4.1 Good Governance and Development

4.1.1 A World Bank study of six measures of perceived quality of governance affecting per capita GDP of more than 150 countries concluded that “results show a strong positive causal relationship from improved governance to better development outcomes”.³³ While there has been considerable discussion on the causality, it is widely agreed that good governance is the sine qua non, both for sustainable development and improved quality of life.

Present system of Evaluation

- E – Service book – all data related with service of employees are recorded in the service book e.g. joining of employee, their promotion, transfer, salary, leave etc.
- ACRs to APARs (2008) – Annual Performance Appraisal Report
 - Focuses on work output, personal attributes, and functional competencies.
 - Officer can now view and respond to remarks → more transparency.

- SPARROW Portal – Smart Performance Appraisal Report Recording Online Window (SPARROW) - Improves timeliness, record keeping, and transparency.
- PRAGATI Portal – 2015
- 360-Degree Feedback (Multi-Source Feedback) – For Senior Posts –Used mainly for empanelment and top-level appointments (Joint Secretary & above).

Need for Performance review Reforms

- Lack of Measurable Outcomes –Focus was on process compliance, not results or citizen impact.
- Weak Accountability Mechanisms –Difficulty in identifying non-performers due to absence of objective metrics, Seniority vs Merit.

CONTEXT: Cabinet Secretariat has sent “scorecards” for Union Secretaries, signalling a shift towards performance based appraisal of Senior Civil Servants.

- Changing Governance Demands
– Post-1991 liberalisation and rise of citizen-centric Increased public scrutiny highlighted performance gaps.
- Training-Performance Disconnect
- Empirical Data of inefficiency

e. Performance Appraisal:

- Generally, officers are very liberal in assessing their sub-ordinates. A large number of officers are thus rated as ‘outstanding’ by their superior officers without adequate justification for such a rating.
- In many jobs there are no deliverables which could be adequately quantified. This has to be taken into account while assessing performance.
- Performance appraisals should be broad-based to include peer review of performance.
- The performance appraisal form instead of being general should be organization-specific.

- Absolute and relative assessment – CSE Analogy
- Continuation of reforms Agenda
 - Since 2024 demi official letters now include quantitative indicators of respective ministries ; Delaying to max. (4) levels countries where people cannot express their opinion freely. They still cannot elect their leaders. They cannot take big decisions about their present and future life.

One such country is Myanmar, previously known as Burma. It gained freedom from colonial rule in 1948 and became a democracy. But the democratic rule ended in 1962 with a military coup. In 1990 elections were held for the first time after almost 30 years. The National League for Democracy (NLD), led by Aung San Suu Kyi (pronounced Soo-chi), won the election. But the military leaders of Myanmar refused to step down and did not recognise the election results. Instead, the military put the elected pro-democracy leaders, including Suu Kyi, under house arrest. Political activists accused of even the most trivial offences have been jailed. Anyone caught publicly airing views or issuing statements critical of the regime can be sentenced up to twenty years in prison. Due to the coercive policies of the military-ruled government in Myanmar, about 6 to 10 lakh people in that country have been uprooted from their homes and have taken shelter elsewhere.

Despite being under house arrest, Suu Kyi continued to campaign for democracy. According to her: "The quest for democracy in Burma is the struggle of the people to live whole, meaningful lives as free and equal members of the world community." Her struggle has won international recognition. She has also been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. Finally, under her leadership, the NLD fought the historic 2015 elections and a democratic republic was established.

funds are not permissible under Rule 41(2) (viii) and 41(2)(xvii) of the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business in Lok Sabha.

Under the stipulated conditions that govern the right to ask questions in the Lok Sabha, Rule 41(2) (viii) states that "it shall not relate to a matter which is not primarily the concern of the Government of India". Rule 41(2) (xvii) states "it shall not raise matters that are under the control of bodies or persons not primarily responsible to the Government of India".

The reasoning for questions and matters not being admissible in Lok Sabha given by the PMO, it is learnt, was that the corpus of these funds is constituted entirely with voluntary public contribution and not from any allocation out of the Consolidated Fund of India.

The PMO told the Lok Sabha Secretariat that in case a situation arises to determine the admissibility of a question or notice of zero hour or special mention seeking information on the three funds arises, the conditions in the provisions may be exercised, it is learnt.

- Receives voluntary donations from individuals, corporates, PSUs and foreign contributors.
- Last Published Amount for 2023 reflects 6238 crore Rs Balance.

The Court Does Not Find Merit in Petitioners' Claims

The Court was faced with three broad questions: (1) whether the Union government was under any obligation to utilise the NDRF for tackling COVID-19; (2) whether all donations should be to the NDRF instead of the PM CARES fund; and (3) whether the amount already in the PM CARES fund should be transferred to the NDRF. These questions are closely linked and were treated as such by the bench.

High Government Borrowing: Both Centre and States are borrowing heavily to fund welfare schemes, infrastructure and post-pandemic recovery, increasing demand for loans in the market. - India 10yr @6.7%

Crowding Out Effect: Large government borrowing absorbs available liquidity, leaving less credit for private sector, which pushes interest rates upward. (17 lakh crore - 17% high)

Fiscal Deficit Pressures: Combined fiscal deficit of Centre + States remains high, signalling higher risk and leading to higher bond yields.

RBI Monetary Policy Transmission -
Lack of transmission of repo rate cut to effective cost

ON FEBRUARY 3, Andhra Pradesh and Assam borrowed Rs 1,100 crore and Rs 1,000 crore respectively through auction sales of 15-year state government securities at an average yield or interest rate of 7.66%.

One year ago — on February 4, 2025 — the two states had paid only 7.15-7.16% at the auction of securities with the same 15-year tenor that raised Rs 2,000 crore and Rs 900 crore respectively.

The story wasn't different for the Gujarat government that, on January 27, mobilised Rs 2,000 crore via a 10-year security sale at an average yield of 7.45%. In a year-ago auction of the same security on January 28, 2025, the state government mopped up Rs 1,000 crore at just Rs 7.02%.

To put these into perspective, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has, since February 6, 2025, cut its benchmark policy repo rate from 6.5% to 5.25%. But this reduction — in the rate at which it provides overnight (i.e. one-day maturity) loans to commercial banks — hasn't led to any lowering of borrowing costs for state governments.
