-Kapila: From too many 23-21s to a big upset

SHIVANI NAIK AUGUST 24

BACK AT Ernakulam Rajiv Gandhi stadium, where the city's best shuttlers assemble to worship the fine art of Badminton doubles, they solemnly attempt the 'MR Arjun move.' The body swivels in a certain direction that makes opponents think I'll hit straight. Even from the side, you'll think I'm going down the line," he chuckles and explains his signature move. But then the wrist and the rest of the body pull off a deceptive backhand shot that flies wildly cross. "It's from my junior days. I used it today," he gloated after the Indian No 35 pair of Dhruv Kapila and Arjun shocked 8th seeds Kim Astrup and Anders Rasmussen to move into Round 3 of World Championships.

Arjun trained for two years under India's former Thomas Cup regular, Sanave Thomas, and grew up to like doubles watching a rich lineage of doubles specialists, Jaseel Ismail, Rupesh Kumar and Marcose Bristow plus V Diju, nurture the discipline. "I always liked doubles because I enjoyed the process of improving, and the hard work like Sanave sir," he recalled, soon after the Indians secured their first-ever win over a Top 10 pair.

The Danes are defensively one of the est pairings but in Ma Indians had a coach who broke down the strategy for them into the simplest instruction - to sit on the shuttle, that is to always and anyhow get it back to the other side. Skill and style needn't be summoned to get the job on the day done. "Mathias told us there's no need to look for quality strokes like beautiful dips etc. Just be ready for everything on the racquet and send it right back," he says. In the middle of that, he squeezed in his MR Arjun-move and was pretty pleased with himself. What Boe meant was the shuttle wasn't going to go wandering to the far lines or corners; it would be a funnelled exchange around the centre of the court, and the Indians had to sit tight, keep on keeping on and the errors pened - Boe had been Kim's partner once, and knew the drill. For Arjun, it was about ensuring he and Dhruv followed the plan.

he was wasting time at badminton. "Even today, the biggest day for my parents was when I got an Indian Oil job. As a junior you don't realise, but in seniors, it hits you how tough it was for parents to make financial sacrifices. travelled to tournaments with m on leave without pay. It was tough," he recalls. Having partnered Chirag Shetty before and later watching Shlok Ramachandran take the tough call on leaving sport to take up a "proper job", Arjun reckoned his badminton struggles though frustrating, paled in front of financial hardships. Still, he had struggled to get a partnership going for two years at Hyderabad after moving there at 18. "It wasn't clicking, plus moving away from home was tough. Language, food, I even discussed moving back with my parents," he says. When Indonesian coach Flandy Limpele paired him with Dhruv, things began falling into place. "I had been that junior player who got irritated if I missed a practice session. At Ernakulam, I would get up at 5 am and cycle to the academy even in heavy rains. My mother was convinced only when she saw how hard I worked. Today, after this win, all those tough days seem worth it," he adds.

The Indian pairing had struggled through the last season though, falling at the finish. "Too many 23-21 situations and losses. We would be disappointed on that day, but those defeats forced us to work harder," Arjun would say. The pairing hasn't always been dependable, but with confidence they can unleash a fast-paced skilled doubles game. Dhruv is an astute reader of the game from the back, and Arjun is always teeming with trickery and a healthy appetite for combative exchanges.

"Sometimes Dhruv gets frustrated and loses it. I tell him to keep emotions in check. But our communication is excellent," he says. Satwik-Chirag are slightly more polished in tactics and well ahead of the curve, and with better temperament. But India could soon see a second pairing taking the step up.

While doubles badminton is his first love, watching football is a close second. "I watch l on all weekends. I'm a but they aren't doing too well so not watching them," he says, toggling Premiership games with Manifest on Netflix these days. Arjun-Dhruv play Singaporeans Loh-Terry next and will need more than pinpoint strategy against the quick opponents who caused an upset of their own, evicting Malaysians Ong-Teo. It's been an unexpected surge for the Indians, though Arjun and Dhruv reckon it's always been in the offing. The swivel move now has a hint of swag.

cross court smashes from Prannoy – his underrated forehand and shoulder coming into play on the cross shots rather than the backhands he's known for

Prannoy had trained for endurance to deal with the slow courts, he would later talk of the absolute control he wielded. "On when to push for points, and when to even lose them," he said. ### PRESS TRUST OF INDIA KOLKATA, AUGUST 24

BENGALURU FC have alleged that one of their players was racially abused during the team's game against Indian Air Force in the Durand Cup football tournament here.

The Indian Super League giants said they have raised the issue with the "relevant authorities". The alleged incident took place at the Kishore Bharati Krirangan here on Tuesday.

"Bengaluru FC is aware of a racist comment made by a player from the opposition, towards one of our players, during the Durand Cup game that took place on Tuesday evening," the former ISL champions said in a statement. "We are in touch with the relevant authorities in this regard. Our message is clear -- discrimination has no place anywhere. Football is for everyone."

Bengaluru FC registered their second consecutive win in the Durand Cup as they blanked Indian Air Force 4-0.

Roy Krishna (9th min), Sunil Chhetri (23rd min), Faisal Ali (71st min), and Siva Sakthi (93rd min) struck for The Blues as it secured a resounding win. The goals came in early for Bengaluru, as Krishna opened the scoring in the ninth minute. Skipper Chhetri soon doubled the lead as he sneaked one past IAF goakeeper Shibinraj following a well-directed cross from Prabir Das in the 23rd minute of the game.
